Title 16—Commercial Practices

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

[Docket No. C-2688]

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES, AND AFFIRMATIVE CORRECTIVE ACTIONS

Amerada Hess Corp.

Subpart—Interlocking directorates unlawfully: § 13.1106 Interlocking directorates unlawfully.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 45; sec. 8, 38 Stat. 732; 49 Stat. 717; 15 U.S.C. 19)

In the Matter of Amerada Hess Corp., a Corporation.

Consent order requiring a New York City energy company, among other things to cease permitting any individual to serve on its board of directors if such individual is or would be at the same time a director of Newmont Mining Corp.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:¹

ORDER

It is ordered, That Amerada Hess Corporation (Amerada), its successors and assigns, do forthwith cease and desist from permitting any individual to serve on its Board of Directors if such individual is or would be at the same time a director of Newmont Mining Corporation.

II. It is further ordered, That Amerada shall, within thirty (30) days after service of this Order, and annually for a period ending five (5) years thereafter, request from each member of its Board of Directors a written statement which discloses the name, business, and location of operations of each other corporation of which such member is also a director, exclusive of any corporation in which Amerada controls, directly or indirectly through subsidiaries, more than 50 percent of the voting stock; exclusive of any corporation which derives annual gross revenues of less than $1,000,000 from the exploration, production and sale of natural gas and crude petroleum; and exclusive of any corporation not engaged in "commerce" as defined in Section 1 of the Clayton Act as amended or Section 4 of the Federal Trade Commission Act.

III. It is further ordered, That for a period ending five (5) years after service of this Order, Amerada shall, at least thirty (30) days prior to any directors' meeting at which one or more directors will be elected or the mailing or proxy statements for any shareholder meeting at which one or more directors will be elected, request from each person who is being considered as a member of the Board of Directors but has not been a member of the Board of Directors during the previous year, a written statement which discloses the information described in Paragraph II.

IV. It is further ordered, That for a period ending five (5) years after service of this Order, Amerada shall not permit on its Board of Directors any person who fails to submit a written statement pursuant to Paragraphs II and III, or any person who is a director of another corporation named in response to the statements required pursuant to Paragraphs II and III when said statement reveals or when a reasonably diligent investigation would reveal to respondent that such other corporation is a competitor of Amerada by virtue of its business and location of operation in the exploration, production or sale of crude petroleum or natural gas. If compliance with Paragraphs I and IV requires any member of Amerada's Board of Directors to resign or to be removed from the Board of Directors of either Amerada or such other corporation, Amerada shall be allowed a reasonable period of time within which to take any legal or other steps which are necessary to secure compliance with this Order.

V. It is further ordered, That Amerada notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondent which may affect compliance obligations arising out of this Order, such changes to include, but not be limited to, dissolution, assignment or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation.

VI. It is further ordered, That respondent Amerada shall, within thirty (30) days after service upon it of this Order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with this Order, and shall within sixty (60) days submit copies of those lists provided by all current directors of Amerada pursuant to Paragraphs II and III designating all other corporations of which they are directors.

The Decision and Order was issued by the Commission July 17, 1975.

[Docket No. 8905]

Associated Dry Goods Corp.

Subpart—Acquiring corporate stock or assets: § 13.5 Acquiring corporate stock or assets.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 7, 38 Stat. 731, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 18)

In the Matter of Associated Dry Goods Corporation, a corporation.

Consent order requiring a New York City department store organization, among other things to divest itself of all stocks, assets, properties, etc.; which it acquired in 1972, comprising Ayr-Way Stores, Inc.

The Divestiture Order, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:¹

ORDER

I. Respondent shall, as soon as possible and in no event later than two years from the effective date of this Order, divest all of the assets, properties, stores, goodwill, rights, privileges and interests of whatever nature, real, personal, tangible and intangible (subject to liabilities and to the other provisions of this Order) comprising Ayr-Way Stores, Inc., a division of respondent Associated. Divestiture shall include but shall not be limited to the Ayr-Way stores and warehouse listed in the schedule attached hereto as exhibit A and all Ayr-Way facilities opened after December 1, 1974, and prior to divestiture.

Respondent may, but shall not be required to divest the names, trademarks, service names, service marks, or logos "Ayr-Way" or "Ayr-Way Stores, Inc." Nothing in this order shall be deemed to require the divestiture of respondent of the names, trademarks, service names, service marks, or logos "Associated Dry Goods Company," "Ayres," "L. S. Ayres" or "L. S. Ayres and Company, Inc.," or to require the divestiture of any other assets relating to the business of Associated Dry Goods Corporation or L. S. Ayres and Company, Inc.

Divestiture shall be in a manner which preserves the assets and business of Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. as a going concern and fully effective competitor.

In the event that respondent elects to divest itself of the assets or capital stock of Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. by a sale of such assets or capital stock other than by means of a public offering of capital stock which is registered pursuant to the Securities Act of 1933, the acquirer or acquirers shall be approved in advance by the Commission. Nothing in this Order shall be deemed to preclude divestiture to a firm which is engaged in operating department stores or GMAF stores, as defined by the Complaint, if such acquirer is otherwise acceptable to the Commission. Respondent shall not knowingly sell, divest, or otherwise transfer, directly or indirectly, any assets or stock of Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. to any person (other than an underwriter or selling dealer) who is at the time of the transfer the beneficial owner of more than two (2) percent of the outstanding stock of Associated.

If divestiture has not been effected within the two-year period provided by this Order, the Commission, on request submitted at least 30 days prior to the expiration of the period shall grant respondent an opportunity to file a written submission which it will consider before issuing any further order or orders which may be deemed appropriate.

II. Associated or its subsidiaries may be obligated on the effective date of this Order as lessee, guarantor or otherwise with respect to leases pertaining to Ayr-Way stores, its land or buildings, and other obligations of Ayr-Way. Associated will use its good faith efforts to obtain releases of such obligations in connection with the divestiture. In the event that Associated is unable to obtain such releases, the divestiture herein provided shall be deemed to have been accomplished notwithstanding the continuance of any such obligations on the part of Associated provided that at the time of divestiture the acquiring entity assumes responsibility for the operation of the divested facilities; and provided further that the continuance of any such obligation on the part of Associated does not give rise to any influence or control, on the part of Associated in, over or with respect to the operations by said entity of the facilities divested.

In the event of default by the acquiring entity with respect to any such lease or other obligation upon which Associated may remain obligated, Associated shall be entitled, without being deemed to have violated any provisions of this Order, to take whatever action may be necessary with respect to the defaulted facility or facilities to hold itself harmless from the consequences of any such default or defaults, including the right to repossess and to reoperate any such retail facility or facilities the lease of which is in default, provided that Associated notifies the Commission within 48 hours of taking such action, and Associated shall redress itself of any such retail facilities so repossessed within one year from the date of repossession unless a longer period is approved by the Commission, or unless the Commission approves the continued operation by Associated of any such facility.

Associated shall not utilize the names, trademarks, service names, service marks, or logos "Ayr-Way" or "Ayr-Way Stores, Inc." in the course of any retail business operated by Associated for a period of at least two years from the date of the divestiture.

III. (1) Pending divestiture, respondent shall make every reasonable effort to maintain and preserve the assets and business of Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. in good operating condition with such replacements and additions and such effective overall organization as may be necessary to divest Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. as a viable competitive entity; provided, however, that nothing contained herein shall be deemed to require respondent to continue to operate any store which has become so unprofitable that sound business judgment requires its closing or which is rendered inoperative as a result of force majeure or other event beyond the control of respondent.

(2) Whether the operation of a particular store has become so unprofitable during the pendency of divestiture that sound business judgment requires its closing shall be determined on the basis that such operation shall have yielded an aggregate operating loss during the last previous two calendar years, taken together. An "operating loss" occurs when the total operating revenues of a store fail to cover its total reasonable operating costs. "Operating costs" shall not include taxes on net income or any provision for the general and administrative overhead of L. S. Ayres and Company, Inc. or Associated Dry Goods Corporation. Other general and administrative expenses, provision for doubtful accounts and inventory adjustments shall be deemed to be reasonable if they do not exceed by more than one-third Associated Dry Goods' average for stores of similar size. Corrections to year-end statements and inventory shall be made in accordance with the methods and procedure used by Ayr-Way Stores, Inc. for the two years prior to the making of corrections.

(3) The judgment of respondent that a particular store should be closed prior to divestiture shall be communicated in writing to the Commission at least 30 days before the proposed closing, together with a full statement of (a) the reasons for such closing; (b) in case unprofitability is alleged, the store's sales and profitability history; (c) respondent's plans, if any, for the disposition of the store's assets, the consideration to be received therefor and the identity of proposed transferees so far as then known; and (d) such other information, including production of and/or access to original accounting records, as may be required for consideration of the proposed closing.

It is further ordered, That respondent shall, within ninety (90) days from the date of service of this Order, and every one hundred eighty (180) days thereafter until the divestiture required by this Order has been completed submit in writing to the Commission, a report setting forth its plans, actions and progress in complying with the divestiture required by this Order and such other reports related to the divestiture as may, from time to time, be requested by the Commission.

1. Failing to send by certified mail, return receipt requested, to each person that shall contract with respondents for the sale of any course of instruction, a notice which shall disclose the following information and none other:

(a) The title "IMPORTANT INFORMATION" printed in bold face type across the top of the form.

(b) Paragraphs containing the information set forth below, which shall be compiled and updated at least once every month. Such information shall be computed separately for each course of instruction offered by respondents at each school, location or facility.

(1) A paragraph as follows: "The information below relates to the (name of vocational school). The placement rate is the percentage of graduating students who obtained employment within three months of their graduation, in positions for which they were trained by this school."

(2) The "Placement Rate", using this term, to be determined as follows:

A. Respondents shall ascertain whether each graduate has obtained employment within three months of graduation in a position for which respondents' course has prepared him. If such employment has been obtained, respondents shall further ascertain the name of the employer, the position and the starting salary obtained by the graduate.

B. The placement rate shall be the percentage of students who have graduated within the base period (as defined in paragraph 1(b)(2)C) who have obtained employment as determined in 1(b)(2)A. The placement rate need not include those students exempted pursuant to subparagraph 1(b)(2)D.

C. The base period shall be the one year period ending four months prior to the date on which the information required under 1(b) is compiled or updated.

D. At the time each student signs his enrollment contract, respondents shall have him complete the form set forth in Appendix A of this order. Students who indicate their intention not to seek employment in the computer field (by checking box number 3 on such form) need not be included in the computation of the school's placement rate.

(3) The "Salary Range" and the "Average Salary (Median)", using these terms, of the graduates who have obtained employment as determined pursuant to 1(b)(2)A.

(4) The dropout rate, using the term "Students Not Completing Course", which shall be the percentage of students who were scheduled to graduate from respondents' course during the base period who have discontinued or interrupted their studies without completing such course. Provided, however, the dropout rate need not include:

A. Any student who indicates in writing his desire to interrupt his course of study, provided such interruption not exceed six months; or

B. Any student whose enrollment contract, and all obligations thereunder, are expressly conditioned upon the receipt by the student of an educational loan guaranteed by a federal or state agency, if the student's application for such a loan is in fact rejected; or

C. Any student who cancels his enrollment contract pursuant to his right of cancellation set forth in Paragraph 8 of this order.

(5) A sentence which sets forth the time period upon which the data in subparagraphs (1)-(4) above are based.

Provided, however, subparagraph (b) shall be inapplicable, and no disclosures shall be made thereunder, in the case of any newly established school or course, as described in subparagraph (c), until such time as the new school or course has been in operation for 16 months.

In the Matter of Serr of Washington, D.C., Inc., a corporation, and Herb Mann, individually and as an officer of said corporation.

Consent order requiring a Washington, D.C., promoter of a hair implant replacement system, among other things to cease misrepresenting the nature, appearance and other related characteristics of its system; and failing to disclose that their system involves surgical procedures and continually requires special care. Further, respondents are required to devote 15% of all of their advertisements to warning prospective customers of the inherent dangers associated with their system of hair implant replacement.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:³

ORDER

It is ordered, That respondent Serr of Washington, D.C., Inc., a corporation, its successors and assigns and its officers, and Herb Mann, individually and as an officer of said corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives, and employees, directly or through any corporation, subsidiary, division or other device or through franchisees or licensees, in connection with the advertising, offering for sale, sale, or distribution of the implant replacement system or other hair replacement product or process involving surgery (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "System"), in or affecting commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, or by the United States mails within the meaning of section 12(a)(1) of the Federal Trade Commission Act do forthwith cease and desist from representing, directly or by implication, that:

1. The System does not involve wearing a device or cosmetic which is like a hair-piece or toupee;

2. After the System has been applied, the hair applied becomes part of the anatomy like natural hair, and has the following characteristics of natural hair.

a. The same appearance in all applications as natural hair, upon normal observation, and upon extreme close-up examination;

b. It may be cared for like natural hair, particularly in that actions such as washing, combing, brushing and musing might be performed on it in the same manner as might a person with natural hair;

c. The wearer may engage in physical activity and movement with the same disregard for his hair as he would if he had natural hair.

3. After the System has been applied, the wearer can care for it himself, and will not have to seek professional or skilled assistance in maintaining the System, and that the customer will not incur maintenance costs over and above the cost of applying the System.

It is further ordered, That respondents, in advertising, offering for sale, selling or distributing the System, disclose clearly and conspicuously that:

1. The System involves a surgical procedure resulting in the implantation of synthetic sutures in the scalp, to which hair is affixed.

³ Copies of the Complaint, Decision and Order, filed with the original document.

2. By virtue of the surgical procedure involving implantation of synthetic sutures in the scalp, and by virtue of the synthetic suture remaining in the scalp, there is a risk of discomfort, pain, infection, scarring, and other skin disorders.

3. Continuing special care of the System is necessary to minimize the probabilities and risks referred to in Subparagraph Two of this Paragraph, and such care may involve additional costs for medications and assistance.

4. The purchaser is advised to consult with his personal physician about the System before deciding whether to purchase it.

Respondents shall set forth the above disclosures separately and conspicuously from the balance of each advertisement or presentation used in connection with the advertising, offering for sale, sale, or distribution of the System, and shall devote no less than 15% of each advertisement or presentation to such disclosures. Provided, however, that in advertisements which consist of less than ten column inches in newspapers and periodicals, and in radio and television advertisements with a running time of one minute or less, respondents may substitute the following statement, in lieu of the above requirements:

Warning: This application involves surgery whereby synthetic sutures are placed in the scalp. Discomfort, pain, and medical problems may occur. Continuing care is necessary. Consult your own physician.

No less than 15% of such advertisements shall be devoted to this disclosure, such disclosure shall be set forth clearly and conspicuously from the balance of each of such advertisements, and if such disclosure is a newspaper or periodical, it shall be in at least eleven point type.

It is further ordered, That respondents, in connection with the sale of the System, provide prospective purchasers with a separate disclosure sheet containing the information required in the immediately preceding Paragraph of this Order, Subparagraphs One (1) through Four (4) thereof, and that respondents require that, prior to executing any contract to purchase said System, such prospective purchasers, sign and date the disclosure sheet after the sentence, "I have read the foregoing disclosures and understand what they mean," and that Serr of Washington, D.C., Inc. provide a copy of said disclosure sheet to the customer and retain such signed disclosure sheet for at least three years.

It is further ordered, That, in connection with the sale of the System, no contract for application of the System shall become binding on the purchaser prior to midnight of the third day, excluding Sundays and legal holidays, after the day on which said contract for application of the System was executed, and that:

1. Respondents shall clearly and conspicuously disclose, orally prior to the time of sale, and in writing on any contract, promissory note or other instrument executed by the purchaser in connection with the sale of the System, that the purchaser may rescind or cancel any obligation incurred by mailing or delivering a notice of cancellation to the office responsible for the sale prior to midnight of the third day, excluding Sundays and legal holidays, after the day on which said contract for application of the System was executed.

2. Respondents shall provide a separate and clearly understandable form which the purchaser may use as a notice of cancellation.

3. Respondents shall not negotiate any contract, promissory note, or other instrument of indebtedness to a finance company or other third party prior to midnight of the fifth day, excluding Sundays and legal holidays, after the day on which said contract for application of the System was executed.

It is further ordered, That respondents, in connection with the advertising, offering for sale, sale, or distribution of the System, serve a copy of this Order upon each present and every future licensee or franchisee, and upon each physician participating in application of respondents' System, and obtain written acknowledgment of the receipt thereof; and that respondents obtain from each present and future licensee or franchisee an agreement in writing, (1) to abide by the terms of this Order, and (2) to cancellation of their license or franchise for failure to do so; and that respondents cancel the license or franchise of any licensee or franchisee that fails to abide by the terms of this Order. Respondents shall retain such acknowledgments and agreements for so long as such persons or firms continue to participate in the application or sale of respondents' System.

It is further ordered, That respondents, in connection with the advertising, offering for sale, sale, or distribution of the System, forthwith distribute a copy of this Order to each of their operating divisions or departments.

It is further ordered, That the corporate respondent notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in said respondent, such as dissolution, assignment, or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries, licensees, or franchisees, or any other change in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the Order.

It is further ordered, That in the event that the corporate respondent merges with another corporation or transfers all or a substantial part of its business or assets to any other corporation or to any other person, said respondent shall require such successor or transferee to file promptly with the Commission a written agreement to be bound by the terms of this Order; provided that if said respondent wishes to present to the Commission any reasons why said Order should not apply in its present form to said successor or transferee, it shall submit to the Commission a written statement setting forth said reasons prior to the consummation of said succession or transfer.

It is further ordered, That the individual respondent Herb Mann promptly notify the Commission of the discontinuance of his present business or employment and of his affiliation with a new business or employment. Such notice shall include respondent's current business address and a statement as to the nature of the business or employment in which he is engaged as well as a description of his duties and responsibilities.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

They, or others, will permit enrollees of any courses to defer payment of the balance of the cost of said courses remaining after the initial or registration fee has been paid until after the enrollee has completed said courses and commenced employment; or misrepresenting in any other manner the terms or conditions under which payment is to be made for said courses.

G. They, or others, will handle or arrange financing of the balance of the cost of said courses remaining after the initial or registration fee has been paid, unless respondents, or others specifically named, will, in fact, handle or arrange said financing.

H. They, or others, provide a placement service which will secure a job for graduates of said courses.

I. Graduates of said courses are assured jobs as a consequence of graduating from said courses.

J. There is a substantial demand, or a demand of any size or proportion, for persons completing any of the courses offered by the respondents in the field of truck driving or heavy equipment operations, or any other field, or otherwise representing, orally or in writing, that opportunities of any type or number, are available to such persons, except as hereinafter provided in Paragraph 6 of this Order. Provided, however, that respondents shall cease and desist making such representations unless the respondents in each and every instance:

(1) until the passage of a base period to be determined pursuant to Paragraph 6(b) of Part I of this Order, after the establishment of a new school location by respondents in any metropolitan area or county, whichever is larger, where they did not previously operate a school, and after the introduction by respondents of any new course of instruction at any school or location, shall:

(A) have in good faith conducted a statistically valid survey which establishes the validity of any such representation at all times when the representation is made, and

(B) have disclosed in immediate and conspicuous conjunction with any such representation, that: "All representations for potential employment demand or opportunities for graduates of this school (course) are merely estimates. This school (course) has not been in operation long enough to indicate what, if any, actual employment may result upon graduation.

(2) After the passage of a base period to be determined pursuant to Paragraph 6(b) of Part I of this Order, and until two years after the establishment of a new school location by respondents in any metropolitan area or county, whichever is larger, where they did not previously operate a school, and after the introduction by respondents of any new course of instruction at any school or location, shall:

(A) make any representations in the form and manner provided in Paragraph 6(b) of Part I of this Order, and

(B) disclose in immediate and conspicuous conjunction with any such representation, that:

"This school (course) has not been in operation long enough to indicate what, if any, actual employment may result upon graduation."

2. Placing ads in "Help-Wanted" columns or representing by any means that employment is being offered when such offer is not a bona fide offer of employment.

3. Failing to disclose, in writing, clearly and conspicuously, prior to the signing of any contract, to any prospective enrollee of any course offered by respondents, the full cost of such courses including the fee for any home study lessons and for any residential training.

4. 5. Failing to show each prospective purchaser the home study portion of said courses and allow said prospective purchaser a reasonable time for examination of said home study materials before said prospective purchaser has paid any money or has signed any contract, or has obligated himself in any other way.

6. Failing to send by certified mail, return receipt requested, to each person that shall contract with respondents for the sale of any course of instruction a notice, the specific provisions of which will be based upon the record in adjudicative proceedings in this matter, which shall disclose the following information and none other:

(a) The title "IMPORTANT INFORMATION" printed in bold face type across the top of the form.

(b) Paragraphs providing the following information computed in the manner and using a form and for a base period to be approved by the Commission:

(1) The placement rate, ratio or percentage for graduates, and also the numbers upon which such rates, ratios or percentages are based;

(2) A list of firms or employers which are currently hiring graduates of respondents' courses in substantial numbers and in the positions for which such graduates have been trained, and the number of such graduates hired, as to the same graduates used to compute the placement percentage in (b) (1) above;

(3) The salary range of respondents' graduates as to the same graduates used to compute the placement percentage in (b) (1) above;

(4) The percentage of enrollees who have failed to complete their course of instruction, such percentage to be computed separately for each course of instruction offered by respondents at each school, location or facility.

(c) An explanation of the cancellation procedure provided in this Order, namely that any contract or other agreement may be cancelled for any reason until midnight of the third business day after receipt by the customer, via the U.S. Mails, of this notice.

(d) A detachable form which the person may use as notice of cancellation, which indicates the proper address for accomplishing any such cancellation.

This notice shall be sent by respondents no sooner than the next day after the person shall have contracted for the sale or any course of instruction; respondents, during such period provided for in subparagraph (c) above, shall not initiate contact with such person other than that required by this paragraph.

Provided, however, that subparagraph (b) above shall be inapplicable to any newly established school that respondents may establish in any metropolitan area or county, whichever is larger, where they did not previously operate a school, or to any course newly introduced by respondents, until such time as the new school or course has been in operation for the base period to be established pursuant to subparagraph (b) above. The following statement shall be included in such notice during such period:

"All representations of potential employment or salaries are merely estimates. This school (course) has not been in operation long enough to indicate what, if any, actual employment or salary may result upon graduation from this school (course)."

After such time as the new school or course has been in operation for the base period to be established pursuant to subparagraph (b) above, and until two years after the establishment of a new school location in any metropolitan area or county, whichever is larger, where they did not previously operate a school, or the introduction of any new course by respondents, the following statement shall be included in such notice:

"This school (course) has not been in operation long enough to indicate what, if any, actual employment or salary may result upon graduation from this school (course)."

7. Contracting for any sale of any course of instruction in the form of a sales contract or other agreement which shall become binding prior to midnight of the third business day after the date of receipt by the customer of the form of notice provided for in Paragraph 6 above. 8. Failing to disclose, clearly and conspicuously, in advertisements, in catalogs, brochures and on letterheads that respondents' business is solely and exclusively that of a private school, not affiliated with any members of the construction industry, the trucking industry or any member of any other industry.

9. Failing to refund promptly to purchasers who have cancelled their contracts such monies as may be due and owing according to the terms of such contracts.

II. 1. It is further ordered, That:

(a) Respondents herein deliver, by registered mail, a copy of this Decision and Order to each of their present and future franchisees, licensees, employees, sales representatives, agents, solicitors, brokers, independent contractors or to any other person who promotes, offers for sale, sells or distributes any course of instruction included within the scope of this Order:

(c) Respondents herein inform each person or entity described in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph that the respondents will not use or engage or will terminate the use or engagement of any such party, unless such party agrees to and does file notice with the respondents that he or she will be bound by the provisions contained in this Order;

(d) If such party as described in subparagraph (a) of this paragraph will not agree to file the notice set forth in subparagraph (b) above with the respondents and be bound by the provisions of this Order, the respondents shall not use or engage or continue the use or engagement of such party to promote, offer for sale, sell or distribute any course of instruction included within the scope of this Order;

(g) Respondents herein discontinue dealing with or terminate the use or engagement of any person described in subparagraph (a) above, who continues in his or her own any act or practice prohibited by this Order as revealed by the aforesaid program of surveillance.

(h) Respondents herein maintain files containing all inquiries of complaints from any source relating to acts or practices prohibited by this Order, for a period of two years after their receipt, and that such files be made available for examination by a duly authorized agent of the Federal Trade Commission during the regular hours of the respondents' business for inspection and copying.

2. It is further ordered, That respondents herein present to each interested applicant or prospective student immediately prior to the commencement of any interview or sales presentation during which the purchase of or enrollment in any course of instruction offered by respondents herein is discussed or solicited a 5" x 7" card containing only the following language:

"YOU WILL BE TALKING TO A SALESPERSON"

3. It is further ordered, That respondent corporation shall forthwith distribute a copy of this Order to each of its operating divisions.

4. It is further ordered, That the respondent World Wide Systems, Inc., shall notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondent such as dissolution, assignment or sales resulting in the emergency of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries or any other change in the respondents which may affect compliance obligations arising out of this Order.

5. It is further ordered, That the individual respondents named herein promptly notify the Commission of the discontinuance of their present business or employment and of their affiliation with a new business or employment. Such notice shall include respondents' current business or employment in which they are engaged as well as a description of their duties and responsibilities.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this Order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this Order.

The Decision and Order was issued by the Commission July 16, 1975.

Title 19—Customs Duties

CHAPTER I—UNITED STATES CUSTOMS SERVICE

[TD 75-221]

LIGHTERMEN

Private Carriers of Bonded Merchandise

On April 7, 1975, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 15389) a notice of a proposal to amend § 112.11 (a) (4) (iii) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 112.11(a) (4) (iii)) to expand the authority granted to private carriers in the transportation of their own bonded merchandise.

Presently, § 112.11(a) (4) (iii) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 112.11(a) (4) (iii)) only permits a private carrier to carry his own bonded merchandise from the port of importation or port of entry for warehouse to his own bonded warehouse for physical deposit. Private carriers have advised the United States Customs Service that this limitation has resulted in an extravagant consumption of fuel and use of vehicles by prohibiing possible "two-way" hauling operations that could be instituted if this limitation was removed.

In order to conserve fuel and to better utilize the vehicles and equipment of private carriers, it was proposed to amend § 112.11(a) (4) (iii) of the Customs Regulations by also permitting a private carrier to transport his own merchandise under bond from his Customs bonded warehouse to another Customs bonded warehouse for physical deposit or, if for exportation, to transport his own merchandise under bond from his Customs bonded warehouse to a Customs bonded warehouse at the port of exportation. After consideration of the comments received in response to the notice of proposed rulemaking, it has been decided to adopt the proposed amendment without change.

Accordingly, § 112.11(a) (4) (iii) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 112.11(a) (4) (iii)) is amended to read as follows:

§ 112.11 Carriers which may be authorized.

(4) * * *

(iii) The merchandise is to be transported from the port of importation or port of entry for warehouse to the private carrier's Customs bonded warehouse for physical deposit, or from the private carrier's Customs bonded warehouse to another Customs bonded warehouse for physical deposit, or, if for exportation, from a Customs bonded warehouse of which the private carrier is the proprietor to a Customs bonded warehouse at the port of exportation.

(R.S. 251, as amended, secs. 551, 565, 624, 46 Stat. 742, as amended, 747, as amended, 759 (19 U.S.C. 66, 1551, 1565, 1624))

Effective date. This amendment will become effective October 7, 1975.

Commissioner of Customs.

AND EXEMPTIONS

Public International Organizations Entitled to Free Entry Privileges

By Executive Order No. 11866 signed June 18, 1975 (40 FR 26015), the President designated the World Intellectual Property Organization as a public international organization entitled to enjoy all the privileges, exemptions, and immunities provided for by the International Organizations Immunities Act of December 29, 1945 (59 Stat. 669).

The names of public international organizations currently designated as entitled to free entry privileges under the International Organizations Immunities Act are set forth in § 148.87(b) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 148.87 (b)) together with the number and date of the Executive order by which they were designated.

Accordingly, § 148.87(b) is amended by the following addition (in proper alphabetical order):

World Intellectual Property Organization.....	11866	June 18, 1975

(R.S. 251, as amended, secs. 498, 524, 46 Stat. 728, as amended, 759, sec. 1, 59 Stat. 669 (19 U.S.C. 66, 1498, 1624, 22 U.S.C. 288))

Inasmuch as these amendments merely correct the listing of organizations entitled by law to claim free entry privileges as public international organizations, notice and public procedure thereon is found to be unnecessary and good cause exists for dispensing with a delayed effective date under the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553.

G. R. DICKERSON,
Acting Commissioner of Customs.

Title 20—Employees' Benefits

CHAPTER II—RAILROAD RETIREMENT BOARD

PART 200—PROCEDURES AND FORMS PART 260—APPEALS WITHIN THE BOARD

Additional Types of Determinations

This document provides a revision of the Board's Regulations with respect to the additional types of determinations, in addition to determinations on applications for benefits, which are considered to be "initial decisions" from which a claimant may appeal.

Pursuant to the general authority contained in section 10 of the act of June 24, 1937 (50 Stat. 314, as amended; 45 U.S.C. 228), § 200.1(a) of Part 200 (20 CFR 200.1(a)) and §§ 260.1, 260.2 (a), (b), and (d) of Part 260 (20 CFR 260.1 and 260.2 (a), (b), and (d)) of the Regulations under such act are amended as follows:

§ 200.1 The general course and method by which the Board's functions are channeled and determined.

(a) Retirement and death benefits. Retirement and death benefits must be applied for by filing application therefor. (For details as to application, see Parts 210 and 237 of this chapter.) The Bureau of Retirement Claims considers the application and the evidence and information submitted with it. Wage and service records maintained by the Board are checked and if necessary, further evidence is obtained from the employee, the employer, fellow employees, public records and any other person or source available. The Bureau makes initial decisions on the following matters:

- (1) Applications for benefits;
- (2) Requests for the withdrawal of an application;
- (3) Requests for a change in an annuity beginning date;
- (4) The termination of an annuity;
- (5) The modification of the amount of an annuity or lump sum;
- (6) Requests for the reinstatement of an annuity which had been terminated or modified;
- (7) The existence of an erroneous payment; and
- (8) The eligibility of an individual for a supplemental annuity or the amount of such supplemental annuity.

A claimant dissatisfied with the Bureau's decision may, upon filing notice within one year from the date the decision is mailed to the claimant, appeal to the Bureau of Hearings and Appeals. There he may have an oral hearing before a referee of which a stenographic record is made, submit additional evidence, be represented, and present written and oral argument. If dissatisfied with the decision of the referee, the claimant may appeal to the Board itself. This appeal must be made on a prescribed form within four months of the date a copy of the referee's decision was mailed to him. If new evidence is received, the Board may remand the case to the referee for investigation and recommendation concerning the new evidence. (For details on appeals procedure, see Part 260 of this chapter.) A claimant, after he has unsuccessfully appealed to the Board itself and has thus exhausted all administrative remedies within the Board, may obtain a review of a final decision of the Board by filing a petition for review, within one year after the entry of the decision on the records of the Board and its communication to the claimant, in the United States court of appeals for the circuit in which the claimant resides, or in the United States Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, or in the United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit.

§ 260.1 Initial decisions by the Bureau of Retirement Claims.

- (a) Claims shall be adjudicated and initial decisions made by the Bureau of Retirement Claims concerning:
- (1) Applications for benefits;
 - (2) Requests for the withdrawal of an application;
 - (3) Requests for a change in an annuity beginning date;
 - (4) The termination of an annuity;
 - (5) The modification of the amount of an annuity or lump sum;
 - (6) Requests for the reinstatement of an annuity which had been terminated or modified;
 - (7) The existence of an erroneous payment; and
 - (8) The eligibility of an individual for a supplemental annuity or the amount of such supplemental annuity.

Adjudication and initial decision shall be in accordance with instructions issued by the Director of the Bureau and shall be made upon the basis of evidence submitted by the claimant and evidence otherwise available.

(b) Notice of an initial decision shall be communicated by the Bureau of Retirement Claims to the claimant in writing within thirty days after such decision is made.

§ 260.2 Appeal from an initial decision of the Bureau of Retirement Claims.

(a) Every claimant shall have a right to appeal to the Bureau of Hearings and Appeals from any initial decision of the Bureau of Retirement Claims by which he claims to be aggrieved.

(b) Appeal from an initial decision of the Bureau of Retirement Claims shall be made by the execution and filing of the appeal form prescribed by the Board. Such appeal must be filed with the Bureau of Hearings and Appeals within one year from the date upon which notice of the initial decision is mailed to the claimant at the address furnished by him.

(d) Within a reasonable time after the claimant has filed a properly executed appeal, the Director of the Bureau of Hearings and Appeals shall appoint a referee to act in the appeal. Such referee shall not have any interest in the parties or in the outcome of the proceedings, shall not have directly participated in the initial decision from which the appeal is made, and shall not have any other interest in the matter which might prevent a fair and impartial decision.

By Authority of the Board.

Dated: August 29, 1975.

Secretary of the Board.

CHAPTER I—FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

PART 121—FOOD ADDITIVES

PART 556—TOLERANCES FOR RESIDUES OF NEW ANIMAL DRUGS IN FOOD

Medroxyprogesterone Acetate

Elsewhere in this issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, the Commissioner of Food and Drugs is issuing a notice withdrawing approval for use of the drug Repromix (contains medroxyprogesterone acetate for the synchronization of estrus and ovulation in breeding cattle and ewes). Use of the drug was provided for by new animal drug application No. 13-578V held by The Upjohn Co., Kalamazoo, MI 49001.

The notice is based on a request from the firm that the application be withdrawn since the drug is no longer being marketed. Since approval of the drug product is being withdrawn, corresponding regulations in Parts 121 and 556 (21 CFR Parts 121, 556), which provide for the use of the drug in feed and establish an appropriate tolerance for residues in food, are accordingly revoked.

Therefore, under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 512(i), 82 Stat. 340-351 (21 U.S.C. 360b(i))) and under the authority delegated to him (21 CFR 2.120), Parts 121 and 556 are amended as follows:

§ 121.276 [Revoked]

1. In Part 121, § 121.276 Medroxyprogesterone acetate is revoked.

§ 556.370 [Revoked]

2. In Part 556, § 556.370 Medroxyprogesterone acetate is revoked.

Effective date. This regulation becomes effective September 5, 1975.

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Lemon Regulation 9]

PART 910—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

Limitation of Handling

This regulation fixes the quantity of California-Arizona lemons that may be shipped to fresh market during the weekly regulation period September 7-13, 1975. It is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and Marketing Order No. 910. The quantity of lemons so fixed was arrived at after consideration of the total available supply of lemons, the quantity of lemons currently available for market, the fresh market demand for lemons, lemon prices, and the relationship of season average returns to the parity price for lemons.

§ 910.309 Lemon Regulation 9.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The need for this regulation to limit the quantity of lemons that may be marketed during the ensuing week stems from the production and marketing situation confronting the lemon industry.

(1) The committee has submitted its recommendation with respect to the quantity of lemons it deems advisable to be handled during the ensuing week. Such recommendation resulted from consideration of the factors enumerated in the order. The committee further reports the demand for lemons is active on all fruit, thus for this week. Average f.o.b. price was $7.99 per carton the week ended August 30, 1975, compared to $7.48 per carton the previous week. Track and rolling supplies at 102 cars were down 10 cars from last week.

(ii) Having considered the recommendation and information submitted by the committee, and other available information, the Secretary finds that the quantity of lemons which may be handled should be fixed as hereinafter set forth.

(3) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this regulation must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for lemons and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this regulation, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on September 2, 1975.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period September 7, 1975, through September 13, 1975, is hereby fixed at 225,000 cartons.

(2) As used in this section, "handled", and "carton(s)" have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674))

Dated: September 3, 1975.

Deputy Director, Fruit and Loan and Purchase Rates

On January 27, 1975, notice of proposed rulemaking regarding loan and purchase rates for 1975 crop peanuts and operating provisions to carry out the 1975 crop peanut loan and purchase program was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 40 FR 4019.

Six responses were received from individual producers and other interested parties. None of the written comments, suggestions, or objections received, pertained to the aspects of the loan and purchase program covered by this subpart. The regulations contained in 7 CFR, §§ 1421.291 through 1421.295 are revised to read as follows, effective as to the 1975 crop of peanuts. [CCC Grain Price Support Regulations, 1975 Crop Honey Supplement]

PART 1434—HONEY

Purchase Rates

On January 15, 1975, notice of proposed rulemaking regarding purchase rates for 1975 crop honey and detailed operating provisions to carry out the 1975 crop honey purchase program was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 2726).

Two responses were received, one from an interested individual honey producer and the other from a marketing association. The responses recommended that a proposed purchase program permit producers to make declaration of intent to sell honey to CCC through March 31 for the previous year's production, that producers be notified of their delivery date and destination by June 1, and that delivery be made by producers on or about July 1. Specific delivery dates are not being adopted by CCC because of their impracticability under the purchase program.

The regulations contained in 7 CFR 1434.40 through 1434.44 are revised to read as follows, effective as to 1975 crop honey. The material previously appearing in these sections remains in full force and effect as to the crops to which it was applicable.

Cashing Checks and Money Orders

On pages 30291-30292 of the July 18, 1975, edition of the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 30291-30292) there was published a proposal to amend Part 701 (12 CFR 701) by revising § 701.23(d). The purpose of the proposal is to give to each Federal credit union the option of charging a fee when the cashing of a check or money order is not applied in its entirety for payment of a loan, payment of interest, payment of any obligation to the credit union, or the purchase of shares. Interested persons were given until August 11, 1975, to submit written comments, suggestions and objections regarding the proposed amendment. As a result of the comments, no changes were deemed necessary.

Accordingly, the proposed amendment to Part 701 (12 CFR 701) is adopted as set forth below and is effective immediately.

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

AiResearch Model GTC660-4 and -4R Auxiliary Power Units (APU)

Pursuant to a Notice of Proposed Rule Making, published June 12, 1975, in the FEDERAL REGISTER, (40 FR 25027), the agency proposed to amend Amendment 39-2108 (40 FR 8541), AD 75-05-17, as amended by Amendment 39-2224 (40 FR 23722), to require accomplishment of modifications and inspections described in AiResearch Service Bulletin GTC660-49-3713, dated May 15, 1975, or later FAA-approved revisions, within six months of the effective date of the adopted rule on certain Boeing 747 aircraft. When the modifications and inspections were performed, the placard required by paragraph (a) of the AD may be removed, and the inspections required by paragraph (b) may be discontinued.

The agency considered the incorporation of these modifications and inspections as necessary to minimize the hazard of injury to persons near the aircraft during ground operations.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of the amendment.

Three comments were received. The Air Transport Association on behalf of member air carriers, British Airways, and Belgian World Airlines (Sabena), as Central Agency for the ATLAS group (Air France, Lufthansa, Alitalia, Iberia and Sabena) submitted comments. The comments stressed problems of parts availability, scheduling capabilities of the operators, and spare APU availability; Sabena also noted that there had been only one penetration of the aircraft Body Station 2658 firewall due to non-containment of fragments during over more than 2,900,000 total aircraft hours of operation. Based on the foregoing, the comments requested substantial extensions of the compliance time within which the actions were to be taken in the adopted rule, while concurring in the agency's intent to effect a terminating action with some time frame.

The Sabena comment referencing the incident in which there had been penetration of the firewall at Body Station 2658 is true, but is not pertinent to the agency's intent to protect ground personnel from shrapnel piercing the adjacent fuselage. In addition to the fragments which pierced the forward firewall of the APU compartment during the incident cited above, there were numerous fragments which penetrated the lower surface of the APU compartment and could have endangered ground personnel and produced a condition which could impair fire containment because of firewall degradation.

With respect to the compliance time proposed in the Notice of Proposed Rule Making, it is to be noted that the agency previously, by Amendment 39-2224, referenced above, issued on May 21, 1975, and made effective on June 5, 1975, authorized the operators to incorporate the modifications and inspections of the manufacturer's service bulletin as a terminating action to the placard requirement of paragraph (a) of the AD, and the inspections of paragraph (b). Amendment 39-2224 was adopted as an immediately adopted rule, as it provided an alternative means of compliance, which, when performed, relieved the operators of the AD requirements, as indicated above. The agency believes that the operators, both in the interest of safety for the ground personnel involved, and the advantages of eliminating the restrictions of the AD, would have been incorporating the actions set forth in the service bulletin on a scheduled basis even before the issuance of the Notice. And, while it is true that there has been but one incident involving the failure to contain the fragments of the APU, the potential hazard presented by the occurrence is sufficiently serious to warrant effective corrective action at the earliest time, and on a practicable basis.

The ATA comment suggested a compliance time of 24 months or 1,000 hours time in service on the APU, whichever occurs later.

British Airways suggested a date of June 30, 1976. Sabena suggested that the service bulletin be incorporated the first time the APU is removed from the airplane with a maximum delay of 24 months after the effective date of the amendment.

The agency has considered these comments. In the interest of safety in aviation, the agency believes that the compliance time adopted herein, namely, on or before July 1, 1976, to do the work, represents a reasonable standard.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 FR 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, Amendment 39-2108 (40 FR 8541), AD 75-05-17, as amended by Amendment 39-2224 (40 FR 23722), is further amended, by revising paragraph (c) to read:

§ 39.13 [Amended]

(c) The modifications and inspections described in AIRResearch Bulletin GTCP 660-49-3713, dated May 15, 1975, or later FAA-approved revisions must be incorporated on or before July 1, 1976. Upon completion of these modifications and inspections, the placard required by paragraph (a), above, may be removed and the inspections required by (b), above, may be discontinued.

This amendment becomes effective October 6, 1975.

This amendment is made under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423) and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Los Angeles, California on August 21, 1975.

Acting Director,
FAA Western Region.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES

Bell Models 206A, 206B, 206A-1, and 206B-1 Helicopters

Amendment 39-2122 (40 FR 10661), AD 75-06-03, as revised by Amendment 39-2146 (40 FR 14297) requires an immediate and a 100-hour repetitive inspection for possible cracks in the upper and lower clevis on each main rotor blade pitch link assembly, P/N 206-010-330 or 206-010-342, and an inspection of the outer swashplate ring horn bearings for excessive breakaway torque on Bell Models 206A, 206B, 206A-1 and 206B-1 helicopters. After issuing Amendment 39-2122, AD 75-06-03, and Amendment 39-2146, the agency has been informed of satisfactory service history on the affected clevises and helicopters by several operators and by the Helicopter Association of America. Bell Helicopter Company has inspected approximately 40 clevises with alleged cracks that were returned to them as prescribed in the Mailgram dated February 15, 1975, from Bell Helicopter Company to all 206A, 206B, and TH57A operators. None of these clevises had cracks in the threaded shanks. Amendment 39-2122, AD 75-06-03, has been in effect since March 12, 1975, and the FAA has not received a confirmed case of a cracked clevis as a result of this AD. Based on this information and the numerous requests for relief from further repetitive inspections, the AD is being amended to delete any further requirement for a repetitive inspection.

The agency again requests interested persons to submit written information and comments on the main rotor pitch link assemblies as they may desire. Communications should identify the docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Regional Counsel, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, P.O. Box 1689, Fort Worth, Texas 76101. All comments will be available in the Office of Regional Counsel for examination by interested persons.

The comments received on or before September 22, 1975, that are submitted in response to the request for additional information will be considered by the Director and the amendment may be changed in the light of those comments prior to the adoption on October 2, 1975. Since this amendment provides relief from further repetitive inspections and imposes no additional burden on any person, the amendment may be made effective in 40 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 FR 13697), Section 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, Amendment 39-2122 (40 FR 10661), AD 75-06-03 as amended by Amendment 39-2146 (40 FR 14297) is further amended by changing the compliance paragraph to read as follows:

Compliance required within 10 hours' time in service after March 12, 1975, unless already accomplished.

This amendment becomes effective October 2, 1975.

This amendment is made under the authority of Sections 313(a), 601, and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423) and of Section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Fort Worth, Texas, on August 13, 1975.

Director, Southwest Region.

Rockwell Models 690, 690A, and 685

Amendment 39-2275, 40 FR 29272, AD 75-15-01, imposes a speed and deflection limitation during flap operation, and requires a one-time inspection of flap bracket, P/N 510003-92, with a subsequent modification prior to lifting the flap speed and deflection limitation. After issuing Amendment 39-2257, service experience established that cracks were still occurring while operating with the flap speed and deflection limitation.

Therefore, the AD is being superseded by a new AD that requires a repetitive inspection while operating in accordance with the flap speed and deflection limitation. Also, further modification information is provided.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 FR 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

ROCKWELL: Applies to Models 690, S/N 11000 and subsequent, 690A, S/N 11100 and subsequent, and 685, S/N 12000 and subsequent.

Compliance required as indicated:
A. Immediately upon receipt of this AD, limit flap speed and deflection as follows:

Flap speed (Kts)	Flap deflection (degrees)	Models
104	40	600, 600A, 685
115	35	600, 600A, 685
128	30	600, 600A, 685
140	27	600, 600A, 685
180	20	600A

B. Within 25 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished,

1. Install a limitation placard, covering paragraph A, in accordance with Rockwell International Service Bulletin No. 186 dated June 27, 1975, Revision 1 dated July 3, 1975, or later approved revision, or an equivalent approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Flight Standards Division, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, Texas.

2. Inspect flap bracket P/N 510003-92 for cracks.

a. If cracks are found, modify the flap bracket in accordance with Rockwell International Service Bulletin No. 187 dated July 16, 1975, or an equivalent approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, Flight Standards Division, Southwest Region, Federal Aviation Administration, Fort Worth, Texas, and install prior to further flight.

A special flight permit pursuant to FAR 21.197 may be issued to allow ferrying of the aircraft to a facility where the required maintenance can be performed. Flaps should not be operated during ferry flight. Following modification, the placard required by paragraph B may then be removed and the limitations specified in paragraph A may be disregarded.

b. If no cracks are found, continue to operate the aircraft in accordance with the limitations specified in paragraph A. Reinspect at intervals of 25 hours thereafter, and within the next 100 hours' time in service, accomplish the modification specified in paragraph B(2)(a). Upon installation of this modification, the placard required by paragraph B may be removed and the limitation specified in paragraph A may be disregarded.

This amendment becomes effective on receipt of an individual copy or on September 8, 1975, whichever occurs first.

This amendment is made under the authority of Sections 313(a), 601, and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 135(a), 1421, and 1423) and of Section 6(e) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Fort Worth, Texas, on August 22, 1975.

Director, Southwest Region.

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVE

Pratt & Whitney JT6D Aircraft Engines

Amendment 39-2055 (39 FR 40167), AD 75-01-01 requires operators of certain JT6D engines to remove low turbine shafts that have not been reworked by undercutting the threads in the spline end, and to repetitively inspect shafts with reworked splines at intervals of 6700 cycles in service. The AD also requires an inspection of the No. 2 compressor hub spline.

Since the issuance of the AD, an alternate procedure has been approved for inspection of the shaft splines. Paragraph 2 of the AD has been revised to reflect this. In addition, it has come to our attention that some confusion exists on the required No. 2 compressor hub spline inspection required by Paragraph 3. For clarification, the plated and the nonplated titanium hub inspections have been separated into Paragraph 3 and 4, respectively, of the amended AD.

Since this amendment clarifies the AD, provides an alternative means of compliance, and imposes no additional burden on any person, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary and the amendment may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 FR 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, Amendment 39-1835 (39 FR 16388), AD 75-01-01, is amended as follows:

Compliance Paragraph 1 is amended by deleting the words "after the effective date of this AD, whichever is later", and inserting the words "after January 8, 1975, whichever is later".

Compliance Paragraph 2 is amended by:

a. Deleting the words "eddy current spline inspection procedure in Pratt & Whitney Service Bulletin 2452, Revision 5", and inserting the words "Pratt & Whitney Service Bulletin 2452, Revision 10".

b. Deleting the words "since last eddy current spline inspection", and inserting the words "since last inspection".

c. Deleting the words "after the effective date of this AD, whichever is later, unless already accomplished", and inserting the words "after January 8, 1975, whichever is later, unless already accomplished in accordance with Pratt & Whitney Service Bulletin No. 2452, Revision No. 10, or in accordance with the eddy current inspection of Pratt & Whitney Service Bulletin No. 2452, Revision Nos. 5 thru 9".

Compliance Paragraph 3 is deleted in its entirety and the following paragraphs inserted in lieu thereof:

3. Inspect all No. 2 compressor hub splines plated per Pratt & Whitney Service Bulletins 2964 and 4193, in accordance with Pratt & Whitney Alert Service Bulletin 4357, Paragraphs IV.D.2 and IV.D.3, or later FAA approved revision, as applicable, when the low turbine shafts are removed or inspected in accordance with Paragraph 1 or 2 above. Remove hubs with plate peeling from service before further flight.

4. Inspect nonplated titanium No. 2 compressor hub splines, run with low turbine shafts requiring inspection under Paragraphs 1 or 2 of this AD, for taper wear in accordance with Pratt & Whitney JT6D manual, P/N 481672, Revision 76, Section 72-

33-6, or later FAA approved revision, prior to the accumulation of 6700 cycles in service or within the next 2000 cycles in service after January 8, 1975, whichever is later, unless already accomplished. Inspect thereafter at intervals not to exceed 6700 cycles in service since last inspection. Remove hubs with taper wear in excess of .010 inch from service before further flight.

This amendment becomes effective September 7, 1975.

(Sec. 313(a), 601, and 603, Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423); sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Burlington, Massachusetts, on August 22, 1975.

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Recent Changes and Additions

This amendment to Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations incorporates by reference therein changes and additions to the Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAPs) that were recently adopted by the Administrator to promote safety at the airports concerned.

The complete SIAPs for the changes and additions covered by this amendment are described in FAA Forms 8260-3, 8260-4, or 8260-5 and made a part of the public rule making dockets of the FAA in accordance with the procedures set forth in Amendment No. 97-696 (35 F.R. 5609).

SIAPs are available for examination at the Rules Docket and at the National Flight Data Center, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591. Copies of SIAPs adopted in a particular region are also available for examination at the headquarters of that region. Individual copies of SIAPs may be purchased from the FAA Public Information Center, AIS-230, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591 or from the applicable FAA regional office in accordance with the fee schedule prescribed in 49 CFR 7.85. This fee is payable in advance and may be paid by check, draft, or postal money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States. A weekly transmittal of all SIAP changes and additions may be obtained by subscription at an annual rate of $150.00 per annum from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Additional copies mailed to the same address may be ordered for $30.00 each.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this amendment, I find that further notice and public procedure hereon is impracticable and good cause exists for making it effective in less than 30 days.

Title 41—Public Contracts and Property Management

CHAPTER 101—FEDERAL PROPERTY MANAGEMENT REGULATIONS

SUBCHAPTER E—SUPPLY AND PROCUREMENT

PART 101-26—PROCUREMENT SOURCES AND PROGRAMS

Policy and Procedural Changes

This amendment provides policy and procedural changes in GSA's procurement sources and programs.

The table of contents for Part 101-26 is amended to include the following revised entry:

§ 101-26.104 End-of-year submission of requisitions for action by GSA.

Section 101-26.000 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-26.000 Scope of part.

This part prescribes policies and procedures which govern the procurement of personal property and nonpersonal services by Federal agencies from or through GSA supply sources as established by law or other competent authority. The specific subparts or sections covering the subject matter involved prescribe the extent to which the sources of supply are to be used by Government agencies. Certain civilian and military commissaries and nonappropriated fund activities are also eligible to use GSA supply sources for their own use, not for resale, unless otherwise authorized by the individual Federal agency and concurred in by GSA. Policy and procedures pertaining to purchasing of property or contracting for services from commercial sources, without recourse to established GSA supply sources, are provided in the Federal Procurement Regulations and are exempted from this part.

Subpart 101-26.1—General

1. Section 101-26.100-1 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-26.100-1 Procurement of lowest cost items.

GSA provides lines of similar items to meet particular end-use requirements under both its supply distribution system and the Federal Supply Schedule program. Although these similar items may differ in terms of price, quality, and essential characteristics, they can often serve the same functional end-use procurement needs of the various ordering agencies. Therefore, in submitting requisitions for an item obtainable from both GSA stock and Federal Supply Schedule contracts, agencies shall utilize the source from which the lowest cost item can be obtained which will adequately serve the functional end-use purpose.

2. Section 101-26.102-3 is amended to read as follows:

§ 101-26.102-3 Procurement leadtime.

When GSA performs the purchasing services for other agencies or activities as contemplated by this § 101-26.102-3, calculation of the delivery dates required for the items involved shall be based on the procurement leadtimes illustrated in § 101-26.4801. These leadtimes are based on the normal time required after receipt of agency requisitions by GSA to effect delivery to destinations within the 50 States.

3. The title of § 101-26.104 is changed and §§ 101-26.104 (b) and (c) are revised as follows:

§ 101-26.104 End-of-year submission of requisitions for action by GSA.

(b) Under the FEDSTRIP/MILSTRIP systems, the requisitions submitted to GSA are not required to reflect the applicable appropriation or fiscal year funds to be charged. The Fund Code entry on the requisition simply indicates to the supply source (GSA) that funds are available to pay the charge, thereby providing authority for the release of material and subsequent billing. Requisitions received by GSA in purchase authority format are normally likewise converted to FEDSTRIP/MILSTRIP documentation so that processing can be accomplished expeditiously through a uniform system based on the use of automated equipment. Accordingly, primary responsibility rests with the ordering activity for ensuring that requisitions intended to be chargeable to appropriations expiring the last day of the fiscal year are submitted in sufficient time for GSA to consummate the necessary action before the end of the fiscal year. Requisitions submitted on or before the last day of the fiscal year may be chargeable to appropriations expiring on that date provided the ordering agency is required by law or GSA regulation to use GSA supply sources. When the ordering agency is not required to use GSA sources, requisitions for GSA stock items may be recorded as obligations provided the items are intended to meet a bona fide need of the fiscal year in which the need arises or to replace stock used in that fiscal year; requests for other than GSA stock items are to be recorded as obligations at the time GSA awards a contract for the required items. In the latter case, GSA procurement leadtimes illustrated in § 101-26.4801 should be used as a guide for timely submission of these requisitions. The leadtimes referred to relate to the number of days between submission of a requisition and actual delivery of the items involved. While this may furnish some guidance to requisitioners, there is no direct relationship between those leadtimes and the time it takes for GSA to make an award of a contract.

(c) End-of-year submission of requisitions which require GSA to award a contract not later than the last day of the fiscal year in order to obligate the appropriation or funds of the ordering agency will be annotated to indicate that GSA procurement of the requested items must be accomplished not later than the last day of the fiscal year in which the requisitions are submitted. For example, a FEDSTRIP/MILSTRIP requisition should be prepared to include Document Identifier Code A#E or A#5 and reflect the annotation in the "Remarks" block. With this information GSA will attempt to complete procurement action before the end of the fiscal year. When a requisition is received too late to permit GSA to complete procurement action before the end of the fiscal year, the requisitioning activity will be so notified and requested to furnish instructions regarding the action to be taken. Based on these instructions, procurement action will be taken or the requisition will be canceled and returned to the ordering activity.

4. Section 101-26.105 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-26.105 Justification to support negotiated procurement by GSA for other agencies.

Each requisition submitted by an agency to GSA requiring negotiated pro-urement shall be accompanied by a justification or findings and determination, as applicable. When the justification or findings and determination does not clearly and fully support the requested procurement, the requesting agency will be so notified and requested to furnish sufficient information to satisfy the requirements of the applicable negotiation authority. The GSA contracting officer will suspend procurement action pending receipt of the requested information.

(a) When the requisition is for a requirement to be procured under § 1-3.202 (public exigency), citation of a FEDSTRIP priority designator #3 or #6, or a Uniform Material Movements and Issue Priority System (UMMIPS) priority designator #1 through #6, inclusive, will indicate that the agency is identifying a circumstance within the purview of § 1-3.202. No further information is required to support the findings and determination to be made by the GSA contracting officer.

NOTE: A requisition which cites a priority designator above #6 may justify negotiation under this or other negotiation authority, but in such cases the request must be accompanied by a justification setting forth specific circumstances sufficient to support the findings and determination to be made by the GSA contracting officer.

(b) When the requisition is for a requirement to be procured by negotiation under § 1-3.208 (property purchased for authorized resale) or § 1-3.210 (impracticable to secure competition by formal advertising), the request must refer to and be accompanied by a statement containing sufficient information to justify use of the negotiating authority contemplated. For circumstances permitting negotiation as set forth in § 1-3.210, each requisition for a particular make, model, brand, or other similarly designed item, or which restricts procurement action to a limited number of competing commercially available products, must be justified by a statement of facts establishing the minimum needs to be fulfilled, and that these needs can be satisfied only by procurement of the designated item or any one of a limited number of competing commercially available products. (Personal preference and subjective evaluations are not acceptable as sufficient justification.) Specifically, the justification statement must include the following detailed information:

(1) The specific needs to be satisfied in terms of identified tasks or work processes;

(2) The requirements that generate the specific needs;

(3) The characteristics of the designated item that enable it to satisfy the specific needs; and

(4) Identification of other items evaluated and, for each, a statement of the characteristics (or lack thereof) which preclude their satisfying the specific needs.

(c) When the requisition is for a requirement to be procured by negotiation under § 1-3.211 (experimental, developmental, or research work), § 1-3.212 (purchases not to be publicly disclosed), or § 1-3.213 (technical equipment requiring standardization and interchangeability of parts), the requests must refer to and be accompanied by a copy of a findings and determination made by the head of the requesting agency. However, in the case of contracts for experimental, developmental, or research work which will not require the expenditure of more than $25,000 or such higher amount as may have been delegated by the head of the requesting agency, the findings and determination may be made by the chief officer responsible for procurement when authorized by the delegation or as provided in § 1-3.303.

(d) When the requisition is for a requirement to be procured by negotiation in accordance with § 1-3.215 (otherwise authorized by law), the request must cite the law authorizing negotiation and refer to and be accompanied by any justification or findings and determination required by such authority and applicable regulations.

5. Section 101-26.106 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-26.106 Consolidation of requirements.

Full consideration shall be given to the consolidation of individual small volume requirements to enable the Government to benefit from lower prices normally obtainable through definite quantity contracts for larger volume procurements. This policy pertains to procurement from commercial sources either direct or through an intermediary agency and does not apply to GSA stock items or small volume requirements normally obtained from a GSA self-service store. When it is practical, each agency shall establish procedures that will permit planned requirements consolidation on an agency-wide basis. When it is impractical to plan requirements on an agency-wide consolidated basis, the requirements consolidation effort may be limited to a bureau, to other agency segments, or to a program, if such limited consolidation will provide significant price advantages when procurement is effected on a volume basis. Requisitions for items requirements exceeding maximum order limitations in Federal Supply Schedule contracts shall be submitted to GSA in accordance with the applicable instructions in the respective schedules. Special buying services desired by agencies for procurement of other consolidated item requirements shall be requested from GSA in accordance with § 101-26.102.

Subpart 101-26.2—Federal Requisitioning System

1. Section 101-26.201 is amended as follows:

§ 101-26.201 General.

This requisitioning and issue system is identified as the Federal Standard Requisitioning and Issue Procedures (FEDSTRIP) and is similar to and compatible with the Military Standard Requisitioning and Issue Procedures (MILSTRIP). The FEDSTRIP system provides GSA and other supply sources the means to automate the processing of requisitions. Its main features are:

2. Section 101-26.203-1 is amended as follows:

§ 101-26.203-1 Forms prepared by ordering offices.

(a) GSA Form 1348m, Single Line Item Requisition System Document (Mechanical), (illustrated in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide) is prepared mechanically by ADP equipment through computer output or key punch machine.

(b) * * *

(1) Standard Form 344, Multiuse Standard Requisitioning Issue System Document, (illustrated in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide) is a manually prepared form used for requisitioning, cancellation, or followup;

(2) GSA Form 1348(6-PT), Single Line Item Requisition System Document (Manual), (illustrated in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide) and;

(3) GSA Form 1348-6, Non-NSN Requisition (Manual), (illustrated in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide) will be used when ordering non-national stock numbered items which exceed the stock or part number field and/or require additional information; e.g., manufacturers part number, technical data, or detailed description. Document identifier code (DIC) A#5 or A#E will be used for non-part-numbered requirements.

3. Section 101-26.203-2 is amended as follows:

§ 101-26.203-2 Forms furnished to ordering offices.

(a) * * *

(1) GSA Form 1348-1, Single Line Item Release/Receipt Document (illustrated in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide). This form serves as a shipping and receiving document for GSA supply distribution facilities shipments. On items for direct delivery, a copy of the requisition will be furnished instead of the GSA Form 1348-1.

(2) GSA Format 952, Single Line Item Billing Register (illustrated in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide). This form serves as a billing support for GSA stock shipments made during the billing period. On items for direct delivery, copies of the requisition will be used to support the billing instead of the GSA Format 952.

(b) Supply/shipment status information will be provided by electrical transmission in machine-sensible (card) format via the Defense Automatic Addressing System (DAAS), Dayton, Ohio, to all military and civil activities having capabilities to receive or transmit by electrical communications. Military and civil activities not having electrical transmission facilities will be furnished information on the status of requisitions and replies to followup inquiries by DAAS (via first class mail) on GSA Form 2779, Supply/Shipment Status Information As Of, or DD Form 1348m, DOD Single Line Item Requisition System Document (Mechanical), as requested by the media and status (M & S) code (cc 7) of the requisition.

4. Section 101-26.205-2 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-26.205-2 Assignment of codes.

Codes will be assigned by GSA for the requisitioning agency as specified in the FEDSTRIP Operating Guide. When agency procedures provide for payment of bills on a national or other basis extending beyond respective GSA regional boundaries, each agency shall furnish address information to the General Services Administration (FF), Washington, DC 20406, for assignment of codes and distribution to all GSA regional offices.

5. Section 101-26.206 is revised to read as follows:

§ 101-26.206 GSA assistance.

The Federal Supply Service at each GSA regional office will advise and assist in the development of procedures required to adopt FEDSTRIP within an agency's field activities. Agency headquarters activities requiring assistance may contact General Services Administration (FF), Washington, DC 20406.

(Sec. 205(c), 63 Stat. 390; 40 U.S.C. 486(c))

Final Regulations Frameworks for 1975-76 Hunting Seasons

On August 15, 1975, a document was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 34361) proposing to amend Part 20 of Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations. Included in that document were Proposed Regulations Frameworks for 1975-76 Hunting Seasons on Waterfowl, Coots, and Gallinules; Cranes in Parts of North Dakota, South Dakota, New Mexico, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana, and Wyoming; and for Common Snipe in the Pacific Flyway. Interested persons were given until August 25, 1975, to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections.

On August 21, 1975, an amendment to the lesser sandhill (little brown) crane portion of the above proposal was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (40 FR 36572), with a 10-day public comment period allowed, ending August 31, 1975. The amendment included summarized information on the status of lesser sandhill (little brown) cranes and justification for the proposed crane hunting permit system, daily bag and possession limits for lesser sandhill cranes in the States of North Dakota and South Dakota, and the addition of paragraph (g) to § 20.106 of Subchapter B, Chapter I, Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, specifying Federal permit requirements for hunting lesser sandhill cranes in portions of Colorado, Montana, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming. Final rule making on the lesser sandhill crane portion of the frameworks will be made following the close of the 10-day public comment period ending August 31, 1975.

In this connection, the Final Environmental Statement for the Issuance of Annual Regulations Permitting the Sport Hunting of Migratory Birds (FES 75-54) was filed with the Council on Environmental Quality on June 6, 1975, and notice of availability was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on June 13, 1975 (40 FR 25241).

Full and careful consideration was given to all written comments received on the remainder of the proposed frameworks (40 FR 34361; August 15, 1975). In view of these comments, the proposed frameworks have been revised and a summary of comments follows.

Responses Received During Comment Period, Service Views Thereon, and Miscellaneous Changes from Proposed Rule-making. Thirty responses were received during the comment period of August 16, 1975, through August 25, 1975. Of these, one State and one waterfowlers' association expressed satisfaction with the entire proposed frameworks. Some comments were directed to single issues whereas others were broad in scope. Similar areas of interest are responded to by the Service in a consolidated reply while others require individual response. Comments are arranged geographically from east to west.

Statement of Wildlife Preserves, Inc. Because of its substance and diversity of comments, the statement of Wildlife Preserves, Inc., Tenafly, New Jersey, is reproduced in its entirety, with certain paragraphs numbered for response purposes.

STATEMENT OF WILDLIFE PRESERVES, INC.

Comments on Proposed Waterfowl Regulations Framework for the 1975-76 Season as Published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of August 15, 1975.

1. Species Identification. No improvement in the regulations has been made with respect to the problem of species identification. Such identification is essential if the increasingly complex "species management" regulations are to be observed and species on which the season is closed protected.

The point system is based on an identification ability very large numbers of people afield do not possess. The point system option should be eliminated.

Species cannot ordinarily be identified half an hour before sunrise and on dark days this is true in many instances for experts (of which there are very few). No shooting hours should begin before sunrise. At the very least this should apply to point system States if, that system is continued.

2. Enforcement. The problem of grossly inadequate law enforcement has not been dealt with in the regulations. Measures should be taken to improve enforcement in States which have been found to be deficient, for example, season length or bag limits, or both, could be reduced in such States. In particular this should apply to States that take no action against juvenile violators. Either violations should be prosecuted against juveniles or no licenses should be issued to that age group. There is no excuse for the toleration of practices which allow one group of citizens to flout the law with impunity. States that refuse to deal with this problem at all should not be permitted open seasons.

(New Jersey is one State that has declined to prosecute juvenile violators in recent years.)

3. Crippling. No apparent effort is made in the regulations to reduce the proportion of cripples. Such an effort is badly needed. As a start, cripples, even if not retrieved, should be required to be included in the bag limit. Coupled with better enforcement this could result in some improvement.

4. Season Length. The total period for seasons should be reduced to three and one-half months.

5. Complexity. The trend towards increasing complexity of migratory bird regulations has not been improved but rather has been continued. Regulations need to be simplified to cut down on areas where misunderstandings occur and facilitate improved enforcement.

6. Bag Limits. The option in the Atlantic Flyway to increase the total bag limit to five if only one black duck is included does not seem justified and should be eliminated. The fact that one less black duck is taken in no way reduces the pressure on the other species.

7. Black Ducks. There should be a closed season for black ducks because of a reduction in their numbers over many years. At the very least the limit should be reduced to one black duck in all States in the Atlantic and Pacific Flyways.

8. Goldeneye. Goldeneyes require more protection according to the available data. In the Draft Environmental Statement it is stated in respect to Goldeneyes on page 58—"The trend of this group has been downward over the past ten years—". This conclusion is supported by the graph on page 59. No justification is provided for the special goldeneye season for the Lake Chaplain area and this should certainly be eliminated. In other areas the allowable bag for this species should be decreased and the point system evaluation increased.

9. Mergansers. Mergansers should be given more protection and should, at the least, have no special additional bag limit but rather be included in the regular limit. Such a provision was incorporated in regulation proposals made earlier this year and that provision should certainly not be reversed. The combination of the declining figures for the winter survey and the increases in figures for the harvest, together with the lack of separate figures for the winter survey for each of the three species, supports the need for substantially more protection.

10. Geese. The trends in population figures do not support the seasons and limits for the following species of geese—cackling, white front, snow (greater) and brant. An indication of the shaky justification for the seasons on snow geese and brant is the inclusion of emergency closure provisions in the regulations for these two species together with the fact that the seasons were closed in prior years. It appears that the Department is straining too hard to produce additional harvesting opportunities.

11. General. The Department has an obligation to represent the whole of the general public in managing migratory birds, to be conservative in the harvest that it allows and to pursue the objective of maintaining optimum populations (required, for example, in Japanese Treaty). A considerable margin of error should be provided. When there are doubts the season should either be reduced or eliminated. It is not sufficient to say that there is no proof that the proposed harvest will be harmful, rather it should be required that there be adequate proof that the proposed harvest will not be harmful. These policies do not appear to have been followed in setting the regulations and there appear to be too many concessions to the understandable pressure from the States and other special interests that seek to increase license sales and harvest opportunities.

