Report to the President on the Activities of the Council of Economic Advisers during 2022

Established by the Employment Act of 1946, the Council of Economic Advisers is charged with advising the President on economic policy based on data, research, and evidence. The Council is composed of three members: a Chair, who is appointed by the President with the advice and consent of the Senate; and two members, who are appointed by the President. Along with a team of economists, they analyze and interpret economic developments and formulate and recommend economic policies that advance the interests of the American people.

The Chair of the Council

Cecilia Elena Rouse was confirmed by the Senate on March 2, 2021, as the 30th Chair of the Council of Economic Advisers. She is the first African American to hold this position. In this role, she serves as President Biden's Chief Economist and a Member of the Cabinet. She is the Katzman-Ernst Professor in the Economics of Education and Professor of Economics and Public Affairs at Princeton University.

From 2012 to 2021, Rouse was Dean of Princeton University's School of Public and International Affairs. Rouse served as a Member of President Barack Obama's Council of Economic Advisers from 2009 to 2011. She also worked at the National Economic Council in the Clinton Administration as a Special Assistant to the President from 1998 to 1999. Her academic research has focused on the economics of education, including the economic benefits of community college attendance and impact of student loan debt on postgraduation outcomes, as well as other issues in labor economics, such as discrimination.

The Members of the Council

Heather Boushey was appointed to the Council by the President on January 20, 2021. Before assuming this position, Boushey cofounded the Washington Center for Equitable Growth, where she was President and CEO from 2013 to 2020. She previously served as Chief Economist for Secretary Hillary Clinton's 2016 transition team and as an economist at the Center for American Progress, the Joint Economic Committee of the U.S. Congress, the Center for Economic and Policy Research, and the Economic Policy Institute.

Jared Bernstein was appointed to the Council by the President on January 20, 2021. Before this appointment, Bernstein spent 16 years in senior roles at the Economic Policy Institute, and worked at the Department of Labor. He was a Senior Fellow at the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities from 2011 to 2020. From 2009 to 2011, he was Chief Economist and Economic Adviser to then–Vice President Biden.

Areas of Activity

A central function of the Council is to advise the President on all economic issues and developments, including preparing almost-daily memos for the President, the Vice President, and White House senior staff on key economic data releases and policy issues. The Council works closely with officials at various government entities—including the National Economic Council, the Domestic Policy Council, the Office of Management and Budget, and Administrative Agencies—to engage in discussions on numerous policy matters. The Council, the Department of the Treasury, and the Office of Management and Budget are responsible for producing the economic forecasts that underlie the Administration’s Budget proposals. Finally, the Council is a leading participant in the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD), historically chairing the Economic Policy Committee and participating in OECD working meetings.

The Council produces economic analyses in a series of blogs and issue briefs. This past year, these included:

- “The Employment Situation,” a monthly blog analyzing the employment situation that corresponds to the monthly Jobs Report (January–December 2022).
- “Looking Back, Moving Forward: Year One of President Biden’s Economic Agenda,” a blog analyzing how government support during the pandemic helped boost personal income and spending, thus contributing to economic growth (January 2022).
- “New Data Show that Economic Growth Was Broadly Shared in 2021,” a blog on how government support during the pandemic helped boost personal income and spending, thus leading to economic growth (February 2022).
- “Climate-Related Macroeconomic Risks and Opportunities,” an issue brief, cowritten with OMB, on how the President’s policy proposals can reduce greenhouse gas emissions while keeping energy costs low for consumers (April 2022).

- “Blocking the Low Road and Paving the High Road: Management Practices to Improve Productivity,” an issue brief on how employment policies could increase worker productivity, thus leading to increased labor market outcomes (April 2022).
- “Care Businesses: A Model That Doesn’t Work for Providers, Workers, or Families,” an issue brief outlining the supports that meet the needs of workers’ families—such as affordable, high-quality childcare, home health care, and paid family and medical leave—that can increase the U.S. labor supply and boost economic growth (April 2022).
- “Summary of the 2022 Economic Report of the President,” a blog outlining the reflections of the Administration’s economic accomplishments and challenges (April 2022).
- “Expanding Economic Opportunity for Formerly Incarcerated Persons,” a blog focusing on the President’s comprehensive strategy to support formerly incarcerated persons (May 2022).
- “Using Additive Manufacturing to Improve Supply Chain Resilience and Bolster Small and Mid-Size Firms,” a blog outlining the use of additive manufacturing as a way to boost the supply chain capability in many industries (May 2022).
- “Reducing the Economic Burden of Unmet Mental Health Needs,” an issue brief outlining how the social and economic consequences of mental health disorders can be reduced (May 2022).
- “Juneteenth: Reflecting on Some of the Progress and Challenges for Black Americans During the Pandemic,” an issue brief highlighting the policies that increase economic capacity for Black students and workers (June 2022).
- “Excess Mortality during the Pandemic: The Role of Health Insurance,” an issue brief identifying the President’s policies to increase health insurance coverage to combat mortality across States (July 2022).
- “How Do Economists Determine Whether the Economy Is in a Recession?” a blog on the indicators used to assess significant declines in economic activity (July 2022).
- “The Economics Behind the President’s Economic Agenda,” a blog on how the President’s policies can reduce inflationary pressure and increase economic capacity through long-term investments in physical infrastructure, human capital, clean energy, housing, and health care (August 2022).

- “Pandemic Shifts in Black Employment and Wages,” a blog assessing the pandemic’s effect on wage growth and employment for Black Americans, presenting both short-run and long-run challenges (August 2022).
- “The Rising Costs of Extreme Weather Events,” a blog on the importance of incorporating climate change into the economic projections that underlie assessments of financial risk and government finances (September 2022).
- “The State of Our Unions,” a blog that examines the current uptick in union organizing efforts due to a tight labor market coming out the pandemic (September 2022).
- “Affordable Health Care for Individuals with Cancer,” a blog on the importance of expanding health coverage and disability benefits for individuals living with cancer (September 2022).
- “The Impact of Artificial Intelligence on the Future of Workforces in the European Union and the United States of America,” a report prepared by the CEA and the European Commission (December 2022).

Public Information

The Economic Report of the President, together with the Annual Report of the Council of Economic Advisers, is an important vehicle for presenting the Administration’s domestic and international economic policies.
