Message on the Birthday of Former President Ronald Reagan, 2025

February 6, 2025

Today we celebrate the birthday of Ronald Reagan, a giant of American history, a lion of freedom and liberty, and the 40th President of the United States.

In 1980, Reagan's commonsense political vision propelled him to the Oval Office, ushering in a new era of prosperity and peace at home and abroad. The Reagan Revolution was underway. Throughout his 8 years as Commander in Chief, the economy boomed, confidence soared, communism collapsed, and faith in our Nation's promise thrived and flourished like never before, signaling a renaissance of the American conservative movement.

As we honor President Reagan's life and legendary contributions to our Nation, we recognize that we are in the midst of another political revolution. Last year, the American people loudly rejected the politics of bitterness and betrayal and launched a new and triumphant era of renewal and reform. Every day, my administration is reminding the world once again that America is its own Nation with its own borders, its own culture, its own customs, and its own heritage and that the American People will never waver in defending their glorious inheritance of freedom.

Today we honor President Reagan's legacy, bringing common sense back to Washington and fortifying the causes of prosperity, safety, security, and peace that he cherished so deeply. As we enter America's golden age, we remember the indelible mark President Reagan left on our Nation, and we commit to carrying the torch of liberty and justice for generations to come.

Happy birthday, President Reagan.