The public is not sufficiently represented in the decision making processes. There is a difference between being able to participate effectively in the decision making process and being able to make a comment which can be easily ignored. Further, the notices for the various meetings are either not sent out, even though requested, or sent too late. In some instances they are received after the date of the meeting.

The elimination of lead shot has been delayed much too long and until it is solved seasons should be substantially reduced. /s/ Robert Perkins, Jr., August 23, 1975. Reply to: Robert Perkins, Jr., Wildlife Preserves, Inc., 154 East Clinton Avenue, Tenafly, N.J. 07670.

Response. 1. The point system alleviates the problem of species identification confronted by some hunters. This is because under this system hunters may shoot and identify in hand species which they cannot identify in flight. Under the point system, the daily bag limit is obtained when the point value of the last duck taken, when added to the accumulated point values of all ducks taken up to that time, reaches or surpasses the total point value of ducks permitted as the daily bag. Hunters adept in identifying ducks in flight may selectively shoot ducks of species assigned lower point value and thus increase the number of ducks included in the daily bag limit. The system provides a stronger incentive for hunters to improve their ability to identify waterfowl in flight than is the case with the conventional bag limit system of regulations. Under both point and conventional systems, a hunter inept in identifying ducks in flight should assume that each duck taken is of the species given the greatest protection, by being assigned the highest point value under the point system, or under conventional regulations, the fewest number which may be taken daily.

The topic of shooting hours was the primary subject discussed at a special meeting of the Director's Waterfowl Advisory Committee convened in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on March 16, 1975. It was recognized that hunters vary greatly in ability to distinguish between species of waterfowl in flight or in hand. This is primarily a matter of basic identification skill and only secondarily a matter of light conditions. While light conditions may, at times, affect the ease of identification, this problem is not confined to the period one-half hour before sunrise, but may be operative at other times of the day as when a bird approaches a hunter from the direction of bright sunlight. As noted above, it is not necessary for hunters to identify ducks before shooting in order to avoid violations. It is the responsibility of the individual hunter to determine when light conditions enable him to identify ducks in flight. The Service is of the opinion that hunter responsibility is sufficiently great that the shooting hours in these regulations pose no significant dangers to protected species.

2. No acceptable standard exists against which the effectiveness of a game law enforcement program can be measured. Consequently, the imposition of sanctions such as reduced season lengths and bag limits would necessarily be capricious in nature. However, the Service attempts to enforce its regulations uniformly for all age groups, and expects the various States to do the same.

3. Section 20.25, Part 20, CFR Title 50 states that "No person shall kill or cripple any migratory game bird pursuant to this part without making a reasonable effort to retrieve the bird and include it in his daily bag limit." The determination of "reasonable effort" can best be ascertained from the circumstances of each situation.

4. The basic frameworks for ducks and geese in each Flyway already correspond closely to the suggested hunting period of three and one-half months. For instance, the following frameworks have been set by flyways: Atlantic and Mississippi Flyways, October 1 through January 20, and Central and Pacific Flyways, October 4 through January 18. Departures from the basic season frameworks are limited to a few species and situations such as snow (including blue) geese in Louisiana to facilitate crop depredations control, to black brant in the Pacific Flyway to permit hunting when birds are most abundant, and to sea ducks and September teal seasons. The total permissible season lengths for various species of migratory game birds within a given geographical location is limited by Treaty obligations.

5. The seeming complexity of present day hunting regulations for migratory game birds is an outgrowth of accumulating knowledge about differences in the status, behavior, and habitat needs for various species and manageable population units within species, geographical and temporal differences in distribution, variations in actual and potential shooting pressures, habitat availability and trends, and the obligation to manage the resource more efficiently to satisfy the needs of both the hunting and non-hunting publics while insuring the welfare of the resource. In practice, most hunters confine their activities to one general hunting location and consequently can limit their understanding of regulations to those applicable to this area. The review and improvement of regulations is a continuing process by the Service and others who provide input into the regulatory process.

6. The purpose of this regulation is to reduce hunting pressure on the black duck but not on other species in the harvest area. The potential of a hunter for bagging a second black duck is significantly greater than his potential of bagging a fifth duck of any other species. The increased hunting pressure as measured by the increased harvest, estimated at 2 to 5 percent, derived from the fifth bird in the bag is distributed among other species available in the harvest area.

7. Black duck harvests have been relatively stable for the past 7 years and no significant changes in band recovery rates have occurred during the past 20 years. Meanwhile, winter inventory indices have shown a decline in black duck numbers but such indices are not altogether reliable measures of the populations of this species. Indeed, it is far from clear what the populations are, or what their limiting factor is. A large-scale cooperative program, therefore, is being initiated to band increased numbers of the species and an intensive study program, perhaps including experimental area closures, will follow this effort. But season closure does not presently appear justified for the species.

The one-black-duck option has been offered to Atlantic Flyway States for many years, and has frequently been chosen by mid-Atlantic and southeastern States.

8 and 9. Winter surveys suggest that a decline in goldeneye and merganser numbers may have occurred. However, it is not known to what extent, if any, the inventories of these species reflect actual population changes as opposed to survey sampling error. Mergansers are not inventoried separately by species because the three species are indistinguishable from survey aircraft. Mergansers are known to be common and widely distributed over vast northern breeding areas that are not systematically surveyed because of remoteness and inaccessibility. They are also widely distributed on their wintering areas. The same applies in a somewhat lesser degree to goldeneyes. Hooded mergansers frequent wooded habitats where they are not observable, and large water bodies sometimes used by other mergansers are often incompletely covered or unsurveyed by aerial crews.

In the point system, mergansers are assigned point values along with other species of ducks, and under both point and conventional regulation systems, the hooded merganser is given special protection. Separate merganser daily bag and possession limits were removed this year in the Central and Mississippi Flyways. The Service believes that these measures, and the regulatory frameworks adopted herein, provide sufficient protection for these species, ensuring that no jeopardy will befall them.

The special goldeneye-scaup season in Vermont resulted in a total harvest of about 300 birds; such a harvest level is not great enough to adversely affect the goldeneye population.

10. Fall flights of cackling geese and white-fronted geese are expected to be of average size this year. Greater snow geese and Atlantic brant are expected to have high production this year, based on satellite imagery of arctic habitat conditions and Canadian field observations. The loss of brant winter food supplies could occur if heavy fall rains substantially reduce the estuarine salinities of the detriment of sea lettuce, a key brant food. The emergency closure provision for the Atlantic brant season provides insurance against such natural calamities. Similarly, the emergency closure provision for snow geese simply provides a safety valve in case of an altogether unforeseen calamity affecting the population.

As was announced in the proposed regulations frameworks published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 15, 1975 (40 FR 34363), environmental assessments on the proposed resumption of snow goose and brant hunting in the Atlantic Flyway have been prepared and copies are available upon request.

11. In managing waterfowl, the Service seeks to provide responsible stewardship for the resource while providing people with opportunities for utilizing the resource through various pursuits and interests, including sport hunting. Proponents of these various uses often reflect differing viewpoints. Insofar as sport hunting is concerned, the regulatory record demonstrates that regulations have been made more restrictive when circumstances dictate, and more liberal when conditions allow. Hunters of migratory game birds traditionally have been in the forefront of the conservation movement and many of the management programs, treaties, laws and regulations governing the use and protection of migratory game birds have been outgrowths of sportsmen involvement. The Final Environmental Statement for the Issuance of Annual Regulations Permitting the Sport Hunting of Migratory Birds (FES 75-54) documents these contributions in more detail.

With mounting pressures being brought to bear against the migratory bird resource by environmental destruction and degradation, it is desirable that all those having an interest in the welfare and perpetuation of the resource be given an opportunity to express their viewpoints and provide information useful in the formulation of management programs, including the development of hunting regulations. Because of this desire, the Service made special effort this year to solicit greater public input into the regulatory process. These efforts included the publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of detailed regulatory proposals, news releases announcing the availability of proposed regulations, and supplying proposed regulatory frameworks to interested persons. In addition, public comment was solicited at the Director's Waterfowl Advisory Committee meeting held in Washington, D.C., on August 5, 1975, and at the special meeting of the same committee in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, on March 16, 1975.

The foregoing concludes comments responding to Wildlife Preserves, Inc. The following comments relate to those from other respondents or Service changes.

Changes in Season Lengths in the Two Eastern Flyways. The 47-day basic season length proposed for the Atlantic Flyway is changed to 45 days to conform to the Atlantic Flyway Council's recommendations. For the same reason, the basic season length in the Mississippi Flyway is changed from 44 days to 45 days. These modifications are not expected to have a significant effect on harvests. In both flyways, five additional days may be taken if Wednesday noon openings are selected. This incentive is offered to alleviate crowded hunting conditions which occur with weekend openings, and to reduce opening day harvests.

Brant. Five comments related to proposed brant regulations. Four proposed that the season not be reopened on Atlantic Flyway brant because the population had not recovered sufficiently. The fifth respondent wrote of "black brant" but inasmuch as this species has been hunted for many years, we concluded that his concern was also about Atlantic brant.

Response. Atlantic brant populations are expected to reach a level this fall equivalent to that of many past years when brant seasons were twice as long, and bag limits were larger. The delayed opening provision in the brant regulation will further reduce the impact of hunting on total harvest.

Proposed Closure Provision for Atlantic Brant and Greater Snow Goose. Three organizations stated that the 49-hour emergency closure provision was indicative that the population status of these species was uncertain.

Response. The rationale for the emergency provision is explained in the response to Wildlife Preserves, Inc.

Greater Snow Geese. Six comments were directed to the proposal for opening the hunting season on greater snow geese. One comment favored the proposal, pointing out that concentrations of this species damage marsh habitat. One State requested that a 50-day, 1 goose per day bag be allowed as an alternative to the proposed season and bag. Three organizations opposed resumption of hunting of this species, chiefly because of the status of the population.

Response. The fall flight of greater snow geese is expected to be the largest on record, probably approaching 200,000 birds. The estimated harvest, based on Canadian experience with greater snow goose seasons, should not exceed 5 to 10 percent of the fall population. This rate of harvest will not adversely affect the greater snow goose population. The Service believes that for purposes of evaluating the harvest, a uniform season length and bag limit should be required on a flyway-wise basis. The comments did not provide any new facts or information that would substantiate a need to change the proposal.

Point System Category in Atlantic Flyway. One individual questioned the justification for a point category of less than 25 points in the Atlantic Flyway.

Response. A 10-point value has been placed on those species that are lightly harvested and relatively abundant. Hunting pressure on these species provides additional harvest opportunity and relieves hunting pressure on other more heavily harvested birds. Harvest data do not indicate that populations of low point species are unable to sustain the annual harvests that occur under low point regulations.

Change in Boundary of Long Island Zone in New York. New York requested that the boundary of the Long Island Zone be changed so that Interstate Route 95 rather than the Hutchinson River is the boundary in Westchester County. The change reduces the Long Island Zone by about 10 square miles, most of which is highly urbanized.

Response. The change would provide a more understandable and enforceable boundary and would result in no significant change in the waterfowl harvest and is therefore accepted.

Season Length in Atlantic Flyway. One individual asked why a 55- or 60-day duck season could not be allowed in the Atlantic Flyway.

Response. The season length permitted is designed to allow reasonable harvest opportunity while safeguarding the welfare of the waterfowl resource. The season length is based on consideration of waterfowl population size, habitat conditions, and hunter numbers and success. Waterfowl population levels under present harvest conditions do not warrant a longer harvest season in 1975-76.

Closure of Lake Mattamuskeet to Duck Hunting. One organization asked why Lake Mattamuskeet, North Carolina, remains closed to duck hunting.

Response. Populations of Canada geese wintering at Mattamuskeet declined over the years to a low of 8,700 birds during the winter of 1972. As part of an effort to restore populations, the waterfowl season there was closed in 1973 and 1974. During the past winter the Canada goose population increased to 18,500 birds. The effects on the wintering goose population of season closures and other factors are being studied, with the objective of developing long-range management plans.

Wednesday Noon Opening Option. Two respondents favored the Wednesday noon option and one State opposed it on the grounds that it deprived persons such as workers and students from going afield.

Response. The purpose of the Wednesday noon opening option is to afford a means of reducing hunting pressure and harvest on the opening day when ducks are most vulnerable to shooting. The problem of heavy first-day shooting pressure is greater in the Atlantic and Mississippi Flyways than elsewhere because of more limited habitat and higher densities of hunters.

Request for Regulations Changes in Portions of the Mississippi Flyway. On August 19, 1975, seven States in the Mississippi Flyway submitted a resolution seeking changes in season length and bag limits. The major points in the resolution are as follows:

A 50-day waterfowl season and, if noon opening is offered as an option, a 55-day season be offered, including the following point values:

100 Points	90 Points
Canvasback	Hen mallard
Redhead	Hooded merganser
	15 Points
Blue-winged teal	Scaup
Pintail	Wigeon
Shoveler	Green-winged teal
Gadwall	All other ducks
	35 Points
Wood duck	30 Points
Fulvous tree duck	Drake mallard
Ring-necked duck	Mottled duck
	Black duck
	Other mergansers

After careful consideration, it was concluded that the proposal would result in an unacceptable increase in the harvest of mallards, black ducks, wood ducks and wigeon, and that the addition of one more point category would be confusing to hunters. The features of the resolution were supported by one association of duck hunters. Two individuals expressed dissatisfaction with the general season and bag limit provision of the Mississippi Flyway proposals, and another was dissatisfied with those for southwestern Louisiana.

Redhead. Three comments were received, two favoring more restrictive regulations because of the species' status, and one requesting liberalization.

Response. The redhead breeding population index for 1975 is the highest recorded since waterfowl breeding ground surveys began. However, the Service does not attach great significance to indicated annual population changes of species such as the redhead because of survey sampling problems; rather, the reliance is placed on population trends over several years. Redhead regulations this year are conservative in view of the redhead population size. The season remains closed in the Atlantic Flyway except for some off-shore areas in western Florida where only one bird may be taken in the daily bag. In the Mississippi and Central Flyways, most of the closures of historically high harvest areas remain in effect and daily bag limits elsewhere cannot exceed a single bird. Area closures have been removed in the Pacific Flyway but the daily bag has been restricted so that no more than two redheads or two canvasbacks or one of each may be taken. The comments do not provide any new facts or information that would substantiate a need to change the proposal.

Changes in Mississippi Flyway Point Category and Allocation. The 15-point category in the point system originally proposed for the Mississippi Flyway is changed to a 10-point category. The purpose of the change is to allow additional harvest opportunity for low point category ducks which are harvested lightly and are relatively abundant. The change raises the highest potential number of ducks which may be taken daily from 7 to 10; harvest statistics in the Mississippi Flyway for the 1974-75 season indicate that the average hunter bagged 0.8 ducks per day and 5.7 per season. Consequently, a small change in harvest is expected from this liberalization.

In the Mississippi Flyway the point allocation for the fulvous tree duck is changed from 90 to 35, increasing the highest potential daily bag from 2 to 3 birds. This change returns this species to the 1974-75 point category, and will not alter the potential harvest rate.

Application of Point System in Four Central Flyway-Pacific Flyway Boundary States. The proposed regulatory language stated, "Any State selecting the point system must do so on a statewide basis. . . ." The boundary between the Central and Pacific Flyways generally follows the Continental Divide, resulting in portions of Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, and New Mexico being placed in the two Flyways. Consequently, the present wording might be construed to prohibit the Central Flyway portions of the four States from participating in the point system. In practice, the point system has been offered and implemented in the Central Flyway portions of these States for several years. Inasmuch as it is intended that this option continue, the wording is being clarified.

Closures of Hunting Seasons During Whooping Crane Migration. One individual asked why hunting seasons are not closed when whooping cranes are migrating.

Response. The migration route of the endangered whooping cranes is well known, as is the timing of their migration. Care is taken in setting sandhill crane seasons that hunting is not permitted at times and in areas where whooping cranes might be expected to occur. On one occasion whooping cranes appeared in an area of South Dakota during the lesser sandhill crane season, resulting in an emergency closure of the crane season. The sandhill crane is the species which most closely resembles the whooping crane, particularly young whooping cranes which have not obtained the white plumage characteristic of the adult whooping crane. Other large white birds do not closely resemble whooping cranes; furthermore, they are not likely to occur in places or at times when whooping cranes are present. Within the past decade, only one whooping crane is known to have been killed by waterfowl hunters, and in this instance the violator was convicted and fined.

Pacific Flyway Framework. One State offered two suggestions for clarifying certain proposed goose frameworks relating to the Pacific Flyway. In describing the general daily bag and possession limit for geese, the proposed wording reads, ". . . provided that the daily bag limit does not include more than 3 geese of the dark species (Canada and white-fronted geese) or 3 snow geese." This wording suggests that hunting would have to cease after a hunter obtained 3 dark geese—or 3 snow geese. It is intended that hunters be allowed to take up to 3 dark geese and 3 snow geese separately, and the wording of the regulation is being clarified by substituting "and" for "or". The second comment pointed out that the general daily bag and possession limit of 6 geese did not apply uniformly throughout the Flyway. In many areas special restrictions of 1 and 2 Canada geese apply, thus the daily bag and possession limit of 6 birds would not be possible. The regulatory wording has been modified to reflect situations where restrictions on Canada geese result in reductions in the total number of geese which may be bagged and possessed. Some restrictions are imposed by State regulations.

Miscellaneous Comments. One group believed that the hunting regulations for ring-necked ducks were too liberal and questioned the wisdom of the proposed regulations for buffleheads. In the Atlantic Flyway both species count 25 points each and in the Mississippi Flyway both count 35 points each. The Service does not believe that these point allocations, or the number of birds permitted under conventional regulations, would result in excessive harvests.

One State and one waterfowl hunters' organization agreed with all provisions of the proposed frameworks.

One State expressed the belief that hunting opportunities offered by the proposed regulations in the Central and Pacific Flyways were too liberal.

Three organizations in one letter plus one individual opposed the opening of the season on greater snow geese and continuation of black duck hunting; the response to Wildlife Preserves, Inc., addresses these same points.

One State strongly objected to the proposed zoning of Louisiana, and expressed hope that the proposal would be withdrawn because of the dissension it has caused among the Mississippi Flyway States. Reasons for allowing the zoning experiment were given at the time the proposal was announced.

One State expressed satisfaction with the proposal to retain a separate bag and possession limit on mergansers in the Atlantic Flyway under conventional regulations.

The foregoing text relates to all responses received during the official comment period. In addition, 40 communications on waterfowl proposals were received before the designated comment period, or after the comment period to 9 a.m. on August 28, 1975. These communications generally covered the same subjects commented upon by persons responding within the official comment period.

Comments on the Service's regulations proposals are available for public inspection during normal business hours at the Service's Office of Migratory Bird Management, Fish and Wildlife Service, Room 2257, U.S. Department of the Interior, 18th and C Streets, Washington, D.C.

The Fish and Wildlife Service is of the view that, although the rulemaking process for migratory bird hunting must by its nature, operate under severe time constraints, every attempt should be made to give the public the greatest possible opportunity to comment on the regulations; thus, when the above-mentioned proposed rulemaking was published, the Service established what it believed were the longest periods possible for public comment. In doing this, the Service recognized that at the end of the periods, time would be of the essence. That is, if there were a delay in the effective date of these regulations after this final rulemaking, the Service is of the opinion that the States would have insufficient time to select their season dates, shooting hours, and bag limits, to communicate those selections to the Service, and finally to establish and publicize the necessary regulations and procedures to implement their decisions. The Service therefore finds that "good cause" exists, within the terms of 5 U.S.C. 553(d) (3) of the Administrative Procedure Act; and these regulations will therefore take effect immediately upon publication.

After due consideration of the comments received, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, under authority of the Migratory Bird Treaty Act of July 3, 1918, as amended, (40 Stat. 755; 16 U.S.C. 703-711), prescribes final rulemaking on all but the lesser sandhill (little brown) crane portion of the Final Regulations Frameworks for 1975-76 Hunting Seasons on Waterfowl, Coots, and Gallinules; Cranes in Parts of North Dakota, South Dakota, New Mexico, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana, and Wyoming; and for Common Snipe in the Pacific Flyway.

Effective date: September 5, 1975.

F. V. SCHMIDT,
Acting Director,
U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

SEPTEMBER 2, 1975.

Final Regulations Frameworks for 1975-76 Hunting Seasons on Waterfowl, Coots, and Gallinules; Cranes in Parts of North Dakota, South Dakota, New Mexico, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana, and Wyoming; and for Common Snipe in the Pacific Flyway. Pursuant to the Migratory Bird Treaty Act, the Secretary of the Interior has approved final frameworks which prescribe season lengths, bag limits, shooting hours, and outside dates within which States may select seasons for hunting waterfowl, coots, and gallinules; cranes in parts of North Dakota, South Dakota, New Mexico, Texas, Colorado, Oklahoma, Montana, and Wyoming; and for common snipe in the Pacific Flyway. Frameworks are summarized below.

GENERAL

States may split their season for ducks or geese into two segments without penalty in number of days. Segments may be of unequal length. Exceptions to this rule are noted.

Shooting hours in all States, on all species, and for all seasons are ½ hour before sunrise until sunset except that during September teal seasons the shooting hours are sunrise to sunset. States have the option to select a later opening time within this framework.

Any State in the Atlantic, Mississippi, or Central Flyways selecting neither a September teal season nor the point system may take an extra bag limit on blue-winged teal of 2 daily and 4 in possession for 9 consecutive days during the regular duck season. This extra limit is in addition to the regular duck bag limit.

States in the Atlantic, Mississippi, and Central Flyways may select a special scaup-only hunting season not to exceed 16 consecutive days with a daily bag limit of 5 and a possession limit of 10 scaup, subject to the following conditions:

1. Such special season must fall between October 1, 1975, and January 31, 1976, in the Atlantic and Mississippi Flyways, and between October 4, 1975, and January 31, 1976, in the Central Flyway, all dates inclusive.

2. Such special season must fall outside the open season for any other ducks except sea ducks.

3. Such season must be limited to described areas mutually agreed upon between the State and the Service prior to September 4, and

4. Such areas must be described and delineated in State hunting regulations; or

As an alternative, States in the Atlantic, Mississippi, and Central Flyways, except those States selecting a point system, may take an extra bag limit on scaup of 2 daily and 4 in possession during the regular duck hunting season, subject to conditions 3 and 4 listed above. This extra limit is in addition to the regular duck bag limit and may be taken during the entire regular duck season.

Any State entirely within a flyway in selecting the point system must do so on a statewide basis, except if New York selects the point system, conventional regulations may be retained for the Long Island Area.

Dates within which States may select their open seasons, season lengths, bag and possession limit options, and other special provisions are listed below by Flyway.

States in the Atlantic, Mississippi, and Central Flyways are reminded that if they did not select their gallinule season in July, they should do so at the time they make their waterfowl selections. Frameworks for gallinules are: outside dates: September 1, 1975-January 20, 1976; season length: not more than 70 days; bag limits: 15 daily, 30 in possession. Season may be split without penalty.

ATLANTIC FLYWAY

Between October 1, 1975, and January 20, 1976, States in this Flyway may hold open seasons on ducks, coots, and mergansers of: (a) 45 days with basic bag limits on ducks of 4 daily and 8 in possession of which no more than 2 daily and 4 in possession may be black ducks; or (b) 45 days with basic bag limits on ducks of 5 daily and 10 in possession of which no more than 1 daily and 2 in possession may be black ducks. Under either Option (a) or (b), a 50-day season may be selected provided the season is opened on a Wednesday at noon, local time. If the season is split, each opening must occur on a Wednesday at noon, local time.

Under both options, the daily bag limit may not include more than 2 wood ducks, and 4 in possession. The season is closed on canvasback and redhead ducks throughout the Flyway except in Florida as described: seaward of the mainland shoreline including offshore islands from the northern boundary of Everglades National Park in Collier County north and west to and including Escambia County, but excluding all inland bays and mouths of rivers landward of a line between the most seaward points of the mouth of such bays and rivers; specifically excluded, but not inclusive of all exclusions, are Escambia Bay, Choctawhatchee Bay, West Bay and St. Andrews Bay at Panama City, East Bay at Apalachicola, and Ochlochonee Bay the waters of which are north of U.S. Highway 95; Tampa Bay landward of U.S. Highway 19 and Charlotte Harbor landward of U.S. Highway 41. In this redhead harvest area the daily bag and possession limits are 1 redhead or 1 canvasback.

The bag limit on mergansers is 5 daily and 10 in possession, of which not more than 1 daily and 2 in possession may be hooded mergansers.

The bag limit on coots is 15 daily and 30 in possession.

The Lake Champlain area of New York State must follow the waterfowl seasons, limits, and shooting hours selected by Vermont. This area includes that part of New York State lying east and north of a line running south from the Canadian border along U.S. Highway 9 to New York Route 22 south of Keeseville, along New York Route 22 to South Bay, along and around the shoreline of South Bay to New York Route 22, along New York Route 22 to U.S. Highway 4 at Whitehall, and along U.S. Highway 4 to the Vermont border.

In lieu of a special scaup season, Vermont may, for the Lake Champlain Area, select a special scaup and goldeneye season not to exceed 16 consecutive days with a daily bag limit of 3 scaup or 3 goldeneyes or 3 in the aggregate and a possession limit of 6 scaup or 6 goldeneyes or 6 in the aggregate, subject to the same provisions that apply to the special scaup season elsewhere.

The State of New York may, for the Long Island area, select season dates and bag limits which differ from those in the remainder of the State.

As an alternative to the conventional bag limits for ducks, a point system bag limit may be selected by States in the Atlantic Flyway for 45 days during the framework dates shown above. A 50-day season may be selected provided the season is opened on a Wednesday at noon, local time. If the season is split, each opening must occur on a Wednesday at noon, local time. The point values for species and sexes taken are as follows: in Florida only, the fulvous tree duck, and the canvasback and redhead in designated redhead harvest areas, count 100 points each; in all States, the hen mallard, black duck, mottled duck, wood duck, and hooded merganser count 70 points each; the blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, pintail, gadwall, shoveler, scaup, sea ducks, and mergansers (except hooded) count 10 points each; all other species of ducks count 25 points each. The daily bag limit is reached when the point values of the last bird taken added to the sum of the point values of the other birds already taken during that day reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is the maximum number of birds of species and sexes which could have legally been taken in 2 days.

Coots have a point value of zero, but the bag is limited to 15 daily and 30 in possession as under the conventional limits.

In any State in the Atlantic Flyway selecting a point system bag limit and also having a special sea duck season, sea ducks count 10 points each during the point system season, but during any part of the regular sea duck open season falling outside the point system season, the regular sea duck limit of 7 daily and 14 in possession applies.

Between October 1, 1975, and January 20, 1976, the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia (excluding the Back Bay area) may hold an open season on Canada geese of 70 days; the daily bag limit is 3 and the possession limit is 6. The States of North Carolina, South Carolina, and the Back Bay area of Virginia may select an open season on Canada geese of 50 days; the daily bag limit is 1 and the possession limit is 2.

The season on Canada geese is closed in the States of Florida and Georgia.

Between October 1, 1975, and January 20, 1976, but within its regular waterfowl season, each State in the Atlantic Flyway may select an open season on snow geese (including blue geese) of 30 days; the daily bag limit is 2 and the possession limit is 4.

Between November 10, 1975, and January 20, 1976, States in this Flyway may select an open season on Atlantic brant of 30 days; the daily bag limit is 4 and the possession limit is 8.

For Atlantic brant, snow, and blue geese the Secretary shall close the season within 48 hours upon recommendation of the Director, Fish and Wildlife Service, that such closure is necessary to avoid excessive harvest.

MISSISSIPPI FLYWAY

Between October 1, 1975, and January 20, 1976, States in this Flyway may hold concurrent open seasons on ducks, coots, and mergansers of 45 days with a basic bag limit on ducks and mergansers of 4 daily, including no more than 2 mallards or 2 black ducks, or 1 of each, 2 wood ducks, 2 fulvous tree ducks and 1 hooded merganser; and 8 in possession, including no more than 4 mallards or 4 black ducks, or 4 in the aggregate, 4 wood ducks, 4 fulvous tree ducks and 2 hooded mergansers. A 50-day season may be selected provided the season is opened on a Wednesday at noon, local time. If the season is split, each opening must occur on a Wednesday at noon, local time.

Except in closed areas, the limit on canvasbacks and redheads is 1 canvasback daily and 1 in possession or 1 redhead daily and 1 in possession. Under the point system, canvasbacks and redheads count 100 points each except in closed areas. The areas closed to canvasback and redhead hunting are:

Mississippi River—Entire river, both sides, from Alton Dam upstream to Prescott, Wisconsin, at confluence of St. Croix River.

Alabama—Baldwin and Mobile Counties.

Louisiana—Caddo, St. Charles, and St. Mary Parishes; that portion of Ward 1 formerly designated as Ward 6 of St. Martin Parish; and Catahoula Lake in LaSalle and Rapides Parishes.

Michigan—Arenac, Bay, Huron, Macomb, Monroe, St. Clair, Tuscola, and Wayne Counties, and those adjacent waters of Saginaw Bay south of a line extending from Point au Gres in Sec. 6, T18N, R7E (Arenac County) to Sand Point in Sec. 11, T17N, R9E (Huron County), the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, the Detroit River and Lake Erie, under jurisdiction of the State of Michigan.

Minnesota—Sibley and Nicollet Counties, and the area encompassed by a line drawn as follows: beginning at the North Dakota border on U.S. Highway 2, thence east on U.S. Highway 2 to Bemidji, thence south on U.S. Highway 71 to U.S. Highway 12 at Willmar, thence west on U.S. Highway 12 to the South Dakota border, thence north on the South Dakota and North Dakota border to the point of beginning.

Ohio—Land and water areas comprising Erie, Ottawa and Sandusky Counties.

Tennessee—Kentucky Lake lying north of Interstate Highway 40.

Wisconsin—In the Mississippi River Zone, all that part of Wisconsin west of the CB&Q railroad in Grant, Crawford, Vernon, La Crosse, Trempealeau, Buffalo, Pepin, and Pierce Counties. Also, Dodge and Winnebago Counties and the land and water areas extending 100 yards from the shorelines of Lake Poygan in Waushara County, Lake Winnebago in Calumet and Fond du Lac Counties, and Rush Lake, Fond du Lac County.

The bag limit on coots is 15 daily and 30 in possession.

As an alternative to the conventional bag limits for ducks, a point system bag limit may be selected by all States in the Mississippi Flyway for 45 days during the framework dates shown above. A 50-day season may be selected provided the season is opened on a Wednesday at noon, local time. If the season is split, each opening must occur on a Wednesday at noon, local time. The point values for species and sexes taken are as follows:

except in closed areas, the canvasback and redhead count 100 points each; the hen mallard, wood duck, black duck and hooded merganser count 90 points each; the pintail, blue-winged teal, cinnamon teal, gadwall, shoveler, scaup and green-winged teal count 10 points each; the drake mallard and all other species of ducks and mergansers count 35 points each. The daily bag limit is reached when the point value of the last bird taken added to the sum of the point values of the other birds already taken during that day reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is the maximum number of birds of species and sexes which could have legally been taken in 2 days.

Coots have a point value of zero, but the bag is limited to 15 daily and 30 in possession as under the conventional limits.

In that portion of Louisiana west of a line beginning at the Arkansas-Louisiana border on Louisiana Highway 3; thence south along Louisiana Highway 3 to Shreveport; thence east along Interstate 20 to Minden; thence south along Louisiana Highway 7 to Ringgold; thence east along Louisiana Highway 4 to Jonesboro; thence south along U.S. Highway 167 to Lafayette; thence southeast along U.S. Highway 90 to Houma; thence south along the Houma Navigation Channel to the Gulf of Mexico through Cat Island Pass—the season on ducks, coots and mergansers may extend 5 additional days, provided that the season opens on November 1, 1975. If the 5-day extension is selected, and if a point system bag limit is selected for the State, point values will be the same as for the rest of the State.

The Pymatuning Reservoir area of Ohio takes the waterfowl seasons, limits, and shooting hours selected by Pennsylvania. The area includes Pymatuning Reservoir and that part of Ohio bounded on the north by County Road 306 known as Woodward Road, on the west by Pymatuning Lake Road, and on the south by U.S. Highway 322.

Between October 1, 1975, and January 20, 1976, States in this Flyway, except Louisiana, may hold an open season of 70 days on geese, with daily bag and possession limits of 5 geese, to include no more than 2 white-fronted geese. Regulations for Canada geese are shown below by State.

Between October 1, 1975, and February 14, 1976, Louisiana may hold an open season of 70 days on snow (including blue) and white-fronted geese, with daily bag and possession limits of 5 geese, to include no more than 2 white-fronted geese. The season on Canada geese is closed in Louisiana.

(c) Remainder of the State—the season on Canada geese may not exceed 45 days. The daily bag limit is 2 Canada geese or 2 white-fronted geese, or 1 of each; the possession limit is 2 Canada and 2 white-fronted geese.

In the State of Wisconsin, the harvest of Canada geese is limited to 28,000 with 16,000 birds allocated to the Horicon Zone (same description as in 1971). The daily bag limit is 1 Canada goose, 2 white-fronted geese, or 1 of each; the possession limit is 2 Canada and 2 white-fronted geese. When it has been determined by the Director that the quota of Canada geese allotted to the State of Illinois, to the Swan Lake area of Missouri, and to the Lac Qui Parle Area of Minnesota will have been filled, the season for taking Canada geese in the respective area will be closed by the Director upon giving public notice through local information media at least 48 hours in advance of the time and date of closing.

Geese taken in the States of Illinois and Missouri and in the Kentucky Counties of Ballard, Hickman, Fulton, and Carlisle may not be transported, shipped, or delivered for transportation of shipment by common carrier, the postal service, or by any person except as the personal baggage of the hunter taking the birds.

CENTRAL FLYWAY

Between October 4, 1975, and January 18, 1976, States and portions of States in this Flyway may hold concurrent open seasons on ducks, including mergansers, and coots, of 60 days with basic bag limits on ducks of 6 daily and 12 in possession.

The daily bag limit on ducks including mergansers may include no more than 1 hooded merganser, 2 wood ducks and 3 mallards of which no more than one mallard may be a hen and the possession limit on ducks may include no more than 2 hooded mergansers, 4 wood ducks and 6 mallards of which no more than two mallards may be hens.

The bag limit on coots is 15 daily and 30 in possession.

The bag limits, except in closed areas, may include no more than 1 canvasback daily and 1 in possession or 1 redhead daily and 1 in possession. Except in closed areas, canvasbacks and redheads count 100 points each under the point system. The areas closed to canvasback and redhead hunting area:

North Dakota—all that portion east of State Highway 3, including all or portions of 27 counties.

South Dakota—the Counties of Brookings, Codington, Day, Kingsbury, Roberts, Marshall, and Hamlin.

Texas—the Counties of Brazoria, Chambers, Galveston, Orange, Harris and Jefferson.

The season is closed on the Mexican duck.

As an alternative to the conventional bag limits for ducks, States in this Flyway may select a point system. The point system season length in the High Plains Mallard Management Unit portions of Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wyoming is 83 days, provided, that the last 23 days of such season must begin on or after December 8, 1975. The season length for those portions of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Texas not included in the High Plains Mallard Management Unit may not exceed 60 days. The High Plains Area is roughly defined as that portion of the Central Flyway which lies between the 100th meridian and the Continental Divide.

The point values for species and sexes taken in the High Plains Area of the Flyway are as follows: except in closed areas, the canvasback and redhead count 100 points each; the hen mallard, wood duck, and hooded merganser count 70 points each; the blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, cinnamon teal, scaup, pintail, gadwall, shoveler, and mergansers (except the hooded merganser) count 10 points each; all other species and sexes of ducks count 20 points each. The daily bag limit is reached when the point value of the last bird taken added to the sum of the point values of other birds already taken during that day reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is the maximum number of birds of species and sex which could have been legally taken in 2 days.

The point values for species and sexes taken in the remainder of the Flyway are as follows: except in closed areas, the canvasback and redhead count 100 points each; the hen mallard, wood duck, and hooded merganser count 70 points each; the blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, cinnamon teal, scaup, pintail, gadwall, shoveler, and mergansers (except the hooded merganser) count 10 points each; all other species and sexes of ducks count 25 points each. The daily bag limit is reached when the point value of the last bird taken added to the sum of the point values of other birds already taken during that day reaches or exceeds 100 points. The possession limit is the maximum number of birds of species and sex which could have been legally taken in 2 days.

Coots have a point value of zero, but the bag is limited to 15 daily and 30 in possession as under the conventional limits.

Those portions of the States of Colorado and Wyoming lying west of the Continental Divide, that portion of New Mexico lying west of the Continental Divide plus the entire Jicarilla Apache Indian Reservation, and that portion of Montana which includes the Counties of Hill, Chouteau, Cascade, Meagher, and Park and all counties west thereof, must select open seasons on waterfowl and coots in accordance with the framework for the Pacific Flyway.

Between October 4, 1975, and January 18, 1976, States in this Flyway may hold an open season on geese as follows:

The Federal Insurance Administrator, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968 (Pub. L. 90-448), 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1917 (§ 1917.10)), hereby gives notice of his final determinations of flood elevations for the Borough of Jersey Shore under § 1917.8 of Title 24 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

The Administrator, to whom the Secretary has delegated his statutory authority, has developed criteria for flood plain management in flood-prone areas. In order to continue participation in the National Flood Insurance Program, the Borough must adopt flood plain management measures that are consistent with these criteria and reflect the base flood elevations determined by the Secretary in accordance with 24 CFR Part 1910.

In accordance with Part 1917, an opportunity for the community or individuals to appeal this determination to or through the community for a period of ninety (90) days has been provided. Pursuant to § 1917.8, no appeals were received from the community or from individuals within the community. Therefore, publication of this notice is in compliance with § 1917.10.

Final flood elevations (100-year flood) are listed below for selected locations. Maps and other information showing the detailed outlines of the flood-prone areas and the final elevations are available for review at 425 Allegheny Street, Jersey Shore, Pennsylvania 17740.

Accordingly, the Administrator has determined the 100-year (i.e., flood with one-percent chance of annual occurrence) flood elevations as set forth below:

Title 17—Commodity and Securities
Exchange

CHAPTER I—COMMODITY FUTURES
TRADING COMMISSION

PART 17—REPORTS BY FUTURES COM-MISSION MERCHANTS AND FOREIGN BROKERS

PART 18—REPORTS BY TRADERS

Amendment of Large-Trader Reporting Requirements for Foreign Traders

On July 3 the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (the "Commission") announced that it would delay, for a period of up to 60 days, the application of Parts 17 and 18 of the Regulations under the Commodity Exchange Act, as amended (the "Act"), to foreign traders and foreign brokers for the commodities newly regulated under the Commodity Futures Trading Commission Act of 1974 ("CFTCA"), and to require, for a similar period, futures commission merchants to report on a gross basis the positions in these commodities carried for omnibus accounts of foreign brokers.¹ This action was taken after concern was expressed within the Commission about the effect of the new reporting requirements when applied to foreign-based traders and brokers. The provisions delaying application of large trader reporting requirements for foreign traders and foreign brokers are due to expire on September 4, 1975.

The Commission now intends on September 4, 1975 to implement an interim step toward conforming the reporting requirements for foreign brokers and foreign traders for commodities newly regulated under the CFTCA substantially to the reporting requirements which are presently in effect for foreign brokers and traders for all other commodities regulated prior to April 21, 1975. Reporting requirements currently in existence for commodities regulated prior to April 21, 1975, shall apply to all foreign traders and foreign brokers, with the sole exception that foreign traders with reportable positions in newly regulated commodities will not now be required to file series '03 reports. Such traders, however, will be required to file CFTC Form 40, "Statement of Reporting Trader."

The Commission fully intends, at a date in the near future, to require foreign traders to file CFTC series '03 reports for the newly regulated commodities. This requirement is being delayed, however, until after the Commission meets with representatives of the European trading community to discuss, among other important subjects, the objectives and mechanics of the CFTC large-trader reporting system, and the steps which the Commission takes to insure the confidentiality of individual trader information.

The Commission is fully aware that the definition of bona fide hedging transactions or positions which is contained in section 1.3(z) of the Regulations under the Act may not be appropriate for the classification of positions (speculative or hedging) on the required reports. However, the Commission has recently announced its intention to define bona fide hedging transaction or positions by October 18, 1975 and in requesting public comment on this matter expressed particular interest in the definition of hedging as it applies to the so-called "world" commodities.²

These amendments, of course, do not affect reports required of foreign traders and foreign brokers for trades and positions in commodities regulated prior to the CFTCA, nor do they affect the reporting requirements for futures commission merchants and domestic traders in the newly regulated commodities.

STATUTORY AUTHORITY

Because the effect of this amendment is to relieve foreign traders of the obligation of filing CFTC series '03 reports which would take effect on September 4, 1975 the Commission finds that the notice and public procedure specified in 5 U.S.C. 553(b), and the publication thirty days before the effective date, specified in 5 U.S.C. 553(d), are impractical and unnecessary and would be contrary to the public interest.

In consideration of the foregoing, § 18.07 of Part 18 in Chapter I of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations has been amended, effective September 4, 1975, as follows:

§ 18.07 Reports by Foreign Traders.

Any trader located outside of the United States or its territories shall not be required, until such date as the Commission upon 20 days notice provides, to file the reports required by § 18.00 of this Part 18 of these regulations for any commodity regulated under the Act but not specifically set forth in section 2(a) of the Act prior to the enactment of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission Act of 1974, except that any such trader is required to file such reports within one business day after a special call upon such trader by the Commission. (7 U.S.C. 6i, 12a(5))

§ 17.04 and 17.05 [Expired]

[The provisions of Sections 17.04 and 17.05 of Part 17 in Chapter I of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations by their terms have ended.]

Issued in Washington, D.C., on September 4, 1975.

Chairman, Commodity Futures
Trading Commission.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Customs Service

[19 CFR Part 12]

SPECIAL CLASSES OF MERCHANDISE

Proposed Requirements for Entry and Release of Electronic Products

Notice is hereby given that under the authority of 5 U.S.C. 301, R.S. 251, as amended (19 U.S.C. 66), and section 624, 46 Stat. 759 (19 U.S.C. 1624), it is proposed to amend § 12.91 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 12.91) with respect to the declarations required to be made by the importer or consignee for the entry and release of electronic products subject to the performance standards in effect under section 358 of the Public Health Service Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 263f). It is also proposed to amend § 12.90 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 12.90) to provide that "the Act", as referred to in § 12.91, refers to the Public Health Service Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 201 et seq.), and not to the Radiation Control for Health and Safety Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 263b-263n).

The present regulations require a declaration by the importer or consignee of such electronic products that the products either (1) conform to the standards of section 358 of the Public Health Service Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 263f), or (2) will be brought into compliance with these standards. The proposed amendment to § 12.91(b) adds two additional alternative declarations, whereby the importer or consignee may affirm that the products either (1) were manufactured prior to the date the standards became effective, or (2) are being imported for the purpose of research, investigations, studies, demonstrations or training. The proposed amendment to section 12.91(b) also modifies the language of the two alternative declarations presently contained in that section to bring them into conformity with current procedures.

In addition, the cross-references in § 12.91 to the provisions of the Code of Federal Regulations pertaining to the administration and enforcement of the provisions of the Public Health Service Act added by the Radiation Control for Health and Safety Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 263b-263n), are changed in order to reflect their current numerical designations (as set forth in 38 FR 28624). The proposed amendment also sets forth the current citation of authority for § 12.91.

Accordingly, it is proposed to amend §§ 12.90 and 12.91 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 12.90, 12.91) to read as follows:

§ 12.90 Definitions.

As used in § 12.90 and 12.91, the term "the Act" shall mean the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 201 et seq.), as amended by the Radiation Control for Health and Safety Act of 1968 (42 U.S.C. 263b et seq.), and as further amended from time to time.

§ 12.91 Electronic products offered for importation under the Act.

(a) Standards prescribed by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Electronic products offered for importation into the Customs territory of the United States are subject to standards prescribed under section 358 of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263f). (See 21 CFR Parts 1000-1030.)

(b) Requirements for entry and release. Electronic products subject to standards in effect under section 358 of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263f), when offered for importation into the Customs territory of the United States shall be refused entry unless there is filed with the entry, in duplicate, a declaration verified by the importer or consignee which identifies the product and affirms:

(1) That the electronic products were manufactured prior to the date of any applicable electronic product performance standard (the date of manufacture shall be specified); or

(2) That the electronic products comply with all standards in effect under section 358 of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263f), and Parts 1000-1030 of title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations (21 CFR Parts 1000-1030), and that the certification required by section 360 of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263h) in the form of a label or tag is attached thereto; or

(3) (i) That the electronic products do not comply with all standards in effect under section 358 of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263f), and Parts 1000-1030 of title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations (21 CFR Parts 1000-1030), but are being imported for the purpose of research, investigations, studies, demonstrations or training, (ii) that the products will not be introduced into commerce and when their mission is completed they will be destroyed or exported under Customs supervision, and (iii) that an exemption for these products has been or will be requested from the Director of the Bureau of Radiological Health in accordance with section 360B of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263j); or

(4) That the electronic products do not comply with all standards in effect under section 358 of the Act (42 U.S.C. 263f) and Parts 1000-1030 of title 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations (21 CFR Parts 1000-1030), but that a timely and adequate petition for permission to bring the product into compliance with applicable standards has been or will be filed with the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare in accordance with 21 CFR 1005.21.

§ 12.91 [Amended]

Paragraph (c) of section 12.91 is amended by substituting "21 CFR 1005.10" for "42 CFR 78.604". Paragraph (d) of section 12.91 is amended by substituting "21 CFR 1005.23" for "42 CFR 78.604".

The citation of authority at the end of § 12.91 is amended to read as follows:

(Sec. 2(3), 82 Stat. 1177, as amended, 1181; 42 U.S.C. 263f, 263h)

Data, views, or arguments with respect to the foregoing may be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs, Attention: Regulations Division, Washington, D.C. 20229. To ensure their consideration, they must be received not later than October 7, 1975.

Written material or suggestions submitted will be available for public inspection in accordance with § 103.8(b) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 103.8(b)), at the Regulations Division, Headquarters, United States Customs Service, Washington, D.C., during regular business hours.

INCOME TAX

Fringe Benefits; Notice of Publication of Discussion Draft of Regulations

Notice is hereby given that the Department of the Treasury is currently considering proposed amended regulations prescribing standards for determining whether incidental facilities, goods and services benefitting employees, commonly referred to as fringe benefits, result in compensation includible in gross income. The proposed regulations are set forth below in discussion draft form.

The Internal Revenue Code does not provide specific rules for determining which economic benefits provided to employees by their employers are required to be included in gross income. Administrative practice over the years has permitted certain items to be excluded from the employees' income. The need to provide guidance for all taxpayers has been apparent for some time. Before publishing a notice of proposed rulemaking, the Department of the Treasury is publishing the attached discussion draft to provide an opportunity for review and comment by all interested parties, including the tax writing committees of Congress.

Consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions with respect to the provisions contained in the discussion draft. Such comments or suggestions should be submitted in writing (preferably in duplicate) to the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Tax Policy, Washington, D.C., 20220, with copies (preferably four) sent to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: CC:LR:T, Washington, D.C. 20224, on or before November 4, 1975.

Designations of material as confidential or not to be disclosed, contained in such comments, will not be accepted. Thus, a person submitting written comments should not include therein material that he considers to be confidential or inappropriate for disclosure to the public. It will be presumed that every written comment submitted in response to this notice is intended by the person submitting it to be subject in its entirety to public inspection and copying in accordance with the same procedures as are prescribed in 26 CFR 601.702(d)(9) for public inspection and copying of written comments received in response to a notice of proposed rulemaking.

FREDERIC W. HICKMAN,
for Tax Policy.

This document contains proposed amendments to the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) prescribing rules to determine whether or not incidental facilities, goods, and services benefiting employees result in compensation includible in gross income. These benefits commonly are referred to as fringe benefits.

Some fringe benefits, such as the provision of health insurance by an employer for his employees, are excluded expressly from gross income by statute. The status of most other fringe benefits is not answered expressly by statute. The amendments to the regulations prescribe rules to determine whether or not these fringe benefits constitute compensation includible in gross income.

The general rule of the proposed amendments permits an employer to share with its employees benefits arising from its business where the employer incurs no additional cost. To prevent abuse, the general rule does not apply to fringe benefits that are available only to the most highly compensated employees. An example covered by the general rule is the stand-by travel privileges accorded to flight attendants by commercial airlines.

Failure of a benefit to qualify under the general rule does not automatically mean that the benefit results in taxable income. In all cases where the requirement of the general rule is not met the fringe benefits must be examined more closely to determine whether or not the benefit derived is taxable as compensation. Under the proposed amendments where the benefit provided by an item is so small as to make accounting for it unreasonable or administratively impractical, there is no taxable compensation. This de minimis exception applies, for example, to an employee having his secretary type a personal letter.

Where a fringe benefit does not meet all of the tests of the general rule and it is too significant to be ignored under the de minimis exception, whether or not the benefit conferred constitutes compensation includible in gross income is determined on the basis of all the relevant facts and circumstances. The proposed amendments set out nine of the factors to be taken into consideration. Among these factors are: (i) Whether or not the employer incurs a substantial and identifiable additional cost, (ii) whether or not the benefit is reimbursement of an unusually large expense of the employee incurred on account of his employment, (iii) whether or not the benefit is provided to employees in a way that does not discriminate in favor of the most highly compensated employees, and (iv) the relationship of the expense to the employers' business.

Where a fringe benefit is determined to result in compensation includible in gross income, the amount of compensation is the fair market value of the benefit. This is the amount that the employee would have to pay on an arm's-length basis for the benefit or its equivalent.

Among the examples included in the proposed amendments applying the facts and circumstances test is an executive who has a company jet make a special trip to enable him and his wife to shop and attend a play in another city. The executive is held taxable on an amount equal to the cost of chartering an equivalent plane to make the trip. Another example states that an employee does not have gross income where his employer provides him with protection in response to threats made by terrorists alleging that the employer has exploited the terrorists' country.

A number of examples deal with the use of an automobile furnished by the employer. One example holds that a fire chief does not have compensation from the use of a car to enable him to go on short notice to the scene of major fires. Another example holds that the use of a government automobile by a United States ambassador to travel to and from work, as permitted by Federal statutes regulating the use of official vehicles, does not result in gross income. There also is an example holding that providing a chauffeur-driven car to take a top executive of a corporation to and from work results in compensation, but that use of the car to take the executive from his office to business appointments does not result in compensation.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE REGULATION

In order to provide rules relating to whether or not incidental facilities, goods, and services benefiting employees result in gross income to the employees, the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR PART 1) are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Immediately after § 1.61-15 there is added the following new section:

§ 1.61-16 Incidental facilities, goods, and services benefiting employees.

(a) In general. Where an employer makes available to its employees generally facilities, goods, or services that exist incidentally to its trade or business, the resulting benefits to employees, their immediate families, or guests accompanying the employees shall not be treated as compensation includible in gross income under the following circumstances:

(1) The facilities, goods, or services are owned by or under the control of the employer for purposes proper to the conduct of the trade or business involved and are primarily unrelated to the personal use or consumption of such items by employees of the employer.

(2) The facilities, goods, or services are made available to employees under terms and conditions such that the employer incurs no substantial additional cost in making them so available, and

(3) The facilities, goods, or services are made available to employees generally or to reasonable classifications of employees determined, for example, on the basis of the nature of their work, seniority, or similar factors (but not including classifications primarily including only the most highly compensated employees).

The extension under like circumstances of similar privileges by an employer to individuals who are employees of another employer in the same or a related trade or business shall not be included in the income of such individuals or their employer.

(b) Other benefits. Where facilities, goods, or services are made available under circumstances that do not meet the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, whether or not the benefit conferred constitutes compensation includible in gross income will be determined on the basis of all the facts and circumstances. The following factors, among others, shall be considered where present. The presence of one or more of them will not necessarily be controlling, but will be a fact tending to indicate that the benefit does not constitute compensation includible in gross income.

(1) The cost incurred by the employer in providing the benefit is not identifiable or is not significant in relation to the fair market value of the benefit received by the employee.

(2) The personal use occurs during, immediately before, or immediately after working hours at or near the business premises of the employer and has a proximate relation to work performed by the employee.

(3) The benefit is provided to employees generally or to reasonable classifications of employees determined, for example, on the basis of the nature of their work, seniority, or similar factors (but not including classifications primarily including only the most highly compensated employees).

(4) The benefit is similar to a service or other benefit which is commonly provided by state or local governments in the United States, but which is not readily available to the employees because of the location of their employment.

(5) The benefit accommodates an important requirement of the employer or relieves the employer of significant expense or inconvenience.

(6) The benefit is reimbursement of a greater than usual item of expense which was incurred by the employee for a purpose normally thought primarily personal but which was incurred because a business requirement of the employer prevented the employee from obtaining the item in the ordinary manner.

(7) The benefit is provided primarily to insure the employee's safety by protecting against significant risk arising from the employment relation.

(8) The benefit is not a substantial amount absolutely or in comparison to the employee's stated compensation.

(9) The item generally is not thought of as constituting compensation includible in gross income.

The failure of a benefit to qualify under one or more of the above factors, in appropriate cases, may be a fact tending to indicate that it does constitute compensation includible in gross income.

(c) De minimis exception. The provision of facilities, goods, or services shall not be deemed to give rise to compensation includible in gross income when the amount of such item is so small as to make accounting for it unreasonable or administratively impractical.

(d) Amount of income. If it is determined that an item is compensation includible in an employee's gross income, then the amount included in gross income is the fair market value of the item, which is the amount that the employee would have had to pay, on an arm's-length basis, to obtain use or possession of equivalent facilities, goods, or services.

(e) Definition. For purposes of this section the term "employee" includes self-employed individuals, independent contractors, and officers of a corporation, but does not include shareholders of a corporation as such.

(f) Examples. The principles of this section are illustrated by the following examples.

Example (1). Flight attendants for a commercial airline are permitted to make a specified number of trips each year at no cost. The number of trips allowed each flight attendant depends upon the length of time each flight attendant has been an employee of the airline. A flight attendant must have been an employee for at least six months before being eligible to take any such flight. Flight attendants may travel to any destination served by the employer airline or by any airlines with which the employer has reciprocal arrangements. Trips are permitted only on a space available basis and do not result in loss of revenue to the airline. The trips taken by a flight attendant on the employer airline, or on another airline with which the employer has a reciprocal arrangement, qualify under paragraph (a) and are not compensation includible in gross income because the flights on which the flight attendant travels are a part of the airline's regular business and are primarily unrelated to personal use by employees, the employer incurs no substantial additional cost, and the classification of employees by their function as flight attendants and sub-classification by seniority is a reasonable method of classification.

Example (2). A commercial airline encourages bona fide travel agents to take a reasonable number of trips each year on a stand-by basis at a nominal price. The purpose of making the travel privileges available to the travel agents is to familiarize them with the airline's services and with the attractions at destinations served by the airline, and thus to increase the likelihood that they will arrange for their customers' travel using services provided by the airline. The business of travel agents is related to that of the airline. The extension of transportation to a travel agent for a nominal price qualifies under paragraph (a) for the reasons given in Example (1) regarding the similar benefit made available to a flight attendant.

Example (3). A retail store allows its employees with at least six months' service a discount on purchases made at the store. The price of merchandise net of the discount to the employees is not less than the wholesale price of the merchandise. The benefits received by an employee may qualify under the de minimis exception of paragraph (c). Even if they do not so qualify, the merchandise discounts do qualify under paragraph (a) because the merchandise is from normal inventory, the employer merely forgoes additional income and does not incur any significant additional costs, and the discount is generally available to all employees. An employee does not realize compensation includible in gross income by reason of the discount.

Example (4). An interior decorator purchases furniture for her own home at the wholesale price generally charged interior decorators by the manufacturer. The business of the interior decorator is related to that of the furniture manufacturer. The lower price to the interior decorator does not result in compensation includible in gross income under paragraph (a) for the reasons given in Example (3) regarding similar benefits to employees of a retail store.

Example (5). (a) An executive of a company and his wife travel in a company-owned plane to City A to shop and attend the theater. The plane otherwise would not have made the flights. The executive works during the flights to and from City A. Company policy allows top executives to use its planes for such personal trips. The use of the company plane does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the employer incurred substantial additional cost and because such use of company planes is restricted to top executives. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the large identifiable costs incurred by the employer, the absence of a proximate relationship of the trip to the executive's employment, and the limitation of the use of the company planes to top executives. The executive has compensation includible in gross income. Since the company plane made the trip solely for the benefit of the executive and his wife, the amount of gross income is the cost of chartering the same or an equivalent plane for the round trip to City A.

(b) The executive's secretary accompanied him on the trip to City A to take dictation and perform other secretarial duties during the flight. Since the secretary's primary purpose of traveling to City A was to be available to the executive, the incidental personal pleasure which she derives from the travel qualifies under the de minimis exception of paragraph (c). The secretary's travel also qualifies under paragraph (a) because the use of the plane to transport the secretary to City A was proper to the secretary's employment as the executive's personal secretary, the employer incurred no substantial additional cost in her traveling, and the availability of such travel to the secretary under such circumstances constitutes a reasonable classification because of the nature of her duties. The Secretary has no compensation includible in gross income as a result of traveling to City A.

(c) The secretary's mother also accompanied her on the trip at no additional cost to the company. Since the travel did not constitute compensation includible in gross income to the secretary under paragraph (a), the same benefit extended to her mother, as a member of her immediate family, did not constitute compensation includible in income to anyone.

Example (6). A company executive travels to City B on a company-owned plane to attend a two-day trade convention important to the business of the company. At his invitation he is accompanied by his wife and daughter and the president of a college located in the same community as the company. The wife, daughter, and college president occupy seats on the plane that otherwise would have gone unused. The wife, daughter, and the college president do not attend the trade convention. Under paragraph (a) transportation furnished to the wife, daughter, and college president do not constitute compensation includible in gross income to anyone because under paragraph (a) the flight to City B was primarily for a business purpose and was primarily unrelated to the personal enjoyment of the executive, the furnishing of transportation to additional persons did not entail any substantial additional expense to the company, and the extension of the privilege of inviting guests to those classes of employees who are themselves traveling for a proper purpose of the employer is a reasonable classification. The furnishing of transportation to the wife, daughter, and college president does not constitute compensation includible in gross income.

Example (7). A company's plant is located in an area which is unsafe at night and in which there is not suitable public transportation available to employees leaving work between midnight and 6 a.m. An employee finishing work at 2 a.m. is reimbursed exactly for taxi fare home under a general policy extending taxi service or reimbursement to all employees finishing work between midnight and 6 a.m. Employees who drive their own automobiles may park in a protected area, but are not paid for taxi service not used. The furnishing of taxi fare at night does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the employer incurs substantial additional cost in furnishing it. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the exact reimbursement of a greater than usual expense incurred by an employee who would ride mass public transportation if it were available, the safety factor, and the general availability of the taxi fare to similarly situated employees. The taxi fare reimbursement does not constitute compensation includible in gross income.

Example (8). An accounting firm reimburses an employee the exact amount the employee spends on dinner and on taxi fare home where the employee works several hours beyond his normal quitting time because of the press of the employer's business. The reimbursement does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the employer incurs substantial additional expense. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the exact reimbursement of a greater than usual expense incurred by the employee, the accommodation of an important business requirement of the employer, and the proximate relation of the reimbursement to the overtime period. The reimbursement does not constitute compensation includible in gross income to the employee.

Example (9). A company provides a chauffeur-driven automobile to and from work for each of its top executives. The cars also are available to the executives for trips to and from business appointments. The furnishing of such service to the executives does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the cars and chauffeurs are not primarily unrelated to the personal use by the executives, the employer incurs substantial additional cost, and the service is limited to the highest paid executives. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the limitation of the chauffeur service to the top executives, the proximate relation of the transportation to the executive's work, and the accommodation of the needs of the employer. In this case a distinction must be made between providing transportation to and from work, which is a personal commuting expense, and transportation to and from business appointments, which is a business expense. The former constitutes compensation includible in gross income while the latter does not. The amount of compensation realized by the executives is the cost of obtaining the same or equivalent chauffeur service to and from work on an arm's-length basis.

Example (10). A company's headquarters are in an office building which it owns in the downtown area of a large city. The building has garage space in the basement that is used for deliveries and guest parking. A limited number of spaces also are available for parking by the company's employees. In allotting those spaces among its employees, the company gives preference to those employees whose duties require them to work irregular hours, who frequently use their cars for business purposes during the day, and, other things being equal, to employees with seniority. These criteria, in fact, result in most of the spaces being allotted to executives, but spaces also are provided to others who meet the criteria and are not available to executives who do not meet the criteria. The employer incurred a substantial additional cost in acquiring the parking facility and incurs continuing substantial additional costs in maintaining and operating the facility. Because the parking spaces are assigned to employees on a guaranteed basis, the use by the employees preempts other potential uses. Accordingly, the use of a parking space does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the employer incurs substantial additional cost. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the availability of the parking in the employer's building during working hours, the reasonableness of the classification, and the accommodation of the employer's important requirement that the employees using the parking facilities be readily available. The employees using the parking facility do not have compensation includible in gross income.

Example (11). United States ambassadors are furnished an official vehicle and driver. An ambassador uses his car on official business and for commuting from his residence to the embassy. Federal laws governing the use of funds appropriated for Executive departments and agencies prohibit the use of appropriated funds to operate and maintain any Government-owned automobile that is not used exclusively for official purposes. Under these provisions, official purposes does not, with limited exceptions, include transporting a government employee to and from work. An employee who willfully uses, or authorizes the use of, a government vehicle for such transportation may be suspended from employment or, if the circumstances warrant, summarily removed from office. However, these prohibitory provisions do not apply to vehicles for official use of the President, the heads of certain enumerated executive departments, ambassadors, minister, charges d'affaires, and other principal diplomatic and consular officials. The providing of an official vehicle and driver to ambassadors does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the vehicles and drivers are not primarily unrelated to the personal use by the executive, the employer incurs substantial additional cost, and the benefit is limited to the most highly compensated officials. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factor is the finding by Congress, implicit in the provisions regulating use of appropriated funds, that the official duties of certain federal employees require that they be on call at all times and have the use of an official vehicle for transportation to and from work. Depending on the circumstances provision of an official vehicle and driver also may protect the ambassador from a danger arising from the employment relationship. See examples (7) and (13). The use of the official vehicle and driver by the ambassador does not constitute compensation includible in gross income.

Example (12). The fire chief of City C is required to be available by telephone at all times and to be able to go on short notice to the scene of major fires. The city provides a car and driver which is available at all times. The fire chief occasionally uses the car for nonbusiness purposes. The providing of the car and driver to the fire chief does not qualify under paragraph (a) because it requires substantial additional expenses by the employer. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the proximate relation of the car and driver to the fire chief's duty to supervise personally fighting of all major fires and the accommodation of the employer's requirement that the fire chief be readily available for this duty. The use of the car and driver by the fire chief to go to fires does not constitute compensation includible in gross income. The occasional personal use of the car and driver by the fire chief qualifies under the de minimis exception of paragraph (c) and does not constitute compensation includible in gross income.

Example (13). The president of a multinational corporation is threatened by an organization of political extremists in a foreign country who allege that the corporation has exploited their country. The corporation provides bodyguards for the president and his immediate family. The protection does not qualify under paragraph (a) because it requires substantial additional expense by the employer. The most important relevant factor under paragraph (b) is providing for protection of the executive and his family from a danger arising from the employment relationship. The protection does not result in compensation includible in gross income.

Example (14). An automobile agency furnishes cars to its employees as "demonstrators" without charge. The employees use the automobiles primarily for personal use. Because of such use the employer receives a reduced price when the demonstrators are sold. The furnishing of the automobiles does not qualify under paragraph (a) because the employer incurs substantial additional cost. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the significant cost incurred by the employer and the absence of a proximate relation of the furnishing of the automobiles to the employees' employment. The employees each have compensation includible in gross income in an amount equal to the cost of leasing the same model automobile in an arm's-length transaction.

Example (15). An employer furnishes automobiles to all 30 of its outside traveling salesmen who are away from home an average of four days a week. The company permits the employees to keep the cars over weekends and to use them for personal purposes, provided that they pay for all gasoline they consume for personal use. The employer does not incur any substantial and identifiable cost to maintain and operate the cars because of the personal use of them by the employees. When the employer trades in the fleet of automobiles used by the salesmen, personal use of the cars does not materially affect the price it is able to obtain. The furnishing of the automobiles qualifies under paragraph (a) because the use of the automobiles is proximately related to the employer's business and the personal use by the employees is not the primary purpose for their acquisition, the employer incurs no substantial additional cost, and providing the benefit for a class consisting of all the outside traveling salesmen is a reasonable classification. The use of the automobiles by the salesmen does not result in compensation includible in gross income.

Example (16). An employee occasionally has his secretary type a personal letter and make a copy of it for his records on his employer's electric copying machine. The personal use of the secretary and the copying machine qualifies under the de minimis exception of paragraph (c) and does not result in compensation includible in gross income.

Example (17). A law firm pays bar association dues of lawyers employed by it. The firm also has a monthly cocktail party for all attorneys and paralegal personnel and has an annual golf, tennis, and swimming outing at a country club.

(a) The payment of bar association dues may qualify under the de minimis exception of paragraph (c). If the amount paid by the employer on behalf of each attorney is a substantial additional cost, then paragraphs (a) and (c) will not apply. For purposes of paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the proximate relation of the bar association dues to the practice of law, the general availability of the dues reimbursement to all employed attorneys, and the employer's interest in having its attorneys participate in local bar associations. No compensation includible in gross income results from the payment of the dues.

(b) The monthly cocktail party and the annual outing may qualify under the de minimis rule of paragraph (c). If the costs incurred by the employer are substantial, then paragraphs (a) and (c) will not apply. For purposes of paragraph (b) the most important relevant factors are the general availability of the cocktail party to all attorneys and paralegal personnel and the employer's interest in having all of the legal staff become acquainted with each other and the on-going work in the firm. Permitting only attorneys and paralegal personnel to attend the cocktail parties and outing is a reasonable classification of employees. No compensation includible in gross income results from the cocktail parties and outing.

Example (18). A corporation maintains American-style schools for the children of its employees at overseas locations where local schools either are not available or are not comparable to American schools. No tuition is charged. Paragraph (a) does not apply because the employer incurs substantial additional expenses. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factor is that the school provides benefits similar in nature to services provided in the United States by local governments. The employees have no compensation includible in gross income as a result of their children attending the employer-sponsored school without paying tuition.

Example (19). An employer maintains a day care center on its premises for pre-school children of its employees who desire to use the facility. Paragraph (a) does not apply because the employer incurred substantial additional costs. Under paragraph (b) the most important relevant factor in this case is that section 214 of the Internal Revenue Code provides special rules regarding the deduction of day care and certain other expenses. It would frustrate the policy of section 214 if the fair market value of the services of the day care center were not included in gross income of the employees utilizing them and then deducted only to the extent provided in section 214. The employees whose pre-school children use the day care center have compensation includible in gross income. They may have an offsetting deduction under section 214.

(g) Effective date. (1) No employee of the United States shall be treated as having compensation includible in gross income by reason of the use of any official vehicle owned or operated by or on behalf of the United States on or before September 5, 1975.

(2) No employer of an automobile agency or related business shall be treated as having compensation includible in gross income by reason of the use of a car furnished by his employer as a "demonstrator" without charge (see example (14) of paragraph (f)) on or before [insert date this Notice is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER].

PAR. 2. Paragraph 1.61-2(d) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following new subparagraph:

§ 1.61-2 Compensation for services, including fees, commissions, and similar items.

(d) Compensation paid other than in cash.

(6) For special rules relating to certain incidental facilities, goods, and services benefiting employees, see § 1.61-16.

COAL MINING OPERATING REGULATIONS

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior under the Mineral Leasing Act of February 25, 1920, as amended and supplemented (30 U.S.C. 181-287), the Mineral Leasing Act for Acquired Lands (30 U.S.C. 351-359), (5 U.S.C. 301), the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321-4347), and various statutes relating to mining on Indian lands, is now proposed to revise 30 CFR Part 211, and 43 CFR 23, and to promulgate a new subpart 3041 of 43 CFR, as set forth below. It is also proposed that 30 CFR Part 216, applicable to coal mining operations under leases in the State of Alaska which were issued pursuant to the Alaska Coal Leasing Act of October 20, 1914 (38 Stat. 741), prior to its repeal by P.L. 86-252, September 9, 1959 (73 Stat. 490), be revoked and that operations under those leases also be governed by the regulations in 30 CFR Part 211 as set forth below.

On January 30, 1975, and on April 30, 1973, notices and texts of proposed revisions to the coal mining operating regulations of the U.S. Geological Survey were published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (38 FR 10686; 40 FR 4423). Those regulations govern operations conducted under coal permits, leases, and licenses on public and acquired lands of the United States and Indian lands administered by the Department of the Interior. The previously proposed regulations would also govern the mining of coal in Alaska and, therefore, were proposed to revoke 30 CFR Part 216, which contains such regulations.

Prior to the publication of the 211 regulations proposed on January 30, 1975, the President had withheld signature from S. 425, the surface mining legislation passed by the 93rd Congress.

On February 6, 1975, new proposed Federal surface mining legislation was submitted by the Administration along with a detailed analysis of the unacceptable adverse effects which S. 425 would have had. Thereafter, the Congress passed H.R. 25, which failed to meet the objections which had led to the President's disapproval of S. 425, and would have resulted in greater adverse impacts than that bill. The President vetoed H.R. 25 on May 20, 1975, and that veto was sustained by the House of Representatives on June 10, 1975.

As the President noted in his veto message, recent revisions of State laws regarding surface mining have improved the environmental controls imposed upon lands subject to their jurisdiction. This situation may be expected to continue, as States update, amend, and revise their controls.

A major portion of the Nation's coal resources lies in Federal ownership. Timely and orderly development of this domestic energy resource is a matter of high priority to the Nation as a whole and to the Federal Government, as the custodian of these resources on behalf of all of the people.

At the same time, it is imperative to insure that in developing such resources appropriate consideration is given to the serious environmental concerns associated with mining. Development must be balanced against these concerns, and allowed to take place only when and under such circumstances as will assure such balancing protection.

The proposed regulations 43 CFR 3041 were formerly covered by 43 CFR 23, and relate to the leasing, permitting, and licensing of coal and reclamation regulations by the BLM. The proposed regulations 30 CFR 211 again relate to coal exploration and mining operations, and reclamation of affected lands.

The purpose of the proposed set of regulations is to delete obsolete provisions, update existing regulations so as to impose reclamation and performance standards upon operations relating to Federal coal, and clarify the responsibility of lessees, permittees, and licensees for the protection of the surface, natural resources, environment, and existing improvements during all such operations.

Together, the proposed regulations govern pre- and post-leasing operations conducted under coal permits, leases, and licenses on public and acquired lands of the United States, regardless of surface ownership. In addition, the new proposed 30 CFR 211 would govern operation on Indian lands administered by the Department of the Interior, and 30 CFR Part 216 is again accordingly proposed to be revoked.

Finally, conforming amendments to 43 CFR Part 23 to reflect the new proposed 43 CFR Part 3041 are also proposed.

The proposed regulations provide specific language to clarify responsibilities of lessees, permittees, and licensees for all phases of coal mining operations on public and acquired lands of the United States and Indian lands administered by the Department of the Interior. The scope of the regulations addresses not only the "orderly and efficient development" phase of the operations, but also the total spectrum of events beginning with the pre-lease land-use planning and environmental analyses into prospecting, exploration, and testing activities and extending through the development, mining, production, and coal processing practices, as well as the abandonment and reclamation measures.

Under the proposed regulations, leases, permits, and licenses for coal would be issued, and plans of operation approved only where reclamation of the affected lands, pursuant to the standards set forth, is attainable and assured, and reclamation programs will be required to be undertaken as contemporaneously as practicable with mineral development.

The new regulations set forth environmental standards that will be used in conducting pre-lease, permitting, and licensing examinations, from which the terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license will be developed.

Performance and reclamation standards that would automatically apply to all operations subject to these regulations are provided and set forth in identical terms in each proposed regulation so that performance and reclamation requirements will be consistent throughout the pre-leasing, exploration mining, reclamation, and abandonment phases of coal operations.

The new regulations further require that exploration and/or mining plans, describing in detail the operations to be undertaken, be prepared and submitted in advance of that operation.

These two revisions are complimentary, and designed to create a coordinated mechanism for coal development.

Under the proposed 43 CFR Part 3041, a decision mechanism is outlined whereby decisions as to whether coal leasing should occur, and what specific conditions might be applied to a lease, will be made after appropriate environmental review. Under the proposed 30 CFR Part 211, the Geological Survey will monitor coal operations, and enforce lease terms and conditions and general performance standards which are included in identical language in both regulations.

The Department of the Interior is currently completing an environmental review of its entire coal leasing program. This review will be published shortly, and will contain a formal mechanism defining with greater specificity the Department's coal leasing policy. With the proposed regulations, it will constitute a unified program to direct future development of our resources. Several elements of the proposed regulations should be specifically noted and public comment is specifically requested thereon.

First, the relationship between Federal and State jurisdiction to impose reclamation standards has arisen in the recent proposed legislation. On the one hand, it is clear that the States have a direct public policy interest in coal development within their geographical boundaries. In addition, the historical development of coal resources has, in many areas, resulted in patterns of intermingled tracts of Federal and private ownership with respect to which coordinated regulatory mechanisms would be desirable.

On the other hand, it is also clear that Federal coal resources belong not to one or more of the several States, but to the Nation as a whole. The Federal interest in assuring the timely and orderly development of such resources must be implemented with that end in mind.

A mechanism is, therefore, proposed in these regulations which would satisfy both Federal and State interests. This mechanism would allow the Secretary of the Interior to direct that some or all of the existing State laws, regulations, practices, and procedures of a State relating to reclamation be applied by Federal officers within that State as a matter of Federal law. Such discretion may be exercised at the request of the Governor, if the Secretary, upon review of that State's regulations, determines that such application would:

(a) Effectuate the purpose of the proposed regulations;

(b) Afford protection of the environmental values which would be at least as stringent as would occur under otherwise applicable Federal standards; and

(c) Would be consistent with the interest of the United States in the timely and orderly development of its coal resources.

Such an order would remain in effect until rescinded or amended, and would enable Federal and State concerns to be appropriately balanced.

It has been and is the current practice of the Department to include in coal leases a provision requiring compliance in State and local laws. It is also the practice of the Mining Supervisors of the Geological Survey to follow this practice in the implementation of their responsibilities with respect to ongoing operations. The proposed mechanism would allow continuation of this existing practice, while reserving the power to insure that the National interest in resource development is accommodated.

It is hoped that this mechanism will have the effect of encouraging those States without comprehensive, reasonable regulatory mechanisms to enact such control, with the assurance that the development of Federal coal within their boundaries may take place on similar terms.

Second, the method of applying the proposed regulatory mechanism to existing operations, and the timing of such application, is not specifically addressed. The notice of proposed rulemaking for the proposed 211 regulations published on January 30, 1975, provided: "Operators holding existing permits, leases, or licenses will be required to comply with the requirements of this part no later than 180 days following the date of republication of these regulations in the FEDERAL REGISTER with respect to lands from which overburden and the coal seam being mined have not been removed." Public comment is expressly requested upon the question of whether separate provision should be made within the proposed regulations to cover existing regulations, or whether separate effective dates for the regulations should be provided for new and existing operations, and in either event what time period for compliance is appropriate.

SPECIFIC PROVISIONS OF THE REGULATIONS DEFINITIONS

No attempt has been made comprehensively to define terms of general applicability which have accepted scientific definitions. In the event that additional terms are suggested for specific definition, they will be included in the final regulations.

The following specific provisions are common to both proposed regulations:

Approximate Original Contour. The definition has been changed from the earlier proposed 211 regulations so as to eliminate operative portions of the previous definition, which are more properly included in the main body of the regulations.

Logical Mining Unit. This term is defined for the first time in the proposed regulations and represents an approach to coordination of development planning between public and private lands.

Maximum Extent Practicable. Also defined for the first time, this concept is intended to express a qualification applicable to given performance standards or levels of control which would incorporate a cost benefit balancing of technological feasibility, economic cost, and tangible and intangible environmental benefits attributable to various levels of such standard or control. It is not intended to imply that economic considerations will automatically prevail in determining the level of controls which must be utilized. On the other hand, it is intended that cost benefit balancing will reduce the possibility that disproportionately expensive technology might be required to be employed where only incremental, minimal environmental advantage would result therefrom.

Reclamation. This term has been restated so as to eliminate operative language setting forth degrees of reclamation, which is more properly set forth in the body of the regulations. The phrase "consistent with" is intended to express the concept that post-mining rehabilitation efforts should be addressed in the first instance with reference to the pre-mining condition, but that actual reclamation measures and post-mining conditions and uses are properly considered, approved, and executed pursuant to the operative provisions of the regulations and the approved plan of operations.

Significant Valley Floor Vegetation. The term is used as a qualifying note in determining certain areas of valley floors subject to hydrological protection in the body of the regulations.

GENERAL OPERATION AND RECLAMATION REQUIREMENTS

(References are to the proposed 30 CFR Part 211 regulations.)

Section 211.4(a) requires that all operations conform to the provisions of applicable laws and regulations, including effluent and emission limitations.

Section 211.4(c) imposes a general obligation to avoid to the maximum extent practicable specific elements of environmental concern. It is not intended that this general obligation substitute for the more precise requirements which may be imposed by these regulations or provisions of other applicable laws or regulations.

Section 211.4(d) has been simplified from the earlier proposed revisions of this part, and clarified to provide that water quality be monitored so as to establish such data as may be necessary to determine procedures or measures required to comply with the proposed regulations.

Section 211.5(b) has been expanded to insure actual public notice of proposed mining plans.

Section 211.10(a) now provides that a proposed mining plan shall, where possible, include all operations in an approved logical mining unit. It should be noted that it is not intended that resulting inclusion of portions of an operation involving non-federal coal in such a plan would expand federal jurisdiction beyond appropriate limits, by either requiring a federal bond on such non-federal operations or by imposing the requirements of the operating or performance standards or enforcement mechanisms of the regulations to such operations.

Section 211.10(d) authorizes the mining supervisor to require reasonable revisions or supplements to approved plans where changed conditions or unforeseen circumstances exist, or approve changes at the request of an operator. Where any such revision would be major, the public notice provisions of § 211.5(b) will apply. In the event of disagreement as to the propriety of any such change, an appeal from the mining supervisors decision will lie under Part 290 pursuant to § 211.73.

RECLAMATION AND PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

(References are to the proposed 30 CFR 211 texts, but identical language is included in the proposed 43 CFR 3041.)

Section 211.40(a)(2) requires the operator to reclaim affected lands pursuant to his approved plan and as contemporaneously as practicable with operations, to a condition at least fully capable of supporting previous practicable uses or equal or better uses that can reasonably be attained. It is intended that this provision would authorize the Department to require reclamation, where appropriate, to a use that was practicable prior to mining but not necessarily in effect. To require exact parity between post-mining and pre-mining land condition would impose an impossible burden. Requiring reclamation to a condition capable of supporting equal or better uses that can reasonably be achieved affords adequate assurance that post-mining land condition will be acceptable.

Section 211.40(a)(3) requires restoration to the approximate original contour to the maximum extent practicable. Variances from that requirement based upon equal or better post-mining land uses or unusual conditions may be granted only by the Director of the Geological Survey, with the concurrence of the Director of the Bureau of Land Management. Any such variance will, of course, be included in an approved plan of operations, and thus subject to appropriate public consideration.

Section 211.40(a)(8) sets forth the requirement that disturbances to prevailing hydrologic conditions be minimized, and in subparagraph (iv) specifically requires protection of the surface and ground water resources of valley floors which provide water sources that support significant vegetation or existing uses.

Subparagraph 211.40(a)(16) imposes the obligation to revegetate affected lands and authorizes the use of introduced species where quick cover is desirable.

Section 211.40(a)(17) sets forth the time limitations within which liability upon the operator's bond for revegetation will apply. A maximum period of liability of 10 years from the first planting date is provided. After substantial review of this question, it is felt that this period is appropriate. Failure of successful revegetation after 10 years of effort is felt to be determinative of the question of whether the additional efforts represented by expending the retained portion of the bond would be successful. On the other hand, in some circumstances it will be apparent from the conditions at the site of operations that successful revegetation is likely to occur within the 5 year minimum time period. Where this is the case, authority is provided to waive the automatic application of this minimum period at the time of lease issuance.

It should be noted that operation of this waiver would not in any way diminish the burden upon the operator to establish that revegetation has in fact successfully been accomplished within that period.

SPECIFICATION PROVISIONS OF 43 CFR 3041

Section 3041.0-4 spells out the specific areas of responsibility of the BLM and the Geological Survey with respect to surface management and operations for coal development, consistent with internal Departmental orders.

Section 3041.0-6 sets forth the procedures whereby the environmental impact on both an area-wide and specific tract basis will be assessed prior to making a determination as to whether leasing, permitting, or licensing will be allowed. This procedure provides for obtaining the views and recommendations of the Geological Survey and other appropriate Federal agencies, for holding public hearings, where necessary, and for consultation with State and local governments and interested parties, including surface owners where applicable.

Section 3041.0-7(a) allows the authorized officer of the Federal surface management agency, in consultation with the Mining Supervisor, to establish additional and more stringent requirements than required by the performance standards set forth in Section 3041.0-7(b), to meet exceptional and special circumstances such as the degree of slope and soil conditions.

Section 3041.0-7(d) allows the authorized officer to propose to the Mining Supervisor that an approved exploration or mining plan be revised or supplemented to adjust to changed conditions or to correct oversights. This is consistent with and complementary to the authority in 30 CFR 211.10(d) to require such changes.

Section 3041.0-8 permits an operator to use only so much of the surface of the lands as is deemed necessary, and has been designated in an approved plan. It is expressly provided that use of Federal lands for a power generation plant or commercial or industrial facility requires a special permit. This is not intended to imply that other facilities which might require permits under other laws would be relieved of any such obligations under the regulations proposed here. Facilities directly related to the mining, processing, and preparation of the coal resource would not require a separate permit.

Section 3041.1, the requirement for submission of a preliminary plan by an applicant for a coal lease, permit, or license, is an expansion of the requirements of 43 CFR Part 23. The purpose of the preliminary plan is to provide operational and environmental information which will assist the authorized officer in evaluating the proposed operation, and in the preparation of necessary impact statements and the terms and conditions to be included in a lease, permit, or license, if issued.

Section 3041.5 is different from Part 23 in that it requires a notice of availability of the application and its proposed terms, conditions, and special stipulations, for inspection and comment thereon. No action may be taken on any application until interested parties have had 30 days to comment. The application and proposed terms and conditions will remain available for inspection thereafter in the proper BLM office.

Section 3041.7(b) is different from Part 23 in that it allows the authorized officer, in emergency situations where activities threaten immediate, serious, or irreparable damage to the environment, resources, health and safety of the employees and the public, to order the immediate cessation of such activities. Although exercise of this authority would normally be the responsibility of the USGS, it is felt that where such extraordinary circumstances exist any authorized representative of responsible agencies of the United States should be able to take the limited immediate action set forth, to prevent the adverse environmental effect described.

A detailed environmental impact statement on the proposed regulation has been prepared in compliance with Section 102(2)(C) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4332(2)(C)). The statement is being printed and will be available in approximately three weeks. A notice of availability will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In accordance with the Department's policy on public participation in rule-making, interested parties may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed regulations to the Director, Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240 and the Director, U.S. Geological Survey, Reston, Virginia 22092, on or before November 4, 1975.

After the expiration of such period for comment, and the expiration of the appropriate comment period upon the above mentioned environmental impact statement, the proposed regulations will be revised, if appropriate, and republished in the FEDERAL REGISTER in final form.

A new subpart 3041 is proposed to be added to 43 CFR, to read as follows:

Subpart 3041—Surface Management—Federal Coal Resources

§ 3041.0-1 Purpose.

(a) The purpose of these regulations is to establish rules to be followed in the management of the Federally-owned coal estate consistent with the policies, goals, and objectives established by the Acts cited in § 3041.0-3 of this Subpart, regardless of surface ownership or method of operation.

(b) It is the policy of the Department to encourage the development of Federally-owned coal, where such development is authorized, through a program that will provide for the protection, orderly development and conservation of Federal mineral and nonmineral resources in a manner that will minimize adverse effects to society and the environment resulting from coal development. It is also the policy of the Department to authorize leases, permits, and licenses for coal only where reclamation of the affected lands to the standards set forth herein is attainable and assured and a reclamation program will be undertaken as contemporaneously as practicable with mineral development. Departmental policy regarding privately owned surface where the mineral estate is Federally owned is that any mineral activity on the private surface should be conducted to result in protection of environmental values which is at least as stringent as would apply to Federally owned surface.

§ 3041.0-3 Authorities.

These regulations are issued pursuant to: The Mineral Leasing Act of February 25, 1920, as amended (30 U.S.C. 181-287), and the Mineral Leasing Act For Acquired Lands (30 U.S.C. 351-359). Additional regulations governing the issuance of Federal coal leases, permits, and licenses are found in 43 CFR 3500 of this Chapter, including the specific requirements in § 3501.2-6 that the consent of the Department of Agriculture or other administering agency be obtained with respect to leases, permits, and licenses covering acquired lands subject to the jurisdiction of such other Federal surface managing agency. Regulations governing lease or permit operations are found in 30 CFR 211. Regulations setting forth the general and basic policies for disposal and management of the public lands are found in 43 CFR 1725 of this Chapter.

§ 3041.0-4 Responsibilities.

(a) The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) exercises at the Bureau level the Secretary's discretionary authority to determine whether or not leases, permits, and licenses are to be issued. The Bureau of Land Management is responsible for issuing mineral leases, permits, and licenses, and is the office of record in mineral leasing matters.

(b) The Geological Survey (GS) exercises the Secretary's delegated authority regarding operations conducted within the area of operation by permittees, lessees, and licensees and determines the action to be taken by them from the standpoint of the development, conservation, and management of mineral resources under the jurisdiction of the Department. The Geological Survey is responsible for all geologic, engineering, and economic value determinations for the Department's mineral leasing program. These determinations include: the mineral characteristics of lease and permit areas; parcelling; amounts of bonds; royalties; unit values; rentals; mineral resource evaluations; reserves; investments, diligent development, and minimum production requirements; and all other terms and conditions relating to mineral operations under leases and permits.

(c) The Bureau of Land Management or other Federal surface management agency, in cooperation with the Geological Survey, and, in the case of non-Federal surface, the surface owner, formulates the requirements to be incorporated in leases, permits, and licenses for the protection of the surface and non-mineral resources and for reclamation, using the surface operating and reclamation performance standards contained in § 3041.0-7 of these regulations and in 30 CFR Part 211.

(d) The Geological Survey, before approving exploration and mining plans, or the abandonment of operations, consults with the Bureau of Land Management or other Federal surface management agency on the adequacy of the surface use, environmental protection, and reclamation aspects of such plans and will not grant approval if inconsistent with the BLM's or other Federal surface management agency's recommendations without further discussions.

(e) As to the lands outside of the area of operations the authorized officer of the BLM or other Federal surface management agency is responsible for conducting compliance examinations and for assuring compliance by the lessee, permittee, or licensee, with the requirements of this Subpart, and the terms and conditions of a lease, permit, or license and for reporting infractions to the GS for discussion with, or orders to, the lessee, permittee, or licensee. As to the lands inside the area of operations the GS examines operations to ensure compliance with environmental protection and rehabilitation requirements. GS refers to BLM any instance of noncompliance with lease terms which may require cancellation action, and BLM may initiate such action. With respect to approval of access roads, pipelines, utility routes and other surface uses outside the operating areas, the Bureau of Land Management, or other Federal surface management agency, has the primary responsibility but obtains the recommendations of the Geological Survey before taking final action. Orders to operators for any remedial action are the responsibility of the Geological Survey.

(f) Subject to the Supervisory authority of the Secretary, the regulations in this Subpart shall be administered by the Director, Bureau of Land Management through the authorized officer having jurisdiction over the lands subject to these regulations and authorized to perform the duties described. Prior to the issuance of any coal lease, permit, or license, the authorized officer will consult with and receive and consider recommendations from the Mining Supervisor, the Federal surface management agency when other than the BLM, or the surface owner, as to the terms and conditions required to achieve the purpose of these regulations.

§ 3041.0-5 Definitions.

As used in this subpart, the following terms shall have the following meanings:

(a) "Acid and toxic producing deposits" means natural or reworked earth materials having chemical and physical characteristics that under mining or post-mining conditions of drainage, exposure, or other processes may produce effluents that contain chemical constituents, such as acids, bases, or metallic compounds, in sufficient concentrations to adversely affect the environment.

Excluded are higher terraces and slopes underlain by colluvial and other surficial deposits normally occurring along valley margins.

§ 3041.0-6 Coal leasing, permitting, and licensing planning procedures.

(a) When an area is initially considered for coal development the authorized officer shall make an environmental impact assessment of the potential effect of such development upon the resources of the area and its environment.

(b) Prior to the selection of tracts for coal leases, permits, or licenses the authorized officer of the BLM or, if other than the BLM, the authorized officer of the agency charged with administration of the surface, shall evaluate the potential effects of all phases of such coal development on the environment, including fish and other aquatic resources, wildlife habitats and populations, aesthetics, recreation, cultural, and other resources in the affected area. This evaluation shall take into account alternative uses of the land and its other natural resources, the need for the proposed coal development, and the socioeconomic considerations relevant to multiple-use management principles. To aid him in this evaluation and selection of coal lease, permit, or license tracts the authorized officer shall request and consider the views and recommendations of the Geological Survey and other appropriate Federal agencies, may hold public hearings after appropriate notice, and shall, as appropriate, consult with applicants, State and applicable local agencies, organizations, industries, and, where only the mineral estate is in Federal ownership, surface owners.

(c) If the Director determines that a decision made pursuant to paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section would be a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment, and that an environmental impact statement as required by the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq) has not been prepared with respect thereto, such a statement will be prepared.

(d) If National Register or eligible National Register cultural resources might be affected by the issuance of coal leases, permits, or licenses, none will be authorized until compliance with Section 106 of the Historic Preservation Act and section 2(b) of E.O. 11593 has been accomplished.

(e) If a decision is made to offer tracts for coal leases, permits, or licenses, the authorized officer may, following the procedures in § 3041.2-1 of this Chapter, develop and include in such offer such special terms and conditions as may be required by specific local conditions to protect the environment, to permit use of the land for other purposes, to allow new postmining land uses, and to protect other resources.

§ 3041.0-7 Performance standards.

(a) Any operator who accepts a coal lease, permit, or license shall comply with and be bound by the following general terms and any additional specific terms, conditions, and stipulations attached to and made a part thereof.

(b) The following general performance standards shall be applicable to all coal exploration, development, mining, drilling, preparation, processing and reclamation operations on the surface of the land subject to these regulations:

(1) The operator shall conduct surface coal mining operations so as to maximize the extraction of the coal resource so that future disturbance through the resumption of mining will be minimized.

(2) The operator shall reclaim the land affected, as contemporaneously as practicable with operations, to a condition at least fully capable of supporting all actual or practicable uses which it was capable of supporting prior to any exploration or mining, or equal or better uses that can reasonably be attained.

(3) The operator shall replace overburden and waste materials in the mined area by backfilling (compacting where advisable, to insure stability or to prevent leaching of toxic materials), grading or other means so as, to the maximum extent practicable, to restore the approximate original contour and to eliminate high walls and spoil piles. Where the thickness of the coal deposits relative to the volume of overburden is large or where the overburden and other spoil waste materials are either insufficient or more than sufficient to restore the approximate original contour, the operator shall backfill, grade, and compact, using all available overburden or spoil material to obtain the lowest practicable grade, but not more than the angle of repose, in order to provide adequate drainage and to cover all acid-forming or other toxic materials. Excess overburden or other spoil material, after restoring the approximate original contour, shall be, graded, compacted (where advisable), stabilized, and shaped in a way to protect against slides, erosion, subsidence and water pollution in accordance with the requirements of this Subpart. Restoration to approximate original contour may not be required if the Director of the Geological Survey, with the concurrence of the Director of the Bureau of Land Management or the appropriate officer of the Federal surface management agency, determines: (i) That an equal or better proposed postmining land use is practicable and attainable and that a modification of this requirement is the best method of achieving the postmining use, or (ii) that unusual conditions, such as steeply dipping coal beds or multiple seam mining, exist which make backfilling pursuant to this paragraph impractical.

(4) The operator shall stabilize and protect all surface areas, including spoil piles, affected by the coal mining and reclamation operation, to effectively control slides, erosion, subsidence and attendant air and water pollution.

(5) The operator shall remove the topsoil separately, replace it on the backfill area or, if not utilized immediately, segregate it in a separate pile from other spoil. When the topsoil is not replaced on a backfill area within a time short enough to avoid deterioration of the topsoil, establish and maintain a cover by quick-growing plants or other means thereafter so that the topsoil is preserved from wind and water erosion and is in a condition for sustaining vegetation when used during reclamation. If topsoil is of insufficient quantity or of poor quality for sustaining vegetation, and if other strata can be shown to be more suitable for vegetation requirements, then the operator shall remove, segregate, and preserve in a like manner such other strata which are best able to support vegetation.

(6) Where permanent impoundments of water on mining sites are to be created, the operator shall insure that:

(i) The impoundment is adequate for its intended purposes.

(ii) The impoundment will be designed and built in accordance with sound engineering standards and practices and applicable Federal and State laws and regulations.

(iii) The quality of impounded water will be suitable for its intended use and discharges from the impoundment will not unreasonably degrade the water quality in the receiving stream.

(iv) Final grading will provide adequate safety and access for proposed water users.

(v) Such water impoundments will not adversely affect the water resources utilized by adjacent or surrounding landowners for agricultural, industrial, recreational, or domestic uses.

(7) The operator shall cover or plug all auger mine holes with noncombustible material in order to minimize or prevent harmful drainage.

(8) The operator shall minimize disturbances to the prevailing quality and quantity of water in surface and ground water systems, and of the prevailing erosion and deposition conditions at the mine site and in adjacent offsite areas, both during and after coal mining operations and during reclamation by:

(i) Controlling acid or other toxic mine drainage and the adverse consequences thereof by such measures as, but not limited to, restricting the flow of water through acid or other toxic-producing materials; treating drainage to reduce acid or other toxic content which adversely affects downstream water upon being released to water courses; and casing, sealing, or otherwise treating drill holes, shafts and wells to keep acid or other toxic drainage from entering ground and surface waters.

(ii) Conducting surface mining operations so as to prevent, to the maximum extent practicable,

(A) Contributions of suspended solids to streamflow or runoff outside the mining site above natural levels under seasonal flow conditions as measured for a period and at sites determined by the Mining Supervisor, in consultation with the authorized officer of the Federal surface management agency, and

(B) Deepening or enlargement of stream channels where operations require the discharge of water from mines.

(iii) Removing or modifying siltation structures after disturbed areas are revegetated and stabilized, unless otherwise directed by the Mining Supervisor after consultation with the authorized officer of the surface management agency.

(iv) Protecting to the maximum extent practicable throughout the mining and reclamation process, the quality and quantity of both upstream and downstream surface and ground water resources of those valley floors which provide water sources that support significant valley floor vegetation, or supply water for other purposes by such measures as, but not limited to, relocating and maintaining the gradient of streams.

(9) The operator shall, with respect to disposal of mine wastes, coal processing wastes and other wastes in areas other than the mine workings or other excavations, place all waste piles in area designated in the approved mining plan and stabilize them through construction in compacted layers, including, if necessary the use of incombustible and impervious materials; shape the waste pile to be compatible with natural surroundings and terrain, cover with topsoil, or other suitable material in accordance with paragraph (b)(4) of this section and revegetate in accordance with paragraph (b)(16) of this section.

(10) The operator shall refrain from surface coal mining within 200 feet of active and abandoned underground mines except as authorized in an approved mining plan.

(11) The operator shall incorporate sound engineering standards and practices for the design, construction, and use of impoundments for the disposal of coal mine wastes, coal processing wastes, or other liquid or solid wastes to insure that structures and impoundments will have necessary stability with an adequate margin of safety. No mine or processing waste shall be used in the construction of water impoundments, water retention facilities, dams, or settling ponds unless authorized in an approved mining plan.

(12) The operator shall:

(i) Treat or dispose of all rubbish and noxious substances in a manner designed to prevent air and water pollution and fire hazards.

(ii) Dispose of all solid waste resulting from the mining and preparation of coal in a manner designed to prevent to the maximum extent practicable air and water pollution and spontaneous ignition.

(13) The operator shall use explosives only in accordance with existing Federal and State laws and the conditions specified by the Mining Supervisor, who may require the operator to:

(i) Provide adequate advance written notice by publication and/or posting of the planned blasting schedule to local governments and to residents who might be affected by the use of such explosives, and maintain a log of the magnitudes and times of blasts for a period of at least two years.

(ii) Limit the size, timing, and frequency of blasts as determined by the physical conditions of the site, to prevent personal injury or damage to public and private property.

(14) The operator shall construct, maintain, and, when they are no longer necessary, remove roads, pipelines, powerlines, and similar utility access facilities into and across the area of operations in a manner that will prevent to the maximum extent practicable erosion and siltation, pollution of water, damage to fish or wildlife or their habitats, or public or private property, except that the Mining Supervisor with the concurrence of the authorized officer of the surface management agency, may approve the retention, after mining of specific roads where consistent with the proposed post-mining use of the affected lands.

(15) The operator shall refrain from constructing roads or other access ways in or near stream beds or drainage channels that would seriously alter the normal flow of water therein.

(16) The operator shall, except where other reclamation is expressly provided for in an approved mining plan, establish on the regraded areas and all other affected lands a diverse vegetative cover, native to the area if capable of self-regeneration, at least equal in density and permanence to the natural vegetation. The Mining Supervisor, with the concurrence of the authorized officer of the surface management agency, may allow the use of introduced species as an interim measure where desirable to achieve quick cover.

(17) The operator shall assume responsibility for successful revegetation, as herein provided. The operator's responsibility and liability for revegetation of each planting area shall extend until such time as the authorized officer of the surface management agency, in consultation with the Mining Supervisor, determines that successful revegetation in compliance with paragraph (b)(16) of this section has occurred; provided that, this period shall extend for a minimum of five full years after the first year of planting and for a total period of liability not to exceed ten years from the original planting, and further provided that, where the authorized officer of the surface management agency determines that natural conditions, such as annual precipitation, soil characteristics and native vegetation, are stable and favor rapid revegetation, and that revegetation pursuant to paragraph (b)(16) of this section is likely to occur before the expiration of such minimum period, he may specify in the lease, permit, or license that such minimum period will not apply with respect to some or all of the lands included in the lease, permit, or license.

(18) The operator shall allow access to and upon the affected Federal land subject to lease, permit, or license for all lawful and proper purposes except where such access would unduly interfere with the authorized use or would constitute a hazard to public health and safety.

(19) The operator shall in all areas of active operations including lands undergoing reclamation, regulate public access, vehicular traffic, and wildlife or livestock grazing to protect the public, wildlife, and livestock from hazards associated with the operations and to protect the revegetated areas from unplanned and uncontrolled grazing. For this purpose the operator shall provide warnings, fencing, flag men, barricades, and other safety and protective measures as appropriate.

(20) In areas in which there are no current operations, the operator shall substantially backfill, fence, protect, or otherwise effectively close all surface openings, auger holes, subsidence holes, surface excavations or workings which are a hazard to people or animals. Openings at all underground mines which are temporarily closed shall be adequately fenced or equipped with a substantial incombustible gate or door which shall remain locked when not in use. Conspicuous signs shall be posted prohibiting entrance of unauthorized persons. All such protective measures shall be maintained in a secure condition during the term of the lease, permit, or license. Before permanent abandonment of operations, the operator shall:

(i) Close or backfill all openings and excavations, including water discharge points, or otherwise permanently deal therewith in accordance with sound engineering practices and according to the approved mining plan.

(ii) Promptly complete final reclamation and clean-up of surface areas around and near permanently abandoned operations including, except where otherwise expressly provided in the approved mining plan, removal of equipment and structures following cessation of mining operations.

(c) Prior to the issuance of a permit, lease, or license, the authorized officer may, in consultation with the Mining Supervisor, and the authorized officer of the surface management agency if other than the BLM, establish additional and more stringent requirements to meet exceptional and special circumstances, such as the degree of slope, soil conditions, and other site characteristics, and, if he does so, such additional and more stringent requirements shall be included in the permit, lease, or license.

(d) If the authorized officer of the surface management agency determines, after the issuance of the lease, permit, or license, that an approved exploration or mining plan should be required to be revised or supplemented to adjust to changed conditions or to correct oversights, he may propose such revision or supplement to the Mining Supervisor. Upon approval of the Mining Supervisor, such plan may be revised or supplemented pursuant to § 211.10(d) of 30 CFR Part 211.

(e) The following special provisions shall be applicable to the surface effects of underground mining.

(1) Each operator of an underground coal mine shall adopt measures consistent with feasible known technology in order to prevent or control subsidence, maximize mine stability, and maintain the value and use of surface lands, except in those instances where the mining method used requires planned subsidence in a predictable and controlled manner.

(2) Where pillars or panels are not removed and controlled subsidence is not part of the mining plan, pillars or panels of adequate dimensions shall be left to assure surface stability giving due consideration of the thickness and strength characteristics of the coal beds and of the strata above and immediately below the coal bed.

(3) The Mining Supervisor may require the operator to install a subsidence monitoring system consisting of elevation stations and tiltmeters in a number sufficient to determine the extent of area that may be affected. All records of such surveys shall be accessible for review by the Mining Supervisor.

(f) Visual resources. The operator shall take visual resources into account in the planning, design, and construction of facilities on the affected lands in accordance with lease terms and the approved plan.

(g) Fish and wildlife. The operator shall employ such measures as are deemed necessary to protect fish and wildlife and their habitat in accordance with lease terms and the approved plan.

(h) Cultural and scientific resources. The operator shall conduct operations that might have an effect on known or suspected archeological, paleontological, historical, or other cultural and scientific values in accordance with lease terms and the approved plan.

§ 3041.0-3 Use of surface.

(a) The operator shall be entitled to use only so much of the surface of the lands within the affected lands as is deemed necessary and has been designated in an approved plan. Any use of the Federal lands for a power generation plant or a commercial or industrial facility will be authorized only under a separate permit issued by the appropriate agency for that specific use and subject to all terms and conditions which it may include in that permit. The uses of the lands within the area of operation are subject to the supervision of the Mining Supervisor, and the uses of the remaining lands are subject to the supervision of the appropriate surface management agency. The operator shall not be entitled to use any mineral materials subject to the Materials Act except as provided by Part 3600 of this Chapter.

(b) Operations under other authorized uses on the same lands shall not unreasonably interfere with or endanger operations under uses authorized under the regulations in this chapter nor shall operations under the regulations in this Chapter unreasonably interfere with or endanger operations under any lease, license, permit, or other authorized use pursuant to the provisions of any other Act.

§ 3041.1 Applications.

(a) Any person desiring a lease, permit, or license for coal development shall file an application in the proper BLM office, in accordance with the regulations in this Chapter.

(b) The application shall contain a preliminary plan of operation as described in § 3041.1-1 of this Subpart.

§ 3041.1-1 Preliminary plan.

(a) The preliminary plan required by these regulations shall include the following information:

(1) A map, or maps, available from State or Federal sources, showing the topography of the land applied for, on which the applicant shall show physical features, drainage patterns, present road and trail locations, present utility systems, proposed road and trail location, proposed location of surface and subsurface exploration sites, such as pits, seismic lines, drill holes, trenches, surface or underground mine workings; the proposed location of development or extraction facilities; and the proposed location and aerial extent of the areas to be used for pits, overburden, and tailings; and the location of water sources or other resources which may be used in the proposed operation or facilities incidental thereto.

(2) A narrative statement setting forth his proposed plan, methods, and schedule for diligent operations.

(b) The narrative statement shall also describe the measures proposed to be taken to prevent or control fire, soil erosion, pollution of surface and ground water, damage to fish and wildlife or other natural resources, air and noise pollution and hazards to public health and safety during lease activities, including measures for monitoring the effects of operations on air and water. Such measures shall also include the actions to be taken and the methods to be utilized to meet the performance standards set forth in § 3041.0-7 of these regulations. The applicant shall not enter upon the land for any operational purpose, except for casual use, until he has received a lease, permit, or license and submitted to the Mining Supervisor an exploration or mining plan and received approval thereof. Casual use, as used in this section means activities which do not cause significant surface disturbance, or damage lands, resources and improvements, such as activities which do not include use of heavy equipment, or explosives or vehicular movement off established roads and trails which cause such disturbance.

§ 3041.2 Technical examination/environmental analysis.

In connection with an application for a coal lease, permit or license, or on BLM motion, the authorized officer, with the assistance of the Mining Supervisor, shall make a technical examination and environmental analysis (TEEA).

(a) The technical examination shall include:

(1) An examination of the technical feasibility of the preliminary plan and;

(2) An evaluation of the effect of the preliminary plan on other land uses, resources, or programs on or adjacent to the area.

(b) The environmental analysis shall include: An analysis of the impact of the preliminary plan and alternatives on the living and non-living components of the environment.

§ 3041.2-1 Technical examination/environmental analysis report.

(a) The TEEA report shall contain a summary which, using information from the TEEA, sets forth recommended bonding requirements and stipulations formulated to: (1) Require conformance with the performance standards found in § 3041.0-7 of this Chapter, (2) identify specific reclamation requirements, (3) identify tracts requiring special environmental consideration, and (4) minimize adverse impacts on the environment and other resources, land uses or programs.

(b) If it is recommended that a specific area within the applied for lands should be excluded from a lease, permit, or license, or modification thereof, or if it is recommended that an environmental impact statement is required, the TEEA report shall substantiate these findings.

§ 3041.3 Basis for denial of lease, permit, or license based upon past forfeiture.

(a) An application for a lease, permit, or license to conduct coal exploratory or extractive operations may be denied any applicant or offeror who has forfeited a bond because of failure to comply with an approved exploration or mining plan. However, a lease, permit, or license may not be denied an applicant or offeror because of the forfeiture of a bond if the affected lands under his previous lease, permit, or license have subsequently been reclaimed without cost to the Federal Government.

§ 3041.4 Compliance or performance bond.

(a) The provisions of the regulations in Subpart 3504 of this Chapter are hereby made applicable to these regulations. In addition each compliance bond will be conditioned upon faithful compliance with the regulations in this Subpart and any additional terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license. In determining the amount of the compliance bond to be required, the authorized officer of the surface management agency and the Mining Supervisor shall consider the cost of complying with the performance and reclamation standards in § 3041.0-7, and with the terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license.

(b) The authorized officer shall set the amount of a bond and take the necessary action for an increase or for a complete or partial release of a bond. He shall take such actions only after consultation with the Mining Supervisor.

§ 3041.5 Public notice and inspection of records.

Any application for a lease, permit, or license, together with proposed terms, conditions, and special stipulations shall be made available in the proper BLM office. A notice that such material is available shall be posted in the proper BLM office, sent to the County Clerk for the County in which the affected lands are located for posting, and mailed to the surface owner of record if other than the United States. Except as otherwise provided in Part 3520 of this Chapter, the applicant shall, at no expense to the Federal Government, have published a copy of such notice in a newspaper of general circulation in the county in which the lands are situated once a week for four consecutive weeks, or for such other period as may be deemed advisable. Interested parties shall have a period of 30 days after publication of notice that such material is available for public inspection and comment thereon.

§ 3041.6 Reports.

(a) Operations. An operator, under a coal lease, permit or license, shall file with the Mining Supervisor, within 30 days after the end of each calendar year or within 30 days after the cessation of operations, a report, in duplicate, containing the following:

(1) Serial number of the lease, permit or license and a description of the lands affected by operations.

(2) The number of acres disturbed and the number of acres reclaimed, including revegetation.

(3) A description of the reclamation work remaining to be done.

(b) Grading and backfilling. Upon completion of backfilling and grading required by the operating plan, the operator shall submit a report thereon, in duplicate, to the Mining Supervisor and request inspection for approval. Whenever it is determined by such inspection that the backfilling and grading, which may proceed in appropriate stages, has met the requirements of the approved plan, the Mining Supervisor shall recommend to the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management, and/or other Federal surface management agency the release of an appropriate amount of the bond for the area satisfactorily backfilled and graded.

(c) Revegetation. (1) The operator shall file a report, in duplicate, with the Mining Supervisor within 30 days after each planting is completed. The report shall:

(i) Identify the lease, permit, or license.

(ii) Show the type of planting or seeding, including mixtures and amounts.

(iii) Show the date of planting or seeding.

(iv) Identify or describe the planted or seeded lands.

(v) Describe fertilization and irrigation procedures, if any, and contain such other information as may be considered relevant.

(2) The Mining Supervisor and the authorized officer of the surface management agency shall, as soon as possible after each full growing season, inspect and evaluate the revegetated areas to determine whether satisfactory vegetative growth has been established, or whether additional revegetation efforts may be required.

(d) Cessation or abandonment of operations. (1) Not less than 30 days prior to cessation or abandonment of operations, the operator shall submit to the Mining Supervisor, in duplicate, a report of his intention to cease or abandon operations, together with a statement of the exact number of acres affected by his operations, the extent and kind of reclamation accomplished, and a statement as to the structures and other facilities that are to be removed from or remain on the leased, permitted, or licensed lands.

(2) Upon receipt of such report, the Mining Supervisor and the authorized officer of the surface management agency shall make a joint inspection to determine whether operations have been completed in accordance with the approved operating plan. When the operator has complied with all requirements of the lease, permit, or license and the regulations of this Subpart, the Mining Supervisor shall recommend to the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management and/or the other Federal surface management agency that the period of bonded liability be terminated.

(3) When the surface of lands in a lease, permit or license is not owned by the United States, the Mining Supervisor shall consult the surface owner and obtain his recommendation as to whether the operation has been completed in accordance with the approved operating plan before recommending to the appropriate authorized officer that the period of liability of the bond be terminated.

§ 3041.7 Notice of noncompliance: Revocation.

(a) The authorized officer and the Mining Supervisor shall have the right to enter upon the lands under lease, permit, or license, at any reasonable time.

(b) If the authorized officer of the Federal surface management agency determines that an operator is conducting activities which are not in compliance with the requirements of a lease, permit, or license, applicable regulations, or the approved plan and such activities threaten immediate, serious, or irreparable damage to the environment, resources, health and safety of the employees and the public, the authorized officer may order the immediate cessation of such activities and shall promptly notify the Mining Supervisor. Upon such notification, the Mining Supervisor shall orally order immediate remedial action and issue a written notice of noncompliance, where appropriate.

(c) If the authorized officer determines that an operator is in noncompliance with the requirements of a lease, permit, or license, applicable regulations, or the approved plan and such noncompliance does not threaten immediate, serious, or irreparable damage to the environment, resources, health and safety of the employees and the public, the authorized officer shall refer the matter to the Mining Supervisor for remedial action.

(d) Failure of the operator to take action in accordance with a written notice of noncompliance issued by the Mining Supervisor in accordance with the provisions of 30 CFR 211.72 shall be grounds for suspension of the operation and for possible cancellation of the lease, permit, or license in accordance with the regulations in 43 CFR 3500 of this Chapter.

§ 3041.3 Application of State laws, regulations, practices, and procedures as Federal law by Federal officers.

(a) Upon request of the Governor of any State, the Secretary shall promptly review the laws, regulations, administrative practices and procedures in effect or due to come into effect with respect to reclamation of lands disturbed by surface mining of coal subject to the jurisdiction of that State, to determine whether such controls may appropriately be applied as Federal law to operations relating to coal owned by or subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. In such review the Secretary may hold such public hearings within the State as he may deem necessary and appropriate, and may receive evidence of mining or enforcement practices submitted in writing under oath by any person. He will take into account all relevant constructions and applications of such controls by competent State and local judicial and regulatory authorities, the desirability and practicability of uniformity between Federal and State controls, and the public policy of the State regarding the development of coal resources located therein.

(b) After such review, the Secretary may, by order, direct that all or part of such State laws, regulations, practices and procedures shall be applied as Federal law by the authorized officers of the Department with respect to coal within that State owned by or subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, if he determines that such application would

(1) effectuate the purposes of this Subpart;

(2) result in protection of environmental values which is at least as stringent as would otherwise occur under exclusive application of Federal controls; and

(3) would be consistent with the interest of the United States in the timely and orderly development of its coal resources.

(c) Pending issuance of an order under paragraph (b) of this section, nothing in this section shall be deemed or construed to stay or suspend any otherwise applicable Federal law, regulation, practice or procedure. Any such order under paragraph (b) of this section shall specifically set forth the controls to be applied by Federal officers, and may include specific findings of fact or interpretations thereof which shall be binding upon such officers. Any such order shall remain in effect until rescinded or modified by subsequent order of the Secretary, upon his own motion or at the request of a Governor.

§ 211.1 Scope and purpose.

(a) The regulations in this Part shall govern operations for the discovery, testing, development, mining, preparation, and handling of coal under coal leases, licenses, and permits issued for federally-owned coal, regardless of surface ownership, pursuant to the regulations in 43 CFR Group 3500 and the Alaska Coal Leasing Act of October 20, 1914 (38 Stat. 741), and for the reclamation of lands disturbed by such operations. These regulations shall also apply to operations for the discovery, testing, development, mining, preparation, and handling of coal in tribal and allotted Indian lands under leases and permits, regardless of ownership of the surface, issued under the regulations in 25 CFR Parts 171, 172, and 174, and for the reclamation of lands disturbed by such operations.

(b) The purpose of the regulations in this Part is to assure orderly and efficient prospecting, exploration, testing, development, mining, preparation and handling operations, and production practices, without avoidable waste or loss of coal or other mineral resources or damage to coal-bearing or other mineral-bearing formations; to encourage maximum recovery and use of coal resources; to ensure operating practices which will avoid, minimize, or correct resulting damage to the environment—land, water, and air—and to public health and safety; to require effective reclamation of lands; and to require a proper record and accounting of all coal produced.

(c) When the regulations in this Part relate to matters included in the regulations in 25 CFR Part 177—Surface Exploration, Mining, and Reclamation of Lands—pertaining to Indian lands, the regulations in that Part shall govern to the extent of any inconsistencies. In any event, the operating and reclamation standards of § 211.40 of this Part shall apply.

(d) The responsibility for enforcement of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969 (83 Stat. 742; 30 U.S.C. 801) and the coal mine health and safety regulations contained in Chapter I of this Title is vested in the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration, Department of the Interior.

(e) Accidents threatening damage to the mine, the lands or other resources, or accidents which could cause air or water pollution, along with corrective actions initiated, shall be reported promptly to the Mining Supervisor by telephone. Within 30 days after an accident the operator shall submit to the Mining Supervisor a detailed report of damages caused by the accident and the corrective actions taken.

(f) In areas where surface mining is anticipated, the operator shall drill an adequate number of holes in the overburden overlying the coal, and the stratum immediately below the coal to be mined. The operator shall sample and log each stratum penetrated and analyze each stratum for at least the following: nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, and pH, and conduct any other tests which the Mining Supervisor may specify. The analyses will be used to determine which materials must be buried during the stripping operations and to determine suitable material that will be placed near the surface for favorable propagation of vegetation. The number of holes and analyses will be specified by the Mining Supervisor.

(g) The operator shall submit the reports required by 25 CFR Part 177, Part 200 of this Chapter, this Part, and any other reports required by the Mining Supervisor.

§ 211.5 Public inspection of records.

(a) Geological and geophysical information and data, including maps, concerning wells and trade secrets, and commercial or financial information obtained from a person under this Part and identified as privileged or confidential shall not be available for public inspection without the consent of the permittee or lessee, so long as the permittee or lessee furnishing such data, or his successors or assignees, continues to hold a permit or lease of the lands involved.

(b) Mining plans submitted under § 211.10 of this Part will be made available for public inspection in the office of the appropriate Mining Supervisor. For new mine plans, for major modifications in existing surface mine plans, or for surface related changes in existing underground plans submitted for approval, interested parties will have a 30-day period after publication of notice to inspect such plans in the office of the District or Area Mining Supervisor and to comment thereon before any action with respect to such approval shall be taken by the Mining Supervisor. A notice of the availability of the plan shall be prepared by the Mining Supervisor, posted at the appropriate office on the day the plan is received, and mailed to the surface owner of record, if other than the United States, and to the appropriate county clerk for posting or publication. A copy of such notice shall be published by the operator in a local newspaper of general circulation in the locality of the proposed operation at least once a week for four consecutive weeks.

MAPS AND PLANS

§ 211.10 Exploration and mining plans.

(a) General. Before conducting any operation other than casual use, the operator shall submit to the Mining Supervisor, and obtain his approval of, an exploration or mining plan. Casual use, as used in this section, means activities which do not cause significant surface disturbance or damage to lands, resources and improvements, such as activities which do not include heavy equipment, explosives, or vehicular movement off established roads and trails which causes such disturbance. All such plans shall be submitted in quintuplicate, and shall show in detail the proposed prospecting, exploration, testing, development, mining, preparation, reclamation, and abandonment operations to be conducted. Exploration and mining plans shall be consistent with and responsive to the requirements of the lease, permit, or license for maximizing recovery of the resources, for the protection of non-mineral resources, and for the reclamation of the surface of the lands affected by the operations. The exploration and mining plans shall show that reclamation is an integral part of the plan and will progress as contemporaneously as practicable with the operations, and shall provide sufficient information to substantiate the effectiveness of the proposed reclamation method. Except as provided in paragraph (e) of this section as to partial plans, where a logical mining unit has been approved by the Mining Supervisor, the mining plan shall cover all operations in the unit. The Mining Supervisor, after considering all comments received pursuant to § 211.5(b), shall, in writing, promptly approve or disapprove the plan or indicate what modifications are necessary to conform to the provisions of the applicable laws and regulations and the terms and conditions of the permit or lease.

(b) Exploration plans. The Mining Supervisor shall require that an exploration plan include all of the following:

tary into which mine waters will be discharged, if applicable.

(iii) Cross sections and plan views of the land to be affected, including the actual area to be mined, showing elevation and location of drill holes and depicting the following information: the nature and depth of the various strata of overburden; the information on subsurface water, if encountered, and its quality; the nature and thickness of any coal or rider seam above the coal seam to be mined; the nature of the stratum immediately beneath the coal seam to be mined; all mineral crop lines and the strike and dip of the coal to be mined within the area of land to be affected; existing surface mining limits, if any; the location and extent of known workings of any underground mines, including mine openings; the location of aquifers; the estimated elevation of the water table; the location of spoil, waste, or refuse areas and topsoil preservation area; the location of all impoundments or other water treatment facilities; constructed or natural drainways and the location of any discharges to any surface body of water on the area of land to be affected or adjacent thereto; and cross sections of the anticipated final surface configuration that will be achieved pursuant to the operator's proposed reclamation activities.

(iv) Locations of surface structures and facilities.

(v) For an underground mine, the planned mine layout, including location and dimensions of shafts, slopes, drifts, crosscuts, rooms, haulageways, air-courses, entries, and barrier pillars.

(d) Changes in plans. Exploration and mining plans may be required to be reasonably revised or supplemented at any time by the Mining Supervisor, after consultation with the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency, to adjust to changed conditions or to correct oversights. If the operator seeks to change an approved plan, he shall submit a written statement of the proposed revision and the justification therefore to the Mining Supervisor. If any such revision or supplement would constitute a major modification of an approved mining plan, the Mining Supervisor shall follow the procedures provided in § 211.5(b) of this Part. The Mining Supervisor, after considering any comments received, shall, in writing, approve any such revision or specify the modifications thereto under which the proposed revision would be acceptable.

(e) Partial plan. If the circumstances warrant, or if development of an exploration or mining plan for the entire operation is dependent upon unknown factors which cannot, or will not, be determined except during the progress of the operations, a partial plan may be approved and supplemented from time to time. A partial plan shall include all information required by paragraph (c) of this section to the extent that such information is available.

§ 211.11 Approaching oil, gas, or water wells.

When mining operations approach wells or bore holes that may liberate oil, gas, water, or other fluid substances, the lessee shall present his plans for mining the coal, protecting the wells or bore holes, and for obtaining maximum recovery, so far as practicable, in the vicinity of such holes, and must obtain the approval of the Mining Supervisor before proceeding with mining.

§ 211.12 Mine maps.

(a) General requirements. The operator shall maintain an accurate and up-to-date map of the mine, drawn to a scale acceptable to the Mining Supervisor. All maps shall be appropriately marked with reference to government landmarks or lines and elevations with reference to sea level. Before any mine, or section of a mine, is abandoned, closed, or made inaccessible, a survey of such mine or section shall be made and recorded on the maps. All excavations in each separate bed shall be shown in such a manner that the production of coal for any royalty period can be accurately ascertained. Additionally, the map shall show the name of the mine; the name of the lessee; the lease, permit, or license serial number, or Bureau of Indian Affairs lease or permit contract number, tribal name of tribal land, allotment number, if allotted land, and name of the Indian reservation; the lease boundary lines; surface buildings; dip of the bed; true north; map scale and explanatory legend; and such other information as the Mining Supervisor shall request. Copies of such maps shall be properly posted to date and furnished, in duplicate, to the Mining Supervisor annually, or at such other times as he deems necessary.

(b) Underground mine maps. Underground mine maps shall, in addition to the general requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, show all mine workings; the date of extension of the mine workings and a coal section at each entry face; the location of all surface mine fans; the position of all fire walls, dams, main pumps, fire pipelines, permanent ventilation stoppings, doors, overcasts, undercasts, permanent seals, and regulators; the direction of the ventilating current in the various parts of the mine at the time of making the latest surveys; sealed areas, known bodies of standing water, either in or above the workings of the mine; areas affected by squeezes; the elevations of surface and underground levels of all shafts, slopes or drifts; and the elevation of the floor, or bottom of the mine workings, at regular intervals in main entries, panels or sections, and sump areas.

(c) Surface mine maps. Surface mine maps shall, in addition to the general requirements of paragraph (a) of this section, include date of extension of the mine workings and a coal section at not less than 100-foot intervals along the highwall; all worked out areas; the uncovered, but unmined, coal beds; and the elevation of the top of the coal beds.

(d) Vertical projections and cross sections of mine workings. When required by the Mining Supervisor, vertical projections and cross sections shall accompany plan views.

(e) Other maps. The operator shall prepare such other maps of the leased lands as, in the judgment of the Mining Supervisor, are necessary to show the surface boundaries; location, surface elevation, depth and thickness of the coal, and total depth of each bore hole; improvements; reclamation completed; topography, including subsidence resulting from mining; and the geological and hydrologic conditions as determined from outcrops, drill holes, exploration or mining; and water monitoring stations.

(f) Accuracy of maps. The accuracy of maps furnished shall be certified by a professional engineer, professional land surveyor, or other professionally qualified person.

§ 211.13 Failure of lessee to furnish maps.

(a) Liability of lessee for expense of survey. If the operator fails to furnish a required map, the Mining Supervisor shall employ a qualified mine surveyor to make a survey and a map of the mine, the cost of which shall be charged to, and promptly paid by, the operator.

(b) Incorrect maps. If any map submitted by an operator is believed to be incorrect, the Mining Supervisor may cause a survey to be made. If the survey shows the maps submitted by the lessee to be substantially incorrect, in whole or in part, the cost of making the survey and preparing the maps shall be charged to, and promptly paid by, the operator.

PROSPECTING AND EXPLORATION OPERATIONS

§ 211.20 Information required to be submitted.

The operator shall submit promptly to the Mining Supervisor, upon request, upon completion or suspension of prospecting or exploration operations, or as provided in the leases, permits, and licenses, duplicate signed copies of records and geologic interpretations of all prospecting and exploration operations performed on the lease or permit lands, including recoverable reserve calculations, along with vertical cross sections through the land and a map showing the exact location of coal outcrops, all drill holes, trenches and other prospecting activities. The records shall include a log of all strata penetrated and conditions encountered, such as water, quicksand, gas, or any unusual conditions; copies of all other in-hole surveys, such as electric logs, gamma ray-neutron logs, sonic logs, or any other logs produced; and copies of coal analyses and results of other tests conducted on the land. All drill holes, trenches, and excavations will be logged under the supervision of a qualified geologist or engineer. Unless otherwise authorized by the Mining Supervisor, representative samples of all drill cores or cuttings shall be retained by the operator for one year and shall be available for inspection or analysis at the convenience of the Mining Supervisor.

§ 211.21 Core and test holes.

(a) Surveillance wells. With the approval of the Mining Supervisor, drill holes may be utilized as surveillance wells for the purpose of monitoring the effect of subsequent operations upon the quantity, quality, or pressure of ground water or mine gases.

(b) Blowout control devices. When drilling on lands valuable or potentially valuable for oil and gas or geothermal resources, the operator shall, when required by the Mining Supervisor, set and cement casing in the hole and install suitable blowout prevention equipment.

(c) Use of wells by others. Upon receipt of a written request from the surface owner or Federal surface administering agency, the Mining Supervisor may approve the transfer of an exploratory well for further use as a water well. Approval of such well transfer will be accompanied by a corresponding transfer of responsibility for any liability for damage and eventual plugging.

MINING METHODS AND MINE ABANDONMENT

§ 211.30 Maximum recovery—underground mines.

Mining operations shall be conducted in a manner to yield the maximum recovery of the coal deposits consistent with the protection and use of other natural resources, sound economic practice, and the protection of the environment—land, water, and air. No entry, level, or panel workings in which the pillars have not been completely extracted within safe limits shall be permanently abandoned and rendered inaccessible, except with the written approval of the Mining Supervisor.

§ 211.31 Subsidence.

(a) Each operator of an underground coal mine shall adopt measures consistent with feasible known technology in order to prevent or control subsidence, maximize mine stability, and maintain the value and use of surface lands, except in those instances where the mining method used requires planned subsidence in a predictable and controlled manner.

(b) Where pillars or panels are not removed and controlled subsidence is not part of the mining plan, pillars or panels of adequate dimensions shall be left to assure surface stability, giving due consideration to the thickness and strength characteristics of the coal beds and of the strata above and immediately below the coal bed.

(c) The Mining Supervisor may require the operator to install a subsidence monitoring system consisting of elevation stations and tiltmeters in a number sufficient to determine the extent of area that may be affected. All records of such surveys shall be accessible for review by the Mining Supervisor.

§ 211.32 Multiple seam mining; underground mining.

(a) Sequence of mining. In general, the available coal in the upper beds shall be worked out before the coal in the lower beds is mined, and simultaneous workings in an upper coal bed shall be kept in advance of the workings in each lower bed. The Mining Supervisor may authorize mining of any lower beds before mining the available coal in each known upper bed.

(b) Protective barrier pillars in multiple seam mining. In areas subject to multiple seam extraction, the protective barrier pillars for all main and secondary slope entries, main haulageways, primary aircourses, bleeder entries, and manways in each seam shall be superimposed, regardless of vertical separation or rock competency; however, modifications, exceptions, or variations of this requirement may be approved in advance by the Mining Supervisor.

§ 211.33 Advance workings: underground mines.

Where the room and pillar or other system of mining requires advance workings in solid coal, including entries, rooms or crosscuts, the lessee shall leave sufficient pillars to ensure the maximum practicable recovery of the coal deposits.

§ 211.35 Pillars left for support.

(a) Barrier pillars. The operator shall not, without the prior consent of the Mining Supervisor, mine any coal, drive any underground workings, or drill any lateral bore holes within 50 feet of any of the outside boundary lines of the leased lands, or within such greater distance of said boundary lines as the Mining Supervisor may prescribe. Payment up to and including the full value of the coal mined may be required for coal mined within such designated distances of the boundary without the written consent of the Mining Supervisor.

(b) Lessee may be required to mine barrier pillars on adjacent lands. If the coal beyond any barrier pillar has been worked out and the water level beyond the pillar is below the lessee's adjacent operations, the lessee shall, on the written order of the Mining Supervisor, mine out and remove all available Federal coal in such barrier, both in the lands covered by the lease and in the adjoining premises, if it can be mined without hardship to the lessee.

(c) Privately or tribally owned coal on adjoining premises. If the coal mining rights in adjoining premises are privately or tribally owned and this coal has been worked out, an agreement may be made with the coal owner for the extraction of the coal remaining in the boundary pillars which otherwise may be lost.

§ 211.36 Development of leased tract through adjoining mines.

An operator may, with the approval of the Mining Supervisor, mine leased land from an adjoining underground mine on land privately owned or controlled or from adjacent leased lands, subject to the right of free access to the Federal premises by the Mining Supervisor.

RECLAMATION AND PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

§ 211.40 Operating and reclamation standards.

(a) Performance standards. The following performance standards shall be applicable to all coal exploration, development, mining, drilling, preparation, processing, and reclamation operations on the surface of the land subject to these regulations

(1) The operator shall conduct surface coal mining operations so as to maximize the extraction of the coal resource so that future disturbance through the resumption of mining will be minimized.

(2) The operator shall reclaim the land affected pursuant to his approved plan, as contemporaneously as practicable with operations, to a condition at least fully capable of supporting all practicable uses which it was capable of supporting prior to any exploration or mining, or equal or better uses that can reasonably be attained.

(3) The operator shall replace overburden and waste materials in the mined area by backfilling (compacting, where advisable, to insure stability or to prevent leaching of toxic materials), grading, or other means so as, to the maximum extent practicable, to eliminate highwalls and spoil piles and to restore the original contour. Where the thickness of the coal deposits relative to the volume of overburden is large or where the overburden and other spoil and waste materials are either insufficient or more than sufficient to restore the approximate original contour, the operator shall backfill, grade, and compact, using all available overburden or spoil material, to obtain the lowest practicable grade, but not more than the angle of repose, in order to provide adequate drainage and to cover all acid-forming or other toxic materials. Excess overburden or other spoil material, after restoring the approximate original contour, shall be graded, compacted (where advisable), stabilized, and shaped in a way to protect against slides, subsidence, erosion, and water pollution, in accordance with the requirements of this Part. Restoration to approximate original contour may not be required if the Director of the Geological Survey, with the concurrence of the Director of the Bureau of Land Management or the appropriate officer of the Federal surface management agency, determines: (i) That an equal or better proposed postmining land use is practicable and attainable and that a modification of this requirement is the best method of achieving that postmining use, or (ii) that unusual conditions, such as steeply dipping coal beds or multiple seam mining, exist which make backfilling pursuant to this paragraph impractical.

(4) The operator shall stabilize and protect all surface areas, including spoil piles, affected by the coal mining and reclamation operation, to effectively control slides, erosion, subsidence and attendant air and water pollution.

(5) The operator shall remove the topsoil separately, replace it on the backfill area or, if not utilized immediately, segregate it in a separate pile from other spoil. When the topsoil is not replaced on a backfill area within a time short enough to avoid deterioration of the topsoil, the operator shall establish and maintain a cover by quickgrowing plants or other means thereafter so that the topsoil is preserved from wind and water erosion and is in a condition for sustaining vegetation when used during reclamation. If topsoil is of insufficient quantity or of poor quality for sustaining vegetation, and if other strata can be shown to be more suitable for vegetation requirements, then the operator shall remove, segregate, and preserve in a like manner such other strata which are best able to support vegetation.

(b) The operator shall, where permanent impoundments of water on mining sites are to be created, insure that:

(i) The impoundment is adequate for its intended purposes.

(ii) The impoundment will be designed and built in accordance with sound engineering standards and practices and applicable Federal and State laws and regulations.

(iii) The quality of impounded water will be suitable for its intended use and discharges from the impoundment will not unreasonably degrade the water quality in the receiving stream.

(iv) Final grading will provide adequate safety and access for proposed water users.

(v) Such water impoundments will not adversely affect the water resources utilized by adjacent or surrounding landowners for agricultural, industrial, recreational, or domestic uses.

(7) The operator shall cover or plug all auger mine holes with noncombustible material in order to minimize or prevent harmful drainage.

(8) The operator shall minimize disturbances to the prevailing quality and quantity of water in surface and ground water systems, and of the prevailing erosion and deposition conditions at the mine site and in adjacent offsite areas, both during and after coal mining operations and during reclamation by:

(i) Controlling acid or other toxic drainage and the adverse consequences thereof by such measures as, but not limited to, restricting the flow of water through acid or other toxic-producing materials, treating drainage to reduce acid or other toxic content which adversely affects downstream water upon being released to water courses; and casing, sealing, or otherwise treating drill holes, shafts and wells to keep acid or other toxic drainage from entering ground and surface waters.

(ii) Conducting surface mining operations so as, to the maximum extent practicable, to prevent (A) contributions of suspended solids to streamflow or runoff outside the mining site above natural levels under seasonal flow conditions as measured for a period and at sites determined by the Mining Supervisor, in consultation with the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency, and (B) deepening or enlargement of stream channels where operations require the discharge of water from mines.

(iii) Removing or modifying siltation structures after disturbed areas are revegetated and stabilized unless otherwise directed by the Mining Supervisor after consultation with the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency.

(iv) Protecting, to the maximum extent practicable throughout the mining and reclamation process, the quality and quantity of both upstream and downstream surface and ground water resources of those valley floors which provide water sources that support significant valley floor vegetation or supply water for other purposes, by such measures as, but not limited to, relocating and maintaining the gradients of streams.

(9) The operator shall, with respect to surface disposal of mine wastes, coal processing wastes, and other wastes in areas other than the mine workings or other excavations, place all waste piles in areas designated in the approved mining plan and stabilize them through construction in compacted layers, including, if necessary, the use of incombustible and impervious materials; shape waste piles to be compatible with the natural surroundings and terrain; cover with topsoil or other suitable material in accordance with paragraph (a) (5) of this section; and revegetate in accordance with paragraph (a) (16) of this section.

(10) The operator shall refrain from surface coal mining within 200 feet of active and abandoned underground mines, except as may be authorized in the approved mining plan.

(11) The operator shall incorporate sound engineering standards and practices for the design, construction, and use of impoundments for the disposal of coal mine wastes, coal processing wastes, or other liquid or solid wastes to insure that structures and impoundments will have necessary stability with an adequate margin of safety. No mine or processing waste shall be used in the construction of water impoundments, water retention facilities, dams, or settling ponds unless authorized in the approved mining plan.

(12) The operator shall:

(i) Treat or dispose of all rubbish and noxious substances in a manner designed to prevent air and water pollution and fire hazards;

(ii) Dispose of all solid waste resulting from the mining and preparation of coal in a manner designed to prevent, to the maximum extent practicable, air and water pollution and spontaneous ignition.

(13) The operator shall use explosives only in accordance with existing Federal and State laws and the conditions specified by the Mining Supervisor, who may require the operator to:

(i) Provide adequate advance written notice by publication and/or posting of the planned blasting schedule to local governments and to residents who might be affected by the use of such explosives, and maintain a log of the magnitudes and times of blasts for a period of at least two years.

(ii) Limit the size, timing, and frequency of blasts, as determined by the physical conditions of the site, to prevent personal injury or damage to public and private property.

(14) The operator shall construct, maintain and, when they are no longer necessary, remove roads, pipelines, powerlines and similar utility access facilities into and across the site of operations in a manner that will control or prevent erosion and siltation, pollution of water, damage to fish or wildlife or their habitat, or public or private property, except that the Mining Supervisor, with the concurrence of the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency, may approve the retention, after mining, of specific access roads where consistent with the proposed postmining use of the affected lands.

(15) The operator shall refrain from constructing roads or other access ways in or near stream beds or drainage channels that would seriously alter the normal flow of water therein.

(16) The operator shall, except where other reclamation is expressly provided for in an approved mining plan, establish on the regraded areas and all other affected lands a diverse vegetative cover, native to the area and capable of self-regeneration, at least equal in density and permanence to the natural vegetation. The Mining Supervisor, with the concurrence of the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency, may allow the use of introduced species as an interim measure, where desirable, to achieve quick cover.

(17) The operator shall assume responsibility for successful revegetation, as herein provided. The operator's responsibility and liability for revegetation of each planting area shall extend until such time as the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency, in consultation with the Mining Supervisor, determines that successful revegetation, in compliance with paragraph (a) (16) of this section, has occurred; provided that, this period shall extend for a minimum of five full years after the first year of planting, and for a total period of liability not to exceed 10 years from the original planting; and further provided that, where the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency determines that natural conditions, such as annual precipitation, soil characteristics and native vegetation, are stable and favor rapid revegetation, and that revegetation pursuant to paragraph (a) (16) of this section is likely to occur before the expiration of such minimum period, he may specify in the lease, permit, or license that such minimum period will not apply with respect to some or all of the lands included in such lease, permit, or license.

(18) The operator shall allow access to and upon the affected Federal lands subject to lease, permit, or license for all lawful and proper purposes, except where such access would unduly interfere with the authorized use or would constitute a hazard to public health and safety.

(19) The operator shall, in all areas of active operations, including lands undergoing reclamation, regulate public access, vehicular traffic, and wildlife or livestock grazing to protect the public, wildlife, and livestock from hazards associated with the coal mining and exploration operations and to protect the revegetated areas from unplanned and uncontrolled grazing. For this purpose, the operator shall provide warning signs, fencing, flagmen, barricades, and other safety and protective measures as appropriate.

(b) Fire prevention. Accumulations of slack coal or combustible waste shall be stored in a location and manner so as not to be a fire hazard. If a coal seam exposed by surface mining or an accumulation of slack coal or combustible waste becomes ignited during the term of a lease, the operator will immediately extinguish the fire.

(c) Coal face to be covered in strip pits. Upon completion or indefinite suspension of mining operations in all or any part of a strip pit, the face of the coal shall be covered with non-combustible material that will effectively protect the coal bed from becoming ignited.

(d) Underground workings from any strip pit. The driving of any underground openings by auger or other methods from any strip pit shall not be undertaken without prior written approval of the Mining Supervisor.

§ 211.41 Abandonment; surface openings.

(a) Prospecting and development. Drill holes, trenches, and other excavations for development or prospecting shall be abandoned in a manner to protect the surface and not to endanger any present or future underground operations or any deposit of oil, gas, other mineral resources, or ground water. Methods of abandonment shall be approved in advance by the Mining Supervisor and may include backfilling, cementing, capped casing, or combinations of these, or other methods.

(b) Temporary abandonment. In areas in which there are no current operations, the operator shall substantially backfill, fence, protect, or otherwise effectively close all surface openings, auger holes, subsidence holes, surface excavations or workings which are a hazard to people or animals. Openings at all underground mines which are temporarily closed shall be adequately fenced or equipped with a substantial incombustible gate or door which shall remain locked when not in use. Conspicuous signs shall be posted prohibiting entrance of unauthorized persons. All such protective measures shall be maintained in a secure condition during the term of the lease, permit, or license.

(c) Mining—permanent abandonment. Before permanent abandonment of operations, all openings and excavations, including water discharge points, shall be closed or backfilled, or otherwise permanently dealt with in accordance with sound engineering practices and according to the approved mining plan.

(d) Reclamation and clean-up. Reclamation and clean-up of surface areas around and near permanently abandoned underground and strip mines, including, except where otherwise expressly provided in the approved mining plan, removal of equipment and structures related to the mining operation, shall commence without delay following cessation of mining operations.

§ 211.42 Disposal of mine waste or rejects.

(a) All waste or rejects containing practically no coal shall be deposited separately and apart from sized coal for which no immediate market exists. Waste piles shall be shaped to blend into the surrounding area, covered with topsoil or other suitable material in accordance with § 211.40(a)(5) and revegetated in accordance with § 211.40(a)(16).

(b) Waste containing coal in such quantity that it may be later separated from the waste by washing or other means shall also be stored separately.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 211.60 Production records, royalty, and audits; maintenance of and access to records.

(a) Lessee shall maintain current and accurate records showing: (1) The type, quality or grade, and weight of all coal mined, sold, used on the premises, or otherwise disposed of, and all coal in storage (remaining in inventory); (2) the prices received for all coal sold and to whom sold, by type and by quality or grade.

(b) All records maintained in accordance with paragraph (a) of this section, and all other records which are pertinent to or related to lessee's operation, shall be available for examination, upon request, by the Mining Supervisor or other authorized officer of the Secretary of the Interior.

(c) Licensees must maintain a correct record of all coal mined and removed.

§ 211.61 Basis for royalty computation.

(a) Value Basis. The value of production for the purpose of computing royalty shall be the product of (1) the sale or contract price of the coal prepared for shipment f.o.b. the mine and (2) the weight of coal delivered at the usual and customary place of shipment. However, if there is no sale or contract price, as in the case of coal used or stored by the operator, or if the Mining Supervisor determines that the sale or contract price has not been arrived at in an arms-length transaction, the Mining Supervisor shall determine the estimated reasonable value of the product, giving due consideration to the price of coal being sold in any current arms-length transactions in the same area, and such other relevant factors as may be appropriate to establish the comparability of such transactions.

(b) Bone or other impurities. All bone coal, rock, and other impurities may be removed from the raw coal prior to determination of coal weights for royalty purposes.

(c) Discretion of Mining Supervisor.

(1) The right is reserved to the Mining Supervisor to determine and declare the value, either before or after receipt of royalty payments, if it is deemed necessary by him to do so for protection of the interests of the lessor.

(2) If royalties become due and payable prior to removal of bone coal, rock, and other impurities of final weighing of coal, the Mining Supervisor may determine, by estimate, the weight of the coal for royalty purposes. In addition, the Mining Supervisor may, after the removal of bone coal, rock, and other impurities and final weighing of the coal, require the payment of such additional royalties, or allow such credits or refunds as may be necessary, to adjust the royalty payments to reflect the true weight of the coal.

§ 211.62 Reports.

(a) Operations. An operator under a coal lease, permit, or license shall file with the Mining Supervisor, within 30 days after the end of each calendar year or within 30 days after the cessation of operations, a report, in duplicate, containing the following:

(1) Serial number of the lease, permit, or license and a description of the lands affected by operations.

(2) The number of acres disturbed and the number of acres reclaimed, including revegetation.

(3) A description of the reclamation work remaining to be done.

(b) Grading and backfilling; bond. Upon completion of backfilling and grading required by the operating plan, the operator shall submit a report thereon, in duplicate, to the Mining Supervisor and request inspection for approval. Whenever it is determined by such inspection that the backfilling and grading, which may proceed in appropriate stages, has met the requirements of the operating plan, the Mining Supervisor shall recommend to the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management and/or other Federal surface managing agency release of an appropriate amount of the compliance bond for the area satisfactorily backfilled and graded.

(c) Revegetation. (1) The operator shall file a report, in duplicate, with the Mining Supervisor within 30 days after each planting is completed. The report shall:

(i) Identify the lease, permit, or license.

(ii) Show the type of planting or seeding, including mixtures and amounts.

(iii) Show the date of planting or seeding.

(iv) Identify or describe the planted or seeded lands.

(v) Describe fertilization and irrigation procedures, if any, and contain such other information as may be considered relevant.

(2) The Mining Supervisor and the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency shall, as soon as possible after each full growing season, inspect and evaluate the revegetated areas to determine whether satisfactory vegetative growth has been established, or whether additional revegetation efforts may be required.

(d) Cessation or abandonment of operations. (1) Not less than 30 days prior to cessation or abandonment of operations, the operator shall submit to the Mining Supervisor, in duplicate, a report of his intention to cease or abandon operations, together with a statement of the exact number of acres affected by his operations, the extent and kind of reclamation accomplished, and a statement as to the structures and other facilities that are to be removed from or remain on the leased, permitted, or licensed lands.

(2) Upon receipt of such report, the Mining Supervisor and the authorized officer of the Federal surface managing agency shall make a joint inspection to determine whether operations have been completed in accordance with the approved operating plan. Where the operator has complied with all requirements of the lease, permit, or license and the regulations of this Part, the Mining Supervisor shall recommend to the authorized officer of the Bureau of Land Management and/or the Federal surface managing agency that the period of bonded liability be terminated.

(3) When the surface of lands in a lease, permit, or license is not owned by the United States, the Mining Supervisor shall consult the surface owner and obtain his recommendation as to whether the operation has been completed in accordance with the approved operating plan before recommending to the appropriate authorized officer that the period of liability of the bond be terminated.

(e) Production and payments—(1) Lessees. Lessees shall report, on the report form provided, within 30 days after expiration of the period covered by the report, all coal mined during each calendar quarter and the value basis on which royalty has been paid or will be paid. Except as provided by leases and permits issued under the regulations in 25 CFR Parts 171, 172, 173, and 174, the royalty for coal mined shall be paid prior to the end of the third month succeeding the extraction of the coal from the mine.

(2) Licensees. Licensees shall report all coal mined on a semi-annual basis on the report form provided.

(3) Penalty. If a lessee or permittee records or reports less than the true weight or value of coal mined, the Secretary may impose a penalty equal to double the amount of royalty due on the shortage, or the full value of the shortage. If, after warning, a lessee or permittee maintains false records or files false reports, a suit to cancel the lease may be instituted in addition to the imposition of penalties.

§ 211.63 Audits.

An audit of the lessee's accounts and books may be required annually, or at other such times as may be directed by the Mining Supervisor, by a qualified independent certified public accountant and at the expense of the lessee. The lessee shall furnish, free of cost, duplicate copies of such annual or other audits to the Mining Supervisor within 30 days after the completion of each auditing. Where such audits are required, the Mining Supervisor will specify the purpose and scope of the audit and the information which is to be verified or obtained.

INSPECTION, ISSUANCE OF ORDERS, ENFORCEMENT OF ORDERS AND APPEALS

§ 211.70 Inspection of underground and surface conditions.

The operator shall provide access and means at all reasonable times for the Mining Supervisor to inspect or investigate the operation to determine whether it is in compliance with applicable laws, regulations, and orders; the terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license; and the requirements of the exploration or mining plan.

§ 211.71 Notices, instructions, and orders.

(a) Address of responsible party. Before beginning operations, the operator shall inform the Mining Supervisor, in writing, of the operator's temporary and permanent post office address and the name and post office address of the superintendent, or designated agent, who will be in charge of the operations and who will act as the local representative of the operator. Thereafter, the Mining Supervisor shall be informed of each change of address.

(b) Receipt of notices, instructions, and orders. The operator shall be construed to have received all notices, instructions, and orders that are mailed to or posted at the mine or mine office, or mailed or handed to the superintendent, the mine foreman, the mine clerk, or higher officials connected with the mine or exploration site for transmittal to the operator or his local representative.

§ 211.72 Enforcement of orders.

(a) If the Mining Supervisor determines that an operator has failed to comply with the regulations in this Part, other applicable Departmental regulations, the terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license, the requirements of an approved exploration or mining plan, or with the Mining Supervisor's orders or instructions, and such non-compliance does not threaten immediate, serious, and irreparable damage to the environment, the mine or the deposit being mined, or other valuable mineral deposits or other resources, the Mining Supervisor shall serve a notice of non-compliance upon the operator by delivery in person to him or his agent or by certified or registered mail addressed to the operator at his last known address. Failure of the operator to take action in accordance with the notice of non-compliance or to appeal to the Director pursuant to Part 290 of this Chapter shall be grounds for suspension of operations by the Mining Supervisor or his recommendation for the initiation of action for cancellation of the lease, permit, or license and forfeiture of the required bonds.

(b) The notice shall specify in what respect the operator has failed to comply with the provisions of applicable regulations, the terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license, the requirements of an approved exploration or mining plan, or the orders and instructions of the Mining Supervisor, and shall specify the action which must be taken to correct the non-compliance and the time limits within which such action must be taken. A written report shall be submitted by the operator when a non-compliance has been corrected.

(c) If, in the judgment of the Mining Supervisor, an operator is conducting activities which fail to comply with the regulations, the terms and conditions of the lease, permit, or license, the requirements of approved exploration or mining plans or the Mining Supervisor's orders or instructions and which threaten immediate, serious, or irreparable damage to the environment, the mine or the deposit being mined, or other valuable ore-bearing mineral deposits or other resources, the Mining Supervisor shall order the immediate cessation of such activities, without prior notice of non-compliance, either in writing or orally with written confirmation. Such order may be appealed as provided in Part 290 of this Chapter. Compliance with such order shall not be suspended by reason of an appeal having been taken unless such suspension is authorized in writing by the Director or the Interior Board of Land Appeals (depending upon the official before whom the appeal is pending), and then only upon a determination that such suspension will not be detrimental to the lessor or adversely affect the public interest, or upon submission of a bond deemed adequate to indemnify the lessor from loss or damage.

§ 211.73 Appeals.

Orders or decisions issued under the regulations in this Part may be appealed as provided in Part 290 of this Chapter.

§ 211.74 Application of State laws, regulations, practices, and procedures as Federal law by Federal officers.

(a) Upon request of the Governor of any State, the Secretary shall promptly review the laws, regulations, administrative practices and procedures in effect, or due to come into effect, with respect to reclamation of lands disturbed by surface mining of coal, subject to the jurisdiction of that State, to determine whether such controls may appropriately be applied as Federal law to operations relating to coal owned by or subject to the jurisdiction of the United States. He shall take into account all relevant constructions and applications of such controls by competent State and local judicial and regulatory authorities, the desirability and practicability of uniformity between Federal and State controls, and the public policy of the State regarding the development of coal resources located therein.

(b) After such review, the Secretary may, by order, direct that all or part of such State laws, regulations, practices, and procedures shall be applied as Federal law by the authorized officers of the Department with respect to coal within that State owned by or subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, if he determines that such application would (1) effectuate the purposes of this Part; (2) result in protection of environmental values which is at least as stringent as would otherwise occur under exclusive application of Federal controls; and (3) would be consistent with the interest of the United States in the timely and orderly development of its coal resources.

(c) Pending issuance of an order under subsection (b) hereof, nothing in this Section shall be deemed or construed to stay or suspend any otherwise applicable Federal law, regulation, practice, or procedure. Any such order under subparagraph (b) shall specifically set forth the controls to be applied by Federal officers and may include specific finds of fact, or interpretations thereof, which shall be binding upon such officers. Any such order shall remain in effect until rescinded or modified by subsequent order of the Secretary, upon his own motion or at the request of a Governor.

ble hunting seasons of the States of Virginia and North Carolina.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rule making process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections with respect to the proposed amendment to the Superintendent, Blue Ridge Parkway, Post Office Box 7606, Asheville, N.C. 28807 on or before October 7, 1975.

§ 7.34 Blue Ridge Parkway.

(d) Parking and crossing permits for hunters. During the hunting seasons for game birds and game animals prescribed by the States of North Carolina and Virginia, hunters may, under permits issued by the Superintendent, park vehicles in designated parking areas, cross Parkway lands from and to their vehicles with dogs on leash, firearms unloaded with breach or chamber open, bows unstrung, and wildlife lawfully killed on lands adjacent to the Parkway. "COUNTRY," "COUNTRY STYLE," OR
"DRY CURED" HAMS AND PORK SHOULDERS

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the administrative procedure provisions in 5 U.S.C. 553, that the Department of Agriculture, pursuant to the authority conferred by sections 7 and 21 of the Federal Meat Inspection Act, as amended (21 U.S.C. 607, 621), proposes to amend the Federal meat inspection regulations (9 CFR, Chapter III, Subchapter A) to establish a standard for products labeled "Country Ham," "Country Style Ham," "Country Pork Shoulder," "Country Style Pork Shoulder," "Dry Cured Ham," and "Dry Cured Pork Shoulder."

Statement of Considerations: On July 17, 1971, there appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER (36 FR 13273) a notice of proposed rule making, pursuant to a request by a group of meat processors in North Carolina, to provide a standard for hams and pork shoulders labeled with the term "Country" or "Country Style."

A total of 145 comments were received. General agreement was indicated on the following points:

1. A standard should be established for hams and pork shoulders labeled as "Country" or "Country Style."
2. "Country" or "Country Style" hams and pork shoulders must be free of live trichinae and capable of being distributed without refrigeration.
3. The products should be dry cured; have a salt content of at least 4 percent throughout, and shrink a minimum of 18 percent from the weight of the raw uncured meat.
4. The term "Country" should be considered as generic when used in the labeling of hams and pork shoulders, referring to product characteristics rather than the geographic location where the product is produced.

A significant number of the comments recommended that the standard be flexible enough to permit processors to prepare products with variable characteristics of flavor and texture or other unique properties that were familiar to and expected by their customers. This included provisions to permit product preparation under natural atmospheric conditions. There was a lack of unanimity, as shown by the numerous recommendations made, on the time period necessary for curing, salt equalization, and drying or "aging."

The majority of comments suggested that allowing an internal temperature in excess of 95° F. during the drying or "aging" period would not be consistent with the processing practices traditionally associated with hams and pork shoulders merchandised as "Country."

Based on the information, views, and arguments submitted on the proposal, as well as other information available to the Department on July 13, 1972, the Department published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 FR 13717-18) a second proposal.

Forty seven comments were received in response to the second proposed standard. The response was generally favorable except, again for the time period necessary for curing, salt equalization and aging; and the maximum temperature to which such products should be subjected during drying or aging.

In an effort to establish appropriate requirements, the Department has reviewed the development of these products. The Department's information indicates that years ago it became common practice for people, especially in the rural areas, to prepare meat during the colder months of the winter so that it would not spoil when the warmer months of spring and summer arrived. This preparation, or preserving procedure, involved the application of salt, and in some cases other things such as saltpeter, and the natural removal of moisture. The salt had time to penetrate and equalize in the meat during these colder months. With the warming temperatures of spring and summer the drying process continued and completed the preservation; killed any possible live trichinae; and contributed to the development of flavor, odor, texture, and visual characteristics which became associated with products prepared in this manner.

With the advent of mechanical refrigeration and other technological advances, the preservation of these types of products were no longer dependent on climatic conditions. However, the Department is interested in establishing minimum requirements that will produce a product having properties which will approximate those traditionally associated with country cured products. In so doing, the Department is neither attempting to forestall technological advances, nor trying to contribute to a rapid evolution in the methods used in preparing country cured products.

A review of 230 processing procedures for country cured products revealed that the majority of plants are using procedures which do not raise the product's temperature above 95° F., and require at least 70 days for hams, and 50 days for pork shoulders, for curing, salt equalization and drying (or aging). A shorter time period can be used for pork shoulders because of the difference in shape and smaller size of the pork shoulders. These procedures, coupled with the usual applications of salt and cure and an 18 percent shrink from fresh weight, seem to produce a product which has characteristics approximating those traditionally expected, and which has gained wide recognition and acceptance as being country cured. Adopting such procedures, however, will not prohibit the production of products under natural climatic conditions and which are held for aging for much longer periods provided such preparation procedures assure a safe and wholesome finished product.

Some hams and pork shoulders are prepared using procedures that are very similar to those proposed herein for country cured products, but differ primarily in drying (aging time). Since such products could not be called "country" or "country style," the Department proposed that they could properly and accurately be called "dry cured hams" or "dry cured pork shoulders," as the case may be.

The proposed standard provides for the use of mixtures of salt and sodium (or potassium) nitrate and/or nitrite, and of salt alone. In curing mixtures containing nitrate or nitrite and salt, the usual application is 4 pounds of salt per 100 pounds of meat.

When salt is used alone, the Department believes the amount used should be based on obtaining a brine concentration of at least 10 percent or a water activity of not more than 0.92. Such a brine concentration can usually be attained by using 7 pounds of salt for each 100 pounds of meat. However, because of the effects of time and temperature during drying, 7 pounds may not be needed in each process. The brine concentration is determined in the finished product by analyzing for salt and moisture, and dividing the salt content by the total salt plus moisture content. Water activity (usually abbreviated as A_w) refers to available water in product which microorganisms depend on for growth, since their nutrients must be in solution. The A_w for fresh meat is 0.99 or above, as compared to an A_w of 1.0 for pure water. The A_w of 0.99 for meat is at or near the optimum for many varieties of microorganisms, although many can grow at a lower A_w . As the A_w decreases the conditions become less favorable for microbial growth.

Therefore, based on the comments, views, data and other information considered, the Department is proposing to amend the federal meat inspection regulations to provide standards of composition for country cured and dry cured products as set forth herein.

1. Subpart D of Part 319 would be amended by adding thereto a new § 319.106 to read:

§ 319.106 "Country ham," "country style ham," "dry cured ham," "country pork shoulder," "country style pork shoulder," and "dry cured pork shoulder."

(a) "Country Ham," "Country Style Ham," or "Dry Cured Ham" and "Country

try Pork Shoulder," "Country Style Pork Shoulder," or "Dry Cured Pork Shoulder" are the uncooked, cured, dried, smoked or unsmoked meat food products made respectively from a single piece of meat conforming to the definition of "ham," as specified in § 317.8(b)(13) of this subchapter, or from a single piece of meat from a pork shoulder. They are prepared in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section by the dry application of salt (NaCl), or by the dry application of salt (NaCl) and one or more of the optional ingredients as specified in paragraph (c) of this section. They may not be injected with nor placed in curing solutions.

(b) (1) The entire exterior of the ham or pork shoulder shall be coated by the dry application of salt or by the dry application of salt combined with other ingredients as permitted in paragraph (c) of this section. Additional salt or salt mixed with other permitted ingredients, may be reapplied to the product as necessary to insure complete penetration of cure.

(2) When sodium (or potassium) nitrate or nitrite, or both, is used, the application of salt shall be in sufficient quantity to insure that the finished product has an internal salt content of at least 4 percent.

(3) When sodium (or potassium) nitrate or nitrite is not used, the application of salt shall be in sufficient quantity to insure that the finished product has a brine concentration of not less than 10 percent or a water activity of not more than 0.92.

(4) For hams or pork shoulders labeled "country" or "country style," the combined period for curing and salt equalization shall not be less than 45 days for hams, and shall not be less than 25 days for pork shoulders; and the total time for curing, salt equalization, and drying shall not be less than 70 days for hams, and shall not be less than 50 days for pork shoulders. If the product is dried under controlled atmospheric conditions during the drying period, the internal temperature of the product must not exceed 95° F.

(5) For hams or pork shoulders labeled "dry cured," the combined period for curing and salt equalization shall not be less than 45 days for hams, and shall not be less than 25 days for pork shoulders; and the total time for curing, salt equalization, and drying shall not be less than 55 days for hams, and shall not be less than 40 days for pork shoulders.

(6) The weight of the finished hams and pork shoulders covered in this section shall be at least 18 percent less than the fresh weight.

(c) The optional ingredients for products covered in this section are:

(1) Sucrose, dextrose, corn syrup solids, honey, pepper, spices, flavorings and other ingredients as approved by the Administrator in specific cases.

(2) Sodium or potassium nitrate and sodium or potassium nitrite used as prescribed in this section and in accordance with § 318.7(c)(4) of this subchapter.

(d) The product must be treated for the destruction of possible live trichinae in accordance with section 318.10 of the regulations in this subchapter.

(e) The method of preparation must result in product capable of being distributed without refrigeration.

§ 317.8 [Amended]

2. In § 317.8(b), the following provision would be added at the end of the first sentence in subparagraph (2): "And Provided further, That the provisions of this subparagraph shall not apply to products prepared in accordance with § 319.106 of this subchapter."

Any person wishing to submit written data, views, or arguments concerning the proposed amendment may do so by filing them, in duplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, or if the material is deemed to be confidential, with the Product Standards Staff, Technical Services, Meat and Poultry Inspection Program, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, by November 4, 1975.

Any person desiring an opportunity for oral presentation of views should address such request to the Staff identified in the preceding paragraph, so that arrangements may be made for such views to be presented prior to the date specified in the preceding paragraph. A record will be made of all views presented orally.

All written submissions and records of oral views made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection in the Office of the Hearing Clerk during regular hours of business, unless the person makes the submission to the Staff identified in the preceding paragraph and requests that it be held confidential. A determination will be made whether a proper showing in support of the request has been made on grounds that its disclosure could adversely affect any person by disclosing information in the nature of trade secrets or commercial or financial information obtained from any person and privileged or confidential. If it is determined that a proper showing has been made in support of the request, the material will be held confidential; otherwise, notice will be given of denial of such request and an opportunity afforded for withdrawal of the submission. Requests for confidential treatment will be held confidential (7 CFR 1.27(c)).

Comments on the proposal should bear a reference to the date and page number of this issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Office of the Secretary

PRIVACY ACT

Notice of Proposed Exemptions

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary proposes exemptions as provided under subsections (j) and (k) of the Privacy Act, Public Law 93-579, 5 U.S.C. 552a. These exemptions are proposed in addition to those exemptions proposed in § 5b.9(b) of the Secretary's proposed regulations, implementing the Privacy Act, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 14, 1975 (40 FR 34129).

The "Maryland Psychiatric Case Register" (hereinafter "Register") is a system of records maintained by the National Institute of Mental Health (hereinafter NIMH) proposed to be exempted, as provided in subsection (k) (4) of the Act, from subsections (c) (3), (d), (e) (1), (e) (4) (G), (H) and (I), and (f) of the Act.

The "Register" was established in 1961 as a part of a collaborative and ongoing effort between NIMH and the Maryland Department of Mental Hygiene for the purpose of research and study in the area of mental health. Included in this effort is a survey, initiated by NIMH, relating to emotionally disturbed or mentally retarded Maryland residents who received services in Maryland or elsewhere from psychiatrists, psychiatric facilities, and vocational rehabilitation and other agencies. NIMH engaged in this joint effort under the authority of section 301 of the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C. 241 as amended).

To assure the full cooperation of the Maryland authorities who would be the voluntary sources of information included in the "Register" and in anticipation of the enactment of a new section to Article 35 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, NIMH entered into an agreement under the authority of 42 CFR 1.103(a) with the Maryland Department of Mental Hygiene in July 1962. This agreement provided an assurance to every person or agency furnishing information for "Register" purposes that all individually identifiable information supplied would be held confidential; would be used solely by personnel engaged in and only for the purposes of the research project, and would not be disclosed to persons not participating in that project. The new section (§ 101) to Article 35 of the Annotated Code of Maryland was enacted into law in June 1963. It requires the State Board of Health and Mental Hygiene and its authorized agents to use individually identifiable records within its control only for the purposes of research and study for which assembled or procured. The section also includes criminal penalties should any person give away or otherwise disclose any individually identifiable information to persons not engaged in research and study for the Board.

It is on the basis of Article 35, § 101, Annotated Code of Maryland (1957 Edition and 1962 Supplement as amended) and in light of the agreement between NIMH and the Maryland Department of Mental Hygiene, that the Secretary now proposes a (k) (4) exemption for the "Maryland Psychiatric Case Register."

The "Investigatory Material compiled for Law Enforcement Purposes System, HEW," is a system of records proposed to be exempted, as provided in subsection

(j) (2) of the Act, from all subsections of the Act except subsections (b), (c) (1) and (2), (e) (4) (A) through (F), (e) (6), (7), (9), (10), and (11), and (l). This system is maintained for criminal investigation purposes by the Division of Investigations in the Agency's Office of Investigations and Security. Records maintained in the system pertain to employees, former employees, grantees, subgrantees, contractors, subcontractors, and others doing business with the Department who have or allegedly have violated Federal and/or State criminal laws.

The Division of Investigations performs as its principal function criminal investigations for the purpose of enforcement of criminal laws. Information which it compiles and maintains for this purpose includes reports of informants and investigators associated with an identifiable individual.

The "General Criminal Investigations File HEW SSA," the "Criminal Investigations File HEW SSA," and the "Program Integrity Case Files HEW SSA," maintained by various offices and bureaus in the Social Security Administration, are systems of records proposed to be exempted as provided in (k) (2) of the Act from subsections (c) (3), (d), (e) (1), (e) (4) (G), (H), and (I) of the Act. Information contained in these systems includes investigatory materials on alleged violators of Federal and State criminal laws on Social Security Administration property and on alleged violators of the criminal provisions of the Social Security and Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Acts.

The (j) (2) and (k) (2) exemptions are proposed for these systems to assure the orderly and unbiased conduct of law enforcement investigations. Investigatory efforts for law enforcement purposes would be severely impaired if the subjects of these investigations were aware that their activities were being observed. If these subjects were given access to the investigatory materials in these systems of records, they may have ample opportunity to attempt to thwart the investigation or escape prosecution.

Also proposed to be exempted from subsections (c) (3), (d), (e) (1), (e) (4) (G), (H) and (I), and (f) of the Act are the "Investigatory Material Compiled for Security and Suitability Purposes System, HEW," maintained by the Division of Security of the Agency's Office of Investigations and Security, and the "Suitability for Employment Records, HEW," a system maintained by the Agency's Personnel Offices. As provided in subsection (k) (5) of the Act these systems are proposed to be exempted from these subsections to the extent that access to its records or portions of its records would reveal a confidential source or to the extent that disclosure of its records or a portion of its records is otherwise prohibited by law. Information contained in these systems includes information pertaining to the suitability, eligibility, or qualifications of Agency applicants, employees, former employees, and others doing business with the Agency.

The (k) (5) exemption is proposed for these systems to assure that efforts to obtain accurate and objective information relating to a person's suitability and eligibility for Agency employment or business will not be frustrated. Many sources of this type of information will be reluctant to provide a full and objective appraisal of a person's suitability or eligibility unless they can be assured that their identity will not be revealed. Additionally much of the information presently contained in these systems of records was obtained under an implied promise that the identity of the source would be held in confidence. No useful public purpose would be served if these past confidences were violated or if the Agency was not in a position to expressly guarantee that the identity of future sources would be treated confidentially if the giving of such appraisals were conditioned upon a promise that the identity of its source would not be revealed.

As provided in subsections (j) (2), (k) (2) and (5) of the Act, the "Clinical Investigator Records, HEW/FDA," the "Regulated Industry Employee Enforcement Records, HEW/FDA," and the "employee, consultant, contractor security and investigative records," systems of records maintained by the Food and Drug Administration, are proposed to be exempted from subsections (c) (3), (d) (1) through (4) and (f), (e) (4) (G) and (H), and (e) (3) of the Act. The Commissioner of Food and Drugs is proposing regulations to implement the Privacy Act as it will affect systems of records maintained by the Food and Drug Administration. Also included in these proposed regulations are those systems of records maintained by the Food and Drug Administration proposed to be exempted in this notice. The proposed Food and Drug Administration regulations should be consulted for a full statement of the rationale and justification for the exemptions.

Interested persons and organizations are invited to submit written comments on these proposed exemptions to the Director, Fair Information Practices Staff, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 330 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201.

All comments received on or before September 17, 1975 will be considered by the Secretary before taking action on the proposed exemptions, and will be available for public inspection in Room 4513, at the above address.

These exemptions are proposed under the authority of subsections (j) and (k) of 5 U.S.C. § 552a and 5 U.S.C. § 301.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend Part 5b of 45 CFR Subtitle A (40 FR 34129) as follows:

Federal Aviation Administration

[14 CFR Part 39]

[Docket No. 75-EA-51]

MARTIN 404

Proposed Airworthiness Directive

The Federal Aviation Administration proposes to amend § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations to include a new airworthiness directive applicable to Martin 404 aircraft.

Copies of these aircraft now in operation have accumulated from 22,000 to 55,000 hours, and Maintenance and Deficiency files reflect that many of them have developed corrosion in various areas. This condition caused the Federal Aviation Administration to issue AC 20-7L which recommends periodic inspection to detect corrosion. On at least 15% of the Martin 404 fleet some degree of corrosion has been found in wing spar splices at station 187.

Since this indicates that a like condition may exist or develop in other aircraft of the Martin 404 fleet, it is proposed to issue an airworthiness directive which will require periodic inspections for corrosion of wing spar splice joints at wing station 187, and appropriate corrective action.

Interested parties are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting written data or views. Communications should identify the docket number and be submitted in duplicate to the Office of Regional Counsel, FAA, Federal Bldg., John F. Kennedy International Airport, Jamaica, New York 11430.

All communications received on or before October 7, 1975 will be considered before taking action upon the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this Notice may be changed in the light of comments received. All comments will be available in the Office of Regional Counsel for examination by interested parties.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to issue a new airworthiness directive as hereinafter set forth:

MARTIN. Applies to all Martin 404 Aircraft Certified in all categories.

Compliance required as indicated.

1. Affects the wing spar chord splice joints at wing station 187.

a. Within the next three months after the effective date of this AD, unless accomplished within five years preceding the effective date, remove the left and right outer wings and visually inspect the wing spar splice joints at wing station 187 for corrosion.

b. Repeat the inspection specified in paragraph (a) at intervals not to exceed 10,000 hours' time in service or five years, whichever comes first, for left wings, and 12,000 hours' time in service or six years, whichever comes first, for right wings.

c. For airplanes that have an FAA approved alteration installed at the wing spar chord splice joints at WS 187 for corrosion control, in lieu of the foregoing accomplish the following:

1. Externally inspect the left and right wing panels at wing station 187 within the next 10,000 hours' time in service or five years, whichever comes first, by:

(1) Stripping all sealant from the joint and performing a complete dye-check of the alteration and spars.

(2) Removing two bolts from each splice and inspecting the bolts visually and the holes by borescope for corrosion. If corrosion is evident, remove both wing panels and inspect the wing structure.

1. After another 10,000 hours' time in service or five years, whichever comes first, remove both wings at wing station 187 and accomplish complete corrosion inspection of the wing structure.

2. Repair corroded parts in accordance with an FAA approved repair or replace with an unused part of the same part number or an equivalent part approved by the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA, Eastern Region.

3. Upon submission of substantiating data by an owner or operator through an FAA Maintenance Inspector, the Chief, Engineering and Manufacturing Branch, FAA, Eastern Region, may adjust the inspection interval specified in this AD.

This amendment is made under the authority of section 313(a), 601 and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 [49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421 and 1423], and section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act [49 U.S.C. 1655(c)].

Issued in Jamaica, N.Y., on August 28, 1975.

DUANE W. FREER,
Director, Eastern Region.

§ 454.1 Preamble.

In connection with the advertising and labeling of protein supplements in or affecting commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, for the purpose of inducing or which is likely to induce, directly or indirectly, the purchase of such products, it is an unfair method of competition and an unfair or deceptive act or practice within the meaning of Section 5 and 12 of that Act to fail to comply with the following provisions of the Trade Regulation Rule in this part.

Subpart I—General

§ 454.2 Definitions.

For the purposes of this part, the following definitions shall apply:

(a) "Advertisement" or "advertising". (1) Any written or verbal statement, illustration, or depiction, which is designed to effect the sale of any protein supplement, or create interest in the purchase of such product, whether the same appears in a newspaper, magazine, leaflet, circular, mailer, book insert, catalog, sales promotional material, other periodical literature, billboard, public transit card, or in a radio or television broadcast or in any other medium.

(2) For purposes of this part, the terms "advertisement" or "advertising" do not include: (i) Labeling or (ii) point-of-purchase advertising or any promotional material developed and/or disseminated by manufacturers or distributors of protein supplements, the content of which refers solely to the price of the advertised protein supplement and which does not contain representations regarding nutrition, nourishment, or other nutrition claims relative to the product.

(b) "Label" and "labeling". (1) "Label" means a display of written, printed or graphic matter upon the immediate container of any article, or any such matter affixed to any consumer commodity or affixed to or appearing upon a package containing any consumer commodity.

(2) "Labeling" includes all written, printed, or graphic matter accompanying an article, and specifically includes, although it is not limited to, labels.

(c) "Food". Any article used for food or drink by humans, including chewing gum. However, it does not include: (1) Foods represented for use solely under medical supervision to meet nutritional requirements under specific medical conditions and which, if advertised, are advertised only in professional medical journals or publications.

(2) Alcoholic beverages subject to the provisions of the Federal Alcohol Administration Act of 1935 (27 U.S.C. § 201, et seq.).

(d) "Protein supplement". For purposes of this part protein supplement is any food represented, marketed or intended for use as a protein supplement.

(e) "Clearly and conspicuously disclose". (1) Disclosing in a manner which can be easily understood (in the case of television and print advertising, also easily seen and read) by the casual observer, listener, or reader, among members of the public, and which, for advertising in any medium, conforms in all relevant respects (except where otherwise provided in this part) to the Commission's Statement of Enforcement Policy of October 21, 1970. (See Vol. 2, CCH Trade Regulation Reporter § 7569:09.)

(2) Each disclosure shall be printed in the same language principally employed in the advertising or labeling. (See Commission's Statement of Policy of July 24, 1973, as amended, 38 FR 21494-95.) Such disclosures in any medium must in no way be obscured by background contrast, obscuring designs or vignettes, or crowding with any other written, printed, or graphic or audio-visual matter.

(f) "Representation" or "represent"; guarantees as representations. Any direct or indirect statement, suggestion, or implication in advertising or labeling, including but not limited to one which is made orally, in writing, pictorially, or by any other audio or visual means, or by any combination thereof. Any statement in the form of a guarantee of the attributes or effects of any protein supplement is a representation that the product possesses those attributes or will produce those effects.

(g) "Calorie". One kilocalorie.

(h) "United States Recommended Daily Allowance" (U.S. RDA). The U.S. RDA of the protein in a protein supplement is 45 grams if the protein efficiency ratio (PER) of the total protein in the product is equal to or greater than that of casein, and 65 grams if the PER of the total protein in the product is less than that of casein.

§ 454.3 Methods of calculation.

(a) "Protein Efficiency Ratio" (PER). A measure of protein quality, as determined by the method prescribed in § 43.183 of the Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Analytical Chemists, 12th edition, 1975.

(b) Percentage of protein. The percentage of protein by weight in the protein supplement in the form sold for consumer use.

(c) Measurement of "protein" or "protein content". For purposes of this part, protein or protein content may be calculated on the basis of the product of the factor 6.25 times the nitrogen content of the food as determined by the appropriate method of analysis prescribed in the Official Methods of Analysis of the Association of Analytical Chemists, 12th edition, 1975, unless otherwise specified by the AOAC or when the official Food and Drug Administration procedure for a specific food requires another factor.

§ 454.4 Form, content and method of making disclosures.

(a) Advertising disclosures. Any disclosure required or described by any provision of this part which is applied to advertising as defined in this part shall be made (1) clearly and conspicuously; (2) in accordance with the provisions of 16 CFR 437.2; and (3) as may be specifically prescribed in a section of this part dealing with that particular disclosure.

(b) Labeling disclosures. Any disclosure required or described by any provision of this part to be made in labeling shall be made (1) clearly and conspicuously; and (2) as may be specifically prescribed in the section of this part dealing with that particular disclosure; but in no event shall the smallest letter of such a disclosure be smaller than one-sixteenth of an inch in height except as may be otherwise permitted under § 454.4(c).

(c) Alternative forms of disclosure. For unusual advertising or labeling materials or material too small to reasonably comply with the requirements of this section, the Commission may establish acceptable alternative forms of making the required disclosures. A petition formally requesting permission to utilize an alternative form of disclosure may be submitted to the Secretary for due consideration by the Commission.

§ 454.5 Inconsistent or derogating representations.

No representation shall be made which, directly or by implication, contradicts, negates or is inconsistent with any disclosure required or described by any provision of this part, or in any way obscures, mitigates or derogates from the intent or meaning of such disclosure.

§ 454.6 Interpretation and conformity with related regulations.

(a) The advertising of all products covered by this part shall comply with the requirements of 16 CFR Part 437. No provision in this part shall be construed or interpreted to exempt any advertisement or advertising from the provisions of 16 CFR Part 437.

(b) The labeling of all products covered by this part shall comply with the requirements of 21 CFR 1.17 and any other applicable FDA regulations. No provision in this part shall be construed or interpreted to exempt any labeling from the provisions of 21 CFR 1.17.

(c) This part shall not be interpreted to contradict or conflict with the provisions of 16 CFR Part 437 or of 21 CFR 1.17.

(d) If any provision of this part cannot be interpreted consistently with the provisions of 16 CFR Part 437 or 21 CFR 1.17, then this part shall govern, but only the conflicting portion of 16 CFR Part 437 or 21 CFR 1.17 shall be inapplicable.

Subpart II—Affirmative Disclosures

§ 454.7 Protein content disclosure.

The advertising and labeling of any protein supplement shall disclose clearly and conspicuously, in immediate conjunction with or within the principal display of the product name, the percentage of protein in the product and the major source(s) of protein in the product.

§ 454.8 Health hazard disclosures.

The following disclosure shall be included verbatim clearly and conspicuously both on the label and in labeling for any protein supplement which derives 50 percent or more of its calories from the protein content of the food in the form in which it is sold for consumer use:

WARNING

Serious illness can result from improper use of this product: Not to be used for feeding of infants (birth to 1 year of age) or by persons with chronic or acute liver or kidney disease, except under medical supervision. Use of this product by children 1 to 3 years of age increases their need for liquids other than milk.

§ 454.9 Protein need disclosure.

The following disclosure shall be included verbatim clearly and conspicuously in advertising, on the label and in labeling for any protein supplement:

Protein supplements are unnecessary for most Americans. The U.S. Public Health Service has determined that the daily diet of most Americans provides adequate protein.

Subpart III—Voluntary Claims

§ 454.10 Use of protein supplements by infants or young children.

(a) No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that:

- (1) any protein supplement is to be used, without medical supervision or authorization, as any part of the diet of infants from birth to one year of age, or
- (2) any protein supplement is to be used by children one to three years of age unless the following disclosure is included verbatim clearly and conspicuously in immediate conjunction with each such representation:

Use of this product by children 1-3 years of age increases their need for liquids other than milk.

(b) This section, however, shall not apply to any protein supplement which derives less than 50 percent of its calories from the protein content of the food in the form in which it is sold for consumer use.

§ 454.11 Quick energy representations.

No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that protein produces or provides quick energy or promptly remedies fatigue or lassitude.

§ 454.12 Energy and calorie representations.

No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that:

- (a) Any protein supplement or protein itself contains, produces, provides, enhances, or is a source of "energy" or "food energy," unless it is clearly and conspicuously disclosed in immediate conjunction with each such representation, that "energy" or "food energy" is supplied by calories, as well as the number of calories contained in a stated serving of the protein supplement;
- (b) Consumption of any protein supplement or protein, by itself, will produce or provide health, general vigor, sustained energy or alertness, or that the energy from calories, by itself, will produce or provide strength, endurance, intellectual performance, or the prevention or relief of fatigue, or

(c) Consumption of any protein supplement or protein itself in any way enhances or contributes to a person's vigor, energy, alertness, strength or endurance, unless it is clearly and conspicuously disclosed, in immediate conjunction with each such representation:

(1) That such vigor, energy, alertness, strength or endurance is enhanced by and depends, in part, upon the calories in the protein supplement or in protein itself, and

(2) The number of calories contained in a stated serving of the protein supplement.

§ 454.13 Athletic or physical activity representations.

No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that:

(a) Protein is used or depleted in greater than normal amounts by strenuous physical activity or that physical activity of any kind, particularly by athletes, children or busy individuals, significantly increases the body's need for protein; or

(b) Use of a protein supplement can improve or increase the level of performance of athletics or strenuous physical labor by increasing strength, endurance, vitality, vigor or muscle tissue unless the following disclosure is included verbatim, clearly and conspicuously in immediate conjunction with each such representation:

Consumption of protein beyond the Recommended Daily Allowance (56 grams or about 2 ounces for a 154-pound man) does not improve or increase the level of performance of athletic or strenuous physical labor.¹

§ 454.14 Aging, senility or therapeutic representations.

No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that any protein supplement: (a) Can counteract or delay the effects or signs of aging or senility including but not limited to baldness, thinning hair, aging skin and decreased mental and physical capacities;

(b) Is to be used for the cure, diagnosis, treatment, mitigation or prevention of disease or of subclinical disorders or can serve a specific medical purpose; or

(c) Is to be used by the elderly unless the following disclosure is included verbatim clearly and conspicuously in immediate conjunction with each such representation:

Not to be used by persons with chronic or acute liver or kidney disease except under medical supervision.

Provided, however, that this disclosure may be omitted if the protein supplement so represented does not derive 50 percent or more of its calories from the protein content of the food in the form in which it is sold for consumer use.

§ 454.15 Weight reduction representations.

No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that:

(a) Protein burns or eliminates body fat;

(b) A protein supplement or a serving thereof constitutes a nutritionally adequate meal, unless the protein supplement or a serving thereof complies with an applicable Federal regulation prescribed in the Code of Federal Regulations; or

(c) Consumption of any protein supplement or protein itself is useful for, or contributes in any way to, or is useful in regulating or maintaining caloric intake or body weight by the use of any demonstration or depiction, or any word or phrase such as "diet", "dietetic", "low calorie", "low in calories", "fewer calories", "calorie reduced", "contains artificial sweeteners", "artificially sweetened", or any other demonstration, depiction or term of similar import, unless it is clearly and conspicuously disclosed in immediate conjunction with each such representation:

(1) That protein has approximately the same caloric content by weight as carbohydrate, and ingestion of protein in excess of the body's daily caloric and protein needs contributes calories which can cause weight gain;

(2) That weight reduction can occur only if the body uses more calories than it ingests from all sources, including protein;

(3) The protein supplement so represented complies with the provisions of 21 CFR 125.6;² and

(4) The number of calories contained in a stated serving of the protein supplement is clearly and conspicuously disclosed in immediate conjunction with each such representation.

§ 454.16 Emphatic nutrition representations.

(a) No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, in the product name (e.g., "Protein Plus" or "Hi-Pro"), or otherwise that any protein supplement is exclusively or totally protein or nearly so unless: (1) The percentage of protein is clearly and conspicuously disclosed in immediate conjunction with such representations, and (2) the percentage of protein is no less than 90 percent.

(b) No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that any protein supplement is of good nutritional quality, unless the protein is of at least as high a quality as that of casein, as shown by a Protein Efficiency Ratio (PER) equal to or greater than 100 percent of casein.

For purposes of this part, any of the following representations among others shall constitute a representation that the protein supplement is of good nutritional quality: The product

(1) Contains all of the essential amino acids,

(2) Is of good biological value, or

(3) Is biologically complete.

§ 454.17 Protein comparison representations.

(a) No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that any protein supplement is a more economical source of protein than any other food unless:

(1) The cost per gram of protein in the protein supplement is less than the cost per gram of protein in the compared food, and

(2) The representation is in compliance with the requirements of 16 CFR 437.4.

(b) No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that any protein supplement is higher, richer or more concentrated in protein than another food unless the comparison is one which measures the protein concentration of the protein supplement and a compared food in the same form, for example, liquid milk to a protein supplement drink or powdered milk to a protein supplement in powdered form. If the protein supplement is not (generally) recommended for consumption in the form in which it is sold to consumers, no comparison shall be made between the protein concentration of the product and the protein concentration of any food which is in a form in which it is generally consumed or recommended for consumption.

§ 454.18 Protein need representations.

No representation shall be made, directly or by implication, that:

(a) The adult daily protein need is greater than the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) established by the Food and Nutrition Board, National Research Council, or the U.S. RDA; or

(b) The adult RDA for protein is other than .8 grams per kilogram body weight plus the additional increment recommended for pregnant and lactating women, provided, however, that within six months after establishment of a different adult RDA for protein by the National Research Council, the new adult RDA for protein shall be used.

STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR THE PROPOSED RULE

It is the Commission's purpose, in issuing this statement, to set forth its reasons for proposing this Trade Regulation Rule with sufficient particularity to allow informed comment. The precise format of such statements may vary from rule to rule depending on the complexity of the issues involved. In this proceeding, the Commission has determined that meaningful comment by the public will be facilitated by presenting (1) a statement describing the basic factual and legal premises underlying the Commission's determination to propose the Rule, and (2) a series of questions designed to draw to the public's attention matters which the Commission deems particularly pertinent and on which comment is especially solicited.

The Commission's objective in these proceedings is to develop a Rule which will: (1) Require advertisers and sellers of protein supplements to disclose possible health hazards from improper use of protein supplements and to prevent the unsafe marketing of these products, if such would be the case, for the use of certain groups of persons, such as infants; (2) require advertisers and sellers of protein supplements to disclose material facts concerning the need for and the utility of protein supplements, if any, for American consumers; and (3) prevent advertisers and sellers of protein supplements from misrepresenting the nutritive characteristics and health benefits of these products or failing to disclose material facts concerning claimed nutritional and health benefits from the use of these products, without restricting the amount of useful information an advertiser may present in marketing these products.

The Commission emphasizes that neither the statement of factual and legal premises nor the questions set out in the materials accompanying the proposed Rule should be interpreted as a designation of disputed issues of fact. Such designations shall be made by the Commission or its duly authorized presiding official pursuant to the Commission's Procedures and Rules of Practice.

STATEMENT

In connection with the marketing of protein supplements in and among the United States, the Commission has reason to believe that:

(1) Industry members commonly misrepresent or fail to disclose in both labeling and advertising (a) the amount or percentage of protein in the product and (b) the product's protein source;

(2) Industry members represent that concentrated protein supplements are safe and beneficial for all persons when, in fact, they are not and, further, fail to disclose, in either advertising or labeling, the health hazards associated with improper use of certain protein supplements by infants, young children and persons with liver or kidney disorders;

(3) Industry members commonly represent, often directly and almost invariably by implication, that, contrary to fact, protein deficiency is a common and significant health problem among Americans generally and among various subgroups of Americans;

(4) Industry members commonly advertise, contrary to fact, that protein supplements are sources of "quick energy," likening the metabolic effect of protein foods to sugar and carbohydrates;

(5) Industry members commonly represent or imply, contrary to fact, that (a) protein is a source of food "energy" apart from its caloric value; (b) consumption of protein will itself produce general good health, vigor, sustained energy and alertness; and (c) consumption of protein itself enhances strength and endurance apart from the caloric value of the protein food;

² Section 125.6, "Label Statements Relating to Food Which Purports to Be or Is Represented for Use as a Means of Regulating Caloric Intake or Body Weight" has not yet been adopted by FDA in final form.

(6) Industry members commonly represent, without an adequate basis in fact and contrary to the clear weight of scientific evidence, that protein is used or depleted in greater than normal amounts by strenuous physical activity;

(7) Industry members commonly represent, contrary to fact, that use of protein supplements can improve or increase the level of the user's athletic performance or other strenuous physical activity regardless of whether the user's diet contains the amounts of protein sufficient to meet daily requirements;

(8) Industry members commonly represent, contrary to fact, that (a) consumption of protein supplements can effectively combat or delay various effects and signs of aging (such as balding or decreased mental and physical vigor), and (b) protein supplements can be used for the cure, treatment, mitigation or prevention of disease and subclinical disorders;

(9) Industry members often promote their products for use by the elderly without disclosing that persons with liver and kidney disorders (the elderly are, as a group, most susceptible to such ailments) may be injured by high protein intake and ought to have their protein intake medically supervised;

(10) Industry members commonly promote the use of protein supplements as weight reduction aids, in part by misrepresenting the metabolic effects and characteristics of protein; and in part by deceptively failing to disclose in connection with voluntary weight reduction claims: (a) That protein has the same caloric content by weight as carbohydrate, (b) that ingestion of protein in excess of the body's daily needs contributes calories which can cause weight gain, and (c) that weight reduction can occur only if the body uses more calories than it ingests from all sources, including protein;

(11) Industry members represent, directly and by implication, through the use of product names and otherwise, that their protein supplements are exclusively or totally protein or nearly so, when in fact they are not;

(12) Industry members commonly represent, contrary to fact, directly and by implication, that the protein component of their protein supplements is of good nutritional quality;

(13) Industry members commonly represent, often falsely, that their protein supplements are more economical sources of protein than specified ordinary protein-rich foods (e.g., steak or eggs) without disclosing the inferiority of the protein supplement in overall nutritional value;

(14) Industry members commonly make deceptive comparisons between their protein supplements and ordinary protein-rich foods with regard to the concentration of protein in the compared foods, e.g., comparison of a powder not intended for consumption except as it would be used in liquid form with a liquid such as milk;

(15) Industry members commonly represent, directly and by implication and contrary to fact, that daily adult protein need is greater than the Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) established by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Research Council, or the U.S. RDA;

(16) Industry members commonly delay for unreasonable periods of time, with resultant deception, alterations in advertising and labeling to reflect changes in established protein RDA's for adults.

The Commission is of the view that it is an unfair or deceptive act or practice under Section 5 and Section 12 of the Federal Trade Commission Act for advertisers of protein supplements to fail to disclose affirmatively certain information concerning the health hazards and nutritive characteristics of protein supplements and the extent of protein deficiency in the United States. The Commission's authority to require the disclosure of health and safety hazards from products is unquestionable.³ Further, even where no danger to consumers exists, the Commission's authority to require the disclosure of other material facts is well established.⁴ The pattern of protein supplement misrepresentations concerning the extent of protein deficiency and the percentage of protein in protein supplements has established a need for accurate consumer information. However, beyond these past practices, disclosures of the nutritive characteristics of protein supplements and the extent of protein deficiency in the United States are required in order to give consumers adequate information to make product comparisons and rational marketplace purchasing decisions.

The Commission has determined that it has reason to believe the above statements on the basis of information compiled by Commission staff during a comprehensive industrywide investigation of protein supplement advertising and labeling which was aimed at: identifying common protein supplement messages; analyzing the nutritional health information they provide; and identifying patterns of misleading nutrition, health, and other benefit claims. In the course of the investigation the Commission staff has received extensive documentary evidence bearing upon the issues raised in this proposed Rule. The staff investigation included consultations with experts from a variety of disciplines whose expertise bears upon the issues raised in this proposal and examination of the findings of many studies related to these issues. The Commission has not adopted any findings or conclusions of the staff. All findings in this proceeding shall be based solely on matter in the rulemaking record.

³ See, e.g., American Medicinal Products, Inc. v. FTC, 136 F.2d 426 (9th Cir. 1943).

⁴ See, e.g., J. B. Williams Company, Inc. v. FTC, 381 F.2d 834 (6th Cir. 1966); Theodore Kagen Corp. v. FTC, 283 F.2d 371 (D. C. Cir. 1960); *Keele Hair and Scalp Specialists, Inc. v. The Proposed Trade Regulation Rule concerning the Advertising and Labeling of Protein Supplements is designed to eliminate deception and unfairness which may result from the making of certain affirmative claims with respect to the nutritional, health and other benefits of protein supplements. This proposed Rule prohibits outright certain other claims, the making of which would be deceptive. Additionally, this proposed Rule requires the advertising and labeling of protein supplements to disclose affirmatively certain information concerning the health hazards and nutritive characteristics of protein supplements, and the extent of protein deficiency in the United States.

Furthermore, the Commission has recently accepted a consent order requiring a protein supplement advertiser to cease and desist from the dissemination of certain misleading claims. The Commission, having reason to believe that adjudication alone is inadequate to establish well-defined legal standards for the guidance of consumers and protein supplement manufacturers and distributors, undertakes herewith to define with specificity some acts or practices which may be unfair or deceptive and to prescribe requirements for affirmative disclosures to further avoid unfairness or deception to consumers.

QUESTIONS

Interested persons are urged to consider carefully these questions. Although certain proposals were drafted in specific language, the Commission retains its authority to promulgate a final Rule which differs in ways suggested by the following questions.

(CONSUMER BENEFITS)

1. What is the nature and extent, if any, of possible hazards from improper use of protein supplements? Are consumers currently sufficiently aware of these possible health hazards?

2. What is the need, if any, for protein supplementation of the ordinary or usual diets of (a) American consumers in general; (b) infants; (c) young children; (d) teenagers; (e) adults; (f) pregnant women; (g) the elderly; (in all income groups), in particular. Is protein deficiency a significant health problem for any significant group or number of persons in the U.S.?

3. Are consumers currently sufficiently aware of the protein content of protein supplements to make informed product comparisons?

4. Are consumers currently sufficiently aware of the health and nutrition effects of protein supplements to evaluate advertising and labeling claims and shop wisely? To what extent do considerations of expected health and nutrition benefits play a role in the purchasing decisions made by consumers for protein supplements?

5. Would the additional information required to be disclosed by §§ 454.7, 454.8 and 454.9 help consumers to make more prudent purchase decisions for protein supplements? If not, are there any additions, modifications or deletions to these disclosures which would so aid consumers?

6. What is the prevalence in the protein supplement industry of the acts and practices addressed by this Rule? In what manner and to what extent are the acts and practices addressed by this Rule potentially or currently unfair or deceptive?

(RULE COVERAGE)

7. Is the definition of "protein supplement" adequate to indicate to the protein supplement industry the products which are intended to be covered by the Rule? If not, what alternative definition(s) would be appropriate and adequate for purposes of this Rule?

8. Is the definition of "protein supplement" adequate to indicate that ordinary foods are not intended to be subject to this Rule? If not, what would be an adequate alternative definition to convey this intent?

(AFFIRMATIVE REQUIREMENTS)

9. Is the information required to be disclosed by § 454.7, Protein content disclosure, necessary and sufficient to advise consumers of the protein content of protein supplements? If not, what should be deleted, modified or added?

10. Is the information required to be disclosed by § 454.8, Health hazard disclosures, necessary and sufficient to inform consumers of possible adverse effects of concentrated protein supplements? Is the class of protein supplement subject to the Health hazard disclosure appropriately defined? If not, what alternative definition would cover all of the appropriate products but not any inappropriate products? What is the extent and severity of the health hazard to infants, children 1-3 years of age, and persons with chronic or acute liver or kidney disease from protein supplements with different protein concentration levels? Are any other groups of persons exposed to significant health risks from the improper use of protein supplements?

11. Is the information required to be disclosed by § 454.9, Protein need disclosure, necessary and sufficient to inform consumers of their need for protein supplementation of their usual diet? If not, what should be deleted, modified or added? Do most Americans get all the protein they need from their usual diet? If a consumer doubts that he gets enough protein, what is the best way for the consumer to determine that fact?

12. Is the length of the disclosures required in any labeling by §§ 454.7, 454.8 and 454.9 and in any advertising by §§ 454.7 and 454.9 unduly burdensome? If so, what should be deleted or modified for what size, manner and type of advertising or labeling? Should required disclosures be tailored to different sizes or lengths of advertising and labeling messages?

(HEALTH AND NUTRITION CLAIMS)

13. Does protein produce or provide quick energy or promptly remedy fatigue or lassitude?

14. Does physical activity of any kind significantly increase the body's need for protein? Can use of a protein supplement improve or increase the level of performance of athletics or strenuous physical activity?

15. Can use of a protein supplement counteract or delay the effects or signs of aging or senility?

16. What is the extent and severity of health hazards to the elderly due to liver or kidney disease? Are there any other diseases which afflict the elderly which create health risks from the improper use of a concentrated protein supplement? Is the class of protein supplements which derive 50 percent or more of their calories from their protein content the necessary and sufficient class of products for which the health disclosure required by §§ 454.8 and 454.14(c) is appropriate?

17. What is the utility of protein supplements for weight reduction? Is the information required to be disclosed by § 454.15(c) when a voluntary weight reduction or maintenance claim is made necessary and sufficient for consumers to evaluate such claims and shop wisely? If not, what should be deleted, modified or added?

18. Is comparison to the Protein Efficiency Ratio of casein the appropriate standard and test for protein supplement representations of good nutritional quality?

19. Is six months after the establishment of a new Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) for protein an adequate period for the protein supplement industry to update voluntary advertising and labeling representations concerning the RDA for protein?

(POSSIBLE RESTRICTIONS ON RULE PROVISIONS)

20. To what extent would any Public health, safety, welfare or economic problems be created or exacerbated by the proposed Rule? Are there any available alternatives that would protect the public interest with fewer adverse effects?

21. What costs or other impact to health food stores, pharmacies and other wholesale or retail distributors, especially those which are small businesses, would result from implementation of the proposed Rule? How could such costs and adverse impacts be minimized?

(LEGAL AND POLICY CONSIDERATIONS)

22. Would implementation of the proposed Rule go beyond the statutory authority of the Federal Trade Commission? Please be specific.

23. Can well-defined legal standards for the guidance of consumers and protein supplement manufacturers and distributors most efficiently be established by promulgation of a Trade Regulation Rule? If not, are there any available alternatives which could accomplish this goal?

INVITATION TO PROPOSE ISSUES OF FACT FOR CONSIDERATION IN PUBLIC HEARINGS

All interested persons are hereby given notice of opportunity to propose any disputed issues of fact which are material and necessary to resolve. The Commission, or its duly authorized presiding official, shall, after reviewing submissions hereunder, identify any such issues in a Notice which will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Such issues shall be considered in accordance with Section 18(c) of the Federal Trade Commission Act as amended by Public Law 93-637, and rules promulgated thereunder. Proposals shall be accepted until not later than November 7, 1975, by the Special Assistant Director for Rulemaking, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580. A proposal should be identified as "Proposal Identifying Issues of Fact—Advertising and Labeling of Protein Supplements," and furnished, when feasible and not burdensome, in five copies. The times and places of public hearings will be set forth in a later Notice which will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

INVITATION TO COMMENT ON THE PROPOSED RULE

All interested persons are hereby notified that they may also submit to the Special Assistant Director for Rulemaking, Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D.C. 20580, data, views or arguments on any issue of fact, law or policy which may have some bearing upon the proposed Rule. The Commission also especially and specifically solicits comment on the need for the appropriateness of the provisions of § 454.9 of the proposed Rule. The Commission also seeks comments evaluating the economic impact of the Rule on small business and consumers. Written comments, other than proposals identifying issues of fact, will be accepted until forty-five (45) days before commencement of public hearings, but at least until November 7, 1975. To assure prompt consideration of a comment, it should be identified as a "Advertising and Labeling of Protein Supplements Comment," and furnished, when feasible and not burdensome, in five copies.

Issued: September 5, 1975.

By direction of the Commission.

Proposed Supplements to Approved Plan

1. Background. Part 1953 of Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, prescribes procedures under section 18 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 667) (hereinafter referred to as the Act) for review of changes and progress in the development and implementation of State plans which have been approved in accordance with section 18 (c) of the Act and 29 CFR Part 1902. On July 5, 1973, a notice was published in the Federal Register of the approval of the Tennessee plan and the adoption of Subpart P of Part 1952 containing the decision and describing the plan (38 FR 17838). In March 1974, and on June 21, 1974, the State of Tennessee submitted supplements to its plan involving developmental changes (see Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 1953). The supplements consist of the Tennessee "Occupational Safety and Health Public Sector Plan" and procedures of the Tennessee Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission. Following Regional review the supplements have been forwarded to the Assistant Secretary for Occupational Safety and Health (hereinafter referred to as Assistant Secretary) for his determination as to whether they should be approved.

2. Issues. (a) The Tennessee Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1972 provides for coverage of State and local government employees in a manner designed to be at least as effective as that in the private sector. The plan supplement provides detail on how the program will be administered. State agencies are required to maintain an effective and comprehensive occupational safety and health program consistent with the standards promulgated under the Tennessee Occupational Safety and Health Act including a program of self-inspection and internal sanctions subject to monitoring by the Tennessee Commissioners of Labor and Public Health. This public sector plan supplement contains details on the establishment of a Tennessee Occupational Safety and Health Council to assist State agencies in achieving compliance; the individual State agency obligation to comply with standards, regulations, and submission of annual reports; and the designees' intended monitoring actions including but not limited to investigation of fatalities, catastrophes, and complaints, and work-site inspections of at least 100 State agency sites per year.

State agency programs found defective may be cited and may contest the citation before the Tennessee Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission which will in turn submit its findings of fact and recommendations to the Governor. County, municipal and other local governments have the option of being treated as a private employer or developing their own program of compliance. Guidelines on intended State compliance action for local governments choosing to be treated as private employers are provided. For local governments choosing a self-compliance approach details on the components of an adequate program including a model ordinance for enactment by the local governing body are discussed. Each such political subdivision must submit a plan of action for approval by the Commissioner of Labor.

(b) Rules of Procedure adopted by the Tennessee Occupational Safety and Health Review Commission are largely parallel to those of the Federal Review Commission as contained in 29 CFR Part 2200. However, it appears that in cases where a hearing examiner presides, his decision may be the final decision which is then appealable through the courts. Two additional rules allow the Commissioners of Labor and Public Health to administratively amend contested citations during the 20 day contest period (rule 132) and to rule on Petitions for Modification of Abatement subject to employee appeal to the Review Commission (rule 34).

The Assistant Secretary has reviewed the above described supplements and hereby gives notice that their approval is in issue before him.

3. Location of the supplement for inspection and copying. A copy of the plan and its supplements may be inspected and copied during normal business hours at the following locations: Office of the Associate Assistant Secretary for Regional Programs, Room N-3112, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210; Office of the Assistant Regional Director Occupational Safety and Health Administration, 1375 Peachtree Street, NE., Suite 587, Atlanta, Georgia 30309; and Office of the Tennessee Commissioner of Labor, Room C-1-100, Cordell Hull Building; 5th Avenue North, Nashville, Tennessee 37219; Office of the Commissioner of Public Health, Cordell Hull Building, 5th Avenue North, Nashville, Tennessee 37219.

4. Public participation. Interested persons are hereby given until October 6, 1975, in which to submit written data, views and arguments concerning whether the supplements should be approved. Such submissions are to be addressed to the Associate Assistant Secretary for Regional Programs at his address as set forth above where they will be available for inspection and copying.

Any interested person may request an informal hearing concerning the proposed supplements by filing particularized written objections with respect thereto within the time allowed for comments with the Associate Assistant Secretary for Regional Programs. If, in the opinion of the Assistant Secretary, substantial objections are filed which warrant further public discussions, a formal or informal hearing on the subjects and issues involved may be held.

The Assistant Secretary shall consider all relevant comments, arguments, and requests submitted in accordance with this notice and shall thereafter issue his decision as to approval or disapproval of the supplements, make appropriate amendments to Subpart P of Part 1952, and initiate further proceedings, if necessary.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 28th day of August 1975.

JOHN T. DUNLOP,
Secretary of Labor.

AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PLAN FOR FEDERALLY INVOLVED CONSTRUCTION CONTRACTORS IN THE WASHINGTON, D.C. AREA

Notice of Proposed Rulemaking

This notice of proposed rulemaking is issued under the authority of sections 201, 205, 207, 301, and 303 of Executive Order 11246 (30 FR 12319), as amended.

Section 201 of Executive Order 11246, as amended, provides that the Secretary of Labor shall adopt rules and regulations necessary and appropriate to achieve the purposes of the Order. One of the purposes of Executive Order 11246, as amended, is to require Federal and Federally assisted construction contractors and subcontractors to "take affirmative action to ensure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated, during employment, without regard to their race, color, religion, sex or national origin." (section 202(1)).

Notice is hereby given that the Secretary proposes to adopt a Revised Washington Plan in order to further implement the affirmative action mandate of Executive Order 11246, as amended. If adopted it is proposed to make the Revised Washington Plan effective thirty days from the date of its republication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

BACKGROUND

In April 1970, public hearings were conducted by the Department of Labor to determine what action should be taken to ensure equal employment opportunity in the construction industry in the Washington, D.C. area. These hearings were convened after efforts to formulate a hometown plan failed.

As a result of the material presented at the public hearing and other investigations the Washington Plan was issued by the Secretary of Labor (41 CFR 60-5, 35 FR 19352, December 22, 1970). The Washington Plan applies to eleven trades and covers the Washington Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area which includes portions of Maryland and Virginia as well as the District of Columbia. The Washington Plan was scheduled to expire on May 31, 1974, but has since been extended a number of times, the most recent extension being effective through July 9, 1975. The purpose of these extensions was to provide the Department of Labor with ample time to explore the possibility of replacing the Washington Plan with a voluntary hometown plan. The principle support for a voluntary hometown plan originated from a group of construction contractors, building trades representatives and minority community leaders known as the Washington Plan Review Committee. The Committee held public hearings on September 23-25, 1973 to evaluate the Washington Plan and develop recommendations for future action in support of the affirmative action mandate of Executive Order 11246, as amended. Following the public hearings, the Washington Plan Review Committee developed a proposed hometown plan the emphasis of which was upon the recruitment and training of minorities through apprenticeship programs. For various reasons this proposal was unacceptable to the Office of Federal Contract Compliance. Subsequent efforts by the Washington Plan Review Committee and the OFCC have failed to produce an acceptable affirmative action plan for the Washington, D.C. area construction industry. As a result of these efforts it is the determination of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance that a viable hometown plan is not forthcoming despite the best efforts of the Department of Labor and the Washington Plan Review Committee.

Therefore, it is the recommendation of OFCC that a Revised Washington Plan be promulgated which includes 23 construction crafts rather than the current eleven.

GENERAL FINDINGS

Executive Order 11246, as amended, is designed to make equal employment opportunity a reality for present and potential employees of Federal and Federally assisted construction contractors and subcontractors. The contract compliance program is premised on the right and the responsibility of the Federal Government to determine the terms and conditions upon which it will contract with private parties for the procurement of supplies and services, including construction, essential to the functioning of Government. Under Executive Order 11246, as amended, Federal and Federally assisted construction contractors are obliged to forbear from employment discrimination based on race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, and to take affirmative action to ensure that employees and applicants for employment are treated without regard to these non-merit factors. This obligation is embodied in Section 202 of Executive Order 11246, as amended, and is commonly referred to as the Equal Employment Opportunity Clause. The Executive Order's affirmative action requirement is intended to ensure prompt achievement of full and equal employment opportunity through the establishment of specific and results-oriented procedures.

COMPUTATION OF GOALS FOR MINORITY UTILIZATION

In order to give form and content to the affirmative action obligation of Executive Order 11246, as amended, the Department of Labor developed the concept of goals and timetables. In computing goals for minority manpower utilization, the Department has attempted to rely upon the most precise standards and statistics available. In assessing whether a goal for minority manpower utilization is reasonable, the Department of Labor is guided by the principle that the objective of a goal is to place eligible minority members in the position which they would have enjoyed if not for underutilization in the past. The Department believes that statistics reported in the 1970 Census are a reasonable measure of the relevant minority labor force which, but for underutilization, would be equally represented in the Washington, D.C. area construction industry. Even though the labor force statistics in the 1970 Census reflect persons who were 16 years of age and over in 1970, such persons are now at least 18 years of age and are eligible for consideration for employment in the construction industry. Data is available on the black, Oriental, American Indian, and Spanish language civilian labor force in the Washington, D.C. area but there are no labor force statistics collected by the Bureau of the Census on Spanish surnamed individuals in the area. Therefore, absolute precision is not possible. However, statistics on Spanish surnamed individuals in the labor force can be estimated from data compiled for the Spanish language¹ population of the area.

It is also necessary to consider the percentage of persons of Spanish origin in the labor force in the Washington, D.C. area who regard themselves as being black rather than white. Otherwise, certain individuals will be counted twice, once as black and once as a member of the Spanish origin group, resulting in an artificially inflated statistic. This statistic varies depending upon the jurisdiction in which the person of Spanish origin resides. In the District of Columbia 37.3 percent of the persons reported as being of Spanish origin regard themselves as being black. However, in Maryland and Virginia persons of Spanish origin regard themselves as black to a lesser degree, 12.2 percent and 13.7 percent respectively. Therefore, it was necessary to break out the Spanish language labor force by local jurisdictions in order to calculate an accurate overcount.

Taking into account these basic factors, the number of minorities in the labor force in the Washington, D.C. area may be derived by adding the black (307,795), Oriental (3,439) and American Indian (1,317) labor forces, together with the number of Spanish language persons in the labor force (28,439). This result is then reduced by the percentage of Spanish language individuals in the area who count themselves as black rather than white. Based upon these calculations, the adjusted Spanish language labor force of the Washington, D.C. area is estimated to be 22,965. The percentage of minorities in the total labor force results from dividing the total of minority labor force (335,516) by the number of persons in the labor force in the Washington, D.C. area (1,227,597).

Accordingly, the resulting relevant minority labor force statistic is 27.33 percent.

The Department of Labor also considers the availability of qualified minorities for work in the construction industry. Assessments of current availability are speculative at best. However, it is reasonable to consider the educational achievement of construction workers. It is significant that as of 1970, 92 percent of the construction workers reported by the Bureau of the Census had completed four years of high school or less. Thus, it is deemed appropriate to compare the minority labor force in the Washington, D.C. area who have a high school education or less with the total labor force with similar educational achievement. After considering the educational achievement of the minority labor force with that of the total labor force it appears that a greater portion of the minority labor force is available for employment in the construction industry. As a result of adjustment for this educational factor, the relevant minority labor force becomes 34.7 percent.

One other factor in the analysis of the proper goal for minority utilization in the Washington, D.C. area is the population "undercount", defined as omission in coverage of the decennial Census. The undercount is computed by the Bureau of the Census and is used by the Bureau to update the decennial Census findings in intermediate years. The Bureau of Census reports that the national minority undercount is approximately 7.7 percent while that of non-minorities is 1.9 percent. Inclusion of this factor in the computation of the relevant labor force raises the goal to 36.5 percent.

Conclusion of Findings. Taking into account the factors recited herein, as well as considering the availability of qualified and qualifiable minorities for employment in the construction industry and allowing for possible over inclusiveness of the Spanish language data as a substitute for statistics for Spanish surnamed individuals, the Department of Labor finds that the goal for minority utilization for each construction trade covered by the Revised Washington Plan should be 36 percent.

In adopting this goal, the Department believes that it is less important that a particular percentage goal might be slightly optimistic, given current availability of qualified and qualifiable minorities, provided the Revised Washington Plan contains fair procedures for contractors to make such a showing. Accordingly, the Revised Washington Plan includes provisions for notice to contractors and a meaningful opportunity to challenge any allegations of noncompliance and prove that they have made the good faith efforts required of them to comply with the requirements of the Plan.

¹ United States Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census, 1970 Census of the Population, Current Social and Economic Characteristics—District of Columbia PC (1)-010, Appendix B, indicates that persons of Spanish heritage are identified in various ways. In 42 states and the District of Columbia, this population is identified as "Persons of Spanish-language;" in five Southwestern States as "Persons of Spanish-language or Spanish Surname;" and in three middle Atlantic States as "Persons of Puerto Rican birth or parentage."

TIMETABLES

In an effort to ensure equal employment opportunity and provide practical intermediate goals for the annual increase in minority participation in the Washington D.C. area construction industry, the Department has determined that the proposed Revised Washington Plan should cover a three-year period. Those trades currently covered by the Washington Plan shall be deemed to be committed to the goals of the last year of the Washington Plan with subsequent increases to meet the 36 percent figure by 1978. As to those trades not covered by the Washington Plan, intermediate goals are established which recognize that efforts in support of affirmative action have been in effect in Washington since 1970. Therefore, the first year goals are set at a level which reflects the Department's confidence that effort toward equal employment opportunity has occurred.

COVERAGE

It is determined that the Revised Washington Plan is necessary to provide for minority participation in the following trades:

Asbestos Workers	Operating Engineers
Boiler Makers	Millwrights
Brick Layers	Painters & Paperhangers
Carpenters	Pile Drivers
Cement Masons	Plasterers
Electricians	Plumbers
Elevator Constructors	Roofers
Glaziers	Sheet Metal Workers
Pipefitters & Steamfitters	Sprinkler Fitters
Iron Workers	Stone & Marble Masons
Laborers	Tile & Terrazzo Workers
Lathers

EVALUATION AND ADVISORY RECOMMENDATION

The Department recognizes that the contractors, unions, and the minority community, who must operate on a day-to-day basis under the Revised Washington Plan are in the best position to evaluate the effectiveness of the Plan. Therefore, the Department of Labor has encouraged the development of a voluntary committee representing these three groups, which shall periodically review the effectiveness of the Plan and make advisory recommendations to the Department in this regard. Accordingly, the Washington Plan Review Committee was formed and is encouraged to continue its activities.

OPPORTUNITY FOR COMMENTS

Inquiries may be addressed, and data, views, and arguments concerning the proposed Revised Washington Plan may be submitted to Mr. Phillip J. Davis, Director, Office of Federal Contract Compliance, U.S. Department of Labor, 200 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20210. All material received on or before October 7, 1975, will be considered. All comments in response to this proposal will be available for public inspection during normal business hours at the foregoing address.

It is therefore proposed to issue 41 CFR Part 60-5 in the manner set forth below:

§ 60-5.2 Notice.

The following Notice shall be included in all invitations and other solicitations for bids on non-exempt Federally involved construction contracts in the Revised Washington Plan area.

NOTICE OF REQUIREMENT—SUBMISSION OF AFFIRMATIVE ACTION PLAN TO ENSURE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

Each bidder, contractor or subcontractor (hereafter the Contractor) must fully comply with the requirements, terms and conditions of the Revised Washington Plan including the goals for minority manpower utilization as to each construction trade it intends to use on this construction contract and all other construction work (both Federal and non-Federal) in the Washington, D.C. area during the performance of this contract or subcontract. The Contractor commits itself to the goals for minority manpower utilization contained herein and all other requirements, terms and conditions of the Revised Washington Plan by submitting a properly signed bid.

§ 60-5.3 Goals for minority utilization.

(a) The following goals for minority manpower utilization shall express the contractor's commitment to the percentage of minority workhours to be worked in each specified craft on all work performed by the contractor in the Washington, D.C. area during the performance of this contract. ¹ Trade covered by current Washington Plan.

(b) The goals for minority manpower utilization above are expressed in terms of workhours of training and employment as a proportion of the total workhours to be worked by the contractor's aggregate work force in that trade on all projects (both Federal and non-Federal) in the Washington, D.C. area during the performance of its contract or subcontract (i.e. the period beginning with the first day of work on the Federal or Federally assisted construction contract and ending with the last day of work).

(c) The workhours of minority employment must be substantially uniform throughout the length of the contract in each trade, and minorities should be employed evenly on each of a contractor's projects. Nevertheless, failure of a contractor to employ minorities evenly on each of its projects shall not constitute noncompliance provided the percentage of minority manhours employed by the contractor in its aggregate work force in the Washington, D.C. area meets or exceeds its commitment to the goals for minority manpower utilization in the Revised Washington Plan and the contractor has not violated the Equal Opportunity Clause of the contract in the assignment of minorities to its projects. The transfer of minority employees from employer-to-employer or from project-to-project for the purpose of meeting the contractor's goal shall be a violation of the Revised Washington Plan. Otherwise, the contractor shall be deemed to be in compliance with the requirements, terms, and conditions of the Revised Washington Plan if:

(1) The minority manpower utilization rate of the contractor meets or exceeds its commitment to the goals for minority manpower utilization in its aggregate work force, both Federally involved and non-Federal, within the Washington, D.C. area provided, that if the contractor has denied equal employment opportunity in violation of the Equal Opportunity Clause of this contract, it shall not be in compliance with the Revised Washington Plan or

(2) The contractor can establish that it is a member of a contractor's association or other employer organization which has as one of its purposes the expanded utilization of minority manpower and the total minority manpower utilization rate of all the member contractors on all projects in which they are involved within the Washington, D.C. area meets the contractor's minority manpower utilization commitment in the Revised Washington Plan provided, that if the contractor has denied equal employment opportunity in violation of the Equal Opportunity Clause of this contract it shall not be in compliance with the Revised Washington Plan or

(3) The contractor can establish that it has a collective bargaining agreement with a labor organization, that it utilizes such organization as its source for over 80 percent of its manpower needs and, that the percentage of minority membership of such organization and the total percentage of minorities referred for employment on all projects within the Washington, D.C. area meets the contractor's commitment in the Revised Washington Plan provided, that if the contractor has denied equal employment opportunity in violation of the Equal Opportunity Clause of this contract it shall not be in compliance with the Revised Washington Plan.

(d) In the event that work is performed after the expiration date of the Revised Washington Plan on a construction contract awarded pursuant to the requirements, terms and conditions of the Plan the goals for minority manpower utilization for 1978 shall be applicable to such work.

(e) The contractor's commitment to goals of minority manpower utilization is intended to meet its affirmative action obligations under Executive Order 11246, as amended, and is not intended and shall not be used to discriminate against any qualified applicant or employee. Whenever it comes to the contractor's attention that the goals are being used in a discriminatory manner, it shall immediately report that fact to the Office of Federal Contract Compliance so that appropriate proceedings may be instituted.

§ 60-5.4 Good faith efforts.

The contractor shall be deemed to be in compliance with the requirements, terms, and conditions of the Revised Washington Plan if it meets or exceeds its commitment to the goals for minority manpower utilization in its aggregate work force in the Washington, D.C. area for each trade for which it is committed to a goal under the Revised Washington Plan. The contractor's commitment to the goals for minority manpower utilization as required by the Revised Washington Plan constitutes a commitment that it will make every good faith effort to meet such goals. No contractor shall be found in noncompliance solely on account of its failure to meet its goals, but shall be given the opportunity to demonstrate that it has instituted all the affirmative action steps specified in the Revised Washington Plan and has made every good faith effort to make these steps work toward the attainment of its goals within the timetables, all to the purpose of expanding minority manpower utilization in its aggregate work force in the Washington, D.C. area. Contractors who fail to achieve their commitments to the goals for minority manpower utilization must have engaged in affirmative action directed at increasing minority manpower utilization, which is at least as extensive as the following steps:

(a) Notification to the minority community organizations when the contractor or union has employment opportunities available and maintenance of records regarding the organizations' response.

(b) Maintenance of a file of the names and addresses of each minority worker referred by the union to the contractor and what action was taken with respect to each such referred worker. If a worker was sent to the union hiring hall for referral and such worker was not referred back by the union or, if referred, not employed by the contractor, the file should document this and the reasons therefor.

(c) The contractor shall promptly notify the Office of Federal Contract Compliance when the union or unions with which the contractor has collective bargaining agreements has not referred to the contractor a minority worker sent by the contractor, or the contractor has other information that the union referral process has impeded efforts to meet its goals.

(d) Participation in training programs in the area, especially those funded by the Department of Labor.

(e) Dissemination of the contractor's or union's EEO policy within the respective organizations as applicable by including it in any policy manual; by publicizing it in company or union newspaper, annual report, etc.; by posting of the policy; and by specific review of the policy with minority employees or members.

(f) Dissemination of its EEO policy externally by informing and discussing it with all recruitment sources; by advertising in news media, specifically including minority news media; and by notifying and discussing it with all contractors, and subcontractors.

(g) Specific and constant written and oral recruitment efforts directed at all minority organizations, schools with minority students, minority recruitment organizations and minority training organizations within the contractor's or union's recruitment area.

(h) Specific efforts to encourage present minority employees or members to recruit their friends and relatives.

(i) The contractor shall validate all tests and other selection requirements as required by the Testing and Selection Order (41 CFR Part 60-3).

(j) Making every effort to provide after school, summer and vacation employment to minority youths.

(k) Where reasonable, the development of on-the-job training opportunities and participation and assistance in any association or group training programs relevant to the contractor's or union's needs.

(l) Continuing inventory and evaluation of all minority personnel or members for promotional opportunities and encouragement of minority employees or members to seek such opportunities.

(m) Assuring that seniority practices, job classifications, etc., do not have a discriminatory effect.

(n) Assuring that all facilities and activities are non-segregated.

(o) Continual monitoring of all personnel activities to ensure that its EEO policy is being carried out.

(p) The contractor shall solicit bids for subcontracts from available minority subcontractors with the trades covered by the Revised Washington Plan to the maximum extent practicable including circulation of minority contractor associations.

§ 60-5.5 Administrative procedure for enforcement.

(a) Each agency shall review the contractor's employment practices during the performance of the contract. If the contractor meets its goals or can demonstrate that it has made every good faith effort to meet the goals and is not otherwise violating the Equal Opportunity Clause of this contract or any other Federal equal employment opportunity laws or regulations, the contractor shall be presumed to be in compliance with Executive Order 11246, as amended, and the Revised Washington Plan. In that event, no formal sanctions or proceedings leading toward sanctions shall be instituted unless the agency otherwise determines that the contractor is not providing equal employment opportunities.

(b) Where the agency (see 41 CFR § 60-1.3 (a) and (b)) finds that the contractor has failed to comply with the requirements of Executive Order 11246, the implementing regulations and the Revised Washington Plan, the agency shall take such action and impose such sanctions as may be appropriate under the Executive Order and its regulations. When the agency proceeds with such formal action it has the burden of proving that the contractor has not met the requirements of the Revised Washington Plan. The contractor's failure to meet its goals shall, however, shift to it the requirement to come forward with evidence to show that it has made every "good faith" effort (as described in § 60-5.4) to meet such goals. The pendency of such formal proceedings shall be taken into consideration by Federal agencies in determining whether such contractor can comply with the requirements of Executive Order 11246, as amended, and is therefore a "responsible prospective contractor" within the meaning of Federal procurement law.

(c) It shall be no excuse that the union with which the contractor has a collective bargaining agreement providing for exclusive referral failed to refer minority employees. Discrimination in referral for employment, even if pursuant to provisions of a collective bargaining agreement, is prohibited by the National Labor Relations Act, as amended, and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. It is the policy of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance that contractors have a responsibility to provide equal employment opportunity if they wish to participate in Federally-involved contracts. To the extent they have delegated the responsibility for some of their employment practices to a labor organization, U.S. Department of Labor, and, as a result, are prevented from meeting their obligations pursuant to Executive Order 11246, as amended, such contractors cannot be considered to be in compliance with Executive Order 11246, as amended, its implementing rules, and regulations.

§ 60-5.6 Contractor obligations.

(a) All contractors shall include the Revised Washington Plan in all bid invitations or other prebid communications, written or otherwise, with their prospective subcontractors. Whenever a contractor subcontracts a portion of the work in any trade covered by the Revised Washington Plan it shall include the Plan in such subcontracts and each subcontractor shall be bound by the Revised Washington Plan to the full extent as if it were the prime contractor. The contractor shall not be accountable for the failure of its subcontractor to fulfill its affirmative action commitments. However, the prime contractor shall give notice to the Office of Federal Contract Compliance and the contracting agency of any refusal or failure of any subcontractor to fulfill its obligations under the Revised Washington Plan. Noncompliance with these requirements by a subcontractor will be treated in the same manner as such failure by the prime contractor.

(b) Contractors must keep such records and file such reports relating to the provisions of the Revised Washington Plan as shall be required by the contracting or administering agency.

§ 60-5.7 Obligations of the Federal Government.

(a) Nothing in the Revised Washington Plan shall be interpreted to diminish the responsibilities of the contracting and administering agencies nor the obligations of contractors pursuant to Executive Order 11246 as amended, for those trades and those contracts not covered by the Plan.

(b) The procedures set forth in the Revised Washington Plan shall not apply to any contract when the head of the agency (see 41 CFR 60-1.3 (a) and (b)) determines that such contract is essential to the national security and that its award without following such procedure is necessary to the national security. Upon making such a determination, the agency head will notify, in writing, the Director of the Office of Federal Contract Compliance within 30 days.

(c) Nothing in the Revised Washington Plan shall be interpreted to diminish the present contract compliance review and complaint programs.

(d) Requests for exemptions from the Revised Washington Plan must be made in writing, with justification, to the Director, Office of Federal Contract Compliance, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210, and shall be forwarded through and with the endorsement of the agency head.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[EX PARTE NO. 314]

SPECIAL PROCEDURES FOR GENERAL FREIGHT RATE INCREASES BASED ON REVENUE NEED

Notice of Oral Argument

AUGUST 26, 1975.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, will hold oral argument in the above entitled proceeding in order to provide the parties with a further opportunity to make their views known to the Commission. Oral argument is scheduled to commence at the office of the Commission in Washington, D.C. at 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, October 1, 1975.

The October 1st date has been selected to afford the parties an advance opportunity to consider the views expressed by the other parties to this proceeding and based on that review to determine whether there is a possibility of consolidating their presentation at oral argument with other parties expressing the same or similar views. Further, the October 1, 1975, date will enable the parties to evaluate the Commission's statement delivered by Chairman Stafford on July 16, 1975. This statement attached as Appendix I hereto entitled "Statement of George M. Stafford, Chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Before the Subcommittee on Transportation and Commerce of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce on H.R. 6351 and H.R. 7681, "together with a summary, places the proposed special procedures in context and provides the parties to this proceeding with an insight as to why the Commission prefers to consider changes through the administrative process.

In response to the notice of proposed rulemaking entered in this proceeding on June 10, 1975, served June 12, 1975 (40 FR 25603), 75 parties submitted written statements of verified facts, views, and arguments regarding the proposed procedures. Attached hereto as Appendix II is a service list of the parties submitting representations. Ten days from date of service of this notice the parties listed on Appendix II are to serve the other parties on the list with copies of their statements previously filed with the Commission. Ten days prior to oral argument the parties desiring to participate therein shall by letter advise the Commission (1) that they have complied with the service requirement; (2) the name of their representative who will appear at the oral argument on their behalf and/or representing other parties having similar positions; and (3) the approximate amount of time needed to present their position at oral argument.

Although the Commission has made no determination on the merits on whether or not to adopt the proposed regulations with or without modification, it would be helpful to the Commission if the parties at oral argument would address the following issues, which are not to be construed as all inclusive, but rather as focal points for informed discussion:

1. Is there a need for special procedures of the type contemplated by the notice of proposed rulemaking for all modes or for any one mode?

2. Has the entry of the Commission's decision in Ex Parte No. 311, Expedited Procedures for Recovery of Fuel Costs, 350 I.C.C. 563, rendered unnecessary or undesirable the promulgation of another expedited procedure?

3. If the procedures set forth in the notice of proposed rulemaking were to be adopted on an experimental basis for one mode, several modes or all modes, should the increases be based solely on increased labor cost as was originally contemplated in Ex Parte No. 296, Procedures for Partial Recoupment of Increased Carrier Labor Costs?

4. If it were possible to fashion an expedited procedure that would clearly spell out that the Commission retains the right to suspend a general revenue proposal (or portion thereof, i.e., increases pertaining to individual commodities or weight brackets) filed under the special procedure for potential undue preference, prejudice or discrimination, would this be acceptable to the carriers and shippers alike? How do you view this proposal as compared with the rate provisions set forth in the Rail Revitalization Act of 1975 and discussed in Appendix I hereto?

5. If the special procedures were to be adopted, should the carriers utilizing the procedures be limited to one other general increase per year and should the special procedures be limited to increases timed to become effective on a specified date as for example January 1 of each calendar year?

6. If special procedures are adopted on an experimental basis, what are your views as to the reasonableness of the proposed 5-percent figure? Would some other figure be more appropriate?

7. Does the Commission's practice of allowing interim increases pending formal investigation of rail general increases offer a viable alternative to the special procedures set forth in the notice of proposed rulemaking and should such a procedure be available to other modes absent a statutory refund provision?

Notice of oral argument shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this notice in the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., for public inspection and by delivering a copy of the notice, without attachments, to the Director, Office of the Federal Register for publication therein as notice to interested persons.

CERTAIN NON-POWERED HAND TOOLS FROM JAPAN

Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Discontinuance of Antidumping Investigation

Information was received on August 5, 1974, that certain non-powered hand tools from Japan were being sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.) (referred to in this notice as "the Act").

For purposes of this notice, the term "certain non-powered hand tools" means chisels, punches, hammers and sledges (with or without handles), vises, c-clamps, battery service tools, micrometers, vernier calipers and dial indicators. Battery service tools include battery terminal lifters, battery post and terminal cleaning brushes, battery terminal spreaders, angle-nose pliers, booster cables and battery service kits (terminal puller, cleaning brush and two terminals).

A notice of "Withholding of Appraisal and Notice of Tentative Discontinuance of Antidumping Investigation" was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of June 5, 1975 (40 FR 24218).

Determination of Sales at Less than Fair Value. I hereby determine that, for reasons stated below, punches, chisels, hammers and sledges (with or without handles), vises, c-clamps and battery service tools from Japan, are being, or are likely to be sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(a)).

Statement of Reasons on Which This Determination is Based:

Analysis of information from all sources reveals that the proper basis of comparison for fair value purposes is between purchase price of the merchandise and its adjusted home market price, adjusted third country price, or constructed value, as applicable to individual manufacturers.

Purchase price was calculated on the basis of a c.i.f. or f.o.b. price, as appropriate, with deductions for inland freight, Customs clearance charges, and a commission, as applicable.

The adjusted home market price was based on a weighted-average delivered price with deductions for inland freight, interest, advertising, catalogs, direct selling expenses, and discounts, as appropriate. Adjustments were made for difference in packing, and differences in the merchandise, as appropriate.

The adjusted third country price was calculated on the basis of the f.o.b. or c.i.f. price with deductions for inland freight, ocean freight, shipping charges and insurance, as appropriate. An adjustment was made for differences in packing, as appropriate.

The constructed value was calculated on the basis of the cost of materials and labor, the statutory minimum or actual general expenses and profit, and the cost of packing, as appropriate.

Using the above criteria, purchase price was found to be lower than the applicable adjusted home market price, adjusted third country price, or constructed value of such or similar merchandise.

Hammers from Imoto Hamono Co., Ltd., Kyoto Tool Co., Ltd., sledges from Hiroto Tekko K.K., angle nose pliers and terminal spreaders from Tashiro Seisakusho, and battery post and terminal cleaning brushes, from Japan Export Brush Co., Ltd., are excluded from this determination since 100 percent or virtually 100 percent of their export sales of these articles during the period under consideration were examined as appropriate, and the foreign market value or constructed value, as applicable, was found to be lower than the purchase price of identical merchandise in every instance.

The United States International Trade Commission is being advised of this determination.

Discontinuance of Antidumping Investigation. With regard to non-powered precision measuring instruments consisting of micrometers, vernier calipers, and dial indicators, a statement of reasons for the tentative action was published in the notice of tentative discontinuance referred to above, and interested parties were afforded an opportunity to make written submissions and to present oral views in connection with the tentative discontinuance.

After consideration of all views and arguments, and for the reasons stated in the notice of "Withholding of Appraisal and Notice of Tentative Discontinuance of Antidumping Investigation", I hereby discontinue the antidumping investigation on micrometers, vernier calipers, and dial indicators from Japan.

This "Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value and Discontinuance of Antidumping Investigation" is published pursuant to section 201(c) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(c)) and section 153.15(d) of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 153.15(d)).

(1) Starlings, Rothschild's Mynah (Leucopars rothschildi)

1.2 animals ♂ 1974 ♀s 1973. The Woodland Park Zoological Gardens at 5500 Phinney Ave. N. Seattle, WA, wishes to export these animals to the Calgary Zoological Society, Calgary, Alberta, Canada for a breeding program which has been in progress since 1972.

(2) These animals were born at the Woodland Park Zoological Gardens in 1973-1974.

(3) Calgary Zoological Society is attempting to obtain captive raised animals from a professional zoological garden rather than attempt capture of wild birds.

(4) Wildlife sought was born and raised by professional staff at the Woodland Park Zoological Gardens (a municipal zoo), 5500 Phinney Ave. N. Seattle, Washington 98107.

(5) Calgary Zoological Society, St. George Island, Calgary, Alberta, Canada T2G 3H4; Phone (403) 265-9310.

(6) Live wildlife requested by permit.

(i) The area where these birds will be housed is: flight cage off of main aviary which is 8' wide x 25' long by 8' high. It has a small pool on the ground with a continuous fresh water feed, a large number of both exotic and native plants, nest boxes and nesting materials, two feeding stations, glass on 3 sides to permit natural lighting. See Attachment A.

(ii) The present person in charge of the Aviary and waterfowl started working at Calgary in 1968. He resigned his position in 1971 to work in an Australian Zoo for two years and then rejoined the Calgary Zoo in 1973. He is an extremely knowledgeable and capable person with birds as is witnessed by the fact that over 20% of the Calgary waterfowl collection is successfully breeding with remarkable success with a large number Passeriformes.

(iii) The Calgary Zoological Society as applicant is willing to participate in a cooperative breeding program and to contribute data to a studbook on a regular basis.

(iv) Birds will be shipped in individual compartmented cage, 10"x12"x12" (each compartment) with perch near bottom. Screened vents, bedding material, water and feed containers adequate for sustenance for 48 hours. The shipment could leave on Hughes Airwest Flight #772, from Seattle, at 9:00 AM any day—arriving Spokane, Washington at 9:50 AM, transfer to Hughes Airwest Flight #6, arriving at Calgary at 2:00 PM the same day. A total of 5 hours flight time. The Calgary Zoo will meet flight.

(v) Rothschild's Mynah—Calgary Zoological Society record for last five years.

Oct. 31, 1960....	None in collection.
Oct. 31, 1970....	Do.
Oct. 31, 1971....	Do.
Oct. 31, 1972....	Do.
Dec. 28, 1972....	1/1 bought from Mich Ken Breeding Farm, 01212 Carlevoix St., Montreal, Canada.
Aug. 18, 1973....	0/1 found dead in pen.
Oct. 31, 1973....	1/0 in collection.
Oct. 31, 1974....	Do.

The ♀ that died August 18, 1973, appeared to have flown into the glass window in June; as a consequence she developed central nervous system problems and died August 18, 1973. The exhibit was immediately modified to include more branches and plants in front of window areas. Have had no problems since.

(7) See Attachment B.

(8) We believe that the Calgary Zoological Society can provide the necessary housing facility and environment conducive to propagating Rothschild's Mynahs (an endangered species.)

We therefore wish to export 1.2 Rothschild's Mynahs from Woodland Park Zoo to Calgary, in order to establish their breeding colony. Upon receipt of a valid permit, the birds would then be shipped to the Calgary Zoo via Hughes Airwest as follows:

Flight #722 departing Seattle, at 9:00 AM, arriving Spokane 9:50 AM, transfer to Flight #6 arriving in Calgary at 2:00 PM, the same day. Flight time: 5 (five) hours.

Two of the primary functions of zoological parks today are conservation and education. These birds would be placed in a breeding program which will, if successful, help to prevent the extinction of another species and at the same time add valuable information which will help in captive management and husbandry practices.

These birds will remain at the Calgary Zoological Park the remainder of their natural life.

INCIDENCE AND NATURE OF RUNAWAY BEHAVIOR

Notice of Program Results

Pursuant to Section 606 of the Community Services Act of 1974, (Pub. L. 93-644) 42 USC 2946, this agency announces the results, findings, data and recommendations reported as a result of activities associated with HEW project entitled, "The Incidence and Nature of Runaway Behavior."

This final report presents a feasibility study in estimating the incidence of runaway youth, through a survey technique. The estimate was derived from incidence observed in a selected subset of households in the Denver and North East Colorado area, representing both a urban and rural setting. The sample included data from 2500 households with known runaways.

The report discusses issues of feasibility and recommends that a national probability sample be used in estimating the incidence of runaway youths. The episodic, social-psychological and human service information collected by the survey are the basis for discussions of the incidence and explanation of runaways.

General findings report satisfaction by a majority of users with agencies providing services to runaways and their families. The most frequently utilized sources of assistance are social service agencies, friends and relatives, police, and schools. Many users also expressed satisfaction with advertised runaway shelters.

Finally, seven types of runaways are characterized by the analysis. In addition, five generalized models or typical episodes are described in the report.

A copy of the report will be filed and available as soon as possible from the National Technical Information Service, U.S. Department of Commerce, Springfield, Virginia 22151.

Federal Aviation Administration
AIRPORT NOISE POLICY
 Public Hearings

The Federal Aviation Administration will hold a series of public hearings on its airport noise policy. These hearings will afford interested persons the opportunity to present views, data, and arguments regarding the subjects and issues stated in a general notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 9, 1975 (40 FR 28844). Additional hearings at other locations will be announced at later dates.

The first of the series of hearings will be conducted at the following times and locations:

- Sept. 16-17, 1975—Los Angeles, California: Convening at 9:00 a.m. in the Golden State Room, Los Angeles Hilton Hotel, 930 Wilshire Boulevard, Los Angeles, California.
- Sept. 17, 1975—San Diego, California: Convening at 1:00 p.m. in the Copper Room, San Diego Convention and Performing Arts Center, 202 "C" Street, San Diego, California.
- Sept. 18-19, 1975—San Francisco, California: Convening at 1:00 p.m. on Sept. 18, and 9:00 a.m. on Sept. 19, 1975 in the Fine Arts Room, Hall of Flowers Auditorium, San Mateo County Fairgrounds, 2495 South Delaware Street, San Mateo, California.
- Sept. 22—Missoula, Montana: Convening at 1:00 p.m. at the Village Motor Inn, 100 Madison, Missoula, Montana.

The hearings will be informal in nature and will be conducted by a designated representative of the Administrator.

Since the hearings will not be evidentiary or judicial in nature, there will be no cross-examination or other adjudicatory procedure applied to the presentations. However, interested persons wishing to make rebuttal statements will be given the opportunity to do so at the conclusion of the presentations in the same order in which initial statements are made.

Interested persons are invited to attend the hearings and to participate by making oral or written statements concerning the respective topics, their substance and issues. Written statements should be submitted in duplicate and will be made a part of the record of proceedings. Persons wishing to make oral statements at the hearings must notify the FAA that they desire to be heard, and indicate the amount of time requested for their initial statements. Presentations will be scheduled on a first-come-first-served basis, as time may permit. Requests to be heard or to receive additional information should be made as follows:

For the hearings at Los Angeles, San Diego, and San Francisco, California—write or call:

Public Affairs Officer, Western Region (AWE-5), Federal Aviation Administration, 15000 Aviation Boulevard, Lawndale, California, 90260; or Telephone: (213) 538-6431.

For the hearings at Missoula, Montana—write or call:

Public Affairs Officer, Rocky Mountain Region (ARM-5), Federal Aviation Administration, 10455 East 25th Avenue, Aurora, Colorado 80010; or Telephone: (303) 837-4992.

In addition to materials presented at the hearing, persons not participating in the hearings are invited to submit written comments on the airport noise policy in accordance with the notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 9, 1975. Such communications should be addressed to:

Federal Aviation Administration: Associate Administrator for Policy Development and Review, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591, Attention: Airport Noise Policy Proceedings.

The closing date for submitting written comments is January 1, 1976. All comments will be available for examination both before and after the closing date for comments.

The general notice (40 FR 28844, July 9, 1975) regarding the FAA's airport noise policy identifies a number of possible airport use-restriction options which may be considered for inclusion in an airport noise relief program. In addition, the FAA identified four potential policy options and their implications. Those policy options are as follows:

1. Airport proprietor actions unconstrained by the FAA.
2. Airport proprietor completely constrained by the FAA with a correlated development of a Federal airport noise abatement plan.
3. Airport proprietor to establish a noise abatement plan.
4. Continue the present policy.

The notice presents analysis of the respective options and contains the material that is the subject of these public hearings. While all comments are of interest, the FAA specifically invites statements or comments regarding the policy options in terms of the specific questions stated in the notice.

Before taking final action regarding its airport noise policy, the FAA will consider the statements presented at the hearings and all written comments submitted.

Transcripts of each hearing will be made and anyone may purchase copies from the reporter. A transcript of each hearing will be available for examination in the office of the Associate Administrator for Policy Development and Review, Room 1000W, 800 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington D.C.

Since the hearings contained in this notice have been previously announced in their respective localities in which they will be held, it is determined that publication of the notice of public hearing in the FEDERAL REGISTER less than 15 days before the first hearing is reasonable under 44 U.S.C. 1508.

Issued in Washington D.C. on September 3, 1975.

FREDERICK A. MEISTER,
 Associate Administrator for Policy Development and Review (Acting).

KOEHRING CO.

Petition for Exemption From Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard

Koehring Company has petitioned the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration for an extension until December 1, 1976, of its exemption from Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 121, Air Brake Systems, on the basis that compliance would cause it substantial economic hardship.

Notice of Koehring's original petition was published on February 13, 1975 (40 FR 6702), and an opportunity afforded for comment. The notice that the petition was granted was published on April 22, 1975 (40 FR 17775).

Koehring requests an extension based upon the reasons set forth in both its original and current petitions. The vehicles concerned are trucks, primarily hydraulic excavators and crane carriers manufactured by its Bantam Division. They are six-wheel units with front driving steerable axles. The smaller models are the T-644 excavator and T-350 crane using steering driving axles rated at 11,000 pounds GAWR. The larger models are the T-744 excavator and the T-588 crane using steering driving axles rated at 18,000 pounds GAWR. Koehring states that it has been unable to find a supplier other than Rockwell Standard to build front driving axles for its lighter vehicles, but "Because of previous order commitments Rockwell Standard will not be able to deliver complying axles to Koehring [until approximately July 1976]." Although Oshkosh Truck Corporation had commented that it could supply Koehring with axles for its heavier vehicles, Koehring, after investigation, believes that Oshkosh is not a realistic source of supply. The axle ratings differ, and, in Koehring's words, "The Oshkosh Truck axles use air over hydraulic brakes whereas Bantam Division uses full air brakes; the gear ratios available from Oshkosh Truck would require redesign of the gears currently in use by Bantam Division whereas the Rockwell Standard axles would not; the price quoted by Oshkosh Truck is approximately $4,300 to $4,500 per axle as compared to Rockwell Standard's quote of $2,700 per axle." Koehring also argues that to turn to Oshkosh "would require Bantam to * * * start afresh with new designs * * * which might further delay * * * the date on which Bantam Division would comply with FMVSS-121 * * *."

This notice of receipt of a petition for a temporary exemption is published in accordance with the NHTSA regulations on the subject (49 CFR 555.7), and does not represent any agency decision or other exercise of judgment concerning the merits of the petition.

Interested persons are invited to submit comments on the petition of Koehring Company described above. Comments should refer to the docket number and be submitted to: Docket Section, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, Room 5108, 400 Seventh Street, SW., Washington, D.C. 20590. It is requested but not required that five copies be submitted.

All comments received before the close of business on the comment closing date indicated below will be considered. The application and supporting materials, and all comments received, are available for examination in the docket both before and after the closing date. Comments received after the closing date will also be filed and will be considered to the extent possible. Notice of action upon the petition will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Comment closing date: October 6, 1975.

CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION

SELF-PRESSURIZED HOUSEHOLD SUB- STANCES CONTAINING VINYL CHLORIDE

Notice of Environmental Assessment and Reconsideration

On August 21, 1974 the Commission published in the FEDERAL REGISTER, 39 FR 30112-30114 a regulation promulgated pursuant to section 2(q)(1)(B) of the Federal Hazardous Substances Act (FHSA), 15 U.S.C. 1261(q)(1)(B), declaring any self-pressurized products intended or suitable for household use that contain vinyl chloride monomer as an ingredient or in the propellant to be "banned hazardous substances". In the same notice the Commission declined to exercise any discretion which it might have had under the FHSA, to make its banning order prospective only, thus requiring repurchase under the provisions of section 15, FHSA, 15 U.S.C. 1274, and regulations promulgated thereunder, 16 CFR 1500.202. The banning order as well as the repurchase requirements became effective on October 7, 1974.

On October 8, 1974 a petition for review of the Commission's order insofar as it affected goods introduced into interstate commerce prior to the effective date of the order was filed in the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit, Pactra Industries, Inc. v. Consumer Product Safety Commission, No. 74-2902. Petitioner filed a motion for partial summary reversal with the Court alleging that the Commission erred in failing to comply with the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq. On December 13, 1974 the Court stayed that portion of the Commission order requiring repurchase and disposal of all household products containing vinyl chloride monomer pending compliance by the Commission with the requirements of NEPA.

Thereafter, the Commission's Bureau of Economic Analysis was instructed to take any necessary steps to comply with the requirements of NEPA. Numerous draft environmental assessments were prepared. Comments were received from members of the Commission's staff and from counsel for Pactra Industries, Inc. with respect to one draft assessment. Under the Commission's "openness policy" draft assessments and comments were available to the public as the work progressed.

On June 30, 1975, the staff's final assessment on the environmental effects of the repurchase requirement was submitted to the Commission for its review. The assessment concluded that the repurchase requirement would produce no significant adverse effects on the human environment. On the basis of the assessment, the Commission in accordance with the guidelines of the Council on Environmental Quality (CEQ), 40 CFR 1500.11(f), on July 11, 1975, preliminarily decided that no formal environmental impact statement was necessary and reaffirmed its decision regarding repurchase. Thereafter, the Commission's General Counsel forwarded the assessment to CEQ for its evaluation as to whether the assessment and the procedures utilized in preparing the assessment was in compliance with NEPA and the policies and guidelines of CEQ. On August 4, 1975, CEQ responded advising that "the assessment procedures . . . followed are consistent with those recommended in the Council on Environmental Quality Guidelines . . . and that the assessment is sufficient and considers the relevant environmental effects of the repurchase requirement." CEQ further advised that "the assessment provides the Commission with sufficient information on which to base its negative declaration as required by [NEPA] and the CEQ Guidelines."

Based on the information provided in the assessment, the opinion of CEQ, and other information available, the Commission concludes that the repurchase requirement is necessary for the safety of the public and will not have any significant adverse environmental effect. It therefore reaffirms its decision requiring repurchase as set forth in its regulation published August 21, 1974, 39 FR 30112-30114.

At the time of its initial consideration of the ban of vinyl chloride monomer, the Commission through notice and comment was advised that the substance was no longer utilized in the manufacture of products subject to the Commission's jurisdiction. Discontinuation of manufacture occurred in early 1974. The Commission was advised, however, that stocks of products containing the substance were in the channels of commerce and in the hands of consumers. The Commission decided that repurchase was the only feasible manner to eliminate any danger to the public caused by exposure to the substance. The environmental assessment together with all of the other information before the Commission demonstrates that repurchase will not produce any significant adverse effects on the human environment and further convinces the Commission that its initial decision regarding repurchase was necessary and proper.

At the time of its initial decision, the Commission was faced with only two options: to reverse the flow of vinyl chloride away from the consumer, or to allow the products to remain in use until available stocks were exhausted. The Commission opted for immediate reversal of the flow rather than allowing the supply of the products to be exhausted. The Commission was of the belief that the potential cancer producing effects were so dangerous that this was the only manner in which to insure the protection of the public. The evidence before the Commission demonstrated that the substance had caused numerous deaths and in at least two cases where the victims had only been exposed to relatively small doses. Moreover, the record was devoid of any mention of a known safe level of exposure to vinyl chloride monomer. Finally, the record demonstrated that the latency period between exposure and symptoms to be so long that present testing could not conclusively demonstrate a safe exposure level. On the basis of this evidence, the Commission, in fulfilling its mandate under the FHSIA concluded that the risk of injury to the public was so great that a ban and repurchase of products containing the substance was required. Without the repurchase requirement there would be little or no incentive for consumers to get the products out of the household or for the retailers and others in the distribution chain to remove the products from the shelves and out of the channels of commerce. Although the danger posed by vinyl chloride monomer has been publicized, the consumer in many instances is unable to determine which products contain the substance and which do not. Prior to the Commission's action herein, vinyl chloride was not considered to be a hazardous substance and thus no labeling requirement was in existence and in fact many of the products involved do not designate ingredients. Apart from labeling is the fact that many consumers may still be unaware of the dangers of vinyl chloride, even if the ingredients of the products are labeled. On balance, the dangers posed by use of the substance far outweigh the financial burden of repurchase.

Adding the current environmental assessment into the equation, the balance tips decidedly in favor of the Commission's earlier determination. The assessment demonstrates that absent any repurchase requirement, the products already in commerce containing vinyl chloride monomer will be sold and used thus exposing the user to the dangers of the substance. Disposal of the containers would be accomplished in a conventional manner by normal incineration or by dumping in common landfills. This presents the possibility that cans will explode or otherwise release the vinyl chloride gas during the disposal process and poses an additional danger to persons exposed to the substance during disposal.

The only potential environmental hazard posed by the repurchase requirement appears to be the disposal of large concentrations of cans containing the substance. The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Office of Solid Waste Management has issued guidelines for the safe disposal of aerosol cans containing vinyl chloride. EPA recommends incineration in special facilities equipped with "scrubbing" devices as the preferred method of disposing of aerosols containing vinyl chloride. Use of this method eliminates both the vinyl chloride gas and any dangerous metallic residues remaining from the active ingredient in the products. EPA has also advised that burial of the aerosols in certain designated landfills set aside for hazardous industrial wastes is acceptable if suggested procedures are followed. Both of these methods of disposal are available and no additional facilities or other resources such as land are necessary.

The number of aerosol cans in existence which are affected by the repurchase requirement is small in comparison to the total number of aerosols generally. The assessment estimates that approximately 3.3 million cans of vinyl chloride aerosols are in existence. Of these, approximately 1 million are in the hands of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. The remaining 2.3 million cans are in the possession of the consumer public. The estimates were determined through a survey of manufacturers and the use of recognized market survey techniques, and appear to provide an accurate evaluation. At the present time, approximately four large concentrations (35,000-500,000 cans) of products containing vinyl chloride monomer exist but adequate techniques exist for their disposal. The repurchase requirement is not expected to produce any other large concentrations.

Given the health hazards posed and the fact that disposal of concentrations of vinyl chloride aerosols can be accomplished without any significant environmental danger by following the EPA guidelines, the Commission believes that the repurchase requirement will not have a significant adverse effect on the human environment. The Commission is aware of the possibility that disposal of all of the products may not be accomplished in accordance with EPA guidelines. This most likely could occur in the case of small lots of the products. The Commission does not believe that this poses any greater environmental problem than that which would occur through use and conventional disposal of the containers. To the extent that this raises any problem, the Commission believes that the environmental effects of improper disposal will be de minimis and certainly will not outweigh the safety hazard of continued use.

The Commission requests appropriate industry officials to conduct their repurchase and disposal guidelines suggested by EPA. The Commission expects that industry will act responsibly in arranging safe and orderly repurchase and disposal in the fashion recommended. The Commission notes that many states and municipalities have adopted codes for the disposal of hazardous wastes. In many instances these regulations are in conformity with EPA guidelines and will insure the proper disposal of the products involved. To date the Commission has not initiated any seizure actions against the products in question. However, if at any time it deems it necessary to initiate such action, the Commission, in the event it is successful in such actions will recommend to the Courts disposal methods consistent with the EPA guidelines.

SPACE HEATERS Partial Denial of Petition

Section 10 of the Consumer Product Safety Act (15 U.S.C. 2059) provides that any interested person may petition the Consumer Product Safety Commission to commence a proceeding for the issuance of a consumer product safety rule. Section 10 also provides that if the Commission denies such a petition, it shall publish its reasons for denial.

On January 10, 1974, the Missouri Public Interest Group (MoPIRG) petitioned the Commission to develop mandatory standards and labeling requirements addressed to safety problems associated with space heaters. Section 7 of the Consumer Product Safety Act (15 U.S.C. 2056) provides that a proceeding for development of a consumer product safety standard is begun by publishing a Notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. This Notice of Proceeding invites any person or group to either submit an existing standard or offer to develop a new standard which could eliminate or reduce unreasonable risks of injury associated with a consumer product.

On October 31, 1974, the Commission concluded that the MoPIRG petition should be granted "in substance" and requested that the staff present it with information from which the Commission could preliminarily determine whether an unreasonable risk of injury existed with regard to space heaters. Upon review of further information from the staff, the Commission concluded, on January 9, 1975, that the notice to commence proceedings, (Notice of Proceeding) for issuance of a consumer product safety standard, should apply only to gas space heaters. Therefore, the Commission decision denied the petition as to other types of space heaters.

The Commission's decision to proceed with development of a mandatory standard addressed only to gas space heaters was made after study and evaluation of data available at this time on all space heaters which indicated that only gas space heaters presented an unreasonable risk of injury to consumers.

Specifically, gas space heaters are associated with serious hazards that are not present in electric space heaters, such as carbon monoxide poisoning, anoxia and explosion. Death and injury information available to the Commission indicates a high rate of injurious or fatal incidents involving gas.

The Commission expects to publish, in the near future, a Notice of Proceeding to commence development of a consumer product safety rule which will apply only to gas space heaters. The Commission believes that the decision to develop a standard for gas space heaters is needed to reduce the unreasonable risk of injury associated with gas space heaters.

Accordingly, this notice confirms that MoPIRG's petition to develop a standard for space heaters has been granted as to gas space heaters and denied at this time as to space heaters fueled by other energy sources.

FOREST SERVICE

Draft

Horse Creek Administrative-Research, Nezperce National Forest, Idaho County, Idaho, August 25: The proposed Horse Creek Administrative Research Project, Nezperce National Forest will attempt to assess the impact of land management activities on the soil and water resources in the Western Rocky Mountain physiographic province. Procedures, involve utilization of an instrument network to monitor hydrometeorological parameters before, during, and after a controlled sequence of timber harvest and road construction activities. Adverse impacts include the disturbance of the roadless portions of the Meadow Creek drainage, the effects of the yearly installation and removal of sediment catch basins, and 2 timber sales. (ELR Order No. 51286.)

Conroe Unit, Sam Houston National Forest, Montgomery and Walker Counties, Tex., August 25: The statement concerns the proposed 10-year management plan for the Conroe Unit of the Sam Houston National Forest. Management goals for the 75,574-acre unit will be directed toward meeting the local and regional needs of the public while respecting the production and carrying capacities of the forest resources. Environmental impacts will be on water quality, soils, vegetation, wildlife and forest aesthetics due to timber harvesting, road and trail construction, and developed recreation facilities. (ELR Order No. 51270.)

Grand Haven Harbor, Grand River Dredging, Ottawa County, Mich., August 25: Proposed is the periodic maintenance dredging of the navigation channels in Grand Haven Harbor and the Grand River, Michigan. Unpolluted materials dredged from the 14.5 mile long upstream channel will be placed primarily on shoreline reaches, particularly those that have been subject to erosion. PESTICIDE ENFORCEMENT POLICY STATEMENT NO. 2

Use of Registered Pesticides For the Control of Unnamed Target Pests In Structural Pest Control

I. General Background.

On May 5, 1975, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a document entitled "Institution of Enforcement Policy Statements" (40 FR 19526). It was the Agency's purpose in instituting this series of Pesticide Enforcement Policy Statements (PEPS) to inform the general public and persons engaged in the formulation, distribution, sale, application, or other use of pesticides, of the policies adopted by the Agency in the enforcement of the provisions of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, and Rodenticide Act, as amended [Pub. L. 92-516; 86 Stat 973; 7 U.S.C. 136 et seq.; hereinafter referred to as FIFRA]. PEPS are prepared and published by EPA's Office of Enforcement. A detailed explanation of the purpose and scope of PEPS was set forth in the May 5, 1975, FEDERAL REGISTER notice.

Federal regulation of the use of pesticides was established for the first time with the enactment of the 1972 amendments, specifically through the provisions of FIFRA section 12(a) (2) (G). Any person who uses a registered pesticide in a manner inconsistent with its labeling is in violation of the Act and may be subject to civil or criminal sanctions. However, as set forth in the legislative history, Congress intended that EPA enforce the prohibition of section 12(a) (2) (G) in a "common sense manner" and not prohibit the use of registered pesticides which are in no way harmful and which have demonstrated beneficial effects. [House Committee on Agriculture, H.R. REP. No. 92-511, 92d Cong., 1st Sess. 16 (1971), and Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, S. Rep. No. 92-838, 92d Cong., 2d Sess. 16 (1972)].

As the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry stated:

 it is the belief of the Committee that the use of the word "inconsistent" should be read and administered in a way so as to visit penalties only upon those individuals who have disregarded instructions on a label that would indicate to a man of ordinary intelligence that use not in accordance with such instructions might endanger the safety of others or the environment. Senate Report, Id.

In view of the legislative history concerning the use of registered pesticides for the control of unnamed target pests, this PEPS touches upon matters which may appear to be jurisdictional in nature. It does not, however, presume to define the Agency's regulatory jurisdiction. If the Administrator subsequently promulgates regulations, which interpret the scope of the Agency's regulatory jurisdiction, the Office of Enforcement will revoke or amend this PEPS to conform with such regulations.

This policy statement concerns the use of a registered pesticide in structural pest control for the control of pests which are not named on the product's label. It neither addresses nor in any way affects the requirement of compliance with affirmative provisions of an approved label.

EPA has long been aware of the fact that there exist a host of structural pests which are limited in number and sporadic in their occurrence. These pests are not sufficiently important to justify or in some cases even to permit the collection of sufficient data to meet EPA standards for revision of registration and labeling to include them. Another class of pest problems involves pests which are unpredictable or unprecedented in their occurrence. In the past, pest control operators have commonly used registered pesticides successfully to control pests which, for the reasons described above, were not specifically listed on the pesticide's approved labeling. These pesticide applications against unnamed target pests are conducted with application rates and intervals, and at use sites which conform to those appearing on the approved labeling. However, such a use constitutes a technical violation of section 12(a)(2)(G), in that the target pest differs from that listed on the approved label.

Recently, many interested people have sought permission from EPA to use registered pesticides to control minor or infrequently encountered pests which appear in, on, or adjacent to any structure when such pests are not named on the approved label of the pesticide. Consistent with the legislative history of section 12(a)(2)(G), EPA has determined that under the specified conditions and limitations set forth below, use of a registered pesticide against unnamed pests does not warrant prosecution for a violation of section 12(a)(2)(G).

II. Use of a Registered Pesticide for the Control of Unnamed Target Pests in Structural Pest Control.

The Agency has determined that the use of a registered pesticide at use sites approved on the label for the control of unnamed target pests in, on, or adjacent to any structure is permitted, provided that:

(A) The pesticide selected is registered for use at the type of site which is to be treated;

(B) Either (1) the user is a knowledgeable expert in structural pest control who has himself recommended the use of a registered pesticide against the unnamed target pest; or (2) the use is recommended in writing by a knowledgeable expert in structural pest control;

(C) No pesticide registered for use against the target pest in, on, or adjacent to any structure is reasonably available in the geographic area in which the pesticide is to be used;

(D) The user complies with all other instructions, warnings, precautions, and prohibitions which appear on the label and labeling of the product which is used; and

(E) The use is efficacious, in that it has beneficial effects, and is not harmful to man or the environment.

All of the limiting and defining provisions contained in the paragraphs which follow are an integral part of this PEPS. Whether the user has reasonably met the criteria set forth in this PEPS will be determined by the Agency on a case-by-case basis. The burden of showing that the criteria set forth herein has been met rests with the person applying or otherwise using a registered pesticide for the control of unnamed target pests in structural pest control.

III. Applicability of the Pesticide Enforcement Policy Statement Regarding Use of Registered Pesticides for the Control of Unnamed Target Pests.

A. Use at the Specific Type of Site Which is to be Treated.

The policy set forth in this statement allows the use of a registered pesticide against unnamed target pests only when the application is made at the specific type of use site for which the product is registered. This policy applies to the use of registered pesticides in, on, or adjacent to enclosed man-made structures such as human dwellings, institutions (including schools and hospitals), industrial establishments, non-commercial greenhouses and other structures used for the protection of stored, processed, or manufactured products. This PEPS does not, for example, allow any person to use a pesticide which is registered for use in, on, or adjacent to structures to perform any agricultural or other outdoor application or use which is not related to structural pest control. No pesticide registered solely for agricultural use may be used for the control of unnamed target pests in, on, or adjacent to any structure.

B. Recommendation by a Knowledgeable Expert in Structural Pest Control.

1. Definition of the Term "Knowledgeable Expert in Structural Pest Control."

The term "knowledgeable expert in structural pest control" refers to any person who (1) holds a college or higher level degree in entomology or other science related to pest control; or (2) has five (5) or more years of practical experience in professional pest control; or (3) is the supervisory official of the firm, organization or Agency making the application who is responsible for making technical judgments regarding pest control practice; or (4) is certified by a State pursuant to FIFRA Section 4 to use restricted use pesticides in industrial, institutional, structural or health-related pest control (40 CFR 171.3(b)(7)).

Knowledgeable experts in the field of structural pest control may also include qualified persons employed by organizations such as State Cooperative Extension Services, Federal, State, or local departments or agencies, or public health services.

2. Use by a Knowledgeable Expert in Structural Pest Control.

A registered pesticide may be applied or otherwise used for the control of unnamed target pests by a "knowledgeable expert in structural pest control" if that expert himself makes the judgment that such use is efficacious against the unnamed target pest, and that such use is not or will not be harmful to man or the environment.

3. Recommendation of Knowledgeable Expert in Structural Pest Control.

A registered pesticide may be applied or otherwise used for the control of unnamed target pests by a person who is not himself a knowledgeable expert in structural pest control only if the application or use has been recommended in writing by a knowledgeable expert.

These recommendations will be made part of the records of pest control activities. Sufficient records must be kept to describe accurately the circumstances of the pest infestation, the pesticide recommended for control of the problem, the results of the treatment, and the name and address of the knowledgeable expert. These records shall be maintained by the person who applies or otherwise uses the pesticide for a period of six (6) months from the date of application or use. Recommendations of a knowledgeable expert in structural pest control may be in the form of articles published in current scientific journals, manuals, or other technical bulletins or specific instructions. The applicator or user must have obtained the written recommendation prior to the time of the application. He must make such recommendations available to an official representative of the Agency upon request.

4. Enforcement Liability.

The responsibility for the safe and efficacious use of the pesticide and for full compliance with the terms of this PEPS may rest with either the applicator or the knowledgeable expert in structural pest control or both, as the equities and the circumstances may require.

A knowledgeable expert in structural pest control who personally uses or supervises the use of a registered pesticide against unnamed target pests is responsible for the proper use of the pesticide and for the efficacy of the product against the unnamed target pest. The expert in this position is therefore also subject to enforcement liability for any misuse of the pesticide. In all applications performed by persons other than a knowledgeable expert, the primary responsibility for compliance rests with the person who performs the actual application. Enforcement action will be considered on a case-by-case basis for violations involving significant harm to man or the environment or deviations from the provisions of section II (A) through (E) above.

C. Reasonable Availability of a Pesticide Registered for Use Against the Target Pest.

Any registered pesticide currently in the channels of commerce in the geographic area where the user resides or does business is presumed, for purposes of enforcement, to be reasonably available for the control of pests. In determining whether a registered pesticide is reasonably available in the geographic area in which the pesticide is to be used the Agency will consider whether (a) the user had made a reasonable effort to ascertain whether any pesticide had been registered for the control of the target pest, (b) the user had attempted to procure any such pesticide registered for the target pest from his normal sources of distribution, and (c) it was reasonable to conclude that no pesticide registered for the control of the target pest could be obtained within a reasonable period of time from any other structural pest control operator in the geographic area in which the pesticide was to be used.

No claim of unavailability may be made on the basis of excessive cost or non-profitability. Furthermore, a business policy of exclusively using one's own product will not support a claim of unavailability if a pesticide registered for the control of the target pest is available from another registrant or distributor in the geographic area in which the pesticide is to be used.

D. Directions for Use and Other Precautionary Labeling.

The use of a registered pesticide for the control of an unnamed target pest neither modifies other label provisions or directions for use, nor authorizes the use of the pesticide in a manner inconsistent with any other label provision, including directions for use, precautionary labeling and warning statements. Label provisions which must be complied with at all times regardless of the target pest include, but are not limited to, statements regarding product mixing, loading and preparation, application methods, label dosage rate (except as provided in PEPS No. 1, 40 FR 19529), structure reentry times, protective clothing or equipment, product and container transportation, and storage and disposal. Although it is not common practice, where a registrant desires expressly to prohibit use of a pesticide against named or unnamed pests and the label so provides, it shall be a violation of FIFRA section 12(a)(2)(G) to use such pesticide for the control of such named or unnamed pest.

E. Product Efficacy, and Beneficial/Harmful Effects.

Pesticide use for the control of unnamed target pests must be efficacious and must not be harmful to man or the environment. An application or use will be considered to be efficacious if it has beneficial effects and controls unnamed target pests in a manner which is normally associated with the use of the pesticide in the specific environmental situation.

V. Public Comment.

The Administrative Procedure Act [5 U.S.C. § 553(b)] provides that the solicitation of comments is not required of Federal agencies for "interpretative rules, general statements of policy, rules of agency organization, procedure, or practice." The PEPS relate directly to internal Agency procedures and practice and constitute "interpretive rules" or "general statements of policy." As such, this policy statement falls within the scope of this exemption. However, interested persons may submit written comments regarding the policy set forth in this PEPS to the Pesticides Enforcement Division (EG-342), Office of Enforcement, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M St. SW., Room 3624, Washington, D.C. 20460. Three copies of these comments should be submitted to facilitate the work of the EPA and others interested in inspecting such documents.

DOUBLEDAY'S MOTION TO STRIKE

2. In support of its request to enlarge issues, WGNU alleges that Doubleday erred in using FCC Figure M-3 conductivities in determining the extent of its proposed nighttime contours,³ and that "far more accurate" data are on file with the Commission in the form of measurement data taken on existing stations. Specifically, in urging the addition of Rules 73.37 and 73.188 issues,⁴ WGNU submits an affidavit of its consulting engineer asserting that Doubleday's proposed nighttime 2 mV/m contour will overlap the nighttime 25 mV/m contour of Station KJCF, Festus, Missouri,⁵ and that the proposed 5 mV/m city-grade contour will not cover all of the city of St. Louis, Missouri. WGNU's allegation of a 2 and 25 mV/m overlap is based on its contention that measurements made on Station WIL at 204 degrees indicate a conductivity between the proposed KWK nighttime site and Station KJCF higher than that indicated by FCC Figure M-3.⁶

² The Board also has before it the following related pleadings: (a) opposition to WGNU petition to enlarge, filed January 30, 1975, by Doubleday; (b) comments on WGNU petition to enlarge, filed January 30, 1975, by the Broadcast Bureau; (c) reply to (a) and (b), filed February 18, 1975, by WGNU; (d) petition for leave to file supplement, filed February 19, 1975, by WGNU; (e) supplement to (c), filed February 19, 1975, by WGNU; (f) opposition to motion to strike, filed March 14, 1975, by WGNU; (g) comments on motion to strike, filed March 14, 1975, by the Broadcast Bureau; (h) opposition to Doubleday petition to enlarge, filed March 17, 1975, by WGNU; (i) opposition to Doubleday petition to enlarge, filed March 19, 1975, by the Broadcast Bureau; (j) reply to (h) and (i), filed April 4, 1975, by Doubleday; (k) request to file an additional pleading, filed April 11, 1975, by Doubleday; (l) supplement to (j), filed April 11, 1975, by Doubleday; (m) response to (c) and (e), filed June 9, 1975, by Doubleday; (n) petition for leave to file responsive pleading, filed June 20, 1975, by WGNU; (o) comments on (m), filed June 20, 1975, by WGNU; and (p) opposition to (n), filed June 27, 1975, by Doubleday.

⁶ According to WGNU, the conductivity is 30 mmhos/m, not 15 as shown on Figure M-3, and the WIL site is 2.7 miles east of the KWK site.

WGNU's allegation of incomplete city coverage is grounded on its contentions that measurements made in the St. Louis area, particularly those on file with the Commission for Stations KATZ and WIL, show the conductivity in the area to be "extremely low,"⁷ and that the proposed KWK 5 mV/m contour is based on the standard radiation pattern, which may not be achieved in practice.

3. In opposition to the request for a Rule 73.37 issue, Doubleday asserts that measurements along the WIL 160 and 244 degree radials show that the conductivity in the area is not uniform, that the WIL 204 degree radial relied upon by WGNU passes two miles from the proposed Doubleday site, and hence that Doubleday was required to use the conductivity of 15 shown on Figure M-3 to determine its 2 mV/m contour. Doubleday further asserts that, earlier in this proceeding, measurements were taken by WGNU's engineer on a radial passing within $\frac{1}{10}$ of a mile of the proposed KWK site indicating a conductivity of 8, in contrast to the value of 30 determined from the WIL measurements.⁸ With respect to the city coverage issue (Rule 73.188), Doubleday submits that even if WGNU's allegation of incomplete coverage were true, only 3.3 percent of the city would be excluded and that this would constitute "substantial compliance" with Rule 73.188. However, Doubleday contends, the measurements relied upon by WGNU are too far from the proposed site to be valid, and thus the Figure M-3 value of 15 must be used.⁹ The Broadcast Bureau opposes addition of the requested overlap issue, contending that the WIL 204 degree radial cannot be relied upon because the radial runs close to railroad-tracks, because it "misses the proposed site by 2½ miles at its closest point," and because it lies along "radically different" terrain from the path in question. Similarly, the Bureau asserts that WGNU's allegation of incomplete city coverage is based on measurements of stations too far removed from the proposed site and on measurements along radials which do not run in pertinent directions. In reply, WGNU submits new measurements taken on a test transmitter located at the proposed KWK nighttime site.¹⁰ These measurements WGNU argues, show definite overlap of the proposed 2 mV/m contour with the 25 mV/m contour of Station KJCF at night and establish the lack of coverage of the entire city of St. Louis with a 5 mV/m signal. Also, WGNU disputes Doubleday's argument that measurements made on Station WGNU itself should apply in the direction of Station KJCF, contending that WGNU is located 16.2 miles north of the KWK proposed site and several cities are located along portions of the path traversed by the measured radial.

4. Doubleday's motion to strike is directed against the WGNU reply and the supplement thereto, which Doubleday alleges, rely entirely on new measurement data, and therefore violate Rule 1.45.¹¹ Moreover, in Doubleday's view, good cause has not been shown by WGNU for delaying the taking of these measurements until nine months after the filing of Doubleday's application to change nighttime facilities. In opposition to the motion to strike, WGNU contends that the new data must be considered, regardless of the time they were presented to the Commission, since a grant to Doubleday would effectively modify the license of Station KJCF without affording it a hearing. The Broadcast Bureau, in its comments on the motion to strike, submits that WGNU's reply and supplement are not authorized, but that the public interest requires consideration of the information contained therein. The Bureau indicates in its comments that it now supports addition of a Rule 73.37 overlap issue against Doubleday, based on the new measurements taken by WGNU's engineer along the 196 degree radial at the proposed KWK nighttime site, from which he determined the conductivity to be 40 mmhos/m.

5. In its response to WGNU's reply and supplement,¹² Doubleday argues that WGNU's test transmitter measurements should be rejected because of alleged inadequacies in the manner of transmitter installation and nonconformity with the requirements of Rule 73.188.¹³ Doubleday also asserts that WGNU's timing of the disclosure of the commencement of test

¹¹ Rule 1.45 provides, in pertinent part, that a reply "shall be limited to matters raised in the oppositions. . . ."

¹² Doubleday's motion to strike contained, inter alia, a request for additional time to respond to the allegedly new allegations in WGNU's reply and supplement. The Board, by Order, FCC 75R-210, released May 28, 1975, afforded Doubleday an opportunity to file comments. It was not our intention to provoke, thereby, an endless stream of pleadings. WGNU has had ample opportunity to state its position on the matters considered herein, and its petition for leave to file responsive pleading, filed June 20, 1975, will be denied and its comments, filed the same day, will be dismissed.

¹³ Rule 73.188 sets forth requirements governing the taking and submission of data on field intensity.

operations was intended to foreclose observation by Doubleday of the taking of the measurements. Moreover, according to Doubleday, even if the measurements were accepted, there would be no violation of Rule 73.37 because the alleged overlap "would occur in areas already under overlap from KWK's existing operation. . . ." Finally, Doubleday submits that any possibility of prohibited overlap can be eliminated by adjustment of the proposed radiation pattern.

6. The Review Board agrees with the position of the Broadcast Bureau expressed in its comments on Doubleday's motion to strike, and will add a prohibited overlap (Rule 73.37) issue, but not a city coverage (Rule 73.188) issue against Doubleday. Although we do not condone the submission of new data in a reply pleading, in view of the substantial public interest question raised by WGNU's test transmitter measurements and the fact that Doubleday has had an opportunity to respond, we shall accept these data for consideration and deny Doubleday's motion to strike.¹⁵ Cf. Columbia Broadcasting System, Inc., 46 FCC 2d 903, 30 RR 2d 133 (1974). Although, as Doubleday alleges, WGNU's measurements do not conform precisely to the requirements of Rule 73.186(a)(1), we nevertheless are satisfied, because of the apparent inaccessibility of certain parts of the terrain, that they come within the range of flexibility afforded by Rule 73.181(d), and, in our view, raise a substantial question of prohibited 2 mV/m and 25 mV/m overlap with Station KJCF. Cf. Radio Eden, 21 FCC 2d 464, 18 RR 2d 354 (1970); St. Lucie Broadcasting Co., 7 FCC 2d 71, 9 RR 2d 671 (1967). Since Doubleday was not entitled, as a matter of legal right, to advance notice of the test or the opportunity to observe or participate in it, Doubleday's objection to the timing of the disclosure of the test operations is rejected. Moreover, in our view, Doubleday could have conducted its own tests, had it chosen to do so. See Voice of Middlebury, 3 FCC 2d 512, 7 RR 2d 347, recon. denied, FCC 66-868, aff'd sub nom. TI Broadcasting, Inc. v. FCC, 126 U.S. App. D.C. 54, 374 F. 2d 268 (1966).¹⁶ We are not persuaded, however, that a city coverage issue against Doubleday is warranted. As noted by the Broadcast Bureau, petitioner has not shown the boundary of the "most distant residential section" of St. Louis, and absent such a showing, WGNU has not raised a substantial question of whether Doubleday's proposed nighttime contour complies with the requirements of Rule 73.188(b)(2). Cf. Broadcasting, Inc., 20 FCC 2d 713, 17 RR 2d 1117 (1969).

DOUBLEDAY'S PETITION TO ENLARGE

7. In support of its request for a Rule 73.37 issue, Doubleday alleges that WGNU has submitted to the Commission "two sets of measurements indicating widely varying conductivities over that portion of the path between WGNU and KJCF beginning at the proposed KWK site."¹⁷ Doubleday contends that the two sets of measurements "must be either accepted and averaged, or rejected and figure M-3 used." According to Doubleday, both alternatives result in a conductivity of 15 mmhos/m for the portion of the path in question, and a consequent 2 and 25 mV/m overlap between WGNU and Station KJCF. Doubleday also alleges that the petition to enlarge issues filed by WGNU on January 6, 1975, considered supra, is a sham pleading, and was filed in order to have the Commission consider "measurements which, because of an extreme lack of diligence, could not have been considered otherwise." In opposition, WGNU asserts that the Commission disposed of Doubleday's allegations of 2 and 25 mV/m overlap in its designation Order herein, and that the method of averaging proposed by Doubleday is not good engineering practice. The Broadcast Bureau also opposes Doubleday's petition.

8. The Review Board will deny Doubleday's petition to enlarge.¹⁸ First, with respect to the request for a Rule 73.37 issue, we point out that in the designation Order herein, the Commission held that "WGNU has met those parts of Section 73.37 which . . . it was required to meet. . . ." The Commission further stated therein that, except for a difference in site of approximately 2.4 miles, WGNU's requested facilities are virtually identical to the KWK facilities proposed in the application for renewal, and that there is no requirement that a timely filed application specifying the same facilities as those proposed by an existing licensee make any of the showings required by Rule 73.37. In light of the Commission's reasoned analysis of this matter, we may not hold otherwise in the absence of additional information unknown to the Commission at the time of designation. See Atlantic Broadcasting Co. (WUST), 5 FCC 2d 717, 8 RR 2d 991 (1966). Although new information, in the form of the test transmitter measurements taken by WGNU's engineer in January and February 1975 at the proposed KWK site, is now before us, we believe petitioner's allegations are speculative since there is no showing of similarity between the terrain surrounding the proposed KWK site and the WGNU site 17 miles away. Moreover, in the circumstances of this case, the method of averaging proposed by Doubleday is not appropriate. Next, Doubleday's allegations of sham on WGNU's part are unsupported by affidavits of persons having personal knowledge, as required by Rule 1.229(c). Furthermore, they appear to be merely conjecture and surmise, and therefore do not warrant addition of an issue.

9. Accordingly, it is ordered, That the petition for leave to file supplement, filed February 19, 1975, by Norman Broadcasting Company (WGNU), and the request to file an additional pleading, filed April 11, 1975, by Doubleday Broadcasting Company, Inc., are granted; and the supplements, filed February 19, 1975 and April 11, 1975, by Norman Broadcasting Company (WGNU), and Doubleday Broadcasting Company, Inc., respectively, are accepted; and

10. It is further ordered, That the motion to strike, filed February 26, 1975, by Doubleday Broadcasting Company, Inc.; and the petition for leave to file responsive pleading, filed June 20, 1975, by Norman Broadcasting Company (WGNU), are denied; and the comments, filed June 20, 1975, by Norman Broadcasting Company (WGNU), are dismissed; and

11. It is further ordered, That the petition to enlarge issues, filed January 6, 1975, by Norman Broadcasting Company (WGNU), is granted to the extent indicated herein, and is denied in all other respects, and that the issues are enlarged to include the following:

To determine whether the proposal contained in the applications of Curtis L. Mann, Trustee in Bankruptcy (KWK), for renewal, modification, and assignment to Doubleday Broadcasting Company, Inc., will involve 2mV/m and 25 mV/m overlap with Station KJCF, Festus, Missouri, in contravention of Section 73.37(a) of the Commission's Rules and, if so, whether the applications should be dismissed.

12. And, it is further ordered, That the burden of proceeding with the introduction of evidence on the above issue and the burden of proof thereon shall be on Curtis L. Mann, Trustee in Bankruptcy (KWK); and

13. It is further ordered, That the petition to enlarge issues, filed March 4, 1975, by Doubleday Broadcasting Company, Inc., is denied.

Adopted: August 19, 1975.

Released: August 22, 1975.

¹⁵ WGNU's petition for leave to file supplement, filed February 19, 1975, will be granted and the supplement, filed the same day, will be accepted in view of the fact that the reply pleading indicated that the engineer's affidavit which constitutes the supplement would be filed upon receipt and because of the lapse of only one day in filing. Cf. United Broadcast Industries, Inc., 49 FCC 2d 313, 31 RR 2d 958 (1974).

¹⁷ Doubleday refers to the measurements taken in January and February 1975 and submitted by WGNU with its reply (see paragraph 3, supra), and an earlier set of measurements taken in February 1974 and allegedly submitted by WGNU to establish that no 2 and 25 mV/m overlap would occur between WGNU's proposal and Station KJCF (see note 9, supra).

¹⁸ We have accepted Doubleday's petition, even though late-filed, because petitioner has made a showing of good cause. Similarly, we will grant Doubleday's request to file an additional pleading and accept the supplement which contains an apparently unintentionally omitted engineering statement.

TELEVISION RENEWAL APPLICATIONS

Use of Terrain Roughness Correction Procedures Temporarily Suspended for FM Applicants

On July 22, 1975 the Commission released a Public Notice (52986) announcing that the date for submission of revised predicted (service) contours utilizing the new television field intensity charts and the terrain roughness correction procedure had been extended insofar as those applications for renewal of television licenses due August 1, 1975 were concerned. The announcement provided that television renewal applications due on August 1, 1975 would be accepted and reviewed without regard to the outstanding requirement for submission of new predicted service contours.

Since August 1, 1975 was not only the effective date of the amended rules but also a date on which many applications for renewal of television licenses were due it has been suggested that television renewal applicants filing on August 1, 1975 may actually have until August 1, 1978 to submit revised predicted service contours. This was not the intention of the Commission. Accordingly, August 1, 1975 television renewal applicants should submit this data prior to December 1, 1975. The October 1, 1975 television renewal applicants have been advised to provide the revised service contours with their applications. However, in view of the relief given the August 1, 1975 applicants it seems appropriate to provide similar relief to the October 1, 1975 applicants. Accordingly, they need not submit revised service contours until December 1, 1975.¹

With regard to service contours for FM stations or applicants, either commercial or non-commercial educational, many questions have arisen with respect to the use of the terrain roughness corrections. These questions are valid and deserve clarification. Therefore, to permit full consideration of such questions by the Commission, it seems appropriate that FM applicants should be temporarily relieved of meeting the requirements for terrain roughness computations. Accordingly, FM applicants (commercial and non-commercial educational) for new facilities or for changes in existing facilities which alter service contours need not include terrain roughness correction factors until further notice. The new curves, however, must be used. (FM stations were not required by the Report and Order in Docket 16004/18052 to file revised service contours at the time of renewal.)

At a later date the Commission will issue a clarification statement on these matters and establish a date beyond which such terrain roughness information must be included with FM applications involving new stations or major changes in existing stations.

The rate change is being filed to reflect an increase in purchased gas costs to be paid by Algonquin Gas to its supplier, Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation (Texas Eastern), scheduled to be effective October 1, 1975, as a result of a general rate increase filed by Texas Eastern on March 14, 1975, in Docket No. RP75-73.

The proposed effective date of the revised tariff sheet is October 1, 1975, the scheduled effective date of Texas Eastern's rate increase.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street NE., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with Sections 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before September 8, 1975. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

ARKANSAS LOUISIANA GAS CO., COMPLAINANT V. McCULLOCH OIL CORP. OF TEXAS, DEFENDANT

Notice of Complaint

AUGUST 27, 1975.

Take notice that on August 18, 1975, Arkansas Louisiana Gas Company (Complainant), P.O. Box 1734, Shreveport, Louisiana 71151, filed in Docket No. CP 76-60 a complaint pursuant to Section 1.6 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.6) against McCulloch Oil Corporation of Texas (Defendant) alleging a violation of the Natural Gas Act, all as more fully set forth in the complaint on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Complainant alleges that gas from leases in Hemphill County, Texas, is dedicated to it for resale in interstate commerce pursuant to a gas sales contract between itself and Amarex, Inc. (Amarex), dated June 6, 1970. Complainant further alleges that Defendant is the assignee of certain of the subject leases, subject to the terms and provisions of the aforementioned gas sales contract and that in violation of the contract and the Natural Gas Act Defendant is delivering natural gas from the acreage covered by the contract to Pioneer Natural Gas Company (Pioneer), an intrastate gas company.

It is stated that a gas purchase contract dated June 6, 1970, was entered into by and between Amarex as seller, and Complainant, as buyer, covering a large block of oil, gas and mineral leases owned by Amarex in Texas. The gas purchase contract is said to have been filed with the Commission in support of Complainant's application pursuant to § 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing its Anadarko pipeline in Docket No. CP70-267. Complainant alleges that subsequent to the execution of the gas purchase contract, Amarex assigned certain oil, gas and mineral leases that are stated to be covered by the contract to Defendant and further alleges that Defendant, as assignee of the leases, is subject to the terms and provisions of the gas purchase contract.

Complainant states that on November 24, 1971, that it began taking deliveries of gas into interstate commerce from certain of the oil, gas and mineral leases covered by the gas purchase contract which were retained by Amarex. Complainant alleges that the deliveries to Pioneer are being made in violation of the Natural Gas Act and the Rules and Regulations promulgated thereunder and are also in violation of the gas purchase contract. Complainant states that it has demanded that Defendant deliver to it such gas under the terms of the contract, but that Defendant has failed and refused, and fails and refused to deliver the gas to Complainant.

Complainant requests that the Com-

WILLIAM C. BLANKS

Notice of Petition for Special Relief

AUGUST 27, 1975.

Take notice that on August 13, 1975, William C. Blanks, Petitioner, 302 Southwest Bldg., Midland, Texas 79701, filed a petition for special relief in Docket No. RI76-19, seeking a rate above the applicable area ceiling under Opinion No. 662. Petitioner seeks the current nationwide rate of 51 cents plus Btu adjustment and taxes for the sale of gas to El Paso Natural Gas Company from the Stites Lease, North Branch Field, Sutton County, Texas. The petition is based upon the installation and operation of a gas compressor for the delivery of the additional gas reserves to the gas purchaser. Petitioner also states that if relief is not granted it will have no other recourse than to file for abandonment since it will be uneconomical to produce at the present rate of 35 cents per Mcf.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said petition should on or before September 15, 1975, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). [Docket Nos. RP73-65 PGA76-1]

COLUMBIA GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.
Order Accepting for Filing and Suspending Proposed PGA Rate Change Subject to Conditions

AUGUST 29, 1975.

On July 17, 1975, Columbia Gas Transmission Corporation (Columbia) tendered for filing a proposed PGA rate adjustment¹ to become effective September 1, 1975, to reflect (1) an increase of 0.9¢ per Mcf or $10.8 million annually in the cost of gas purchased from pipeline and producer suppliers and (2) changes in PGA surcharges to recoup $23.6 million in its deferred purchased gas cost account.² Columbia, anticipating a one-day suspension, also submitted alternate rates³ which are lower than the above rates and eliminate the effect of small producer and Ohio "intrastate" rates in excess of the rate levels established by Opinion 699-H.

The filing was noticed on July 21, 1975, with responses due on or before August 6, 1975. No responses have been received.

We note that this filing contains producer purchases by Columbia in Ohio which are alleged to be intrastate. By order issued February 28, 1975, in Docket Nos. RP73-65 and PGA75-5, we ordered an investigation to determine the propriety of including such purchases in Columbia's PGA rate adjustments. Accordingly, we shall make the determination of that issue in this proceeding subject to the outcome of that issue in Docket Nos. RP73-65 and PGA75-5.

We note further that Columbia's rates are based, in fact, upon small independent producer purchases at rates in excess of the rate levels established in Opinion No. 699-H.⁴ In light of this fact, and in light of the inclusion in Columbia's rates of the Ohio purchases referred to above, we find that the proposed rates and charges have not been shown to be just and reasonable and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or otherwise unlawful. Accordingly, we shall accept Columbia's proposed PGA change for filing and suspend it for one day until August 2, 1975, to become effective, subject to refund.

With regard to the question of small producer rates, we note that the Supreme Court has remanded the small independent producer rulemaking in order for the Commission to enunciate the standards in determining the justness and reasonableness for small producer purchases.⁵ Accordingly, we believe it premature to set this matter for hearing at this time.

Our review of Columbia's proposed tariff sheet indicates that the claimed increased purchased gas costs, other than

² Rates for Zones 1, 2, 3, 6, and 7 are reduced; rates for Zones 4 and 5 are increased.

⁵ F.P.C. v. Tezaco, Inc., 417 U.S. 380 (1974).

(1) those costs associated with that portion of small producer purchases in excess of the rate levels prescribed in Opinion 699-H and (2) those costs associated with the Ohio "intrastate" purchases indicates that such costs are fully justified and comply with the standards set forth in Docket No. R-406. Accordingly, we shall permit Columbia to file substitute tariff sheets to become effective September 1, 1975, reflecting increased purchased gas costs, other than (1) those claimed increased costs associated with that portion of small-producer purchases in excess of the rate levels prescribed by Opinion 699-H and (2) those costs associated with Ohio "intrastate" purchases. In light of this, we shall not accept for filing the tariff sheets containing the lower rates which are listed in footnote 3 above.

The Commission finds:

(1) It is necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the Natural Gas Act that Columbia's proposed PGA adjustment be suspended for one day to become effective September 2, 1975, subject to refund as hereinafter ordered and conditioned.

(2) The claimed increased costs, other than (1) those costs associated with that portion of small producer purchases in excess of the rate levels prescribed in Opinion No. 699-H and (2) those costs associated with Ohio intrastate purchases, have been reviewed and found to be in compliance with the standards set forth in Docket No. R-406.

The Commission orders:

(A) Columbia's proposed PGA rate change filed on July 17, 1975, is accepted for filing and suspended for one day to become effective September 2, 1975.

(B) Within 15 days of the date of issuance of this order, Columbia may file revised tariff sheets to become effective as of September 1, 1975, reflecting those claimed increased costs other than (1) those costs associated with that portion of small producer purchases in excess of the rate levels prescribed in Opinion 699-H and (2) those costs associated with Ohio "intrastate" purchases.

(C) The issue of the propriety of including costs associated with Ohio "intrastate" purchases in the instant PGA filing is hereby made subject to the determination of that issue in Docket Nos. RP73-65 and PGA75-5.

(D) The Secretary shall cause prompt publication of this order to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

LOUISIANA-NEVADA TRANSIT CO.

Order Accepting for Filing and Suspending Proposed Advance Payments Adjustment

AUGUST 29, 1975.

On August 1, 1975 Louisiana-Nevada Transit Company (LNT) tendered for filing an increase in its rates¹ to reflect the inclusion in rate base of additional advance payments in the sum of $487,292. Notice of LNT's filing was issued August 8, 1975 with protests and petitions to intervene due on or before August 21, 1975. None have been received.

LNT has not filed information concerning the expenditure by producers of these advance payments received from LNT. Therefore, the proposed changes have not been shown to be just and reasonable and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or otherwise illegal. Accordingly, we shall suspend the use of the new rates for one day to become effective September 3, 1975 and order a hearing thereon.

The Commission finds:

It is necessary and proper in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of LNT's proposed rate adjustment as identified above, and that the tendered tariff sheets be accepted for filing and suspended as hereinafter provided.

The Commission orders:

(A) LNT's Fourth Revised Sheet No. PGA-1 to its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1 is hereby accepted for filing and suspended for one day to become effective September 3, 1975, subject to refund.

(B) Pursuant to the authority of the Natural Gas Act, particularly §§ 4 and 5 thereof, the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act, a public hearing concerning the lawfulness of LNT's proposed change shall be held on January 27, 1976 at 10 a.m. at the offices of the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, Washington, D.C. 20426.

McCULLOCH INTERSTATE GAS CORP.
Notice of Purchased Gas Adjustment Clause

AUGUST 28, 1975.

Take notice that on August 15, 1975, McCulloch Interstate Gas Corporation (McCulloch) tendered for filing, copies of two Sixth Revised Sheets No. 32 to McCulloch Interstate Gas Corporation's FPC Gas Tariff Original Volume No. 1, as required under the Commission's Regulations under the Natural Gas Act.

McCulloch Interstate's Sixth Revised Sheets No. 32 provide in the alternative for Purchased Gas Adjustment rate reductions of:

- (1) 2.03¢ per Mcf effective October 1, 1975, and
- (2) 14.62¢ per Mcf effective October 1, 1975.

McCulloch states that its filings are made in order to provide for a current Gas Cost Adjustment in order to bring its Purchased Gas Cost in line with the cost of gas purchases which it is currently incurring. McCulloch states that in this first alternative filing McCulloch is proposing no adjustment to account for the one-time temporary reduction of 12.59¢ per Mcf in McCulloch's Unrecovered Purchased Gas Cost Account as of June 30, 1975.

McCulloch states further that its second alternative filing provides for a reduction of 14.62¢ per Mcf effective October 1, 1975 takes into account both the reduction in the Gas Cost Adjustment of 2.03¢ per Mcf and the reduction of 12.59¢ per Mcf in the Surcharge Adjustment, covering the one-time temporary reduction in its Unrecovered Purchased Gas Cost Account as of June 30, 1975.

McCulloch asks that the first alternative Sixth Revised Sheet No. 32, providing for a reduction of 2.03¢ per Mcf be permitted to go into effect on October 1, 1975 and that the second alternative Sixth Revised Sheet No. 32 providing for a reduction of 14.62¢ per Mcf effective October 1, 1975 be rejected.

McCulloch explains that it asks for this alternative treatment in order to avoid a "yo-yo" effect in the present level of its jurisdictional natural gas rates requiring a substantial reduction to be made effective at the present time, coupled with a new substantial rate increase which would become effective on April 1, 1976, the effective date of McCulloch's next required Purchase Gas Adjustment clause rate filing.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before September 12, 1975. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CP76-50]

PACIFIC GAS TRANSMISSION CO.

Notice of Application

AUGUST 25, 1975.

Take notice that on August 11, 1975, Pacific Gas Transmission Company (Applicant), 245 Market Street, San Francisco, California 94105, filed in Docket No. CP76-50 an application pursuant to Section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the transportation and delivery of natural gas to Northwest Pipeline Corporation (Northwest), on an emergency basis, by revision of deliveries of gas to Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) all as more fully set forth in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that it has been represented to it that for Northwest to maintain continuity of service to firm priority 1 and 2 requirements customers during the period commencing November 1, 1975, through April 30, 1976 (winter season), additional volumes of natural gas will be required. Applicant states that it has therefore entered into an emergency agreement with Northwest, to which PG&E is also a party, for the temporary revision of the deliveries of natural gas that Applicant would have to make to PG&E. It is stated that under the terms of the agreement, during the winter season Applicant would make exchange deliveries up to 150,000 Mcf of gas per day and 1,200,000 Mcf of gas over the term of the agreement to Northwest, to the extent agreed to by PG&E from day to day. The deliveries are proposed to be made at the Stanfield, Oregon, interconnection and at the Spokane, Washington, delivery point.

It is stated that Northwest would pay Applicant on a monthly basis, an amount equal to $1.68 per Mcf multiplied by the volume of gas delivered as emergency exchanges in the month. Applicant states that such amount would then be credited to PG&E's monthly cost of service charge rendered to PG&E to reimburse it for the additional burden placed upon its system due to the revisions so made. Applicant states further that the cost of service charge would be allocated as though the deliveries so made were to be made at PG&E at Oregon-California border.

Applicant states that Northwest would, in exchange for the volumes of gas received from Applicant, deliver to Applicant between May 1, 1976, and September 30, 1976 such volumes of gas as Northwest has available and Applicant and PG&E can accept until the quantity of gas so delivered equals the quantity of exchange gas theretofore received by Northwest. If the total quantity of gas so delivered by Northwest were not to equal the total quantity delivered to Northwest, Northwest would pay to Applicant an additional sum based on the purchase price of gas then existing, plus an average transportation charge, for credit to PG&E's bill.

The application indicates that no new facilities are required to institute the proposed emergency exchange.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before September 16, 1975, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's Rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by §§ 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Secretary.

RATON NATURAL GAS CO.Notice of Change in Rates

AUGUST 28, 1975.

Take notice that Raton Natural Gas Company (Raton) on August 21, 1975, tendered for filing, proposed changes in its FPC Gas Tariff, Volume No. 1, consisting of Eighth Revised Sheet No. 3a. The change in rates is for Jurisdictional Gas Service.

Raton states that the instant notice of change in rates is occasioned solely by, and will compensate Raton only for, increases in the cost of gas purchased from Colorado Interstate Gas Company (CIG). The tracking of CIG gas cost increase of $0.11 per MCF of demand results in increased rate from $1.23 to $1.34 per MCF and increase of 0.06 cents per MCF of Commodity results in increased rate from 56.23 cents to 56.29 cents per MCF. The annual revenue increase by reason of the tracking increased rate amounts to $8,850.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with Sections 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). [Docket No. R175-122]

ROBINSON BROTHERS DRILLING CO.Order Granting Special Relief

AUGUST 14, 1975.

On April 4, 1975, Robinson Brothers Drilling Company (Robinson) filed in Docket No. R175-122 a petition for special relief pursuant to Section 2.76 of the Commission's General Policy and Interpretations (18 CFR § 2.76) for sales of natural gas to El Paso Natural Gas Company (El Paso) from the Manry Elliott No. 1 Well located in Chaves County, New Mexico. Robinson is a small producer and was granted a small producer certificate in Docket No. CS75-350 effective as of March 3, 1975. Robinson is successor in interest to Robinson Brothers Oil Producers, which previously sold the subject gas to El Paso under a small producer certificate issued in Docket No. CS71-972 on October 21, 1971.

Robinson is currently collecting a rate of 25.3 cents per Mcf for the sales to El Paso pursuant to a contract dated December 9, 1960. Robinson states that in November 1974 it installed a two-stage compression facility which was necessary in order to produce the remaining well reserves against existing pipeline pressure. Without the installation of the compression facility, Robinson asserts that the well would be incapable of production and would have to be plugged and abandoned. Robinson leases the compression facility at a cost of $50 per day.

By letter dated January 28, 1975, Robinson informed El Paso that continued operation of the well with the compression facility was uneconomical, and that a substantial price increase would be necessary to prevent abandonment of the well. Subsequently, on February 18, 1975, the parties executed an amendatory agreement to their gas sales contract of December 9, 1960. The amendment provides for a base contract rate of 51.0 cents per Mcf at 14.73 psia, plus 1.0 cent per Mcf annual escalations, plus tax and proportionate Btu adjustments.¹

Notice of the petition for special relief was issued on April 14, 1975, and appeared in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 18, 1975, at 40 FR 17336. No petitions to intervene have been filed.

Staff has reviewed the cost data submitted by Robinson and has made an extensive field audit of Robinson's books and records. Based thereon Staff has estimated that 205,000 Mcf of reserves remain to be produced over a period of three years, and Staff has determined that the proposed rate is cost justified. After a careful review of the costs to be incurred and the reserves to be recovered, we conclude that it is in the public interest to grant Robinson's petition.

The Commission finds:

The petition for special relief filed by Robinson meets the criteria set forth in § 2.76 of the Commission's General Policy and Interpretations.

The Commission orders:

(A) The petition for special relief of Robinson is hereby granted.

(B) The contract amendment dated February 18, 1975 between Robinson and El Paso is accepted for filing effective as of the date of issuance of this order.

(C) Robinson is authorized to collect a base rate of 51.0 cents per Mcf at 14.73 psia plus tax and Btu adjustments, as provided in the February 18, 1975 contract amendment, effective as of the date of issuance of this order.

(D) During the one year period commencing January 1, 1976, and during each succeeding one year period thereafter, Robinson may increase the base rate authorized herein by 1.0 cent per Mcf as provided in the February 18, 1975 contract amendment; Provided, however, that prior to any such change in the rate to be collected by Robinson, Robinson must file a notice of change in rate in accordance with § 154.94 of the Commission's Regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR § 154.94).

By the Commission.

SIERRA PACIFIC POWER CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

AUGUST 28, 1975.

Take notice that on August 25, 1975, Sierra Pacific Power Company (Sierra Pacific) tendered for filing a notice of change in rates and charges in its Rate Schedule FPC No. 11 and a notice of change in rates and charges in Rate Schedule R; Fuel Adjustment; Terms and Conditions; and associated changes in its FPC Electric Tariff, Volume No. 1. Based upon the test period of twelve months ending June 1976, Sierra Pacific estimates that the total effect of the changes in rates and charges would increase annual revenues from jurisdictional sales and services by approximately $716,132, or 14.7%.

Sierra Pacific requested a waiver of the thirty (30) day rule pursuant to § 35.11 of the Commission's Rules and Regulations under the Federal Power Act to cancel Supplement No. 2 to Rate Schedule FPC No. 11 to transfer Mt. Wheeler Power, Inc. (Mt. Wheeler) to the existing Rate Schedule R of its FPC Electric Tariff (Supplement No. 3) as the type of service rendered Mt. Wheeler was changed with completion of the Sierra Pacific-Utah Power and Light Company interconnection on August 8, 1975. Sierra Pacific estimates that this change would increase jurisdictional revenues during the test period by $595,172.

Sierra Pacific proposed that the effective date of the changes in rates and charges of its FPC Electric Tariff be September 21, 1975, and stated that these changes would effect an increase in test period jurisdictional revenues of $121,679.

In addition, Sierra Pacific requested permission to initiate deferred fuel and purchased power cost accounting on its books and records, and interest charges on delayed payment of service billings.

Copies of the filing were served upon Sierra Pacific's jurisdictional customers, the California Public Utilities Commission, and the Public Service Commission of Nevada.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 825 North Capitol Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20426, in accordance with Sections 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). [Docket Nos. RP71-29, et al.]

UNITED GAS PIPE LINE CO.

Notice of Proposed Settlement

AUGUST 25, 1975.

Take notice that on August 14, 1975, the Administrative Law Judge in the proceeding in Docket Nos. RP71-29, et al., certified a proposed settlement to the Commission for action. The said proceeding is being conducted for the purpose of developing a plan to curtail the service rendered by United Gas Pipe Line Company (United) to its customers. The proposed settlement was submitted by United and it constitutes a scheme of allocation of United's services during the period of November 1, 1975 through October 31, 1976. The scheme of allocation is a departure from United's service obligations under the currently effective interim agreement, which departure is necessitated by a foreseeable decrease in the supply of natural gas that will be available to United during the period mentioned.

PROCEEDINGS

The proposed settlement resulted from proceedings held pursuant to a Federal Power Commission order issued on March 7, 1975 under Docket No. RP71-29. The March 7 order denied a motion for immediate modification of the existing curtailment plan and directed that further hearings in these proceedings be conducted in two phases. Phase I was to be convened immediately for the purpose of determining, in advance of the 1975-76 winter heating season, whether United's currently-effective interim curtailment program should either (1) remain in effect pending formulation of a permanent plan, or (2) be modified by the Commission pursuant to Section 5 (a) of the Natural Gas Act. The March 7 order also provided for a later Phase II hearing for the purpose of formulating a permanent curtailment plan for implementation on United's System. By an "Order on Rehearing" issued May 2, 1975, the Commission ordered that a Phase III be added to the proceedings to consider matters pertaining to § 12.3 of United's proposed tariff dealing with United's contractual liability filed on March 3, 1975 in Docket No. RP75-71.¹

The Phase I hearing was convened on May 30, 1975 and recessed upon application of the combined parties for settlement conferences. Informed on May 30, 1975 that unanimous agreement upon a settlement in connection with an interim curtailment plan appeared unlikely but that further negotiations conducted simultaneously with the taking of testimony in connection therewith might eventually prove fruitful, the hearing on Phase I, as previously directed by the Presiding Administrative Law Judge, commenced on June 2, 1975 and continued with short interim recesses through June 24, 1975. A further settlement conference was convened on June 30, 1975 and on July 1, 1975 the Presiding Administrative Law Judge was advised by counsel for United that the majority of the parties had reached agreement on modifications to the three-category program as a settlement of the issues in Phase I.

Further hearing in connection with Phase I was thereupon suspended and the Presiding Administrative Law Judge, on request of the parties, directed that a hearing be convened on July 22, 1975 at which time testimony would be presented in support of, and in opposition to, United's proposed settlement, together with proposed variations thereto and any alternate proposals which any of the dissenting parties might wish to present. The hearing on the proposed settlement and variations thereto proceeded as scheduled and was concluded on August 4, 1975.²

The settlement proposal and the transcript of the hearing in connection with Phase I were certified to the Commission by the Administrative Law Judge on August 14, 1975 pursuant to § 1.18(e) of the Rules of Practice and Procedure. The Judge's certification stated that "United's settlement proposal, concurred in by a substantial majority of the parties, constitutes the 'ameliorating' plan for the coming winter heating season."

HIGHLIGHTS OF SETTLEMENT PLAN

Under the proposed settlement plan, the currently-effective interim three-category curtailment program would continue in effect subject to the following modifications:

(1) The curtailment allocations of United's customers shall be determined using the new end-use data which has been collected pursuant to the directives of the Commission in Opinion Nos. 647 and 647-A. Appendix A of the proposed plan contains an impact study showing estimated curtailments and deliveries under the proposed plan.

(2) The 3,000 Mcf per day Category III cut-off will be continued for the protection of industrial customers. However, any curtailments below that level shall be effectuated on a pro rata basis in three successive steps, to 1,500, 300, and 0 Mcf per day.

(3) Industrial feedstock requirements of United's city gate customers shall be reclassified from Category III to Category II. Only two city gate customers have reported such requirements.

(4) United's pro rata share of the industrial feedstock requirements reported by its seven pipeline customers shall also be reclassified from Category III to Category II except that no such deliveries shall be made when United must curtail below the 300 Mcf Category III step mentioned in paragraph 2 above.

(5) Industrial process gas requirements shall be protected to the extent of 3,000 Mcf per day which shall not be curtailed until all other Category III requirements have been curtailed to the

300 Mcf step mentioned in paragraph 2 above.

(6) Industrial customers may petition the Commission for a reclassification of their process gas requirements from Category III to Category II. Such a petition must specify why the process gas in question cannot be (a) converted to solid or liquid fuels or (b) satisfied through the use of supplemental gas supplies. The Commission may act on such petitions either with or without a formal hearing. The process gas requirements of five named direct industrial customers will be so reclassified based on testimony already provided in the Phase I hearing.

(7) City gate customers of United served through multiple delivery points shall be given a single base requirement for each of the two seasons reflected in Appendix A of the proposal. Provided, however (a) that the establishment of such single base requirements shall not affect existing transportation agreements between United and such customers or the Maximum Daily Delivery Obligation provisions contained in their individual service agreements with United, and (b) that said city gate customers shall be required, on a daily basis, to limit their industrial sales based on gas supplies from United to their aggregate industrial allocations.

The proposed settlement is premised on the belief that United will not have to curtail below the 1,500 Mcf Category III step. However, extremely cold weather could necessitate curtailment to or below the 300 Mcf Category III step. If curtailment below the 300 Mcf step cannot be avoided by means of storage withdrawals, the plan directs United to use its best efforts to obtain from its pipeline customers, on a voluntary basis subject to prompt repayment, the volumes of gas required to avoid such curtailment.

If the settlement is approved, United would be required to file within ten days revised tariff sheets to implement its proposal, copies of which constitute Appendix B to the settlement proposal. United would also be required to file by April 1, 1976 revised tariff sheets and an impact study setting forth United's proposed curtailment program for the winter 1976-77 and summer 1977 seasons. This would facilitate efforts towards a subsequent settlement in the event that Phase II of the proceeding is not completed prior to the 1976-77 winter season.

Replies to the initial comments may be filed and will be accepted on or before September 23, 1975.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

COMMONWEALTH EDISON CO. AND IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

Notice of Proposed Issuance of Amendment to Facility Operating License

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering the issuance of an amendment to Facility Operating License No. DPR-29 issued to the Commonwealth Edison Company (the licensee, acting for itself and on behalf of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company) for operation of Quad-Cities Unit 1 (the facility), a boiling water reactor located in Rock Island County, Illinois, and currently authorized for operation at power levels up to 2511 MWt.

In accordance with the licensee's application for a license amendment dated July 1, 1975, the amendment would modify operating limits in the Technical Specifications based upon an evaluation of ECCS performance calculated in accordance with an acceptable evaluation model that conforms to the requirements of the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR Section 50.46. The amendment would modify various limits established in accordance with the Commission's Interim Acceptance Criteria, and would, with respect to Quad-Cities Unit 1, terminate the further restrictions imposed by the Commission's December 27, 1974 Order for Modification of License, and would impose instead, limitations established in accordance with the Commission's Acceptance Criteria for Emergency Core Cooling Systems for Light Water Nuclear Power Reactors, 10 CFR 50.46.

Prior to issuance of the proposed license amendment, the Commission will have made the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations.

By October 6, 1975, the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the amendment to the subject facility operating license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing action. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER Notice and § 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date.

A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555 and to John W. Rowe, Esquire of Isham, Lincoln & Beale, One First National Plaza, Chicago, Illinois 60670, the attorney for the licensee.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceedings as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to this action, see (1) the application for amendment dated July 1, 1975, and (2) the Commission's Order for Modification of License and the documents referred to in the Order dated December 27, 1974, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 9, 1975 (40 FR 1783), which are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C., 20555 and at the Moline Public Library, 504-17th Street, Moline, Illinois 61265. The license amendment and the Safety Evaluation, when issued, may be inspected at the above locations, and a copy may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 26th day of August, 1975.

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY

Notice of Proposed Issuance of Construction Permit and Amendment to Facility Operating License

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (the Commission) is considering the issuance of a construction permit and subsequently an amendment to Facility Operating License No. R-110 to Idaho State University (the licensee). The licensee is currently authorized by the Commission to possess and operate an AGN-201 research reactor (the facility) at 100 milliwatts on its campus in Pocatello, Idaho, for teaching and training purposes.

The proposed permit would authorize the licensee to move the reactor from the Physical Science Building to the Lillibridge Engineering Laboratory Building (a distance of approximately 110 yards) and to reconstruct it at the new location. The proposed amendment to the license subsequently would authorize operation of the facility in the new location at the previously approved power level. The amendment would also extend the expiration date of the license from July 11, 1987 to the fall of 1995.

Prior to issuance of the proposed construction permit, the Commission will have made the findings required by the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the Commission's rules and regulations.

Upon completion of the relocation of the facility in compliance with the terms and conditions of the construction permit and the application, and in the absence of good cause to the contrary, the Commission will issue to Idaho State University (without prior notice) an amendment to the existing facility license authorizing operation of the reactor in the new location for the extended period of time specified above since the application is complete enough to permit evaluation of the safety considerations associated with the operation of the facility in the new location and for the additional period of time. Prior to the issuance of the license amendment, the facility will be inspected by a representative of the Commission to determine whether it has been satisfactorily relocated in accordance with the application and the provisions of the construction permit. The amendment to the operating license will not be issued until the Commission makes the findings required by the Act and the Commission's rules and regulations, and concludes that the issuance of the license amendment will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public.

By October 6, 1975, the licensee may file a request for a hearing and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a request for a hearing in the form of a petition for leave to intervene with respect to the issuance of the construction permit and the amendment to the license. Petitions for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of § 2.714 of 10 CFR Part 2 of the Commission's regulations. A petition for leave to intervene must set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and the petitioner's contentions with respect to the proposed licensing actions. Such petitions must be filed in accordance with the provisions of this FEDERAL REGISTER Notice and § 2.714, and must be filed with the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Docketing and Service Section, by the above date. A copy of the petition and/or request for a hearing should be sent to the Executive Legal Director, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555.

A petition for leave to intervene must be accompanied by a supporting affidavit which identifies the specific aspect or aspects of the proceeding as to which intervention is desired and specifies with particularity the facts on which the petitioner relies as to both his interest and his contentions with regard to each aspect on which intervention is requested. Petitions stating contentions relating only to matters outside the Commission's jurisdiction will be denied.

All petitions will be acted upon by the Commission or licensing board, designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Timely petitions will be considered to determine whether a hearing should be noticed or another appropriate order issued regarding the disposition of the petitions.

In the event that a hearing is held and a person is permitted to intervene, he becomes a party to the proceeding and has a right to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing. For example, he may present evidence and examine and cross-examine witnesses.

For further details with respect to these actions, see (1) the application for amendment filed by the Idaho State University dated June 17, 1975 and letter dated July 21, 1975, which are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. The license amendment and the Safety Evaluation, when issued, may be inspected at the above location, and a copy may be obtained upon request addressed to the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission, Washington, D.C. 20555, Attention: Director, Division of Reactor Licensing.

Dated at Bethesda, Maryland, this 26th day of August, 1975.

DOUGLAS CAMPBELL, JR., ET AL.
Application for Exemption

August 28, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that Douglas Campbell, Jr. ("Campbell"), 522 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York 10036, Campbell Asset Management Company ("Campbell Asset") and Campbell Advisors, Inc. ("Campbell Advisors") ("Applicants"), have filed an application and amendment thereto pursuant to Section 9(c) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), for an order of the Commission exempting Applicants from the provisions of Section 9(a) of the Act insofar as any ineligibility to serve or act in the capacities enumerated in Section 9(a) of the Act arises out of an injunction entered in connection with an action entitled Securities and Exchange Commission v. Bausch & Lomb, Inc., et al. (United States District Court for the Southern District of New York) (the "Action"). All interested persons are referred to the application and amendment on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein.

Campbell is the majority stockholder, President and Chief Executive Officer and a director of Campbell Advisors, a registered investment adviser pursuant to Section 203(c) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, and formerly conducted a business as an unregistered private investment adviser by means of a sole proprietorship under the assumed name of Campbell Asset.

The Action arose out of the sale by Campbell and Campbell Asset of common stock of Bausch & Lomb, Inc. The complaint in the Action alleges the improper use by Campbell and Campbell Asset of material non-public information in connection with transactions in the securities of Bausch & Lomb, Inc., in violation of Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 10b-5 thereunder.

On March 7, 1975, a final judgment of permanent injunction against Campbell and Campbell Asset was entered upon the consent of the Securities and Exchange Commission and Campbell and Campbell Asset. The judgment enjoined Campbell and Campbell Asset, directly or indirectly by use of any means or instruments of transportation or communication in interstate commerce or of the mails, from purchasing or selling or recommending the purchase or sale of the common stock of Bausch & Lomb, Inc., in violation of Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 10b-5 thereunder. The judgment further ordered Campbell and Campbell Asset to adopt and implement a written statement of procedures concerning the receipt of material inside, non-public corporate information with respect to Bausch & Lomb, Inc. or any other securities.

Section 9(a)(2) of the Act makes it unlawful for any person who, by reason of any misconduct, is permanently or temporarily enjoined by order, judgment, or decree or any court of competent jurisdiction from engaging in or continuing any conduct or practice in connection with the purchase or sale of any security, to serve or act in the capacity of officer, director, member of an advisory board, investment adviser, or depositor of any registered investment company, or principal underwriter for any registered open-end company. Section 9(a)(3) makes it unlawful for a company any affiliated person of which is ineligible by reason of Section 9(a)(2) to serve or act in the foregoing capacities.

Campbell represents that he was formerly a director of Smith Barney Equity Fund, Inc. and Smith Barney Income and Growth Fund, Inc., which are registered investment companies and it is anticipated that he will rejoin the board of directors of these companies upon the Commission entering an order exempting Campbell from the provisions of Section 9(a) of the Investment Company Act of 1940.

Section 9(c) of the Act provides that any person who is ineligible by reason of subsection (a) to serve or act in the capacities enumerated therein may file with the Commission an application for an exemption from the provisions of that subsection and further provides that the Commission shall by order grant such application, either unconditionally or on an appropriate temporary or other conditional basis, if it is established that the prohibitions of subsection (a), as applied to such person, are unduly or disproportionately severe or that the conduct of such person has been such as not to make it against the public interest or protection of investors to grant such application.

Except for the action which resulted in the Consent Decree of March 7, 1975, Campbell and Campbell Asset have never previously been the subject of an injunctive action initiated by the Commission (Campbell Advisors, has never been the subject of any such injunctive action).

Applicants submit that for the following reasons:

(i) the limited nature of the matters covered by Consent Decree in relation to the matters specified in Section 9(a)(2) of the Act and the purposes of Section 9(a) of the Act;

(ii) the fact that the allegations of the Commission's complaint in the Action involved novel questions of law concerning the receipt and use of investment recommendations and other information disseminated by securities analysts when such recommendation and information is allegedly formulated in part on the basis of material non-public information with respect to which no precedent existed;

(iii) the fact that the Consent Decree was entered with the consent of Campbell and Campbell Asset for the purposes of the Action only, without admitting or denying the material allegations of the complaint and without consenting to the adjudication of any wrongdoing or liability; and

(iv) the fact that Campbell and Campbell Asset have participated with the Commission in formulating a written statement of procedures with respect to their activities and the activities of Campbell Advisors as an investment adviser concerning the receipt of material non-public corporate information with respect to the securities of Bausch & Lomb, Inc. or any other securities which is in the form annexed to a document filed with the Court and that Campbell through Campbell Advisors has agreed to implement such statement of procedures;

the prohibitions of Section 9(a) of the Act, if applicable by reason of the above-mentioned final judgment, would be unduly and disproportionately severe if applied to Applicants and asserts that it is consistent with the public interest and the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of Section 9 of the Act for the Commission to enter an order granting this application for an exemption from the provisions of Section 9(a) of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 22, 1975, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

By the Commission.

Secretary.

Gulf's Articles of Incorporation presently empower the Board of Directors to establish various series of preferred stock, and to fix and determine the relative rights and preferences, as to which there may be variations between different series. Gulf proposes to authorize, by amendment to the Articles of Incorporation, the Board of Directors to fix and determine the sinking fund provisions, if any, for the redemption or purchase of shares of any series.

Gulf further proposes to amend its Articles of Incorporation so as to limit the issuance or assumption of securities representing unsecured debt without consent of preferred stockholders only if after such issuance or assumption (1) the total outstanding amount of securities representing unsecured debt would exceed 20% of the aggregate of capital, surplus and secured debt or (2) the total amount of securities representing unsecured debt having maturities of less than 10 years would exceed 10% of such aggregate.

Gulf further proposes that, if the proposed amendment to its Articles of Incorporation relating to limitations on the issuance or assumption of securities representing unsecured debt is adopted, it be authorized by vote of the holders of its preferred stock to issue or assume, until July 1, 1982, securities representing unsecured debt having maturities of less than ten years in excess of 10% of capital, surplus and secured debt, provided that (a) the amount of securities representing unsecured debt having maturities of less than ten years outstanding on January 1, 1983, shall not exceed said 10% limitation, and (b) Gulf's total indebtedness represented by unsecured securities shall at no time exceed 20% of capital, surplus and secured debt. If the proposed amendment relating to limitations on the issuance or assumption of securities representing unsecured debt is not adopted Gulf proposes to issue or assume, until July 1, 1982, securities representing unsecured debt in excess of 10% of capital, surplus and secured debt provided that (a) the amount of securities representing unsecured debt outstanding on January 1, 1983 shall not exceed said 10% limitation and (b) Gulf's total unsecured indebtedness shall at no time exceed 20% of capital, surplus and secured debt.

The fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $30,000, including fee for solicitation of proxies of $10,000 and legal fees of $8,400. It is stated that no State commission or Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 23, 1975, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. Notice is hereby given that The Hartford Electric Light Company ("HELCO"), 176 Cumberland Avenue, Wethersfield, Connecticut 06109, an electric utility subsidiary company of Northeast Utilities, a registered holding company, has filed an application with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Section 6(b) of the Act and Rule 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the following proposed transactions. All interested parties are referred to said application, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

HELCO proposes to issue and sell, at competitive bidding, up to $30 million principal amount of its —% First Mortgage Bonds, 1975 Second Series ("bonds"). The maturity date of the bonds will be not less than five nor more than thirty years from October 1, 1975. The interest rate, which shall be a multiple of 1/8 of 1%, and the price, which will be not less than 99% nor more than 102.75% of the principal amount thereof, will be determined by competitive bidding. The bonds will be issued under the First Mortgage Indenture and Deed of Trust dated as of January 1, 1958 ("Indenture") between HELCO and The First National Bank of Boston, Successor Trustee, as supplemented and amended from time to time, and as further supplemented by a fifteenth supplemental indenture to be dated October 1, 1975 ("supplemental indenture"). The supplemental indenture provides, among other things, that bonds shall not be redeemed at the applicable general redemption price prior to October 1, 1980, from the proceeds of borrowings secured by HELCO at an effective interest cost to HELCO of less than the effective interest cost of the bonds. The supplemental indenture further provides for a mandatory cash sinking fund, so long as any bonds are outstanding, in the annual amount of $1,875,000 commencing October 1, 1980, continuing to and including October 1, 1994. HELCO will also have the noncumulative option to increase any such sinking fund payment by an amount not exceeding $1,875,000, provided that no bonds may be redeemed prior to October 1, 1980, by operation of the sinking fund provision.

HELCO also proposes to issue and sell, at competitive bidding, 200,000 shares of its Preferred Stock, 1975 Series ("preferred stock"), par value $50 per share. The terms of the preferred stock include a prohibition, until October 1, 1980, against redeeming the preferred stock through the use, directly or indirectly, of borrowings or the proceeds of the issuance of stock ranking prior to or on a parity with the preferred stock as to dividends or assets, if such borrowings or stock have an effective interest or dividend cost to HELCO of less than the effective dividend cost of the preferred stock. The terms of the preferred stock also provide for a cumulative sinking fund commencing October 1, 1980, to the extent any funds of HELCO are legally available therefor, for the annual redemption or purchase of 10,000 shares of the preferred stock. HELCO has the noncumulative option to purchase or redeem for said sinking fund up to an additional 10,000 shares of the preferred

LIBERTY FUND, INC. AND
THE KNICKERBOCKER FUND*Application for an Order Exempting a Proposed Transaction

AUGUST 28, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that Liberty Fund, Inc. ("Liberty") 245 Park Avenue, New York, New York, 10017, and The Knickerbocker Fund ("Knickerbocker") (collectively referred to as "Applicants"), open-end, diversified management investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act"), filed an application on June 30, 1975, and an amendment thereto on August 20, 1975 pursuant to Section 17 (b) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of Section 17(a) of the Act the proposed sale by Knickerbocker of substantially all of its assets to Liberty. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the matters contained therein, which are summarized below.

Liberty was incorporated in Maryland on January 11, 1956 and is authorized to issue one class of shares. It had 1,978,002 shares of common stock outstanding and total assets of $7,679,682 as of May 30, 1975. Knickerbocker was organized as a common law trust under the laws of the State of New York on August 17, 1938 and all of its shares are of the same class. On June 1, 1975 Knickerbocker had 1,521,900 shares outstanding and total assets of $8,165,750. Since CNA Management Corporation ("Management") is the investment adviser and distributor of the shares of both applicants and certain members of the Board of Managers of Knickerbocker are also directors of Liberty, each applicant might be deemed to be an "affiliated person" of the other within the meaning of the definition set forth in Section 2(a)(3) of the Act.

The application states that the Funds have entered into an agreement and plan of reorganization ("Plan") under which substantially all of the assets and liabilities of Knickerbocker are to be purchased by Liberty in exchange for shares of Liberty at net asset value as of the "closing date" as defined in the Plan. Thereupon, the Liberty shares will be distributed pro-rata to Knickerbocker's shareholders in liquidation of Knickerbocker. Following such distribution and the payment of any remaining obligations of Knickerbocker, Knickerbocker will be dissolved. Liberty has covenanted to call a shareholders meeting to consider, among other matters, an amendment to Liberty's Articles of Incorporation changing its name to "The Knickerbocker Fund, Inc."

The adoption of the Plan requires the affirmative vote of at least a majority of the outstanding voting securities of each of the Applicants. Since the shareowners of Liberty will be asked to vote on certain important matters concerning Liberty—namely the adoption of a new investment advisory agreement, and election to Liberty's Board of Directors of three members of Knickerbocker's Board of Managers—at the same time they will be asked to vote on the plan of reorganization, and since proxies will be solicited from shareowners of Knickerbocker in connection with the Plan prior to the vote by the shareowners of Liberty, the merger will be conditioned on the shareowners of Liberty adopting these proposed changes.

stock in any such year. The redemption price will equal the initial public offering price plus accrued dividends to the date of redemption.

The application states that HELCO will use the net proceeds from the sale of the bonds and preferred stock, together with a capital contribution of $20 million which Northeast Utilities will make no later than December 1, 1975, to repay short-term borrowings incurred for the purpose of financing HELCO's 1974-1975 construction program. Such short-term borrowings will aggregate an estimated $60 million at the time of the aforementioned sales. The balance of the proceeds of the sales will be used to finance, in part, HELCO's 1975-1976 construction program.

A statement of the fees, commissions, and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions will be supplied by amendment. The approval of the Connecticut Public Utilities Commission is required for the issuance of the bonds and preferred stock. It is stated that no other State commission, and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 22, 1975, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the applicant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20 (a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

Secretary.

vestment advisory agreement, and election to Liberty's Board of Directors of three members of Knickerbocker's Board of Managers—at the same time they will be asked to vote on the plan of reorganization, and since proxies will be solicited from shareowners of Knickerbocker in connection with the Plan prior to the vote by the shareowners of Liberty, the merger will be conditioned on the shareowners of Liberty adopting these proposed changes.

The proposed merger is also contingent upon the receipt of a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, or in lieu thereof, an opinion of counsel, to the effect that the Plan will constitute a tax free reorganization.

Each fund, immediately preceding the merger, will distribute all of its net realized capital gains in excess of any applicable loss carryforwards and substantially all of its net investment income realized since the close of its last fiscal year.

As of March 31, 1975 Liberty had capital loss carryforwards of approximately $6,033,000, expiring $930,000 in 1976, $2,832,000 in 1979 and $2,271,000 in 1980. Knickerbocker, at March 31, 1975 had no such capital loss carryforwards. No adjustments in the aggregate net asset values of Liberty or Knickerbocker will be made to compensate shareholders for any potential Federal income tax impact which may result from the differences between Liberty and Knickerbocker in their capital loss carryforwards. Applicants assert that there is no assurance that capital gains will be realized against which the capital loss carryforwards may be offset or that the unrealized depreciation or unrealized appreciation appearing on the books of the Applicants will ultimately be realized. In addition, it is asserted that no adjustment is being made because the advantage or disadvantage to a shareholder resulting from the reorganization is dependent on a variety of factors peculiar to the particular shareholder such as the individual's capital gains tax rate, cost basis, the time shares were purchased and redeemed and other factors.

Applicants assert that the proposed transaction is consistent with the investment policies of each of the funds. The primary investment objective of Liberty is obtaining liberal income consistent with reasonable safety of capital. As a secondary objective, Liberty also selects investments with a view to capital growth. The investment objective of Knickerbocker is to provide shareholders with an opportunity to participate in a professionally managed portfolio selected for long term growth with current income an important consideration. The investment policies through which Applicants seek to implement their respective objectives, although differing in some regards, are basically consistent. Further, both Applicants have similar restrictions which cannot be changed without the approval of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of each of the Applicants.

Section 17(a) of the Act, in pertinent part, provides that it shall be unlawful for any affiliated person of a registered investment company knowingly to sell to or purchase from such registered investment company any security or other property. Section 17(b) of the Act provides that the Commission, upon application, may exempt a proposed transaction from the provisions of Section 17(a) if evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid and received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned and the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned and with the general purposes of the Act.

Applicants assert that the terms of the proposed transaction are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned. Applicants believe that the consummation of the proposed reorganization will result in certain economies of operation through the reduction of certain expenses, such as auditing fees, filing fees, custodial fees and the expenses of preparation of proxy statements and shareholder reports. The aggregate expenses of consummating the reorganization of Liberty and Knickerbocker are estimated to be $30,000. Under the agreement, such expenses are the obligation of Liberty and Knickerbocker in proportion to their respective net asset values as of June 30, 1975 whether or not the reorganization is carried out. Finally, as a registered investment company, Liberty will be required to continue to comply with all applicable provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 23, 1975, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed to: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

MIDDLE SOUTH UTILITIES, INC. AND SYSTEM FUELS, INC.

Proposed Loan Agreement With Bank by System Fuel Supply Subsidiary and Guaranty of Obligations Thereunder by Holding Company

AUGUST 29, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that Middle South Utilities, Inc. ("Middle South"), 225 Baronne Street, New Orleans, Louisiana 70112, a registered holding company, and System Fuels, Inc. ("SFI"), a fuel supply subsidiary of Middle South's operating electric utility subsidiaries, have filed an application-declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Sections 6(a), 7, 12(b), and 12(f) of the Act and Rules 45 and 50(a) (2) thereunder as applicable to the proposed transactions. All interested persons are referred to the application-declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

SFI proposes to enter into a loan agreement ("Loan Agreement") with a consortium of 50 banks headed by First National Bank of Commerce, New Orleans, Louisiana ("Bank"), under which SFI will borrow up to $25 million between the date thereof and March 31, 1976. It is intended that the Bank will loan SFI 11% of the borrowings outstanding at any one time and that other banks, participating in the loan pursuant to agreements with the Bank, will loan the balance.

Each loan by the Bank will be evidenced by a note dated the date of such loan and stated to mature on March 31, 1976. Each note will bear interest from its date at the rate of one percent (1%) in excess of the interest rate in effect at the Bank for prime commercial loans of 90-day maturities. The loans may be prepaid at any time without penalty and reborrowed through March 31, 1976.

To compensate the Bank for costs associated with coordinating the consortium of participating banks, SFI will pay the Bank a facility servicing fee equal to one eighth of one percent ($\frac{1}{8}$ of 1%) of the total amount to be loaned under the Loan Agreement, or \$31,250. There are no compensating balance arrangements between SFI or MSU and the Bank or any participating bank as a result of the proposed transaction. Middle South proposes to unconditionally guarantee SFI's obligations under the Loan Agreement.

SFI will apply the proceeds of the loan to (i) repay loans made to SFI by its parent operating companies under authority heretofore given (HCAR No. 18221, December 17, 1973) which, at July 31, 1975, totalled $16,550,585, and (ii) complete construction on oil storage tanks and related equipment located at Mississippi Power & Light Company's Baxter Wilson Steam Electric Generating Station near Vicksburg, Mississippi. It is anticipated that once the facilities are completed, SFI will enter into a long-term sale-leaseback with certain investors, and that the proceeds therefrom will be used to retire all of the loans referred to above. Any such sale-leaseback arrangement would be the subject of a future application-declaration.

It is stated that no special or separable fees, commissions or expenses will be paid in connection with the proposed transactions other than incidental expenses all at cost by Middle South Services, Inc., and estimated not to exceed $500. It is further stated that no state or federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 23, 1975, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the applicants-declarants at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the application-declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices or orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

MUTUAL BENEFIT GROWTH FUNDApplication for an Order Declaring That Applicant Has Ceased To Be an Investment Company

AUGUST 28, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that Mutual Benefit Growth Fund ("Applicant"), 520 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey, 07101, registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") as an open-end, diversified management investment company, filed an application on July 22, 1975 pursuant to Section 8(f) of the Act for an order of the Commission declaring that Applicant has ceased to be an investment company as defined in the Act and that its registration as an investment company has ceased to be in effect. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein which are summarized below.

Applicant was incorporated under the laws of the State of Delaware on August 4, 1970 and registered under the Act on August 14, 1970.

Applicant entered into an Agreement and Plan of Reorganization with Mutual Benefit Fund ("Benefit"), a registered open-end diversified management investment company, pursuant to which Applicant transferred to Benefit substantially all of its assets in exchange for shares of Benefit common stock to be credited to the shareholders of Applicant. These transactions were approved by the shareholders of Applicant and of Benefit and were consummated on April 18, 1975. Applicant has filed a Certificate of Dissolution with the Secretary of State of Delaware and has applied to terminate the registration of its shares with the appropriate state securities departments. Applicant no longer conducts the business of an investment company for which it was organized but rather intends that its existence shall be terminated subject to final settlement of its affairs pursuant to the General Corporation Law of Delaware.

Applicant transferred to Benefit all of its assets except the sum of $9,860, representing a reserve established for the payment of expenses in carrying out its obligations under the Agreement and Plan of Reorganization. After the payment of these expenses, $1,046 remained, which amount was transferred to Benefit.

Section 8(f) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that whenever the Commission, upon application, finds that a registered investment company has ceased to be an investment company, it shall so declare by order, and upon the taking effect of such order the registration of such company shall cease to be in effect.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 25, 1975, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicant at the address stated above. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following September 25, 1975, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

NORTHEAST UTILITIESNotice of Proposal To Issue and Sell Common Stock Through Dividend Reinvestment and Common Share Purchase Plan

AUGUST 29, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that Northeast Utilities ("Northeast"), 174 Brush Hill Avenue, West Springfield, Massachusetts 01089, a registered holding company, has filed a post-effective amendment to its previously amended declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Sections 6 and 7 thereof as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

By order dated October 23, 1974 (HCAR No. 18617), Northeast was authorized to issue and sell from time to time through November 15, 1975, 500,000 shares of its common stock, par value $5.00 per share, under a voluntary dividend reinvestment and common share purchase plan ("Plan"). At August 1, 1975, 362,159 of such shares had been issued and sold under the Plan for $2,786,608. The proceeds have been applied to the continuing construction program of the Northeast system companies.

In order to meet the anticipated requirements for its common stock under the Plan over the next year, Northeast proposes to issue and sell an additional 1,000,000 shares, together with the balance of those which remain unsold under its current authorization, through December 31, 1976. Shareholders who elect to participate in the Plan may invest regular cash dividends and/or optional cash payments of between $500 to $1,000 per quarter in such stock. It is stated that the purchase price will be the average of the closing sales price for Northeast's common stock on the New York Stock Exchange during the first fifteen trading days of the twenty trading days preceding the dividend payment. The net proceeds from the sale of shares pursuant to the Plan, estimated at $10,240,569, will be applied to Northeast's construction program.

The Plan will be administered by The First National Bank of Boston ("Agent"), and all shares purchased will be held for the exclusive benefit of the Plan participants. All record holders of Northeast's outstanding common stock are eligible to participate in the Plan and may join by executing an authorization form and returning it to the Agent. A participant may withdraw from the Plan at any time upon giving written notice to the Agent. Upon withdrawal, certificates for whole shares credited to a participant's account will be issued and a cash payment will be made for any fractional shares so credited. The Plan provides that a participant may also request that certificates for any number of full shares credited to his account be issued to him even though he wishes to remain in the Plan.

It is stated that all costs for administering the Plan will be paid by Northeast and that there will be no brokerage fees when shares are purchased under the Plan. However, if a participant withdrawing from the Plan requests the Agent to sell his shares, there will be brokerage commissions.

The Agent will not vote any shares held by it under the Plan. Participants will receive a single proxy with respect to full shares which they own of record or which are credited to their accounts under the Plan.

A statement of the fees, commissions, and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the proposed transaction will be supplied by amendment. It is stated that no State commission and no Federal commission other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 24, 1975, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said post-effective amendment which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the post-effective amendment, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from its rules under the Act as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

ONE HUNDRED FUND, INC. AND FLEMING BERGER FUND, INC.

Application for an Order Exempting a Proposed Transaction

August 28, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that The One Hundred Fund, Inc., 899 Logan Street, Denver, Colorado 80203, ("One Hundred") and Fleming Berger Fund, Inc. ("Fleming Berger") (collectively referred to as "Applicants"), registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 ("Act") as open-end management investment companies of the diversified and non-diversified type, respectively, filed an application on July 7, 1975 and an amendment thereto on August 21, 1975, pursuant to Section 17(b) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of Section 17(a) of the Act the proposed sale by Fleming Berger of substantially all its assets to One Hundred pursuant to an Agreement and Plan of Reorganization ("Agreement"). All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of matters contained therein, which are summarized below.

On March 31, 1975, total net assets of One Hundred amounted to $13,770,507, or $6.60 per share outstanding. Fleming Berger, as of April 30, 1975, had total net assets of $2,280,097 and a net asset value of $7.11 per share. The investment objective of One Hundred is long-term capital growth through investment, primarily, in common stocks of established companies. The investment objective of Fleming Berger is to seek capital appreciation. Fleming Berger does not currently offer its shares to the public, while One Hundred offers its shares at net asset value without sales charge.

Berger Associates, Inc. ("Adviser") is the investment adviser of One Hundred. The investment advisory fee payable by One Hundred is at the annual rate of $\frac{3}{4}$ of 1% of the first \$50,000,000 of the average daily net asset value. The fee is reduced for assets exceeding such amount. The application states that One Hundred will be reimbursed by the Adviser in any fiscal year when the total cost of normal operating expenses exceeds 2% of the first \$10,000,000, 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ % of the next \$20,000,000 and 1% of the balance of the average net asset value of One Hundred for that year.

Effective March 27, 1975, the sale of in excess of 40% of the outstanding voting securities of the Adviser to Mr. William M. B. Berger effected an assignment of the Adviser's contract with Fleming Berger, and consequently, its termination. The application states that on April 1, 1975, Fleming Berger entered into an agreement with the Adviser pursuant to which the Adviser agreed to provide Fleming Berger with investment advisory services without a fee upon terms otherwise essentially identical to the previous contract. Under this interim arrangement the Adviser must reimburse Fleming Berger for its expenses in any fiscal year which are in excess of 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ % of the first \$30,000,000 and 1% of any excess over \$30,000,000 of the average of the daily net asset value of Fleming Berger. This interim arrangement will terminate if the proposed sale of assets is approved by the Fleming Berger shareholders at their September 1975 Special Meeting and such sale is consummated.

Due to common officers and the common Adviser, Applicants may be deemed to be under common control and, thus, affiliated persons of each other within the meaning of Section 2(a)(3) of the Act. Section 17(a) of the Act, in pertinent part, provides that it shall be unlawful for an affiliated person of a registered investment company knowingly to sell to or purchase from such registered investment company any security or other property. Section 17(b) of the Act provides that the Commission, upon application, may exempt a proposed transaction from the provisions of Section 17(a) if evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair, do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned with the proposed transaction and are consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned and with the general purposes of the Act.

Under the terms of the Agreement the sale in the form of an exchange will be based upon the net asset value of Fleming Berger and the net asset value per share of One Hundred as of the closing date provided in the Agreement. The number of shares of common stock of One Hundred to be transferred to Fleming Berger will be computed by dividing the net asset value of Fleming Berger by the net asset value per share of One Hundred, in each case as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange on the closing date. Following the closing date Fleming Berger will liquidate and distribute pro-rata to its stockholders of record the shares of One Hundred's common stock received by Fleming Berger. Each Applicant will, to the extent earned or realized in material amounts prior to the closing date, distribute to its respective shareholders substantially all undistributed net investment income and net capital gains realized since the close of their fiscal years in excess of any applicable loss carryforwards.

In the computation of each Applicant's net asset value, no adjustment will be made to compensate for any potential tax impact on their respective shareholders which may result from differences between the Applicants in the percentage of each Applicant's realized or unrealized capital gains or losses to its net asset value and in the amount of each Applicant's tax loss carryforward. As of September 30, 1974, One Hundred had a Federal capital loss carryforward of approximately $22,213,000 and, as of April 30, 1975, Fleming Berger had a Federal capital loss carryforward of approximately $4,162,000. As of August 11, 1975 One Hundred had Federal net unrealized appreciation of approximately $250,000, and Fleming Berger had Federal net unrealized appreciation of approximately $45,000. Applicants assert that it is not appropriate to implement a tax adjustment formula with respect to the foregoing differences because there is no assurance that capital gains will be realized against which the capital loss carryforwards may be offset or that the unrealized appreciation will ultimately be realized. Furthermore, the amount of any advantage or disadvantage to a particular shareholder receiving shares in a reorganization is dependent upon a variety of factors peculiar to the shareholder, among which are his individual capital gains rate, his individual cost basis, the time at which his shares are ultimately repurchased or redeemed, and the investment company's pattern of realization and distribution of capital gains between the date of the reorganization and the date of the ultimate repurchase or redemption of his shares.

The aggregate expenses of the Applicants in effecting the reorganization are estimated at $22,000. One Hundred and Fleming Berger will each bear that portion of such expenses incurred by it, except that One Hundred and Fleming Berger shall each pay one-half of the printing expenses in excess of an amount equal to the printing expenses of Fleming Berger for its 1973 meeting of shareholders, which amount shall be paid by Fleming Berger. This arrangement applies whether or not the Agreement is consummated. Adviser has, however, agreed to pay certain of Fleming Berger's reorganization expenses, as set forth in the application.

Applicants submit that the terms of the proposed transaction are reasonable and fair to all parties, do not involve overreaching and that the transaction is consistent with the investment policies of each Applicant and with the policies of the Act. No brokerage commission or other fees will result from the proposed transaction and in the opinion of the management of both Applicants, their combination will result in certain economies, particularly with regard to expenses of director and shareholder meetings, fees of attorneys, auditors and custodians, expenses of preparation of shareholder reports, franchise taxes and possible brokerage commissions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 22, 1975, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following said date, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered), and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

[Rel. No. 8910; 812-3836]

SCHUSTER FUND, INC. AND KNICKERBOCKER GROWTH FUND, INC.

Application for an Order Exempting a Proposed Transaction

AUGUST 28, 1975.

Notice is hereby given that Schuster Fund, Inc., 245 Park Avenue, New York, New York 10017, ("Schuster") and Knickerbocker Growth Fund, Inc. ("Knickerbocker") (sometimes collectively referred to as "Applicants"), open-end, diversified management investment companies registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act"), filed an application on July 3, 1975, and an amendment thereto on August 20, 1975, pursuant to Section 17(b) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting from the provisions of Section 17(a) of the Act the proposed sale by Knickerbocker of substantially all of its assets to Schuster. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the matters contained therein, which are summarized below.

Schuster was incorporated in Maryland in April 1967 and is authorized to issue one class of shares. It had 1,664,838 shares outstanding and net assets of $11,102,903 as of June 2, 1975. Knickerbocker was incorporated on May 22, 1953 under the laws of the State of Delaware and is authorized to issue 4,999,000 shares of Special stock and 1,000 shares of common stock. On June 2, 1975, Knickerbocker had outstanding 955,336 shares of Special stock and total net assets of $5,423,339. There are no shares of common stock outstanding. Since CNA Management Corporation ("Management") is the investment adviser and distributor of the shares of both applicants and certain members of the Board of Directors of Schuster are also directors of Knickerbocker, each applicant might be deemed to be an "affiliated person" of the other within the meaning of the definition set forth in Section 2(a)(3) of the Act.

The application states that the Funds have entered into an agreement and Plan of Reorganization ("Plan") under which substantially all of the assets and liabilities of Knickerbocker are to be transferred to Schuster in exchange for shares of Schuster Capital stock. The number of shares of Capital stock of Schuster to be transferred to Knickerbocker will be computed by dividing the net asset value of Knickerbocker by the net asset value per share of Schuster, in each case as of the close of trading on the New York Stock Exchange on the Closing Date as defined in the Agreement. Thereupon, the Schuster shares will be distributed pro rata to Knickerbocker's shareholders in liquidation of Knickerbocker. Following such distribution and the payment of any remaining obligations of Knickerbocker, Knickerbocker will be dissolved. Schuster has covenanted to call a shareholders meeting to consider, among other matters, an amendment to Schuster's Articles of Incorporation changing its name to CNA Growth Fund, Inc.

The adoption of the Plan requires the affirmative vote of at least a majority of the outstanding voting securities of each of the Applicants. Since the shareowners of Schuster will be asked to vote on certain important matters concerning Schuster—namely the adoption of a new investment advisory agreement, and election to Schuster's Board of Directors of several of Knickerbocker's directors—at the same time they will be asked to vote on the plan of reorganization, and since proxies will be solicited from shareowners of Knickerbocker in connection with the plan prior to the vote by the shareowners of Schuster, the merger will be conditioned on the shareowners of Schuster adopting these proposed changes.

The proposed merger is also contingent upon the receipt of a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service, or in lieu thereof, an opinion of counsel, to the effect that the plan will constitute a tax free reorganization.

Each fund, immediately preceding the merger, will distribute all of its net realized capital gains in excess of any applicable loss carryforwards and substantially all of its net investment income realized since the close of its last fiscal year.

As of March 31, 1975, Schuster had a capital loss carryforward of approximately $7,972,000, expiring $1,191,000 in 1976, $65,000 in 1978, $4,014,000 in 1979, and $2,702,000 in 1980. At March 31, 1975 Knickerbocker had a capital loss carryforward of approximately $1,822,724, expiring $1,531,474 in 1978 and $291,250 in 1979. No adjustments in the aggregate net asset values of Schuster or Knickerbocker will be made to corporate shareholders for any potential Federal income tax impact which may result from the differences between Schuster and Knickerbocker in their capital loss carryforwards. Applicants assert that there is no assurance that capital gains will be realized against which the capital loss carryforwards may be offset or that the unrealized depreciation or unrealized appreciation appearing on the books of the Applicants will ultimately be realized. In addition, it is asserted that no adjustment is being made because the advantage or disadvantage to a shareholder resulting from the reorganization is dependent on a variety of factors peculiar to the particular shareholder such as the individual's capital gains tax rate, cost basis, the time shares were purchased or redeemed and other factors.

Applicants assert that the proposed transaction is consistent with the investment policies of each of the funds. The primary investment objective of Schuster is to seek appreciation of capital through professional management, with some short term trading. The investment objective of Knickerbocker is long-term appreciation of investors' capital. The investment policies through which the Applicants seek to implement their respective objectives, though differing in some regards, are basically consistent. Further, both Applicants have similar investment restrictions which cannot be changed without the approval of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of each of the Applicants.

Section 17(a) of the Act, in pertinent part, provides that it shall be unlawful for any affiliated person of a registered investment company knowingly to sell to or purchase from such registered investment company security or other property. Section 17(b) of the Act provides that the Commission, upon application, may exempt a proposed transaction from the provisions of Section 17(a) if evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned and the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of each registered investment company concerned and with the general purposes of the Act.

Applicants assert that the terms of the proposed transaction are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned. Applicants believe that the consummation of the proposed reorganization will result in certain economies of operation through the reduction of certain expenses, such as auditing fees, filing fees, custodial fees and the expenses of preparation of proxy statements and shareholder reports. The aggregate expenses of consummating the reorganization of Schuster and Knickerbocker are estimated to be $25,000. Under the agreement, such expenses are the obligation of Schuster and Knickerbocker in proportion to their respective net asset values as of June 30, 1975, whether or not the reorganization is carried out. Finally, as a registered investment company, Schuster will be required to continue to comply with all applicable provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than September 22, 1975, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed to: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (air mail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in the case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0-5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following said date, unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Office of Federal Contract Compliance

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY IN BALTIMORE, MD., AREA CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY AND GENERAL QUESTIONS REGARDING THE CONTRACT COMPLIANCE PROGRAM

Request for Information and Notice of Factfinding Hearing

Notice is hereby given that the Department of Labor is requesting information concerning equal employment opportunity in the Baltimore, Maryland area construction industry in order to determine the scope and extent of any existing problems of minority group and female underutilization in the various trades (both union and non-union) and to assist the Department in formulating further actions and approaches, if appropriate, to provide full and equal employment opportunity in the Baltimore area construction industry consistent with the nondiscrimination and affirmative action mandate of Executive Order 11246 (30 FR 12370), as amended by Executive Order 11375 (32 FR 14303).

Relevant information on the Baltimore area construction industry would include, but not be limited to:

(1) The current extent of minority group and female participation in the construction trades as journeymen, apprentices, trainees, helpers, and other classifications as compared with the full employee complement of each trade by classification;

(2) A description and evaluation of present employee recruitment methods, including the assistance and effectiveness of any employer, union, and community programs to increase minority and female participation in the trades;

(3) The availability of qualified and qualifiable minority group and female persons for employment in each construction trade, indicating the sources for such persons and how they may be brought into the trades;

(4) Descriptions and evaluations of existing training programs, including apprenticeship and special training programs in the area, indicating the numbers of minorities, women, and all others recruited into the programs, the attrition rates in each program by race and sex, and the proportion of persons by race and sex who achieve journeyman status and union membership, if appropriate;

(5) Apprenticeship and special training program standards and their effect on minority and female participation in each trade, employer experience with apprentices and trainees, and the need for additional or expanded training programs;

(6) An analysis of the number of workhours performed by minorities and women in comparison to other workers.

(7) An analysis of the growth and attrition in each trade or craft and their effect on minority group and female participation over the past five years.

(8) An analysis of the number of additional workers that could be absorbed into each trade without displacing present employees, including consideration of present employee shortages or surpluses, projected growth and attrition in each trade, and any technological changes which may affect employee demand.

(9) The desirability, extent, and content of possible federal action, initiatives, and approaches to insure nondiscrimination and affirmative action for minorities and women in the construction trades, including considerations of geographical scope, the need and parameters of employment goals and timetables for various trades, including goals for women as well as for minorities, and various other equal employment mechanisms;

(10) The viability and content of supplementary or alternative, privately developed affirmative action approaches which may be negotiated and implemented by contractors and their associations (both union and non-union), labor organizations, community organizations and others in lieu of further federally developed equal employment specifications under Executive Order 11246, as amended;

(11) Recommendations of federal, state and local governmental equal employment agencies involved in the Baltimore area.

In addition, the Department is interested in soliciting information concerning the broader questions of discharging its duties pursuant to the affirmative action mandate of Executive Order 11246, as amended, with regard to the construction industry. Accordingly, the Department is also requesting relevant information concerning its construction contract compliance program including, but not limited to:

(1) The appropriateness of the formula proposed in the New Philadelphia Plan (40 FR 28477, July 7, 1975) and the Revised New York Plan (40 FR 28472, July 7, 1975), as a method of computing ultimate goals for minority utilization in other areas;

(2) Methods for establishing intermediate goals and timetables;

(3) Establishment of meaningful good faith efforts compliance with which is acceptable in lieu of achievement of the goals for minority and female utilization;

(4) The creation of effective record keeping and/or reporting systems which enable agencies to determine compliance with a minimum of paperwork;

(5) The role of private groups in the development, monitoring, and enforcement of affirmative action requirements;

(6) The proper geographical scope of affirmative action requirements, i.e., union jurisdiction, Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area, counties or some combination of one or more geographical references;

(7) Methods of computing goals and timetables for women in construction trades.

Such information may be submitted either in writing or at an informal fact-finding hearing to be held pursuant to Section 208 of E.O. 11246, as amended, and commencing on October 15, 1975, at Room 108, Federal Building, 31 Hopkins Plaza, Baltimore, Maryland. DORSEY TRAILERS, INC.

Investigation Regarding Certification of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

On August 12, 1975, the Department of Labor received a petition filed under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") on behalf of the workers and former workers of Dorsey Trailers, Inc., Elba, Alabama (TA-W-126). Accordingly, the Acting Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, has instituted an investigation as provided in Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of the investigation is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with seagoing containers produced by Dorsey Trailers, Inc., or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision. The investigation will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved. A group meeting the eligibility requirements of section 222 of the Act will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioner or any other person showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigation may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Acting Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than 10 days after this notice is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The petition filed in this case is available for inspection at the Office of the Acting Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor, 3rd St. and Constitution Ave., NW., Washington, D.C. 20210.

CHICAGO AND NORTH WESTERN TRANSPORTATION CO.

Abandonment of Service

Present: Virginia Mae Brown, Commissioner, to whom the matter which is the subject of this order has been assigned for action thereon.

Upon consideration of the record in the above-entitled proceeding, and of a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey which is available to the public upon request, and

It appearing, That no environmental impact statement need be issued in this proceeding because this proceeding does not represent a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq.; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That applicant be, and it is hereby, directed to publish the appended notice in a newspaper of general circulation in Calhoun and Carroll Counties, Iowa, on or before September 17, 1975, and certify to the Commission that this has been accomplished.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D.C., and by forwarding a copy to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the Federal Register.

Dated Washington, D.C., this 25th day of August, 1975.

By the Commission, Commissioner Brown.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that by order dated August 25, 1975, it has been determined that the proposed abandonment by the Chicago and North Western Transportation Company of its line between Milepost 389.1 near Somers and Milepost 420 near Carroll, a distance of approximately 31 miles, in Carroll and Calhoun Counties, Iowa, if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332(2)(C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that the environmental impacts of the proposed action are considered insignificant because (1) the volume of traffic handled on the line has been low and is declining, (2) any resultant diversion of traffic from rail to truck will not have a significant impact on air and water quality, (3) Somers, Lohrville, and Carroll will continue to have rail service and, (4) there are no development plans or land use policies in the tributary territory which are dependent on the availability of rail service. Furthermore, governmental units have expressed an interest in utilizing this right-of-way for recreational purposes should the abandonment be authorized.

This determination was based upon the staff preparation and consideration of an environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Proceedings, Washington, D.C. 20423; telephone 202-343-2086.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423, on or before September 22, 1975.

This negative environmental determination shall become final unless good and sufficient reason demonstrating why an environmental impact statement should be prepared for this action is submitted to the Commission by the above-specified date.

Present: Virginia Mae Brown, Commissioner, to whom the matter which is the subject of this order has been assigned for action thereon.

Upon consideration of the record in the above-entitled proceeding, and of a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey which is available to the public upon request; and

It appearing, That no environmental impact statement need be issued in this proceeding because this proceeding does not represent a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq.; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That applicant be, and it is hereby, directed to publish the appended notice in a newspaper of general circulation in Bureau County, Ill., on or before September 11, 1975, and certify to the Commission that this has been accomplished.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this finding shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this order and the attached notice in the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., for public inspection, and by delivering a copy of the notice to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the Federal Register as notice to interested persons.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 18th day of August, 1975.

By the Commission, Commissioner Brown.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that by order dated August 18, 1975, it has been determined that the proposed abandonment of the Chicago and North Western Transportation Company of its line between Milepost 72.0 near La Salle and Milepost 77.0 near Spring Valley, a distance of 5.0 miles, all in Bureau County, Ill., if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332(2)(C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that the environmental impacts of the proposed action are considered insignificant because (1) several washouts have occurred on the subject line, and no traffic has moved since May 1974; (2) overhead traffic is presently handled via other interchange points, (3) the applicant's shippers in Spring Valley are presently served by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company, and (4) the degradation of the affected area's air and water quality will be minimal. In addition, the State Department of Transportation has expressed an interest in obtaining a part of the right-of-way property for public use.

This determination was based upon the staff preparation and consideration of an environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423, on this matter by filing their statements.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., 20423, on or before September 16, 1975.

This negative environmental determination shall become final unless good and sufficient reason demonstrating why an environmental impact statement should be prepared for this action is submitted to the Commission by the above-specified date.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

MISSOURI PACIFIC RAILROAD CO.

Abandonment of Service

Present: Virginia Mae Brown, Commissioner, to whom the matter which is the subject of this order has been assigned for action thereon.

Upon consideration of the record in the above-entitled proceeding, and of a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey which is available to the public upon request; and

It appearing, That no environmental impact statement need be issued in this proceeding because this proceeding does not represent a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq.; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That applicant be, and it is hereby, directed to publish the appended notice in a newspaper of general circulation in Washington, County, on or before September 17, 1975, and certify to the Commission that this has been accomplished.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D.C., and by forwarding a copy to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the Federal Register.

Dated Washington, D.C., this 25th day of August, 1975.

By the Commission, Commissioner Brown.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that by order dated August 25, 1975, it has been determined that the proposed abandonment by the Missouri Pacific Railroad Company of its line of railroad between Greenleaf and Washington, Kans., a distance of 6.9 miles, if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332(2)(C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that the environmental impacts of the proposed action are considered insignificant because of the low volume of traffic involved and the absence of any major historic, safety or ecological impacts associated with the proposed action.

This determination was based upon the staff preparation and consideration of an environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Office of Proceedings, Washington, D.C. 20423; telephone 202-343-2086.

Interested persons may comment on this matter by filing their statements in writing with the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C. 20423, on or before September 22, 1975.

This negative environmental determination shall become final unless good and sufficient reason demonstrating why an environmental impact statement should be prepared for this action is submitted to the Commission by the above-specified date.

Present: Virginia Mae Brown, Commissioner, to whom the matter which is the subject of this order has been assigned for action thereon.

Upon consideration of the record in the above-entitled proceeding, and of a staff-prepared environmental threshold assessment survey which is available to the public upon request; and

It appearing, That no environmental impact statement need be issued in this proceeding because this proceeding does not represent a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq.; and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That applicant be, and it is hereby, directed to publish the appended notice in a newspaper of general circulation in Alger and Delta Counties, Mich., on or before September 17, 1975, and certify to the Commission that this has been accomplished.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this finding shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this order and the attached notice in the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., for public inspection, and by delivering a copy of the notice to the Director, Office of the Federal Register, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER as notice to interested persons.

Dated at Washington, D.C., this 25th day of August, 1975.

By the Commission, Commissioner Brown.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

The Interstate Commerce Commission hereby gives notice that by order dated August 25, 1975, it has been determined that the proposed abandonment by the Soo Line Railroad Company of its line of railroad between Rapid River and Eben Junction, Mich., a distance of 32.50 miles, if approved by the Commission, does not constitute a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA), 42 U.S.C. §§ 4321, et seq., and that preparation of a detailed environmental impact statement will not be required under section 4332(2)(C) of the NEPA.

It was concluded, among other things, that the environmental impacts of the proposed action are considered insignificant because area environmental quality will only be degraded slightly due to increased air pollution and energy consumption resulting from diversion of rail traffic to motor carrier transport. Sale of the right-of-way to a public agency would ensure availability of the land in the right-of-way for future use as a transportation or other public use corridor, and would be consistent with current interest in recreational trail development.

This determination was based upon the staff preparation and consideration of an environmental threshold assessment survey, which is available on request to the Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., 20423, on or before September 22, 1975.

This negative environmental determination shall become final unless good and sufficient reason demonstrating why an environmental impact statement should be prepared for this action is submitted to the Commission by the above-specified date.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

NAVIGABLE WATERS

Discharge of Dredged or Fill Material

Title 40—Protection of the Environment

CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[FRL 421-1]

PART 230—NAVIGABLE WATERS

Discharge of Dredged or Fill Material

The Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) on May 6, 1975, proposed guidelines, pursuant to section 404(b) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972, Pub. L. 92-500 (hereinafter, "the Act"), for the purpose of providing guidance to be applied in evaluating proposed discharge of dredged or fill material in navigable waters. The guidelines were developed in conjunction with the Army pursuant to section 404(b) of the Act.

Written comments were to be submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency by June 6, 1975. This date was extended to June 30 and consideration has been given to all comments received.

The guidelines are applicable to all activities involving the discharge of dredged or fill material in navigable waters, defined in the Act to mean "the waters of the United States, including the territorial seas." Such discharges are unlawful except in compliance with permits issued by the Secretary of the Army, acting through the Chief of Engineers, after notice and opportunity for public hearings (see 33 CFR 209.120, "Permits for Activities in Navigable Waters or Ocean Waters," published by the Corps of Engineers in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 25, 1975). These guidelines are applicable to all Federal projects or activities, just as they are applicable to any other project or activity involving a discharge of dredged or fill materials.

Interim final guidelines are being published in order to provide immediate guidance in the implementation of the permit program under section 404 of the Act. While these guidelines become effective upon publication, there will be an additional comment period of 90 days in order that the public may comment further on any of its provisions. Thereafter, these comments will be reviewed and the guidelines modified if necessary.

The development of a permit program to regulate the discharge of dredged material and fill material in all waters of the United States has been the subject of intensive discussions between the Environmental Protection Agency and the Corps of Engineers, as well as other Federal and State agencies and the public. We have worked together in an effort to develop a program that is manageable, responsive to the concerns of protecting vital national water resources from destruction through irresponsible and irreversible decisions, and sensitive to the often conflicting needs and desires of people who utilize these resources. We have attempted to create a program that recognizes the need to interweave all concerns of the public in the decision-making process; that recognizes that present limitations on manpower preclude its immediate implementation throughout the country; and that we believe to be responsive to the overall objectives and needs of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act.

Section 230.1 summarizes the purpose and scope of the guidelines. Section 230.2 and Appendix A contain definitions to be used in the application of the guidelines in the program under section 404 of the Act.

The procedures for evaluating the discharge of dredged or fill material are outlined in § 230.3. This section is intended to emphasize that each provision of §§ 230.4 and 230.5 must be applied in reaching one of the following determinations: (1) Allowing the proposed discharge with appropriate discharge conditions to minimize unacceptable effects on the aquatic environment; (2) denying the proposed discharge when the discharge will have an unacceptable effect on the aquatic environment; or (3) requesting additional information where necessary to ensure a sound decision.

Section 230.4 presents general approaches for technical evaluation of discharges of dredged or fill material. Section 230.4-1 describes the types of ecological effects that may result from the discharge of dredged or fill material and technical approaches which are available to evaluate such effects where appropriate. Section 230.4-2 explains the considerations that will be given to water quality standards.

Section 230.5 presents objectives and considerations for evaluating proposed sites and for conditioning discharges so as to minimize harmful effects when the disposal site can be approved. All proposed discharges will be analyzed by application of each provision presented.

Section 230.6 provides guidance on the use of general permits for categories of discharge activities that will have only minimal effect on the aquatic environment. Section 230.7 encourages advanced study of aquatic areas to identify those areas of critical ecological concern and those areas that are less sensitive. It is expected that, where practicable, advanced identification of such areas will facilitate planning and improve evaluation of individual and general permits. State and local implementation of advanced planning through mechanisms such as Coastal Zone Management Programs will significantly contribute to the success of these studies.

The following analysis summarizes key comments received on various sections of the proposed guidelines and presents a rationale for the changes made:

(1) Several commenters suggested that the guidelines lack a strong commitment to the spirit of the law by failing to place strict controls on the discretionary power given to the District Engineers. The nationwide application of a single set of guidelines to a variety of discharge activities in a myriad of different aquatic systems requires that the permitting agency retain the discretion to adapt the approaches and considerations in the guidelines to local conditions. However, many of the approaches and considerations have been rewritten to clarify that discharges will not be allowed if it is determined that the proposed discharge will result in unacceptable harm to the aquatic system.

(2) Several comments indicated confusion over the organization of the guidelines. The guidelines have been reorganized, renumbered and retitled to provide greater clarity and utility.

(3) Many commenters objected to the execution of raw material extraction from the section 404 permit system. The Corps of Engineers regulations and the guidelines now recognize that the discharge of material extracted and processed on shipboard is included in the section 404 program, while discharges from land-based processing are included in the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System under section 402 of the Act.

(4) Most of the comments concerned technical analytical procedures, the adequacy of using the results as a description of constituents actually contained in sediments, whether constituents measured are actually available to aquatic organisms and humans, and the criteria for evaluating technical analyses. In addition to the comments volunteered by the interested public, we sought opinions of experts in each of the above areas of concern. All comments indicated that at this time none of the tests specified in the proposed guidelines can be used on a nationwide basis to examine all sediments thought to contain toxic substances. However, each of the technical evaluations specified in the proposed guidelines can be used meaningfully under some disposal conditions. Since there is no single technical evaluation available for nationwide use, additional physical analysis, bioassays, and biological evaluations have been added. Technical evaluations should be required only when a case-by-case review indicates that the results will provide information necessary to reach a final decision. When used carefully, the results of an appropriate technical evaluation in a given case will serve as one of many factors involved in the decision-making process. The Environmental Protection Agency, in conjunction with the Corps of Engineers will publish a procedures manual to provide details on technical evaluations. Interim technical guidance is available from the District Engineers.

(5) A number of commenters criticized the apparent lack of State participation in the permit program. It has never been the intention of this Agency or the Corps of Engineers to exclude the States from this program.

First, since each discharge of dredged or fill material into a navigable water is, in effect, the discharge of a pollutant into the water, a State water quality certification is required under section 401 of the Act before that discharge can be lawfully undertaken. Provision has therefore been made in the Corps of Engineers regulations (see 40 CFR 209.120(f)(3)) to indicate this legal requirement. Thus, any State may cause the denial of a section 404 permit if it chooses to deny a water quality certification. Similar situations also exist in those States with approved

Coastal Zone Management Programs: An individual in States with such programs must also certify that his activity will comply with the approved plan. On the other hand, where the State does not have such a certification program or delays the processing of its certification, the Corps of Engineers will still begin to process the section 404 permit. In absence of a timely response from the State, the section 404 permit will be processed to a conclusion.

Second, we are aware that some States have existing permit programs to regulate the same types of activities that will be regulated through section 404 of the Act by the Corps of Engineers. To the extent possible, it is our desire to support the State in its decision. Thus, where a State denies a permit, the Corps will not issue a section 404 permit. On the other hand, if a State issues a permit, the Corps would not deny its permit unless there are overriding environmental factors as reflected in these guidelines. We believe that conflicting decisions will be minimized if State permit programs include the policies, procedures, goals, requirements, and objectives embodied in the Corps permit program (see 40 CFR 209.120(f)(3)) and the national legislation which molded and supports it. This would include, for example, the concerns and requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act, the Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, the Endangered Species Act, the Coastal Zone Management Act, and the FWPCA.

Finally provision has been made in the Corps regulations (see 40 CFR 209.120(f)(3)) to allow the District Engineer to enter into an agreement with those States having ongoing permit programs which would enable joint processing of the Department of the Army and the State permit application to an independent conclusion by each entity. This would include joint public notices, joint public hearings, and the joint development, review, and analysis of information which leads to the final decision on a permit application. We strongly encourage States to work with District Engineers in this effort as this is a valuable mechanism for avoiding unnecessary duplication of effort.

Accordingly, having considered the comments received and other relevant information, the Administrator hereby adopts these guidelines as interim final, effective upon publication as guidance for evaluating all proposed discharges of dredged or fill material into the navigable waters, and also allowing 90 additional days for public comment after which time the guidelines may be modified if necessary.

All comments should be submitted to Eckardt C. Beck, Deputy Assistant Administrator for Water Planning and Standards, Office of Water and Hazardous Materials (WH-451), EPA, 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20460. All comments received on or before December 4, 1975 will be considered.

Dated: August 28, 1975.

RUSSELL E. TRAIN, Administrator.

APPENDIX A.

AUTHORITY: Sec. 404(b) Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972; Pub. L. 92-500.

§ 230.1 Purpose and scope.

(a) Purpose. The guidelines contained herein have been developed by the Administrator, Environmental Protection Agency in conjunction with the Secretary of the Army pursuant to section 404(b) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act (33 USC 1344).

(1) These guidelines are required by section 404 of the Act to be applied in the issuance of permits for the discharge of dredged or fill material at specified disposal sites. In the event the District Engineer's application of the guidelines would preclude the discharge of dredged or fill material, the District Engineer in making the decision will also evaluate the economic impact on navigation and anchorage which will occur by failing to utilize the proposed disposal site.

(2) In addition, under section 404(c) of the Act, no discharge of dredged or fill material will occur at a proposed disposal site in a navigable water if the Administrator of EPA determines, after notice and opportunity for a public hearing and consultation with the Secretary of the Army, that such discharge will have an unacceptable adverse effect on municipal water supplies, shellfish beds and fishery areas (including spawning and breeding areas), wildlife or recreational areas.

(b) Applicability. These guidelines are applicable to all activities involving the discharge of dredged or fill material in navigable waters. They will be applied by the Corps of Engineers in the review of proposed discharges of dredged or fill material into navigable waters which lie inside the baseline from which the territorial sea is measured or the discharge of fill material into the territorial sea pursuant to the procedures specified in 33 CFR 209.120 and 33 CFR 209.145.

(1) The discharge of dredge material into the territorial sea is governed by the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972, Pub. L. 92-532, and regulations and criteria issued pursuant thereto. (See 33 CFR 209.120, "Permits for Activities in Navigable Waters or Ocean Waters" and 33 CFR 209.145, "Federal Projects Involving the Disposal of Dredged Material in Navigable and Ocean Waters", and 40 CFR

227, "Ocean Dumping Final Regulations and Criteria".)

(2) These guidelines apply in a like manner to all discharges of dredged or fill material into navigable waters proposed to be undertaken by members of the general public and Federal Agencies including those Corps of Engineers operations that will result in such discharges.

§ 230.2 Definitions.

For purposes of this subpart 230, the following terms shall have the meanings indicated:

(a) The term "Act" means the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 (Pub. L. 92-500, 33 USC 1251 et seq.).

(b) The definitions set forth in 33 CFR 209.120(d) are incorporated herein by reference. These cover: navigable waters, dredged material, discharge of dredged material, fill material, and discharge of fill material. A copy of these definitions is appended hereto.

(c) The term "Regional Administrator" means the EPA Regional Administrator for the particular EPA Region in which dredged or fill material is proposed to be discharged.

(d) The term "District Engineer" means the District Engineer for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers District in which dredged or fill material is proposed to be discharged or such other individual as may be designated by the Secretary of the Army to issue or deny permits under section 404 of the Act.

(e) The term "territorial sea" means the belt of the sea measured from the baseline as determined in accordance with the Convention on the Territorial Sea and the Contiguous Zone and extending seaward a distance of three miles.

(f) The term "disposal site" means the location within fixed geographic boundaries in which a discharge of dredged or fill material is proposed or has been undertaken, and includes the volume of water and the substrate over which such water volume lies, where applicable.

(g) The term "constituents" means the chemical substances, the solids, and the organisms associated with dredged or fill material.

§ 230.3 Evaluation procedures.

(a) All proposed discharges of dredged or fill material will be processed and evaluated in accordance with these guidelines and with applicable Corps of Engineers regulations (33 CFR 209.120 and 33 CFR 209.145).

(b) Upon issuance of the public notice required by 33 CFR 209.120(j) and 209-145(g) the District Engineer shall send a copy of the public notice to the Regional Administrator.

(c) The role of the Regional Administrator shall include consultation with the District Engineer on the interpretation of the guidelines, review and comment to the District Engineer on permit applications, and implementation of section 404(c) in appropriate cases.

(d) The District Engineer shall utilize these guidelines by making an ecological evaluation following the guidance in § 230.4, including technical evaluation where appropriate, in conjunction with the evaluation considerations specified in § 230.5. This evaluation shall be utilized by the District Engineer in making one of the following determinations pursuant to section 404(b)(1) of the Act:

(1) Allowing the proposed discharge with appropriate discharge conditions to minimize unacceptable effects on the aquatic environment;

(2) Denying the proposed discharge when the discharge will have an unacceptable effect on the aquatic environment;

(3) Requesting additional information where necessary to ensure a sound decision.

(e) The District Engineer shall make use of the following approaches where practicable: Short form application procedures as may be subsequently developed by the Chief of Engineers for minor activities with minimal environmental effects; use of general permit procedures (see § 230.6); and advance identification of disposal areas (see § 230.7). Evaluation of the proposed discharge will also be made based on information contained in Environmental Impact Assessments, Environmental Impact Statements if required, Coastal Zone Management Programs, and River Basin Plans.

§ 230.4 General approaches for technical evaluation.

The effects of discharges of dredged or fill material on aquatic organisms and human uses of navigable waters may range from insignificant disruption to irreversible change at the disposal site. Section 230.4-1 describes the types of ecological effects that may result from the discharge of dredged or fill material and technical approaches to evaluate such effects. Ecological impact from dredged or fill material discharges can be divided into two main categories: (a) physical effects; and (b) chemical-biological interactive effects.

§ 230.4-1 Physical and chemical-biological interactive effects and approaches for evaluation.

No single test or approach can be applied in all cases to evaluate the effects of proposed discharges of dredged or fill material. Evaluation of the significance of physical effects often may be made without laboratory tests by examining the character of the dredged or fill material proposed for discharge and the discharge area with particular emphasis on the principles given in § 230.5. The chemical changes in water quality may best be simulated by use of an elutriate test. To the extent permitted by the state of the art, expected effects such as toxicity, stimulation, inhibition or bioaccumulation may best be estimated by appropriate bioassays. Suitability of the proposed disposal sites may be evaluated by the use, where appropriate, of sediment analysis or bioevaluation. In order to avoid unreasonable burdens on applicants in regard to the amounts and types of data to be provided, consideration will be given by the District Engineer to the economic cost of performing the evaluation, the utility of the data to be provided, and the nature and magnitude of any potential environmental effect. EPA in conjunction with the Corps of Engineers will publish a procedures manual that will cover summary and description of tests, definitions, sample collection and preservation, procedures, calculations, and references. Interim guidance to applicants concerning the applicability of specific approaches or procedures will be furnished by the District Engineer.

(a) Physical Effects. Physical effects on the aquatic environment include the potential destruction of wetlands, impairment of the water column, and the covering of benthic communities. Other physical effects include changes in bottom geometry and substrate composition that cause subsequent alterations in water circulation, salinity gradients and the exchange of constituents between sediments and overlying water with subsequent alterations of biological communities. (See § 230.5 of these guidelines.)

(1) From a national perspective, the degradation or destruction of aquatic resources by filling operations in wetlands is considered the most severe environmental impact covered by these guidelines. Evaluation procedures for determining the environmental effects of fill operations in wetlands are relatively straightforward. The guiding principle should be that destruction of highly productive wetlands may represent an irreversible loss of a valuable aquatic resource. (See 33 CFR 209.120(g)(3) and 230.5 of these guidelines.) Wetlands considered to perform important functions include but are not limited to the following:

(i) Wetlands that serve important natural biological functions, including food chain production, general habitat, and nesting, spawning, rearing and resting sites for aquatic or land species;

(ii) Wetlands set aside for study of the aquatic environment or as sanctuaries of refuges;

(iii) Wetlands contiguous to areas listed in paragraphs (a)(1)(i) and (ii) of this section, the destruction or alteration of which would affect detrimentally the natural drainage characteristics, sedimentation patterns, salinity distribution, flushing characteristics, current patterns, or other environmental characteristics of the above areas;

(iv) Wetlands that are significant in shielding other areas from wave action, erosion or storm damage. Such wetlands often include barrier beaches, islands, reefs and bars;

(v) Wetlands that serve as valuable storage areas for storm and flood waters; and

(vi) Wetlands that are prime natural recharge areas. Prime recharge areas are locations where surface and ground water are directly interconnected.

(2) Effects on the water column are principally those associated with a reduction in light transmission, aesthetic values, and direct destructive effects on nektonic and planktonic populations. The significance of water column physical effects are not readily predicted by current technical approaches.

(3) The effect on benthos is essentially the covering of benthic communities with a subsequent change in community structure or function. It has been noted that the benthic community often will reestablish, although sometimes of a somewhat different ecological structure. Evaluation of the significance of the effect on the benthic community can be estimated prior to the discharge activity from a knowledge of the hydrodynamics of the disposal site, mode of discharge, volume of materials, particle size distribution and types of dredged or fill material, and from a knowledge of the benthic community.

(b) Chemical-biological interactive effects. Ecological perturbation caused by chemical-biological interactive effects resulting from discharges of dredged or fill material is very difficult to predict. Research performed to date has not clearly demonstrated the extent of chemical-biological interactive effects resulting from contaminants present in the dredged or fill material. The principal concerns of open water discharge of dredged or fill material that contain chemical contaminants are the potential effects on the water column or on benthic communities.

(1) Evaluation of chemical-biological interactive effects. Dredged or fill material may be excluded from the evaluation procedures specified in paragraphs (b)(2) and (3) of this section if any of the conditions specified in paragraphs (b)(1)(i), (ii) or (iii) of this section are determined to exist, unless the District Engineer, after evaluating and considering any comments received from the Regional Administrator, determines that these approaches and procedures are necessary. The Regional Administrator may require, on a case-by-case basis, testing approaches and procedures by stating what additional information is needed through further analyses and how the results of the analysis will be of value in evaluating potential environmental effects. Dredged or fill material may be excluded from this evaluation, if:

(i) Dredged or fill material is composed predominantly of sand, gravel, or any other naturally occurring sedimentary material with particle sizes larger than silt, characteristic of and generally found in areas of high current or wave energy such as streams with large bed loads or coastal areas with shifting bars and channels;

(ii) Dredged or fill material is for beach nourishment or restoration and is composed predominantly of sand, gravel or shell with particle sizes compatible with material on receiving shores; or

(iii) When:

(a) The material proposed for discharge is substantially the same as the substrate at the proposed disposal site; and

(b) The site from which the material proposed for discharge is to be taken is sufficiently removed from sources of pollution to provide reasonable assurance that such material has not been contaminated by such pollution; and

(c) Adequate terms and conditions are imposed on the discharge of dredged or fill material to provide reasonable assurance that the material proposed for discharge will not be moved by currents or otherwise in a manner that is damaging to the environment outside the disposal site.

(2) Water column effects. Sediments normally contain constituents that exist in different chemical forms and are found in various concentrations in several locations within the sediment. The potentially bioavailable fraction of a sediment is dissolved in the sediment interstitial water or in a loosely bound form that is present in the sediment. In order to predict the effect on water quality due to release of contaminants from the sediment to the water column, an elutriate test may be used. The elutriate is the supernatant resulting from the vigorous 30-minute shaking of one part bottom sediment from the dredging site with four parts water (vol./vol.) collected from the dredging site followed by one-hour settling time and appropriate centrifugation and a 0.45μ filtration. Major constituents to be analyzed in the elutriate are those deemed critical by the District Engineer, after evaluating and considering any comments received from the Regional Administrator, and considering known sources of discharges in the area and known characteristics of the extraction and disposal sites. Elutriate concentrations should be used in conjunction with the same constituents in disposal site water and other data which describe the volume and rate of the intended discharge, the type of discharge, the hydrodynamic regime at the disposal site, and other available information that aids in the evaluation of impact on water quality (see § 230.5 of these guidelines). The District Engineer may specify bioassays when he determines that such procedures will be of value. In reaching this determination, dilution and dispersion effects subsequent to the discharge at the disposal site will be considered.

(3) Effects on benthos. Evaluation of the significance of chemical-biological interactive effects on benthic organisms resulting from the discharge of dredged or fill material is extremely complex and demands procedures which are at the forefront of the current state of the art. Although research has shown that benthic species can ingest contaminated sediment particles, it has not been determined to what degree the contaminants are dissociated from the sediment and incorporated into benthic body tissues thereby gaining entry to the food web. The District Engineer may use an appropriate benthic bioassay when such procedures will be of value in assessing ecological effect and in establishing discharge conditions.

(c) Procedure for comparison of sites.

(1) When an inventory of the total concentration of chemical constituents deemed critical by the District Engineer would be of value in comparing sediment at the dredging site with sediment at the disposal site, he may require a total sediment chemical analysis. Total sediment analysis is accomplished by concentrated strong acid digestion or solvent extraction for inorganic and organic constituents respectively. Markedly different concentrations of critical constituents between the excavation and disposal sites may aid in making an environmental assessment of the proposed disposal operation.

(2) When an analysis of biological community structure will be of value to assess the potential for adverse environmental impact at the proposed disposal site, a comparison of the biological characteristics between the excavation and disposal sites may be required by the District Engineer. Biological indicator species may be useful in evaluating the existing degree of stress at both sites. Sensitive species representing community components colonizing various substrate types within the sites should be identified as possible bioassay organisms if tests for toxicity are required. Community structure studies are expensive and time consuming, and therefore should be performed only when they will be of value in determining discharge conditions. This is particularly applicable to large quantities of dredged material known to contain adverse quantities of toxic materials. Community studies should include benthic organisms such as microbiota and harvestable shellfish and finfish. Abundance, diversity, and distribution should be documented and correlated with substrate type and other appropriate physical and chemical environmental characteristics.

§ 230.4-2 Water quality considerations.

After application of the approaches presented in § 230.4, the District Engineer will compare the concentrations of appropriate constituents to applicable narrative and numerical guidance contained in such water quality standards as are applicable by law. In the event that such discharge would cause a violation of such appropriate and legally applicable standards at the perimeter of the disposal site after consideration of the mixing zone (see § 230.5(e)) discharge shall be prohibited.

§ 230.5 Selection of disposal sites and conditioning of discharges of dredged or fill material.

(a) General considerations and objectives. In evaluating whether to permit a proposed discharge of dredged or fill material into navigable waters, consideration shall be given to the need for the proposed activity (see 33 CFR 209.120 and 33 CFR 209.145), the availability of alternate sites and methods of disposal that are less damaging to the environment, and such water quality standards as are appropriate and applicable by law. The following objectives shall be considered in making a determination on any proposed discharge:

(1) Avoid discharge activities that significantly disrupt the chemical, physical and biological integrity of the aquatic ecosystem, of which aquatic biota, the substrate, and the normal fluctuations of water level are integral components;

(2) Avoid discharge activities that significantly disrupt the food chain including alterations or decrease in diversity of plant and animal species;

(3) Avoid discharge activities that inhibit the movement of fauna especially their movement into and out of feeding, spawning, breeding and nursery areas;

(4) Avoid discharge activities that will destroy wetland areas having significant functions in maintenance of water quality;

(5) Recognize that discharge activities might destroy or isolate areas that serve the function of retaining natural high waters or flood waters;

(6) Minimize, where practicable, adverse turbidity levels resulting from the discharge of material;

(7) Minimize discharge activities that will degrade aesthetic, recreational, and economic values;

(8) Avoid degradation of water quality as determined through application of § 230.4, 230.5 (c) and (d).

(b) Considerations relating to degradation of water uses at proposed disposal sites—(1) Municipal water supply intakes. No disposal site may be designated in the proximity of a public water supply intake. The District Engineer and the Regional Administrator will determine the acceptable location of the disposal site in such cases.

(2) Shellfish. (i) Disposal sites for dredged or fill material shall not be designated in areas of concentrated shellfish production. In the case of widely dispersed shellfish populations where it is demonstrated by the applicant that the avoidance of shellfish population areas is impossible the disposal site may be located within such areas, but should be situated so as to cause the least impact on the shellfish population with particular reference to the burial of living forms and maintenance of a suitable substrate.

(ii) Disposal sites should be located to minimize or prevent the possible movement of pollutants by currents or wave action into productive shellfish beds.

(iii) Banks formed by dredged or fill material should be located and oriented to prevent undesirable changes in current patterns, salinity patterns and flushing rates which may affect shellfish.

(iv) The disposal operation should be scheduled to avoid interference with reproductive processes and avoid undue stress to juvenile forms of shellfish.

(3) Fisheries. (i) Significant disruptions of fish spawning and nursery areas should be avoided.

(ii) Dredging and disposal operations should be scheduled to avoid interference with fish spawning cycles and to minimize interference with migration patterns and routes.

(iii) Consideration shall be given to preservation of submersed and emergent vegetation.

(4) Wildlife. Disposal sites will be designated so as to minimize the impact on habitat, the food chain, community structures of wildlife, and marine or aquatic sanctuaries.

(5) Recreation activities. In evaluating proposed discharges of dredged or fill material in or near recreational areas, the following factors should be considered:

(i) Reasonable methods should be employed to minimize any increase in amount and duration of turbidity which would reduce the numbers and diversity of fish or cause a significant aesthetically displeasing change in the color, taste, or odor of the water.

(ii) Release of nutrients from dredged or fill material should be minimized in or to prevent eutrophication, the degradation of aesthetic values, and impairment of recreation uses.

(iii) No material that will result in unacceptable levels of pathogenic organisms shall be discharged in areas used for recreation involving physical contact with the water.

(iv) No material shall be discharged which will release oil and grease in harmful quantities as defined in 40 CFR 110.

(6) Threatened and endangered species. No discharge will be allowed that will jeopardize the continued existence of threatened or endangered species or destroy or modify the habitat of those species determined critical in accordance with the Endangered Species Act.

(7) Benthic life. Disposal sites should be areas where benthic life which might be damaged by the discharge is minimal recognizing that enhancement may also occur. Use of existing disposal sites is generally desirable.

(8) Wetlands. (i) Discharge of dredged material in wetlands may be permitted only when it can be demonstrated that the site selected is the least environmentally damaging alternative; provided, however, that the wetlands disposal site may be permitted if the applicant is able to demonstrate that other alternatives are not practicable and that the wetlands disposal will not have an unacceptable adverse impact on the aquatic resources. Where the discharge is part of an approved Federal program which will protect or enhance the value of the wetlands to the ecosystem, the site may be permitted.

(ii) Discharge of fill material in wetlands shall not be permitted unless the applicant clearly demonstrates the following:

(a) the activity associated with the fill must have direct access or proximity to, or be located in, the water resources in order to fulfill its basic purpose, or that other site or construction alternatives are not practicable; and

(b) that the proposed fill and the activity associated with it will not cause a permanent unacceptable disruption to the beneficial water quality uses of the affected aquatic ecosystem, or that the discharge is part of an approved Federal program which will protect or enhance the value of the wetlands to the ecosystem.

(9) Submersed Vegetation. Disposal sites shall be located to minimize the impact on submersed grassflats (for example Thalassia and Zostera beds) and other areas containing submersed vegetation of significant biological productivity.

(10) Size of disposal site. The specified disposal site shall be confined to the smallest practicable area consistent with the type of dispersion determined to be appropriate by the application of these guidelines. Although the impact of the particular discharge may constitute a minor change, the cumulative effect of numerous such piecemeal changes often results in a major impairment of the water resource and interferes with the productivity and water quality processes of existing environmental systems. Thus, the particular disposal site will be evaluated with the recognition that it is part of a complete and interrelated ecosystem. The District Engineer may undertake reviews of particular areas in response to new applications, and in consultation with the appropriate Regional Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service, the Regional Director of the National Marine Fisheries Service of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Regional Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, the State Conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service of the Department of Agriculture, and the head of the appropriate State agencies, including the State Director of an approved Coastal Zone Management Program, to assess the cumulative effect of activities in such areas.

(c) The following may also be considered in determining the site and disposal conditions to minimize the possibility of harmful effects:

(1) Appropriate scientific literature, such as the National Water Quality Criteria developed by the Administrator, pursuant to section 304(a) (1) of the Act;

(2) Alternatives to open water disposal such as upland or confined disposal;

(3) Disposal sites where physical environmental characteristics are most amenable to the type of dispersion desired;

(4) Disposal seaward of the baseline of the territorial sea;

(5) Covering contaminated dredged material with cleaner material;

(6) Conditions to minimize the effect of runoff from confined areas on the aquatic environment; and

(7) The Regional Administrator may specify appropriate monitoring conditions in proximity of disposal sites where necessary to control and minimize water quality degradation, pursuant to Section 308 of the Act.

(d) Contaminated fill material restrictions. The discharge of fill material originating from a land source shall not be allowed when the District Engineer determines that the material contains unacceptable quantities, concentrations or forms of the constituents deemed critical by the District Engineer or the Regional Administrator for the proposed disposal site, unless such material is effectively confined to prevent the discharge, leaching, or erosion of the material outside the confined area. Appropriate approaches in 230.4 may be used in making this determination.

(e) Mixing zone determination. The mixing zone shall be the smallest practicable mixing zone within each specified disposal site, consistent with the objectives of these guidelines, in which desired concentrations of constituents must be achieved.

The District Engineer and the Regional Administrator shall consider the following factors in determining the acceptability of a proposed mixing zone:

(1) Surface area, shape and volume of the discharge site;

(2) Current velocity, direction and consistency at the discharge site;

(3) Degree of turbulence;

(4) Stratification attributable to causes which include without limitation salinity, obstructions, and specific gravity;

(5) Any on-site studies or mathematical models which have been developed with respect to mixing patterns at the discharge site; and

(6) Such other factors prevailing at the discharge site that affect rates and patterns of mixing.

§ 230.6 General or categorical permits.

(a) The District Engineer upon compliance with the procedures of 33 CFR 209.120 may issue a general permit for a clearly described category of discharge activities if he determines that the category meets the following conditions:

(1) The activities included in the category are substantially similar in nature; and

(2) The activities included in the category have substantially similar impact on water quality and the aquatic system, and the adverse impact on water quality and the aquatic system is minimal for each discharge activity; and

(3) The cumulative impact of the total number of activities predicted to occur during the period authorized by the permit, is expected to have only minimal adverse effect on water quality and the aquatic system.

(b) The District Engineer, may condition general permits to require dischargers to submit the following information at least 45 days prior to commencement of the discharge of dredged or fill material:

(1) The name and address of the discharger.

(2) The location of the contemplated activity including the name and general description of the receiving waters, including wetlands, and the size of the area to be filled.

(3) A brief description of the proposed activity, its purpose and intended use, including a description of the type of structures, if any, to be erected on fills.

(4) A description of the type, composition, and quantity of materials to be discharged and means of conveyance.

(5) A copy of other Federal, State, and local government authorizations obtained including a State water-quality certification under Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act and, where applicable, a certification of compliance with an approved State Coastal Zone Management Program pursuant to Section 307(c)(3) of the Coastal Zone Management Act.

(c) If reporting is required the District Engineer shall record the individual disposal site as authorized and authorization will occur automatically 30 days after receipt of notification unless the applicant is otherwise notified by the District Engineer.

(d) A general permit may be revoked completely or partially by the District Engineer independently or on the advice of the Regional Administrator, if he determines that the discharges of dredged or fill material authorized by it or the cumulative effects thereof will have an adverse impact on water quality and the aquatic system. Following revocation, any discharges of dredged or fill material in areas formerly covered by the general permit shall be processed as individual permits under this regulation.

§ 230.7 Advanced identification of dredged material disposal areas.

(a) The District Engineer and the Regional Administrator, after consultation with the affected State or States, may at their discretion and consistent with the guidelines, identify areas which will be considered as:

- (1) Possible future disposal sites; or
- (2) Areas which will not be available for disposal site specification.

(b) The identification of any area as a possible future disposal site shall not be deemed to constitute a permit for the discharge of dredged or fill material within such areas, but may be used in evaluating individual or general permit applications.

(c) A record of areas so identified shall be maintained at the offices of the District Engineer and the Regional Administrator.

(d) To provide the basis for advanced identification of disposal areas and of areas not available for disposal, the Regional Administrator and the District Engineer should assess waterbodies to determine those areas which are of critical ecological concern, those which are of environmental concern, and non-sensitive areas. To facilitate this analysis, they should assemble water resource management data including such data as may be available from the other Federal and State agencies listed in § 230.5(b)(10) and information from approved Coastal Zone Management Programs and River Basin Plans.

§ 230.8 Revision.

The provisions of these guidelines will be periodically reviewed by the Administrator in conjunction with the Secretary of the Army pursuant to section 404(b) of the Act. The guidelines may not be modified without approval of the Secretary of the Army and the Administrator. Any proposed revisions, or notice that a review has been completed and no revisions are proposed, will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER within three years of the date of this initial promulgation or earlier as determined by research results and affirmed by the Administrator in conjunction with the Secretary of the Army.

APPENDIX A

DEFINITIONS FROM 33 CFR 209.120, "PERMITS FOR WORK IN NAVIGABLE WATERS OR OCEAN WATERS"

(1) "Navigable waters of the United States." The term, "navigable waters of the United States," is administratively defined to mean waters that have been used in the past, are now used, or are susceptible to use as a means to transport interstate commerce landward to their ordinary high water mark and up to the head of navigation as determined by the Chief of Engineers, and also waters that are subject to the ebb and flow of the tide shoreward to their mean high water mark (mean higher high water mark on the Pacific Coast). See 33 CFR 209.260 (ER 1165-2-302) for a more definitive explanation of this term.

(2) "Navigable waters." (i) The term, "navigable waters," as used herein for purposes of Section 404 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, is administratively defined to mean waters of the United States including the territorial seas with respect to the disposal of fill material and excluding the territorial sea with respect to the disposal of dredged material and shall include the following waters:

(a) Coastal waters that are navigable waters of the United States subject to the ebb and flow of the tide, shoreward to their mean high water mark (mean higher high water mark on the Pacific coast);

(b) All coastal wetlands, mudflats, swamps, and similar areas that are contiguous or adjacent to other navigable waters. "Coastal wetlands" includes marshes and shallows and means those areas periodically inundated by saline or brackish waters and that are normally characterized by the prevalence of salt or brackish water vegetation capable of growth and reproduction;

(c) Rivers, lakes, streams, and artificial water bodies that are navigable waters of the United States up to their headwaters and landward to their ordinary high water mark;

(d) All artificially created channels and canals used for recreational or other navigational purposes that are connected to other navigable waters, landward to their ordinary high water mark;

(e) All tributaries of navigable waters of the United States up to their headwaters and landward to their ordinary high water mark;

(f) Interstate waters landward to their ordinary high water mark and up to their headwaters;

(g) Intrastate lakes, rivers and streams landward to their ordinary high water mark and up to their headwaters that are utilized:

(1) By interstate travelers for water-related recreational purposes;

(2) For the removal of fish that are sold in interstate commerce;

(3) For industrial purposes by industries in interstate commerce; or

(4) In the production of agricultural commodities sold or transported in interstate commerce;

(h) Freshwater wetlands including marshes, shallows, swamps and, similar areas that are contiguous or adjacent to other navigable waters and that support freshwater vegetation. "Freshwater wetlands" means those areas that are periodically inundated and that are normally characterized by the prevalence of vegetation that requires saturated soil conditions for growth and reproduction; and

(i) Those other waters which the District Engineer determines necessitate regulation for the protection of water quality as expressed in the guidelines (40 CFR 230). For example, in the case of intermittent rivers, streams, tributaries, and perched wetlands that are not contiguous or adjacent to navigable waters identified in paragraphs (a)-(h) a decision on jurisdiction shall be made by the District Engineer.

(ii) The following additional terms are defined as follows:

(a) "Ordinary high water mark" with respect to inland fresh water means the line on the shore established by analysis of all daily high waters. It is established as that point on the shore that is inundated 25% of the time and is derived by a flow-duration curve for the particular water body that is based on available water stage data. It may also be estimated by erosion or easily recognized characteristics such as shelving, change in the character of the soil, destruction of terrestrial vegetation or its inability to grow, the presence of litter and debris, or other appropriate means that consider the characteristics of the surrounding area;

(b) "Mean high water mark" with respect to ocean and coastal waters means the line on the shore established by the average of all high tides (all higher high tides on the Pacific Coast). It is established by survey based on available tidal data (preferably averaged over a period of 18.6 years because of the variations in tide). In the absence of such data, less precise methods to determine the mean high water mark may be used, such as physical markings or comparison of the area in question with an area having similar physical characteristics for which tidal data are already available;

(c) "Lakes" means natural bodies of water greater than five acres in surface area and all bodies of standing water created by the impounding of navigable waters identified in paragraphs (a)-(h), above. Stock watering ponds and settling basins that are not created by such impoundments are not included;

(d) "Headwaters" means the point on the stream above which the flow is normally less than 5 cubic feet per second; provided, however, the volume of flow, point and nonpoint source discharge characteristics of the watershed, and other factors that may impact on the water quality of waters of the United States will be considered in determining this upstream limit; and

(e) "Primary tributaries" means the main stems of tributaries directly connecting to navigable waters of the United States up to their headwaters and does not include any additional tributaries extending off of the main stems of these tributaries.

(3) "Ocean waters". The term "ocean waters," as defined in the Marine Protection, Research, and Sanctuaries Act of 1972 (Pub. L. 92-532), 86 Stat. 1052), means those waters of the open seas lying seaward of the base line from which the territorial sea is measured as provided for in the Convention on the Territorial Sea and the Contiguous Zone (15 UST 1606; TIAS 5639).

(4) "Dredged material". The term "dredged material" means material that is excavated or dredged from navigable waters. The term does not include material resulting from normal farming, silviculture, and ranching activities, such as plowing, cultivating, seeding, and harvesting, for production of food, fiber, and forest products.

(5) "Discharge of dredged material". The term "discharge of dredged material" means any addition of dredged material, in excess of one cubic yard when used in a single or incidental operation, into navigable waters. The term includes, without limitation, the addition of dredged material to a specified disposal site located in navigable waters and the runoff or overflow from a contained land or water disposal area. Discharges of pollutants into navigable waters resulting from the onshore subsequent processing of dredged material that is extracted for any commercial use (other than fill) are not included within this term and are subject to section 402 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act even though the extraction of such material may require a permit from the Corps of Engineers under section 10 of the River and Harbor Act of 1899.

(6) "Fill material." The term "fill material" means any pollutant used to create fill in the traditional sense of replacing an aquatic area with dry land or of changing the bottom elevation of a water body for any purpose. "Fill material" does not include the following:

(i) Material resulting from normal farming, silviculture, and ranching activities, such as plowing, cultivating, seeding, and harvesting, for the production of food, fiber, and forest products;

(ii) Material placed for the purpose of maintenance, including emergency reconstruction of recently damaged parts of currently serviceable structures such as dikes, dams, levees, groins, riprap, breakwaters, causeways, and bridge abutments or approaches, and transportation structures;

(iii) Additions to these categories of activities that are not "fill" will be considered periodically and these regulations amended accordingly.

(7) "Discharge of fill material." The term "discharge of fill material" means the addition of fill material into navigable waters for the purpose of creating fastlands, elevations of land beneath navigable waters, or for impoundments of water. The term generally includes, without limitation, the following activities in a navigable water: placement of fill that is necessary to the construction of any structure; the building of any structure or impoundment requiring rock, sand, dirt, or other pollutants for its construction; site-development fills for recreational, industrial, commercial, residential, and other uses; causeways or road fills; dams and dikes; artificial islands, property protection and/or reclamation devices such as riprap, groins, seawalls, breakwalls, and bulkheads and fills; beach nourishment; levees; sanitary landfills; fill for structures such as sewage treatment facilities, intake and outfall pipes associated with power plants, and subaqueous utility lines; and artificial reefs.

EFFLUENT LIMITATIONS AND GUIDELINES FOR EXISTING SOURCES AND STANDARDS OF PERFORMANCE AND PRETREATMENT STANDARDS FOR NEW SOURCES FOR THE BLEACHED KRAFT, GROUNDWOOD, SULFITE, SODA, DEINK AND NON-INTEGRATED PAPER MILLS SEGMENT OF THE PULP, PAPER, AND PAPERBOARD POINT SOURCE CATEGORY

Advanced Notice of Proposed or Promulgated Rule Making

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is hereby giving advance notice of intent to propose or promulgate effluent limitations guidelines for existing sources and standards of performance and pretreatment standards for new sources set forth in tentative form below. On May 29, 1974, EPA promulgated a regulation adding Part 430 to Chapter 40 of the Code of Federal Regulations (39 FR 18742). That regulation established effluent limitations and guidelines for existing sources and standards of performance and pretreatment standards for new sources for the pulp, paper, and paperboard point source category. The regulation set forth below when promulgated will amend 40 CFR 430—pulp, paper, and paperboard point source category by adding thereto the dissolving kraft subcategory (Subpart F); the market kraft subcategory (Subpart G); the BCT kraft subcategory (Subpart H); the fine kraft subcategory (Subpart I); the papergrade sulfite subcategory (Subpart J); the dissolving sulfite subcategory (Subpart K); the GW-chemi-mechanical subcategory (Subpart L); the GW-thermo-mechanical subcategory (Subpart M); the GW-CMN papers subcategory (Subpart N); the GW-fine papers subcategory (Subpart O); the soda subcategory (Subpart P); the deink subcategory (Subpart Q); the NI fine papers subcategory (Subpart R); the NI tissue papers subcategory (Subpart S); and the NI tissue (FWP) subcategory (Subpart T) pursuant to sections 301, 304 (b) and (c), 306(b), 307(c), and 501(a) of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act, as amended (33 U.S.C. 1251, 1311, 1314 (b) and (c), 1316(b) and 1317(c); 86 Stat. 816 et seq.; Pub. L. 92-500) (the Act).

This advance notice of proposed or promulgated rulemaking is being issued pursuant to EPA's policy of providing the interested public the greatest possible opportunity for review and comment. In developing the requisite data to support effluent limitations guidelines and standards, EPA commissioned a study and report entitled "Draft Development Document for Effluent Limitations Guidelines and Standards of Performance—Pulp, Paper, and Paperboard Industry" prepared by WAPORA, Inc. dated July, 1974. Copies of the contractor's reports have been circulated among industry representatives, government agencies, public interest groups, and other interested persons, and comments have been received thereon. In light of these comments, as well as its own review of the reports, EPA presently intends to establish regulations which differ in some material respects from the recommendations contained in the contractor's report. The purpose, therefore, in giving this advance notice is to apprise interested persons of EPA's expected course of action, and to provide such interested persons with an opportunity to submit comments thereon.

In addition, this advance notice is given so as to obtain the aforesaid comments in sufficient time to enable EPA to promulgate effluent limitations and guidelines by December 15, 1975, in accordance with the order of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia in Natural Resources Defense Council, Inc. v. Russell E. Train et al. (Civil Action No. 1609-73; order entered April 24, 1975, modifying previous order of November 1, 1974).

(a) Legal Authority.

(1) Existing point sources.

Section 301(b) of the Act requires the achievement by not later than July 1, 1977, of effluent limitations for point sources, other than publicly owned treatment works, which require the application of the best practicable control technology currently available as defined by the Administrator pursuant to section 304(b) of the Act. Section 301(b) also requires the achievement by not later than July 1, 1983, of effluent limitations for point sources, other than publicly owned treatment works, which require the application of best available technology economically achievable which will result in reasonable further progress toward the national goal of eliminating the discharge of all pollutants, as determined in accordance with regulations issued by the Administrator pursuant to section 304(b) of the Act.

(b) Summary and Basis of Advanced Notice Effluent Limitations Guidelines for Existing Sources and Standards of Performance and Pretreatment Standards for New Sources.

(1) General methodology.

The advanced notice effluent limitations guidelines, standards of performance, and pretreatment standards proposed herein were developed in the following manner. The point source category was first studied for the purpose of determining whether separate limitations and standards are appropriate for different segments within the category. This analysis included a determination of whether differences in raw material used, product produced, manufacturing process employed, age, size, waste water constituents and other factors require development of separate limitations and standards for different segments of the point source category. The raw waste characteristics for each such segment were then identified. This included an analysis of the source, flow and volume of water used in the process employed, the sources of waste and waste waters in the operation and the constituents of all waste water. The constituents of the waste waters which should be subject to effluent limitations guidelines and standards of performance were identified.

The control and treatment technologies existing within each segment were identified. This included an identification of each distinct control and treatment technology, including both in-plant and end-of-process technologies, which is existent or capable of being designed for each segment. It also included an identification of, in terms of the amount of constituents and the chemical, physical, and biological characteristics of pollutants, the effluent level resulting from the application of each of the technologies. The problems, limitations and reliability of each treatment and control technology were also identified. In addition, the nonwater quality environmental impact, such as the effects of the application of such technologies upon other pollution problems, including air, solid waste, noise and radiation were identified. The energy requirements of each control and treatment technology were determined as well as the cost of the application of such technologies.

The information, as outlined above, was then evaluated in order to determine what levels of technology constitute the "best practicable control technology currently available," "best available technology economically achievable" and the "best available demonstrated control technology, processes, operating methods, or other alternatives." In identifying such technologies, various factors were considered. These included the total cost of application of technology in relation to the effluent reduction benefits to be achieved from such application, the age of equipment and facilities involved, the process employed, the engineering aspects of the application of various types of control techniques, process changes, nonwater quality environmental impact (including energy requirements) and other factors.

The data upon which the above analysis was performed included EPA permit applications, EPA sampling and inspections, consultant reports, and industry submissions.

The advanced notice of pretreatment standards herein is intended to be complementary to the pretreatment standards proposed for existing sources under 40 CFR 128. The basis for such standards is set forth in the FEDERAL REGISTER of July 19, 1973, 38 F.R. 19236. The provisions of Part 128 are equally applicable to sources which would constitute "new sources," under section 306 if they were to discharge pollutants directly to navigable waters, except for section 128.133. That section provides a pretreatment standard for "incompatible pollutants" which requires application of the "best practicable control technology currently available," subject to an adjustment for amounts of pollutants removed by the publicly owned treatment works. Since the advanced notice pretreatment standards herein apply to new sources, §§ 430.66, 430.76, 430.86, 430.96, 430.106, 430.116, 430.126, 430.136, 430.146, 430.156, 430.166, 430.176, 430.186, 430.196 and 430.206 below amend § 128.133 to specify the application of the standard of performance for new sources rather than the "best practicable" standard applicable to existing sources under sections 301 and 304(b) of the Act.

(2) Summary of conclusions with respect to the dissolving kraft subcategory (Subpart F); the market kraft subcategory (Subpart G); the BCT kraft subcategory (Subpart H); the fine kraft subcategory (Subpart I); the papergrade sulfite subcategory (Subpart J); the dissolving sulfite subcategory (Subpart K); the GW-chemi-mechanical subcategory (Subpart L); the GW-thermo-mechanical subcategory (Subpart M); the GW-CMN papers subcategory (Subpart N); the GW-fine papers subcategory (Subpart O); the soda subcategory (Subpart P); the deink subcategory (Subpart Q); the NI fine papers subcategory (Subpart R); the NI tissue papers subcategory (Subpart S); and the NI tissue (FWP) subcategory (Subpart T) of the pulp, paper, and paperboard point source category.

(i) Categorization.

For the purpose of studying waste treatment and effluent limitations, the bleached kraft, groundwood, sulfite, soda, deink and non-integrated paper mills segment of the pulp, paper and paperboard manufacturing industry category were divided into fifteen discrete subcategories, primarily based on a consideration of the raw materials utilized, production processes employed, products produced, size and age of mills, waste water characteristics and treatability, and geographical location as outlined in the report entitled, "Development Document for Advance Notice of Proposed or Promulgated Rulemaking for the Bleached Kraft, Groundwood, Sulfite, Soda, Deink and Non-Integrated Paper Mills Segment of the Pulp, Paper and Paperboard Point Source Category". When a plant is subject to effluent limitations covering more than one subcategory, the discharge limitation shall be the aggregate of the limitations applicable to the total production covered by each subcategory.

(1) Subpart F—Dissolving Kraft Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a highly bleached pulp by a "full cook" process, utilizing a highly alkaline sodium hydroxide and sodium sulfide cooking liquor. Included in the manufacturing process is a "pre-cook" operation termed pre-hydrolysis. The principal product made by this process is a highly bleached and purified dissolving pulp used principally for the manufacture of rayon and other products requiring the virtual absence of lignin and a very high alpha cellulose content.

(2) Subpart G—Market Kraft Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a bleached pulp by a "full cook" process utilizing a highly alkaline sodium hydroxide and sodium sulfide cooking liquor. The principal product made by this process is papergrade market pulp.

(3) Subpart H—BCT Kraft Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a bleached pulp by a "full cook" process utilizing a highly alkaline sodium hydroxide and sodium sulfide cooking liquor. The principal product made by this process is papers with clays and filler contents less than eight percent, including paperboard, coarse papers, and tissue papers.

This subcategory includes mills which produce a bleached pulp by a "full cook" process utilizing a highly alkaline sodium hydroxide and sodium sulfide cooking liquor. The principal product made by this process is fine papers which contain eight percent clays and filler or above.

(5) Subpart J—Papergrade Sulfite Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce pulp, usually bleached, by a "full cook" process using an acidic cooking liquor of bisulfites of calcium, magnesium, ammonia, or sodium containing an excess of free sulfite dioxide. The principal products made by this process are tissue and fine papers.

(6) Subpart K—Dissolving Sulfite Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a highly bleached and purified pulp by a "full cook" process using very strong solutions of bisulfites of calcium, magnesium, ammonia, or sodium containing an excess of free sulfur dioxide. The principal product made by this process is rayon and other products requiring the virtual absence of lignin and a very high alpha cellulose content.

(7) Subpart L—Groundwood Chemical Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a pulp, with or without brightening, utilizing a chemical cooking liquor to partially cook the wood followed by mechanical defibration by refining at atmospheric pressure. The principal products made by this process are fine papers, newsprint, and molded fiber products.

(8) Subpart M—Groundwood Thermo-Mechanical Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a pulp, with or without brightening, by a brief cook utilizing steam, with or without the addition of cooking chemicals such as sodium sulfite, followed by mechanical defibration by refiners which are under pressure. The principal products of this process are fine papers, newsprint, and tissue products.

(9) Subpart N—Groundwood-CMN Papers Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce pulp, with or without brightening, utilizing only mechanical defibration by either stone grinders or refiners. The principal products made by this process are coarse papers, molded fiber products, and newsprint which include papers with clay and filler contents less than eight percent.

(10) Subpart O—Groundwood Fine Papers Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce pulp, with or without brightening, utilizing only mechanical defibration by either stone grinders or refiners. The principal product made by this process is fine papers which contain eight percent or more clays and fillers.

(11) Subpart P—Soda Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a bleached pulp by a "full cook" process utilizing a highly alkaline sodium hydroxide cooking liquor. The principal products made by this process are printing and writing papers.

(12) Subpart Q—De-ink Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce a pulp usually brightened or bleached from recycled waste papers in which an alkaline treatment is utilized to remove contaminants such as ink and coating pigments. The principal products of this process are printing paper, tissue, and newsprint.

(13) Subpart R—Non-Integrated Fine Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce fine papers from wood pulp or deinked pulp prepared at another site. The principal products of this process are printing, writing, and technical grade papers.

(14) Subpart S—Non-Integrated Tissue Paper Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce tissue papers from wood pulp or deinked pulp prepared at another site. The principal products of this process include facial and toilet papers, glassine, paper diapers, and paper towels.

(15) Subpart T—Non-Integrated Tissue Papers (FWP) Subcategory. This subcategory includes mills which produce tissue papers from recycled waste papers. The principal products made by this process include facial and toilet papers, glassine, paper diapers, and paper towels.

(ii) Waste characteristics.

The significant pollutant parameters in waste waters resulting from the dissolving kraft subcategory, market kraft subcategory, BCT kraft subcategory, fine kraft subcategory, papergrade sulfite subcategory, dissolving sulfite subcategory, GW-chemi-mechanical subcategory, GW-thermo-mechanical subcategory, GW-CMN papers subcategory, GW-fine papers subcategory, soda subcategory, deink subcategory, NI fine papers subcategory, NI tissue papers subcategory, and the NI tissue (FWP) subcategory of the pulp, paper and paperboard manufacturing category includes five day biochemical oxygen demand (BOD₅), total suspended non-filterable solids (TSS), pH, color (for bleached kraft and soda subcategories) and zinc (for groundwood subcategories).

Advanced notice effluent limitation guidelines and standards of performance are established below to control each of the above pollutants. No limitations have been established for several other waste water pollutants which are considered to be of lesser importance because (a) available data has indicated these pollutants are normally removed when BOD₅ or TSS are removed, (b) they occur in insignificant quantities, or (c) technology is not available to control the pollutant discharges.

(iii) Origin of waste water pollutants.

The origin of waste water pollutants in the dissolving kraft, market kraft, BCT kraft, fine kraft, papergrade sulfite, dissolving sulfite, GW-chemi-mechanical, GW - thermo - mechanical, GW-CMN papers, GW-fine papers, soda, deink, NI fine papers, NI tissue papers, and the NI tissue (FWP) subcategories result from the following applicable operations: woodyard, digestion, and pulp washing, chemical recovery, cooking liquor preparation, pulp screening, bleaching, and papermaking. The primary continuous sources of waste water pollutants are (a) the white water from the paper machine, (b) evaporator and digester condensates, (c) pulp washing and screening operations, and (d) bleaching operations. Major intermittent sources of waste water pollutants are (e) spills from cooking liquor preparation areas, (f) spills of spent cooking liquor from the evaporator and recovery systems, (g) papermaking system spills and washups.

(iv) Treatment and control technology.

Waste water treatment and control technologies have been studied for each subcategory of the industry to determine what is (a) the best practicable control technology currently available, (b) the best available technology economically achievable, and (c) the best available demonstrated control technology, processes, operating methods or other alternatives.

In-plant procedures to control pollution include strict management control over housekeeping and water use practices, minimization of the intake of water by re-use and recirculation of waste waters.

"End-of-process" waste water treatment processes include preliminary screening, primary sedimentation, biological treatment, and some physico-chemical treatment.

Best practicable control technology currently available for all subcategories except for NI tissue includes biological treatment.

The most commonly employed biological treatment systems presently used by mills within all of the subcategories include (1) aerated stabilization basins and (2) activated sludge treatment systems.

Reduction of pollutant parameters levels by either can achieve the best practicable control technology currently available effluent limitations guidelines. A specific level of effluent quality can generally be achieved by either aerated stabilization basins or activated sludge depending upon the design and operation of the treatment system.

Best available control technology economically achievable for all subcategories includes biological treatment and mixed media filtration with, if necessary, chemical addition and coagulation. In addition, color may be removed from mill effluents within the bleached kraft and soda subcategories by lime treatment.

Treatment required to achieve the best available demonstrated control technology, processes, operating methods or other alternatives for new sources is the same as the best available control technology economically achievable except that color removal for the subcategories of bleached kraft and soda is not required, and mixed media filtration is not required for any of the subcategories.

Best practicable control technology and best available control technology as they are known today, require disposal of the pollutants removed from waste waters in this industry in the form of solid wastes and liquid concentrates. In most cases these are nonhazardous substances requiring only minimal custodial care. However, some constituents may be hazardous and may require special consideration. In order to insure long-term protection of the environment from these hazardous or harmful constituents, special consideration of disposal sites must be made. All landfill sites where such hazardous wastes are disposed should be selected so as to prevent horizontal and vertical migration of these contaminants to ground or surface waters. In cases where geological conditions may not reasonably ensure this, adequate legal and mechanical precautions (e.g. impervious liners) should be taken to ensure long term protection to the environment from hazardous materials. Where appropriate, the location of solid hazardous materials disposal sites should be permanently recorded in the appropriate office of legal jurisdictions.

(v) Cost estimates for control of waste water pollutants.

Pollution control costs have been estimated for each subcategory for one to four plant sizes. Both aerated stabilization basins (ASB) and activated sludge treatment systems (A) were examined for EPCTCA, BATEA, and NSPS. Costs for the largest model mill in each subcategory are presented as cumulative costs and are as follows:

(vi) Energy requirements and non-water quality environmental impacts.

Non water quality impacts of the pollution control systems were analyzed and found to be of little consequence. Energy requirements of the industry are relatively low; power required to operate the internal controls and the mechanically aerated biological systems will increase consumption on an average of 2.5 percent. Solid wastes from treatment sludges and some odor from treatment systems are encountered, but no substantial impact can be identified.

(vii) Economic impact analysis.

A study of the economic impact of these advanced notice regulations is under way and will be reported separately in the near future as a separate report.

The report entitled "Development Document for Advanced Notice of Proposed or Promulgated Rulemaking for Effluent Limitations Guidelines and New Source Performance Standards for the Bleached Kraft, Groundwood, Sulfite, Soda, Deink and Non-Integrated Paper Mills Segment of the Pulp Paper, and Paperboard Point Source Category" details the analysis undertaken in support of the advanced notice regulation herein and is available for inspection in the EPA Freedom of Information Center, Room 204, West Tower, Waterside Mall, Washington, D.C., at all EPA regional offices, and at State water pollution control offices. A supplementary analysis prepared for EPA of the possible economic effects of the proposed regulation will be available for inspection at these locations at a later date. Copies of both of these documents will be sent to persons or institutions affected by the advanced notice regulation or who have placed themselves on a mailing list for this purpose (see EPA's Advance Notice of Public Review Procedures, 38 FR 21202, August 6, 1973). An additional limited number of copies are available. Persons wishing to obtain a copy may write the EPA Office of Public Affairs, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460. Attention: Ms. Ruth Brown, A-107.

On June 14, 1973, the Agency published procedures designed to insure that, when certain major standards, regulations, and guidelines are proposed, an explanation of their basis, purpose and environmental effects is made available to the public (38 FR 15653). The procedures are applicable to major standards, regulations and guidelines which are proposed on or after December 31, 1973, and which prescribe national standards of environmental quality or require national emission, effluent or performance standards and limitations.

The Agency determined to implement these procedures in order to insure that the public was apprised of the environmental effects of its major standards setting actions and was provided with detailed background information to assist it in commenting on the merits of a proposed action. In brief, the procedures call for the Agency to make public the information available to it, delineating the major nonenvironmental factors affecting the decision, and to explain the viable options available to it and the reasons for the option selected.

The procedures contemplate publication of this information in the FEDERAL REGISTER, where this is practicable. They provide, however, that where, because of the length of these materials, such publication is impracticable, the material may be made available in an alternate format.

The report entitled "Development Document for Advanced Notice of Proposed or Promulgated Rulemaking for Effluent Limitations Guidelines and New Source Performance Standards for the Bleached Kraft, Groundwood, Sulfite, Soda, Deink and Non-Integrated Paper Mills Segment of the Pulp, Paper, and Paperboard Industry Point Source Category" contains information available to the Agency concerning the major environmental effects of the advanced notice regulation below, including:

(1) the pollutants presently discharged into the Nation's waterways by manufacturers of pulp, paper, and paperboard and the degree of pollution reduction obtainable from implementation of the proposed guidelines and standards (see particularly Sections IV, V, VI, VII, IX, X, and XI);

(2) the anticipated effects of the advanced notice regulation on other aspects of the environment including air, solid waste disposal and land use, and noise (see particularly Section VIII); and

(3) options available to the Agency in developing the advanced notice regulatory system and the reasons for its selecting the particular levels of effluent reduction (see particularly Sections VI, VII, and VIII).

The supplementary economic report will contain an estimate of the cost of pollution control requirements and an analysis of the possible effects of the advanced notice regulation on prices, production levels, employment, communities in which pulp, paper, and paperboard manufacturing plants are located, and international trade. In addition, the Development Document describes, in Section VIII, the cost and energy consumption implications of the advanced notice regulations.

The two reports described above in the aggregate exceed 1000 pages in length and contain a substantial number of charts, diagrams, and tables. It is clearly impracticable to publish the material contained in these documents in the FEDERAL REGISTER. To the extent possible, significant aspects of the material have been presented in summary form in foregoing portions of this preamble. Additional discussion is contained in the following analysis of comments received and the Agency's response to them. As has been indicated, both documents will be available for inspection at the Agency's Washington, D.C. and regional offices and at State water pollution control agency offices. Copies of each have been distributed to persons and institutions affected by the advanced notice regulations or who have placed themselves on a mailing list for this purpose. Finally, so long as the supply remains available, additional copies may be obtained from the Agency as described above.

When this regulation is promulgated, revised copies of the Development Document will be available from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Copies of the Economic Analysis will be available through the National Technical Information Service, Springfield, Virginia 22151.

(c) Summary of public participation.

Prior to this publication, agencies and groups were consulted and given an opportunity to participate in the development of advanced notice effluent limitations, guidelines and standards for the pulp, paper, and paperboard manufacturing category. All participating agencies and groups have been informed of project developments. An initial draft of the Development Document was sent to all participants and comments were solicited on that report.

The following responded with comments: Nicolet Paper Co.; National Council of the Paper Industry for Air and Stream Improvement, Inc.; Kimberly-Clark Corp.; State of Michigan; Mead Corp.; Crown Zellerbach Corp.; International Paper Corp.; The Buckeye Cellulose Corp.; Scott Paper Co.; Hammermill Paper Co.; State of North Carolina; State of Wisconsin; State of New York; State of Idaho; The Procter &

Gamble Co.; Newton Falls Paper Mill, Inc.; State of Illinois; Eastex Inc.; ESWQIAC; Weyerhaeuser Corp.; American Paper Institute; and IVL (Sweden).

The primary issues raised in the development of the advanced notice effluent limitations guidelines and standards of performance and the treatment of these issues herein are as follows:

(1) A large number of comments were received that stated that special allowances should be established for mills subject to climatological extremes (i.e. temperature).

The effects of temperature upon biological treatment efficiencies should be accounted for in the design and operation of biological treatment systems (i.e. short term detention time biological treatment systems such as activated sludge are much less affected by climatic conditions than are long term detention time systems such as aerated stabilization basins). See the Development Document (Section VII).

(2) Comments were received which stated that two stage biological treatment systems in use by many pulp and paper mills should be considered as BATEA and not BPCTCA. The external treatment at these mills includes two-stage biological systems which include aerated stabilization basins followed by storage ponds. The commenters argued that these two-stage systems represent BATEA since the storage ponds primary purpose is to control the discharge according to the receiving water quality.

The Agency agrees that one of the purposes of the storage ponds is for controlling the discharge to meet receiving water requirements. However, further reductions in BOD₅ and TSS generally occur in the storage ponds, as these ponds are frequently described as storage oxidation ponds. The two-stage biological system represents BPCTCA at these mills. The design and operation of the aerated stabilization basins are such that the storage oxidation ponds are relied upon to remove BOD₅ and TSS. Thus, the aerated stabilization basins at these particular mills cannot be specified as BPCTCA. Therefore, the final effluent data from these particular mills was utilized in developing the limitations.

(3) A few commenters felt that the effluent limitations should be influenced by receiving water assimilative capacities at each particular site.

Under the Act, it is not necessary that a showing be made regarding the effect of the pollution discharge upon the quality of the receiving water. Under sections 301, 304 (b) and (c), 306 (b) and (c), and 307(c), the principal means of control is through the adoption of effluent limitations directly applicable to the discharge itself. The effluent limitations are to be based upon defined levels of technology which are specified in the Act. Nevertheless, water quality standards are retained as a secondary means of control and will have their principal applicability in those instances where effluent limitations are not stringent enough to provide for the achievement of water quality standards.

(4) One commenter said that there was no real analysis of the costs of air and water pollution control and the benefits derived.

The limitations, as mandated by the "Act" are technologically based, and benefits are expressed in terms of effluent reduction. Although air pollution control costs were not quantified, consideration is being given to this factor for the current economic impact analysis.

(5) Many comments were received that stated that the costs of achieving BPCTCA limitations presented in the draft Development Document were unsupported by the information presented in the report and impossible to determine the individual costs of internal and external controls used in the aggregate costs. The commenters also felt that the methodology used to determine the costs of achieving BATEA limitations and the NSPS were unsupported and inadequate.

The Agency has totally revised the costs contained in the Development Document to reflect changes in methodology, technologies identified as BPCTCA, BATEA, and BADT, and the expanded data base. Specific technologies included in BPCTCA, BATEA, and BADT have been identified and costs have been developed and presented in the Development Document. Two sets of treatment costs are presented including both the costs of aerated stabilization basins and activated sludge systems. Extensive information and data has been added to the Development Document in order to fully support and document the costs, some of which includes the following:

(1) Description of internal and external controls, (2) basic schematic drawings and design parameters of identified technologies, (3) cost curves for each subcategory relating mill size to costs, and (4) a specific sample calculation for one subcategory presenting the compilation of the costs into the aggregate cost figure.

(6) Several comments were received that stated that effluent limitations and standards should be established for zinc for groundwood mills. It was stated that high levels of zinc are discharged from groundwood mills which use zinc hydrosulfite as a brightening agent and that use of an alternate brightening agent, such as sodium hydrosulfite, should reduce the zinc in groundwood mill effluents to presently acceptable levels.

The Agency concurs that high levels of zinc in groundwood mill effluents are unacceptable and zinc effluents limitations and standards have been established.

(7) Several commenters suggested an approach to developing BPCTCA limitations. Essentially, the approach involved determining average BOD₅ raw waste loads for the industry and applying 85% reduction which was said to be representative of biological treatment.

The BPCTCA limitations are based upon mills which treat their waste waters by technologies representing BPCTCA. Thus, mill operating data is the basis for the limitations and not the application of an assumed pollutant reduction efficiency.

(8) Several comments were received which stated that the total suspended solids concentrations resulting from testing methods utilizing filter paper (nonstandard methods) should be accounted for in the development of the effluent limitations and standards. A conversion factor for nonstandard methods to standard methods of 3 to 1 was suggested for use in the evaluation of data.

The TSS analytical measurement techniques are discussed in the Development Document, and data for mills utilizing nonstandard methods was not used in development of the limitations. Conversion factors for nonstandard methods to standard methods range from less than 2 to more than 10 depending upon the effluent stream sampled. Thus, the Agency feels that use of a conversion factor is not applicable.

(9) One commenter felt that additional subcategories should be added for small mills. Suggestions were provided for what constitutes a small mill and how the limitations should be increased for small mills.

In developing the subcategories, many factors were evaluated as possible bases for establishing subcategories. One of these factors was the size of mills. The Agency concluded that size of mills was not a significant factor for subcategorization because the waste water characteristics and control technologies are independent of plant size.

(10) It was alleged that the limitations for color removal do not appear to be workable since there is no direct linear relationship between color units and color mass.

The Agency concurs that there is no direct linear relationship between color units and color mass. However, in order for the color limitations to be related to mill production, the Agency defined, for purposes of implementing the color limitations, the following standard relationship used by several other countries: 1 mg/l equals 1 color unit.

(11) Several comments were made that the variabilities of raw waste load were not considered in the development of the limitations.

The limitations are based upon actual mill operating data including both raw waste and final effluent data. The Agency determined that any effects of variations in raw waste load are upon the treatment system and the quality of the final effluent. Thus, the effects of raw waste variability were considered in the development of the limitations through consideration of variations in final effluent quality.

(12) Many commenters stated that the limitations for TSS should be removed or replaced by a settleable solids limitation as the suspended solids in the final effluent from pulp and paper mill biological treatment systems are biological organisms generated during treatment for the removal of BOD and not the fibrous materials contained in mill raw wastes. It was argued that the fibrous materials in the raw waste are removed by primary treatment and that the biological suspended solids in the final effluent from the biological treatment system characteristically do not settle. It was stated that the biological solids do not settle and cause problems of sludge beds in receiving waters and that no harm is caused to the environment other than an exertion of BOD which is regulated by the BOD5 limitations.

The Agency believes that the TSS in final effluents from pulp and paper mill biological treatment systems are harmful to aquatic environments. The Agency concurs that the fibrous materials in the raw waste should settle out in a well designed and operated primary treatment system. As discussed in Section VI of the Development Document, the Agency believes that the TSS from pulp and paper mill biological treatment systems have the following detrimental effects upon receiving water environments: (1) increases in the turbidity of the receiving water resulting in reduced light transmission and accompanying effects, such as reduced photosynthesis, (2) aesthetic effects, (3) settling of suspended solids to the bottom of receiving waters, and (4) exertion of BOD by the biological suspended solids. Limiting just settleable solids would exclude a portion of the total suspended solids which should be controlled, and therefore the TSS limitation was not removed from the regulation.

(13) Comments were received that stated that BPCTCA limitations will require mills to install both internal and external controls. It was argued that, in effect, this pushes the 1983 limitations up to 1977 because the intent of the Act was to emphasize external treatment to meet the 1977 limitations and to emphasize internal controls in 1983. It was also suggested that since the 1983 internal technologies are essentially being required in 1977, the costs of achieving BPCTCA limitations will be substantially higher and the economic impact may be significant.

It is the opinion of the Agency that the Act does not preclude considering some in-plant control changes as part of BPCTCA. Section 304(b)(1)(B) includes consideration of "the process employed" and "process changes" as part of the determination of BPCTCA. Where an in-plant change can be implemented by 1977 and meets the other requirements of Section 304(b)(1), there is no reason to differentiate such control measure from any other control measure or practice imposed as part of BPCTCA. The in-plant changes which have been identified as available in 1977 are practices which are in common use in the industry.

(14) It was suggested by several commenters that the color limitation should be removed from the regulations as color has not been established as a pollutant and its inclusion for BATEA is not justified.

As discussed in Section VI of the Development Document, the Agency believes that color is a major pollutant parameter and has the following detrimental effects: (1) color in receiving waters retards sunlight transmission and interferes with photosynthesis thereby reducing productivity of the aquatic community; (2) color alters the natural stream color and is thereby aesthetically displeasing; (3) color has a detrimental effect upon downstream municipal and industrial water users, as color, even when not visually apparent (i.e. turbid streams), must be removed before use in municipal and industrial water supplies; (4) color bodies complex with metal ions, such as iron or copper, forming tar-like residues which remove metals from the stock available to stream organisms for normal metabolism, and the complexes can have direct inhibitory effects on some of the lower scale organisms in the aquatic community; (5) color is an indicator of potentially inhibitory compounds discharged to the aquatic environment; and (6) color in receiving waters affects fish productivity and fish movements. Therefore, the limitations for color for BATEA were not removed from the regulations as the Agency believes that color is a major pollutant parameter.

(15) Two commenters stated that the limitations should be written as net pollutants and mills should be given credit for pollutants in their raw water supply.

The effluent limitations have generally been developed on a gross or absolute basis. However, the Agency recognizes that in certain instances pollutants will be present in navigable waters which supply a plant's intake water in significant concentrations which may not be removed to the levels specified in the limitations by the application of treatment technology contemplated by BPCTCA.

Accordingly, the Agency has promulgated amendments to its NPDES permit regulations (40 CFR 29850, July 16, 1975) which specify the situations in which the Regional Administrator may allow a credit for such pollutants.

(16) Several commenters stated that the Agency should provide a range of effluent limitations instead of a single limitation, as the range would allow the Regional Administrators to determine the appropriate limitation for each mill depending upon the specific conditions at the mills.

The present limitations take differences within an industry into account through subcategorization, rather than by use of ranges of numbers to be varied at the discretion of the office issuing permits. The 28 industries noted in Section 306 of the Act, for example, have already broken some of the broad industrial groups into subgroups such as the chemical industry into inorganic chemicals, organic chemicals, plastics and synthetics, petrochemicals, soaps and detergents, fertilizers, and rubber. The pulp and paper industry has been broken into 5 initial subcategories in the first segments of the industry and 15 subcategories which are covered by these regulations.

(17) Several commenters stated that the costs for pollution control presented in the draft report are expressed in 1973 dollars and that these 1973 costs do not reflect the actual costs to the industry in 1977 or 1983.

The costs presented in the Development Document have been updated to represent 1974 costs. The economic analysis has assumed that the cost of pollution control will increase at a rate similar to the general inflation rate. Therefore, the annual cost of pollution control as a percent of sales, or the capital cost as a percent of plant investment, is expected to be relatively stable. As a result, the economic analysis used these relatively stable parameters for assessing economic impact in 1977 and 1983.

(18) Many commenters stated that allowances should be established for mills with woodyard operations which use large quantities of water in preparation of logs prior to chipping.

The Agency agrees that the wood preparation operations are part of the manufacturing process and in certain cases additional waste loads are discharged from these operations. As discussed in the Development Document, woodyard operations are similar between mills in all wood pulping subcategories and thereby, any waste loads generated by the woodyard operation were not used as a basis for subcategorization. Instead, additional allowances for BOD₅ and TSS were established for mills in any subcategory using specific woodyard operations which result in additional waste loads. The additional allowance is only included for BPCTCA effluent limitations as technology is presently available to essentially eliminate the water use within woodyard operations and is included as BATEA and best available demonstrated technology (BADT). It should be emphasized that additional data is being solicited on raw waste loads (flow, BOD₅, and TSS) generated by woodyard operations including the following: (1) debarking (hydraulic, drum), (2) flumes for transporting or defreezing, and (3) log ponds for defreezing.

(19) A number of commenters stated that the list of mills in each subcategory was inaccurate and several mills were misplaced in the wrong subcategory.

The list of mills in the Appendix of the Draft Development Document should not be interpreted as a placement of a mill in a subcategory but should only be used as a reference.

(20) Several comments stated that the subcategorization was inadequate and specifically that separate subcategories for dissolving bleached kraft and market bleached kraft mills should be established.

In response, the Agency has established a total of 15 subcategories based upon the greatly expanded data base, and separate subcategories for dissolving bleached kraft mills and market bleached kraft mills have been established. In addition, two groups of mills within the non-integrated paper mills segment have been excluded from these regulations due to what the Agency feels is inadequate data on which to subcategorize and establish effluent limitations and standards. These mills include those non-integrated paper mills producing coarse papers and specialty papers. Effluent limitations and standards will be developed for these mills at a later date.

(21) One commenter felt that the limitations and standards for bleached kraft mills producing market pulp should be more stringent than for bleached kraft mills producing paper products.

The available data shows that raw waste loads generated by bleached kraft market pulp mills are generally higher than bleached kraft mills producing paper products. This apparent anomaly can be attributed to the higher degree of cooking and bleaching which is usually practiced by bleached kraft market pulp mills. Effluent limitations and standards for bleached kraft market pulp mills were thereby established more stringent than for bleached kraft mills producing paper products.

(22) Several commenters stated that the data base was inadequate.

The original data base included information and data collected by on-site surveys of approximately 105 mills. Since the original survey efforts, information and data has been collected from approximately 70 additional mills and approximately 30 mills have been recontacted for supplementary or revised information and data. Efforts are continuing to be made in collecting information and data from both surveyed and non-surveyed mills and as such, any information or data which is relevant to the development of these regulations is being solicited. The present data base includes extensive information and data for over 50% of the mills covered by these regulations.

(23) Several comments were received that stated that the methodologies used for data analysis and in determining the effluent limitations and standards were inadequate.

The effluent limitations and standards were completely revised based upon modifications in the methodologies used in the data and variability analyses as well as upon the expanded data base. The general methodology used to establish BPCTCA limitations was to use the average flow for each subcategory with the capabilities of the identified external treatment systems. The maximum 30 day and maximum daily limitations were then determined by multiplication by variability factors which reflected the normal variability associated with the identified treatment technologies.

(24) Several commenters felt that the exclusion of some of the higher data points in the data analysis was not justified and had the effect of lowering the effluent limitations and standards.

Analysis of the data from the 105 mills sometimes showed excursions in the data which were not considered to be normal operation of a particular plant. These data points were only excluded after extensive investigations into the cause of the excursion. The Agency believes that normal variability should be included in the data base upon which effluent limitations and standards are based; however, conditions not representative of normal practice or BPCTCA should not be included as part of the data base.

(25) Several commenters stated that non-integrated specialty mills should not be included in the non-integrated coarse papers subcategory.

The Agency concurs that coarse papers are distinctly different from specialty papers and that manufacture of specialty papers generally results in higher raw waste loads than manufacture of coarse papers. The original subcategorization included a subcategory entitled "Non-Integrated Coarse Papers" which included both coarse and specialty papers. The effluent limitations and standards were actually based upon mills producing specialty papers, and coarse paper mills would thereby have been given a slight advantage. However, review of the available data for non-integrated paper mills producing coarse or specialty papers resulted in excluding these mills from these regulations for reasons cited previously.

(26) One commenter stated that the discussion of energy requirements of pollution control was inadequate.

The Agency has made extensive efforts to update and revise the estimates of energy requirements of the treatment technologies identified for BPCTCA, BATEA, and BADT. The Development Document presents revised and updated energy values for all 15 subcategories.

(27) Several comments were received that stated that BPCTCA for the sulfite subcategory should include (1) spent sulfite liquor (SSL) recovery, (2) secondary (aerated stabilization basins or activated sludge) treatment, and (3) reasonable in plant pollution control measures.

The Agency agrees with these comments and the effluent limitations for 1977 for sulfite mills have been developed based upon (1) SSL recovery, (2) biological treatment, and (3) in plant control measures as normally practiced within the industry.

(28) A number of commenters stated that the TSS in biological treatment system effluents are not related to the mill raw waste TSS and should be recognized as biological TSS in the Development Document.

The three general types of TSS occurring in biological treatment system effluents include (1) cellulose fiber, (2) mineral materials, and (3) biological TSS. Fibers and, for many mills, mineral type TSS are lost during the manufacturing process into the process waste waters. Most of the raw waste load TSS should be removed by primary treatment with most of the remaining TSS removed by secondary treatment. The majority of the TSS in the final effluents from well designed and operated secondary treatment systems should be biological TSS which were created in oxidizing the soluble BOD₅ in the waste water. Mills with inadequately designed or operated primary treatment facilities generally have high TSS levels in the effluent from their secondary treatment facilities. The relative proportions of the fiber, mineral, and biological TSS in secondary treatment effluents can be considered as an indicator of the design and operation of the primary treatment as well as the secondary treatment facilities. Thus, effluents from well designed and operated primary and secondary treatment facilities should contain mostly biological TSS with only some fiber and mineral TSS. The Development Document was revised to reflect that the TSS in secondary treatment effluents are mostly biological TSS and as such are more related to the raw waste BOD5 than raw waste TSS.

(29) Two comments were received that stated that the raw waste load used in establishing BPCTCA effluent limitations for sulfite mills should be the raw waste load generated prior to SSL recovery. The rationale presented by the commenters was that SSL recovery is not economical as is liquor recovery in kraft mills.

The BPCTCA effluent limitations for sulfite mills were based upon raw waste loads from mills practicing SSL recovery. SSL recovery is an internal pollution control measure and since it is commonly practiced by the large majority of sulfite mills (18 of 22 papergrade sulfite mills have SSL recovery systems), it is included in BPCTCA. SSL recovery may not be economical at the present time, but internal pollution control measures are not necessarily economical. Internal measures which control pollution and have a net return on the investment are normally considered to be integral parts of the manufacturing process, such as liquor recovery by kraft mills. Thus, BPCTCA for sulfite mills includes commonly used internal controls (i.e. SSL recovery) and secondary treatment (i.e. biological treatment).

(30) A large number of comments were received that stated that BATEA effluent limitations and the New Source Performance Standards were based upon unproven and undocumented assumptions regarding raw waste load reductions and increases in external treatment effectiveness.

In response the Agency has completely revised BATEA effluent limitations and New Source Performance Standards. In most cases, the actual limitations and standards are based upon raw waste loads presently being achieved by the best mill or mills within each subcategory. The internal controls in use by these mills were thoroughly evaluated, and estimates were made of raw waste load reductions possible by use of identified BATEA or BADT internal controls not presently in use by these mills. The effluent reduction capabilities of the identified BATEA and BADT external treatment was then estimated and used in conjunction with the raw waste load to establish the limitations and standards. The estimates of the external treatment reduction capabilities were based upon actual mill data in each subcategory.

Interested persons may participate in this rulemaking by submitting written comments in triplicate to the EPA Office of Public Affairs, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington, D.C. 20460, Attention: Ms. Ruth Brown, A-107. Comments on all aspects of the advanced notice regulation are solicited. In the event comments are in the nature of criticisms as to the adequacy of data which are available, or which may be relied upon by the Agency, comments should identify and, if possible, provide any additional data which may be available and should indicate why such data are essential to the development of the regulations. In the event comments address the approach taken by the Agency in establishing an effluent limitations guideline or standard of performance, EPA solicits suggestions as to what alternative approach should be taken and why and how this alternative better satisfies the detailed requirements of sections 301, 304(b), 306 and 307 of the Act.

A copy of all public comments will be available for inspection and copying at the EPA Freedom of Information Center, Room 204, West Tower, Waterside Mall, 401 M Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. A copy of preliminary draft contractor reports, the Development Document and economic study referred to above, and certain supplementary materials supporting the study of the industry concerned will also be maintained at this location for public review and copying. The EPA information regulation, 40 CFR Part 2, provides that a reasonable fee may be charged for copying.

All comments received on or before October 7, 1975 will be considered. Steps previously taken by the Environmental Protection Agency to facilitate public response within this time period are outlined in the advance notice concerning public review procedures published on August 6, 1973 (38 FR 21202).

§ 430.62 Effluent limitations guidelines representing the degree of effluent reduction attainable by the application of the best practicable control technology currently available.

In establishing the limitations set forth in this section, EPA took into account all information it was able to collect, develop and solicit with respect to factors (such as age and size of plant, raw materials, manufacturing processes, products produced, treatment technology available, energy requirements and costs) which can affect the industry subcategorization and effluent levels established. It is, however, possible that data which would affect these limitations have not been available and, as a result, these limitations should be adjusted for certain plants in this industry. An individual discharger or other interested person may submit evidence to the Regional Administrator (or to the State, if the State has the authority to issue NPDES permits) that factors relating to the equipment or facilities involved, the process applied, or other such factors related to such discharger are fundamentally different from the factors considered in the establishment of the guidelines. On the basis of such evidence or other available information, the Regional Administrator (or the State) will make a written finding that such factors are or are not fundamentally different for that facility compared to those specified in the Development Document. If such fundamentally different factors are found to exist, the Regional Administrator or the State shall establish for the discharger effluent limitations in the NPDES permit either more or less stringent than the limitations established herein, to the extent dictated by such fundamentally different factors. Such limitations must be approved by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. The Administrator may approve or disapprove such limitations, specify other limitations, or initiate proceedings to revise these regulations.

§ 430.92 Effluent limitations guidelines representing the degree of effluent reduction attainable by the application of the best practicable control technology currently available.

In establishing the limitations set forth in this section, EPA took into account all information it was able to collect, develop and solicit with respect to factors (such as age and size of plant, raw materials, manufacturing processes, products produced, treatment technology available, energy requirements and costs) which can affect the industry subcategory and effluent levels established. It is, however, possible that data which would affect these limitations have not been available and, as a result, these limitations should be adjusted for certain plants in this industry. An individual discharger or other interested person may submit evidence to the Regional Administrator (or to the State, if the State has the authority to issue NPDES permits) that factors relating to the equipment or facilities involved, the process applied, or other such factors related to such discharger are fundamentally different from the factors considered in the establishment of the guidelines. On the basis of such evidence or other available information, the Regional Administrator (or the State) will make a written finding that such factors are or are not fundamentally different for that facility compared to those specified in the Development Document. If such fundamentally different factors are found to exist, the Regional Administrator or the State shall establish for the discharger effluent limitations in the NPDES permit either more or less stringent than the limitations established herein, to the extent dictated by such fundamentally different factors. Such limitations must be approved by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. The Administrator may approve or disapprove such limitations, specify other limitations, or initiate proceedings to revise these regulations.

§ 430.172 Effluent limitations guidelines representing the degree of effluent reduction attainable by the application of the best practicable control technology currently available.

In establishing the limitations set forth in this section, EPA took into account all information it was able to collect, develop and solicit with respect to factors (such as age and size of plant, raw materials, manufacturing processes, products produced, treatment technology available, energy requirements and costs) which can affect the industry subcategorization and effluent levels established. It is, however, possible that data which would affect these limitations have not been available and, as a result, these limitations should be adjusted for certain plants in this industry. An individual discharger or other interested person may submit evidence to the Regional Administrator (or to the State, if the State has the authority to issue NPDES permits) that factors relating to the equipment or facilities involved, the process applied, or other such factors related to such discharger are fundamentally different from the factors considered in the establishment of the guidelines. On the basis of such evidence or other available information, the Regional Administrator (or the State) will make a written finding that such factors are or are not fundamentally different for that facility compared to those specified in the Development Document. If such fundamentally different factors are found to exist, the Regional Administrator or the State shall establish for the discharger effluent limitations in the NPDES permit either more or less stringent than the limitations established herein, to the extent dictated by such fundamentally different factors. Such limitations must be approved by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. The Administrator may approve or disapprove such limitations, specify other limitations, or initiate proceedings to revise these regulations.

The following limitations establish the quantity or quality of pollutants or pollutant properties, controlled by this section, which may be discharged by a point source subject to the provisions of this subpart after application of the best practicable control technology currently available:

Effluent characteristic	Effluent limitations

§ 430.176 Pretreatment standards for new sources.

The pretreatment standards under section 307(c) of the Act for a source within the deink subcategory, which is a user of a publicly owned treatment works and a major contributing industry as defined in 40 CFR 128, for existing sources (and which would be a new point source subject to section 306 of the Act, if it were to discharge pollutants to the navigable waters), shall be the same standard as set forth in 40 CFR 128, except that, for the purpose of this section, 40 CFR 128.121, 128.122, 128.132 and 128.133 shall not apply. It is, however, possible that data which would affect these limitations have not been available and, as a result, these limitations should be adjusted for certain plants in this industry. An individual discharger or other interested person may submit evidence to the Regional Administrator (or to the State, if the State has the authority to issue NPDES permits) that factors relating to the equipment or facilities involved, the process applied, or other such factors related to such discharger are fundamentally different from the factors considered in the establishment of the guidelines. On the basis of such evidence or other available information, the Regional Administrator (or the State) will make a written finding that such factors are or are not fundamentally different for that facility compared to those specified in the Development Document. For the purpose of this subpart:

(a) Except as provided below, the general definitions, abbreviations and methods of analysis set forth in 40 CFR 401 shall apply to this subpart.

(b) Total suspended solids (TSS) shall mean TSS as measured by the technique utilizing glass fiber disks as specified in "Standard Methods for the Examination of Water and Wastewater" (13th Edition).

On the basis of such evidence or other available information, the Regional Administrator (or the State) will make a written finding that such factors are or are not fundamentally different for that facility compared to those specified in the Development Document. If such fundamentally different factors are found to exist, the Regional Administrator or the State shall establish for the discharger effluent limitations in the NPDES permit either more or less stringent than the limitations established herein, to the extent dictated by such fundamentally different factors. Such limitations must be approved by the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency. Revised Rules

Title 28—Judicial Administration

CHAPTER 1—DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

PART 2—PAROLE, RELEASE, SUPERVISION AND RECOMMITMENT OF PRISONERS, YOUTH OFFENDERS, AND JUVENILE DELINQUENTS

Parole Board

(A) Background. On December 31, 1974, the United States Board of Parole published in the Federal Register at 39 FR 45296 a notice of proposed rule-making setting forth the rules proposed for publication at Part 2, Title 28, of the Code of Federal Regulations governing parole, release, supervision, and recommitment of prisoners, youth offenders, and juvenile delinquents. A deadline of March 3, 1975, was established for the submission of written statements or comments on the proposed regulations. On March 10, 1975, the deadline was extended to May 4, 1975, (40 FR 10996) and on May 2, 1975, was again extended by 60 days to July 3, 1975, (40 FR 19204). Copies of the proposed rules were placed in Federal institutions throughout the country to facilitate prisoner comment. The full text of the proposed rules may be found at 40 FR 10973 (March 10, 1975).

Prior to December 31, 1974, the Board of Parole published its regulations in the Code of Federal Regulations without providing opportunity for public comment as provided in the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. § 553(b)(3). In so doing, the Board was acting on the assumption that even if it was an agency within the meaning of that statute, its regulations fell, in any event, within the exemptions provided at 5 U.S.C. § 553(b)(3) for interpretative and procedural rules, and statements of general policy.

Subsequent litigation in Pickus v. United States Board of Parole, 507 F. 2d 1101 (D.C. Cir. 1974) resulted in a ruling that the Board of Parole was an agency as defined by the Administrative Procedure Act and held that the Board was required to comply with the notice and comment section, 5 U.S.C. § 555(b)(3). The court expressly held that its decision did not touch upon the substantive validity of the Board's regulations.

The Board, therefore, republished its rules on an emergency basis at 39 FR 45223 (December 31, 1974), with notice of proposed rule-making as described above. These rules were later amended at 40 FR 5357 (February 5, 1975) and at 40 FR 10973 (March 10, 1975).

Written statements and comments were received from 18 different sources: five from attorneys, seven from individual prisoners, three from committees of prisoners, one from a parolee, one from a Bureau of Prisons employee, and one from a public interest group (The Institute for Public Interest Representation, Georgetown University Law Center). All of these comments were carefully considered by the Board prior to the Board's quarterly meeting held July 30-31, 1975, in Atlanta, Georgia.

(B) Rule changes. As finally adopted and set forth below, these regulations contain a number of substantive changes from the March 10, 1975, publication (40 FR 10973). The changes made will be discussed in this section, together with those comments found relevant to the changes. Other comments are evaluated and discussed in the following section.

The changes made are as follows: (a) Section 2.14(b). (Review Hearings) was changed to provide that a prisoner sentenced under the Youth Corrections Act, Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act, or under 18 U.S.C. § 4208(a)(2), or 924(a) shall not be continued past one-third of his maximum sentence without a further, in-person hearing upon completion of one-third of his maximum sentence. This practice became effective for prisoners who complete one-third of their maximum sentences after August 1, 1975. Prior to this change, § 2.14(b) provided for a review on the record with a current institutional progress report, rather than an in-person hearing. This rule provoked considerable criticism, and a number of comments urged the change presently adopted. While the Board does not believe that constitutional due process or the statutes concerned require this result (see Grasso v. Norton, — F. 2d —, No. 74-1222 (2d Cir., decided June 23, 1975)), it was concluded that the better course would be to modify this rule as adopted.

(b) A number of rules were amended to reflect existing practices of the Board and the Bureau of Prisons concerning the prisoner's opportunities to review the information in his official records, and to correct errors of fact appearing therein. The Board has amended its former regulations that emphasized confidentiality as the general rule, in order to conform to applicable laws governing disclosure of federal records. These changes are discussed below:

(1) Section 2.11(d) (Application for Parole), has been changed to provide that prisoners shall be furnished with an Inmate Background Statement (Parole Form I-32) for completion prior to the initial hearing. This form permits the prisoner to present his version of the factors which make up his salient factor score. Completion of this form with the assistance of the prisoner's case worker will provide for a more meaningful hearing on the salient factor score, and will serve to point up immediately areas of disagreement on the facts. This rule change reflects present policy and was urged by several comments.

(2) Section 2.13(a) (Initial Hearing) has been changed to provide that the examiner panel at an initial hearing shall discuss with the prisoner his offense severity rating and salient factor score as described in § 2.20(c), his institutional conduct, and, in addition, any other matters the panel may deem relevant. This requirement codifies the present practice and ensures that the prisoner will be afforded the opportunity to respond at the hearing to those assumptions of fact upon which the panel relies in computing the offense severity rating and salient factor score.

(3) Section 2.57 (Disclosure of Records), paragraphs (a) through (c) have been changed to provide for access by the prisoner to factual reports.

This rule incorporates a procedure recently implemented by the Bureau of Prisons which provides for disclosure of the central file maintained at the institution in which the prisoner is confined. See Bureau of Prisons Policy Statement No. 2211.8, Inmate Review of Central Files, dated June 12, 1975. The central file is the file from which the initial parole hearing and all subsequent review hearings are conducted. At the time of the prisoner's initial classification, his central file is assembled and a duplicate file of the basic documents is prepared for the later use of the Board of Parole. After the initial hearing, the duplicate, or parole file, is sent to the appropriate Board of Parole regional office and is thereafter the repository of all Board of Parole internal memoranda and administrative records concerning the prisoner, as well as updated material duplicated from the central file.

The procedure employed by the Bureau of Prisons is to segregate material exempt from disclosure under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b), at the time of the initial classification. The prisoner may thereafter make an appointment with his case worker to review the non-exempt documents and obtain copies thereof. Documents withheld may be sought through written request to the Bureau of Prisons, under applicable statutes and regulations governing disclosure of government documents.

The retention of four narrowly drawn exemptions to disclosure in § 2.57(a) was found necessary to protect vital interests, both of the government, and of private persons whose names or identities appear in the prisoner's file. These exemptions parallel those contained in the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. § 552(b), and the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, Rule 32, dealing with disclosure of the Presentence Investigation Report.

With regard to Presentence Investigation Reports furnished to the Bureau of Prisons and Board of Parole, the Board has been advised by the Administrative Office of the United States Courts that this report does not become a document of the Bureau of Prisons or Board of Parole upon receipt from the U.S. Probation Office, which can be disclosed under applicable statutes governing disclosure of government documents. The sentencing court retains the sole authority to disclose the report. Cook v. Willingham, 400 F. 2d 885 (10th Cir. 1968). The regulation at Subparagraph (c), places the responsibility for seeking disclosure of the Presentence Report upon the prisoner, as a matter to be resolved between the prisoner and his sentencing court. However, it should be borne in mind that each prisoner will have been afforded the opportunity to review that report, prior to sentencing, to the extent required by Rule 32, Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, as amended August 1, 1975.

The above changes will operate in conjunction with a number of related provisions. The principal provision is that contained in § 2.13, which provides for reasons in the case of parole denial. The reasons given indicate the number of months in custody, the salient factor score, offense severity rating with reasons for the rating if not apparent from the conviction, the guideline range indicated, reasons for going outside the range (where such a decision is made) and any other reason supporting the decision. The salient factor scoresheet, showing each point given or withheld for each of the nine salient factor score items, is furnished to the prisoner as a part of the reasons given.

Prisoners are also afforded a two-level administrative appeal procedure in §§ 2.25 and 2.26. Written statements may be submitted on appeal to the Regional Director under § 2.25, and to the National Appellate Board under § 2.26.

Section 2.57(d) was added to notify prisoners and other persons of their rights to make written requests for disclosure of documents in Board of Parole files, pursuant to the Privacy Act of 1974 and the Freedom of Information Act, by complying with the applicable Department of Justice regulations.

While the Board maintains the position that properly framed reasons for parole denial afford the prisoner a sufficient basis for an effective exercise of his rights to appeal (see Fisher v. United States, 382 F. Supp. 241 (D. Conn. 1974)), it recognizes that prisoners often seek to obtain copies of the tape recordings of their parole hearings and the Hearing Examiner's Summary (Parole Form H-1). Copies of tape recordings are furnished to prisoners upon request. The Bureau of Prisons provides recording equipment which enables prisoners to listen to these tapes. Technical difficulties with recording equipment sometimes result in inaudible or garbled recordings. Thus, the Board is not in a position to guarantee an accurate recording of every hearing. Hearing Summaries, which are prepared for the convenience of the examiners and the Board Members participating in the decision-making process, are disclosed subject to exemptions provided by law.

Section 2.12(b) (Application for Parole) was changed to delete a provision relating to confidentiality of parole records in order to avoid possible conflict with the disclosure provisions described above. It is nonetheless the Board's policy to avail itself of statutory exemptions to disclosure where appropriate, for example, in order to prevent clearly unwarranted invasions of the personal privacy of prisoners, ex-convicts, and persons communicating with the Board on the assumption of confidentiality.

(c) Section 2.20(c) (Paroling Policy Guidelines) has been changed in a number of specific instances.

(1) The severity of Firearms Act violations was felt to be greater than the severity categories (low-moderate and moderate) to which such offenses were formerly assigned. Thus, the possession, purchase, or sale of a single weapon (not a sawed-off shotgun or machine gun) was placed in the moderate severity category of offenses, and the possession, purchase, or sale of a sawed-off shotgun, machine gun, or multiple weapons, was placed in the high severity category of offenses. This change does not preclude decisions below the guideline range indicated when circumstances mitigating the seriousness of the offense are presented to the Board. Sawed-off shotguns were expressly included in this rule change since the possession of such a weapon indicates the unlikelihood of an innocent purpose in the violation. A sawed-off shotgun is generally a weapon purposefully altered to facilitate criminal concealment, and its use presents an unusually grave threat to the personal safety of the victim or innocent bystanders.

(2) In the moderate severity category of offenses, smuggling of aliens was changed to include the smuggling or transporting of aliens, since the Board felt that the individual who transports an alien who has been smuggled into the country, as part of the general scheme to complete the smuggling offense, has committed a crime which cannot, for this purpose, be rationally differentiated from the act of smuggling itself.

(3) It is further concluded the offense of possession of hard drugs with intent to distribute or sell, in order to support a drug habit, should be consolidated with possession/sale for profit in the very high severity category. The Board found that the factor of drug addiction is no more consistent or valid a mitigating circumstance than any other which might be found, and that the serious consequences inherent in this offense could not justify the severity category to which it had previously been assigned. Thus, the Board has determined that offenses involving the possession of hard drugs with intent to distribute or sell warrant a very high severity rating, with the exception of those involving a prior conviction for the same offense, to which the greatest severity rating is presently assigned. However, mitigating or aggravating circumstances may warrant a decision above or below the guideline range indicated.

(4) In relation to the offense of counterfeiting currency, the Board amended the offense behavior description in the high category to read counterfeiting currency, Passing/Possession ($20,000-$100,000) making it consistent with other property related offenses in that category.

(5) One item in the salient factor score was changed. Cocaine or barbiturate dependence was found to be a somewhat less reliable predictive factor in general than heroin (opiate) dependence, and was, therefore, deleted from Item F. That item now reads: "no history of heroin or opiate dependence." This does not, however, preclude the Board from considering abuse of the drugs noted or other drugs as a negative indicant on an individual basis.

(6) The definition of Item G, High School Graduate or GED Completed was clarified to refer to such completion prior to the prisoner's present commitment. Completion of a GED during the present commitment (found to be a weaker predictive item) is appropriately considered in relation to institutional program achievement.

(d) Section 2.32 (Committed Fines) has been changed to reflect more clearly the operation and effect of the governing statute, 18 U.S.C. § 3569. The regulation as amended places the responsibility for resolving questions involving payment or discharge of prisoners' committed fines upon the chief executive officer of the institution, as provided by statute. One comment called attention to the need for this change.

(e) Section 2.58 (Special Parole Term) was revised to provide guidance as to the operation of the special parole term required for certain drug offenses. 21 U.S.C. §§ 8801-966.

(f) Section 2.13(d) (Initial Hearing) was changed to provide that notice to the prisoner of the examiner panel's tentative decision shall be mailed within 15 working days, except in emergencies, in order to conform to present practice.

(C) Evaluation of other comments received. The comments received by the Board following publication of its proposed rule-making on December 31, 1974, raised a number of difficult issues regarding paroling policy. Many of these issues are valid concerns, even though the specific proposals offered by the writers were not acceptable to the Board at this time. These issues will continue to be given serious attention in the future.

(1) The paroling policy guidelines. Nearly every comment received referred to some aspect of the Board's Paroling Policy Guidelines at § 2.20.

Generally, the guidelines were criticized for failing to consider with sufficient emphasis, rehabilitation or institutional progress. However, one comment stated that although prison performance is relevant to the parole decision, the Board's guidelines correctly de-emphasize rehabilitative factors which social science suggests can neither be detected nor measured.

We support the development of detailed guidelines for decision-making not only because of the Board's stated goals, but also because § 2.20 as applied by the Board serves other commendable purposes. First, by its choice of criteria, the Board has made clear that it has de-emphasized rehabilitative factors as a condition of release. Extensive social science research strongly suggests that rehabilitation can neither be observed, detected or measured. An inmate's institutional behavior and performance should be relevant to the parole decision, however, and we support the Board rule allowing this factor to justify decisions outside the range indicated by the guidelines. Second, to a large degree the guidelines remove inmate uncertainty as to how much time they will have to serve. Because the release criteria in § 2.20 are based almost exclusively upon data fixed at the time of conviction, when he first enters prison, an inmate can calculate with great accuracy the average time he will have to serve . . .

(Statement submitted by the Institute for Public Interest Representation, Georgetown University Law Center, dated May 2, 1976, at Page 3-4).

It should be noted, however, that the Board's guidelines do not totally exclude consideration of institutional, discipline or program achievement. First, the guidelines are predicated upon good institutional performance. Secondly, exceptionally good or poor institutional performance may be considered as a reason for a decision above or below the guidelines.

There were also several specific proposals. One comment urged the Board to set parole dates early in a prisoner's term to remove uncertainty. This proposal is presently being put into practice by one state parole board (California), and the United States Board of Parole will study the results of that policy. In the Federal system, a prisoner continued for an institutional review hearing (when that continuance is not limited by Board policy) will frequently be paroled at that date, absent institutional misconduct.

Several comments suggested that sentence length play some role in the guideline evaluation. While this factor is listed at § 2.19(a)(2), the Board has rejected the proposal that sentence length in itself be included in the guidelines. Such a course would defeat one of the primary benefits of the Board's guidelines, which is to reduce sentence disparity, an important goal endorsed in comments received by the Board. Of course, facts which may have persuaded the sentencing court to impose a shorter or longer than average sentence will be presented to the Board in the Presentence Investigation Report, and may influence the Board to render a decision above or below the guideline range indicated. Moreover, the sentencing courts specific recommendations regarding parole will be considered, in addition to other relevant information, by the Board.

Several comments singled out Item I of the Salient Factor Score as discriminating against unmarried individuals. This item is, however, a strong indicator of parole prognosis. In addition, it should be pointed out that only nine of the 11 possible points on the salient factor score are required in order to achieve the most favorable parole prognosis category.

Regarding the offense severity categories, one comment suggested that all ratings be based on offense of conviction only. A corollary suggestion was that all Federal statutory offense descriptions be listed on the severity scale. The Board presently considers the total circumstances of the offense committed (offense behavior) and exercises its best judgment as to the correct rating in each case. Rigidly codifying offenses by statutory section would preclude objective assessment of the actual offense behavior, and would place excessive reliance on convictions obtained more often by negotiation of pleas than by trial of the facts. Neither justice nor uniformity of treatment could be achieved with such a system, and the Board has, therefore, found the proposal unacceptable.

Another comment urged that the severity ratings be empirically validated

(i.e., based on a poll of community opinion), citing Rossi, The Seriousness of Crime, 39 Am. Soc. Ref. 224 (April, 1974). While this proposal does not account for Congressional delegation of authority to the Board in 18 U.S.C. § 4203 to consider "the welfare of society," the type of research suggested by the proposal could be useful to the Board, on a long term basis, in the exercise of this authority. Serious consideration will be given to future studies in this field.

Regarding the factual basis for computing the guideline evaluation, one comment suggested that the Board require, by amended regulation at § 2.9 (Study prior to sentencing) that the United States Probation Officers include a guideline evaluation in preparation of the Presentence Investigation Report. For the Board's purposes, the factual basis for the guideline evaluation is presently included in these reports. Moreover, as noted above the prisoner provides information regarding his salient factor score in his background statement. The preparation of the determinative guideline evaluation is properly the task of a Board of Parole hearing examiner panel, and must be accomplished at a parole hearing pursuant to § 2.13 of the Board's regulations.

However, the preparation of a prospective guideline evaluation by probation officers could be an aid in the sentencing process if it is used to inform the court of the manner in which the Parole Board will exercise its discretion, rather than as a predetermination of the Board's final evaluation.

The Board notes that United States Probation Officers in the Southern District of New York, and other Probation Officers at the request of individual judges in other districts, currently prepare guideline evaluations for the benefit of the sentencing court.

(2) Hearing Procedure. Various aspects of the hearing procedure at § 2.12 were criticized. Two comments were made that the rule of representatives should be expanded to provide for their participation throughout the hearing. This proposal is not acceptable because the parole hearing is not an adversary proceeding, but an evaluative interview. The present regulation provides that the prisoner's representatives may offer a statement at the conclusion of the hearing and respond to questions of the examiner panel during the course of the hearing. There is no restriction in the present rule against the appearance of a lawyer as the prisoner's representative.

Another comment suggested that written notice of the hearing be given 30 days in advance. The Board's regulation at § 2.12(a) provides for written notice prior to a hearing.

However, a rigid 30 day notice requirement would not account for those prisoners transferring into an institution and who are placed on the next hearing docket on short notice. (Hearing examiner panels regularly visit each institution at two month intervals). If a prisoner at initial hearing believes that the notice given is inadequate to allow for preparation for the hearing or for the attendance of his representative, he may request the examiner panel to postpone his hearing until the next docket.

With regard to prisoners serving concurrent state and local sentences in state, local, or territorial institutions, two comments proposed that in-person parole hearings be granted by the Board. The present regulation at § 2.16(b) provides for reviews on the record for such prisoners. These prisoners are heard by the state or territorial parole authorities having jurisdiction over them. Upon a grant of parole from such authority, the Board will review its record to determine whether or not to grant parole at that time if it has not previously granted parole to that prisoner upon a record review. If the Board does not grant parole, the prisoner is returned to a Federal institution, and if he has not previously received an in-person parole hearing from the Board, and is otherwise eligible for parole, he will be scheduled for a hearing on the next docket following his transfer to the institution.

(3) Appellate procedure. Comments regarding the Board's appellate procedure generally emphasized the possibility for delays inherent in the absence of a time limit for rendering appeal decisions. While the Board has succeeded in rendering timely appeal decisions in most cases, it will continue to study means of expediting appeals as it evaluates the progress of the regional system which opened in 1974.

One comment pointed out the apparent futility of an appeal under § 2.25 to a Regional Director who has previously referred the examiner panel decision to the National Directors for decision under § 2.24. It was considered necessary to require this appeal since prisoner appeals may contain new or corrected information following receipt of the notice of action (reasons) and the salient factor scoresheet. As a matter of administrative policy, new information should be presented first at the regional level, rather than the national level, to allow the Regional Director full consideration of the case.

(4) Mental competency hearing procedure. One comment advanced the position that a § 2.35 mental competency hearing is an adversary proceeding requiring written notice, representation by counsel, and the opportunity to present favorable psychiatric testimony. The competency hearing, however, is an inquiry only into the prisoner's ability to understand the nature of and participate in the parole or parole revocation hearing. Implicit in the regulation is the understanding that the Board of Parole and the Bureau of Prisons will attempt to hold the parole or parole revocation hearing if at all possible, or at the earliest opportunity, in order to achieve a speedy resolution of the merits of the case.

(D) Conclusion. Accordingly, pursuant to the authority of 28 CFR Chapter 1, Part 0, Subpart I, and 18 U.S.C. 4201-4210 and 5005-5037, 28 CFR Chapter 1, Part 2, is amended as set forth below, effective October 6, 1975.

AUTHORITY: 18 U.S.C. 42101-4210, 5001-5037; 28 CFR Part O, Subpart v.

§ 2.1 Definitions.

(a) For the purpose of this part, the term "Board" means the United States Board of Parole; and the terms "Youth Correction Division" and "Division" each mean the Youth Correction Division of the Board.

(b) As used in this part, the term "National Appellate Board" means the Chairman, Vice Chairman, and at least one member of the Board, all of whom also serve as National Appellate Board members in the headquarters office, i.e., Washington, D.C.

(c) All other terms used in this part shall be deemed to have the same meaning as identical or comparable terms have when those term are used in Chapter 311 of Part IV of Title 18 of the United States Code or Chapter I, Part O, Subpart V of Title 28 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Except as set out in the following sections, a federal prisoner wherever confined and serving a definite term or terms of over one hundred and eighty days may, in accordance with the regulations prescribed in this part, be released on parole after serving one-third of such term or terms or after fifteen years of a life sentence or a sentence of over forty-five years (18 U.S.C. 4202).

§ 2.3 Same; adult indeterminate sentences.

A Federal prisoner, other than a juvenile delinquent or a committed youth offender, who has been sentenced to a maximum term of imprisonment in excess of one year may, if the court has designated a minimum term to be served, which term may be less than, but not more than, one-third of the maximum sentence imposed, be released on parole after serving the minimum term. In cases in which a court imposes a maximum sentence of imprisonment upon a prisoner and specifies that the prisoner may become eligible for parole at such times as the Board may determine, the prisoner may be released on parole at any time in the discretion of the Board (18 U.S.C. 4208(a)).

§ 2.4 Same; juvenile delinquents.

The Board of Parole shall release from custody, on such conditions as it deems necessary, each juvenile delinquent who has been committed, as soon as the Board is satisfied that he is likely to remain at liberty without violating the law and when such release would be in the interest of justice (18 U.S.C. 5041).

§ 2.5 Same; committed youth offenders.

The Youth Correction Division may at any time, after reasonable notice to the Director of the Bureau of Prisons, release conditionally under supervision a committed youth offender. A youth offender committed under section 5010(b) of title 18 of the United States Code to a maximum six year term shall be released conditionally under supervision on or before the expiration of four years from the date of his conviction. A youth offender committed under section 5010 (c) of title 18 of the United States Code to a maximum term which is more than six years shall be released conditionally under supervision not later than two years before the expiration of the term imposed by the court (18 U.S.C. 5017).

§ 2.6 Same; sentences under the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act.

The Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act provides for sentence to a maximum term for treatment as a narcotic addict. Parole may be ordered by the Board after at least six months in treatment, not including any period of time for "study" prior to final judgment of the court. Before parole is ordered by the Board, the Surgeon General or his designated representative must certify that the prisoner has made sufficient progress to warrant his release and the Attorney General or his designated representative must also report to the Board whether the prisoner should be released. Recertification by the Surgeon General prior to reparole consideration is not required (18 U.S.C. 4254).

§ 2.7 Same; sentences under the gun control statute.

A Federal prisoner sentenced under 18 U.S.C. 924(a) for violation of Federal gun control laws is considered eligible for parole at such time as the Board may determine. Prisoners sentenced under this provision are considered for parole in the same manner as if they had been sentenced under 18 U.S.C. 4208(a) (2).

§ 2.8 Same; sentences of six months or less followed by probation.

A Federal prisoner sentenced under 18 U.S.C. 3651 to serve a period of six months or less in a jail type or treatment institution, with a period of probation to follow, is not eligible for parole.

§ 2.9 Study prior to sentencing.

(a) When an adult Federal offender has been committed to an institution by the sentencing court for observation and study prior to sentencing under the provisions of 18 U.S.C. 4208(b), the report to the sentencing court is prepared and submitted directly by the United States Bureau of Prisons.

(b) The court may order a youth to be committed to the custody of the Attorney General for observation and study at an appropriate classification center or agency. Within sixty days from the date of the order, or such additional period as the court may grant, the Youth Correction Division shall report its findings to the court (18 U.S.C. 5010(e)).

§ 2.10 Date service of sentence commences.

(a) Service of a sentence of imprisonment commences to run on the date on which the person is received at the penitentiary, reformatory, or jail for service of the sentence: Provided, however, That any such person shall be allowed credit toward the service of his sentence for any days spent in custody in connection with the offense or acts for which sentence was imposed.

(b) Service of the sentence of any person who is committed to a jail or other place of detention to await transportation to the place at which his sentence is to be served shall commence to run from the date on which he is received at such jail or other place of detention.

(c) Service of the sentence of a committed youth offender or a person committed under the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act commences to run and continues to run uninterruptedly from the date of conviction, except when such offender is on bail pending appeal or is in escape status.

§ 2.11 Application for parole.

(a) A prisoner, other than a juvenile delinquent, a committed youth offender, or an offender committed under the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act, desiring to apply for parole shall execute such application forms as may be prescribed by the Board. Such forms shall be available at each Federal institution and shall be provided to prisoners eligible for parole. Such prisoners may waive parole consideration on a form provided for that purpose. If such a prisoner waives parole consideration, he may later supply for parole and may be heard during the next visit of the Board to the institution where he is confined, provided he has applied prior to 45 days from the first scheduled date of this visit. A prisoner who receives an initial hearing may not waive any subsequent review hearing scheduled by the Board except as provided in § 2.16(c). New parole applications are not necessary for such review hearings.

(b) A prisoner who is required to apply before receiving a parole hearing but who fails to submit either an application or a waiver form shall be referred to the Board's representatives by the chief executive officer of the institution. The prisoner shall then receive an explanation of his right to apply for parole at a later date.

(c) Prisoners committed under the Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act, the Youth Correction Act, and the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act shall be considered for parole without application and may not waive parole consideration.

(d) Notwithstanding the above provisions relating to parole application, all prisoners prior to initial hearing shall be provided with an inmate background statement by the Bureau of Prisons for completion by the prisoner.

§ 2.12 Hearing procedure.

(a) Prisoners shall be given written notice of the time and place of the hearing described in §§ 2.13 and 2.14. Prisoners may be represented at hearings by a person of their choice. The function of the prisoner's representative shall be to offer a statement at the conclusion of the interview of the prisoner by the examiner panel, and to provide such additional information as the examiner panel shall request. Interested parties who oppose parole may select a representative to appear and offer a statement. The presiding hearing examiner shall limit or exclude any irrelevant or repetitious statement.

(b) No interviews with the Board, or any representative thereof, shall be granted to a prisoner unless his name is docketed for a hearing in accordance with Board procedures. Hearings shall not be open to the public, and the records

§ 2.13 Initial hearing.

(a) An initial hearing shall be conducted by a panel of two hearing examiners designated by the Board. The examiner panel shall discuss with the prisoner his offense severity rating and salient factor score as described in § 2.20, his institutional conduct, and, in addition, any other matter the panel may deem relevant. At the conclusion of the hearing, the examiner panel shall inform the prisoner of its tentative decision, and, if parole is denied, of the reasons therefor.

(b) In accordance with § 2.18 the reasons for parole denial may include, but are not limited to, the following reasons, with further specification where appropriate:

(1) Release at this time would depreciate the seriousness of the offense committed and would thus be incompatible with the welfare of society.

(2) There does not appear to be a reasonable probability at this time that the prisoner would live and remain at liberty without violating the law.

(3) The prisoner has (a serious) (repeated) disciplinary infraction(s) in the institution.

(4) Additional institutional treatment is required to enhance the prisoner's capacity to lead a law-abiding life.

(c) In lieu of or in combination with the reasons in paragraph (b) (1) and (2) of this section the prisoner after initial hearings shall be furnished a guideline evaluation statement which includes the prisoner's salient factor score and offense severity rating as described in § 2.20, as well as the reasons for a decision to continue the prisoner for a period outside the range indicated by the guidelines.

(d) Written notification of the decision or referral under § 2.17 or § 2.24 shall be mailed or transmitted to the prisoner within fifteen working days of the date of the hearing except in emergencies. If parole is denied, the prisoner shall also receive in writing as a part of the decision, the reasons therefor.

§ 2.14 Review hearings.

All hearings subsequent to the initial hearing shall be considered as review hearings. Review hearings by examiners designated by the Board shall be scheduled for each Federal institution, and prisoners shall appear for such hearings in person, except for the following cases:

(a) During the month preceding a regularly scheduled review hearing, a case may be reviewed on the record by an examiner panel (including a current institutional progress report). If the decision is to grant parole, no hearing shall be conducted.

(b) A prisoner sentenced under the Youth Corrections Act or Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act or a prisoner sentenced to a maximum term of more than 18 months under 18 U.S.C. 4208(a) (2) or 924(a) shall not be continued past one-third of his maximum sentence at an initial hearing without further hearing upon completion of one-third of his maximum sentence.

(c) Notification of review decisions shall be given as set forth in § 2.13(d). No prisoner shall be continued for more than three years from the time of last hearing without further review.

§ 2.15 Petition for consideration of parole prior to date set at hearing.

When a prisoner has met the minimum time of imprisonment required by law, the Bureau of Prisons may petition the responsible Regional Director for reopening the case under § 2.28 and consideration of parole prior to the date set by the Board at the initial or review hearing. The petition must show cause why it should be granted, i.e., an emergency, hardship, or the existence of other extraordinary circumstances that would warrant consideration of early parole.

§ 2.16 Parole of prisoner in state or territorial institution.

(a) Any person who has been convicted of any offense against the United States which is punishable by imprisonment but who is confined therefor in a state reformatory or other state or territorial institution, shall be eligible for parole by the Board on the same terms and conditions by the same authority, and subject to recommitment for the violation of such parole, as though he were confined in a Federal penitentiary, reformatory, or other correctional institution.

(b) Federal prisoners serving concurrent state and Federal sentences in state, local, or territorial institutions shall be furnished upon request parole application forms. Upon receipt of the application and any supplementary classification material submitted by the institution, the parole decision shall be made by an examiner panel of the appropriate region on the record only.

(c) Prisoners who are serving federal sentences exclusively but who are being boarded in state, local or territorial institutions may be considered for parole on the record only, provided they sign a waiver of their right to a personal hearing. If such a prisoner does not waive a personal hearing, he may be transferred by the Bureau of Prisons to a Federal institution where he will be considered for

§ 2.17 Original jurisdiction cases.

(a) A Regional Director may designate certain cases as original jurisdiction cases. The Regional Director shall then forward the case with his vote, and any additional comments he may deem germane, to the National Directors for decision. Decisions shall be based upon the concurrence of three votes with the appropriate Regional Director and each National Director having one vote. Additional votes, if required, shall be cast by the other Regional Directors on a rotating basis as established by the Chairman of the Board.

(b) The following criteria will be used in designating cases as original jurisdiction cases:

(1) Prisoners who have committed serious crimes against the security of the Nation, e.g., espionage, or aggravated subversive activity.

(2) Prisoners whose offense behavior (A) involved an unusual degree of sophistication or planning or (B) was part of a large scale criminal conspiracy or a continuing criminal enterprise.

(3) Prisoners who have received national or unusual attention because of the nature of the crime, arrest, trial, or prisoner status, or because of the community status of the offender or his victim.

(4) Long-term sentences. Prisoners sentenced to a maximum term of forty-five years (or more) or prisoners serving life sentences.

§ 2.18 Granting of parole.

The granting of parole rests in the discretion of the Board of Parole. The Board may parole a prisoner who is otherwise eligible if (a) in the opinion of the Board such release is not incompatible with the welfare of society; (b) he has observed substantially the rules of the institution in which he is confined; and (c) there is a reasonable probability that he will live and remain at liberty without violating the laws (18 U.S.C. 4203(a)).

§ 2.19 Consideration by the Board.

In the exercise of its discretion, the Board generally considers some or all of the following factors and such others as it may deem appropriate:

(a) Sentence data:
 (1) Type of sentence;
 (2) Length of sentence;
 (3) Recommendations of judge, U.S. Attorney, and other responsible officials.

(b) Present offense:
 (1) Facts and circumstances of the offense;

(2) Mitigating and aggravating factors;

(3) Activities following arrest and prior to confinement, including adjustment on bond or probation, if any.

(c) Prior criminal record:

(1) Nature and pattern of offenses;
 (2) Adjustment to previous probation, parole, and confinement;

(3) Detainers.
 (d) Changes in motivation and behavior:

(1) Changes in attitude toward self and others;

(2) Reasons underlying changes;

(3) Personal goals and description of personal strength or resources available to maintain motivation for law abiding behavior.

(e) Personal and social history:

(1) Family and marital history;

(2) Intelligence and education;

(3) Employment and military experience;

(4) Physical and emotional health.

(f) Institutional experience:

(1) Program goals and accomplishments:

(i) Academic;

(ii) Vocational education, training or work assignments;

(iii) Therapy.

(2) General adjustment:

(i) Inter-personal relationships with staff and inmates;

(ii) Behavior, including misconduct.

(g) Community resources, including release plans:

(1) Residence; live alone, with family or others;

(2) Employment, training, or academic education;

(3) Special needs and resources to meet them.

(h) Results of scientific data and tools:

(1) Psychological tests and evaluations;

(2) Statistical parole experience tables (salient factor score).

(i) Paroling policy guidelines as set forth in § 2.20;

(j) Comments by hearing examiners, evaluative comments supporting a decision, including impressions gained from the hearing.

§ 2.20 Paroling policy guidelines; statement of general policy.

(a) To establish a national paroling policy, promote a more consistent exercise of discretion, and enable fairer and more equitable decision-making without removing individual case consideration, the United States Board of Parole has adopted guidelines for parole release consideration.

(b) These guidelines indicate the customary range of time to be served before release for various combinations of offense (severity) and offender (parole prognosis) characteristics. The time ranges specified by the guidelines are established specifically for the cases with good institutional adjustment and program progress.

(c) These time ranges are merely guidelines. Where the circumstances warrant, decisions outside of the guidelines (either above or below) may be rendered. For example, cases with exceptionally good institutional program achievement may be considered for earlier release.

(d) The guidelines contain examples of offense behaviors for each severity level. However, especially mitigating or aggravating circumstances in a particular case may justify a decision or a severity rating different from that listed.

(e) An evaluation sheet containing a "salient factor score" serves as an aid in determining the parole prognosis (potential risk of parole violation). However, where circumstances warrant, clinical evaluation of risk may override this predictive aid.

(f) These guidelines do not apply to parole revocation or reparole considerations. The Board shall review the guidelines periodically and may revise or modify them at any time as deemed appropriate.

NOTES

1. These guidelines are predicated upon good institutional conduct and program performance.
2. If an offense behavior is not listed above, the proper category may be obtained by comparing the severity of the offense behavior with those of similar offense behaviors listed.
3. If an offense behavior can be classified under more than one category, the most serious applicable category is to be used.
4. If an offense behavior involved multiple separate offenses, the severity level may be increased.
5. If a continuance is to be given, allow 30 d (1 mo) for release program provision.
6. "Hard drugs" include heroin, cocaine, morphine, or opiate derivatives, and synthetic opiate substitutes.

(Greater than above—however, specific ranges are not given due to the limited number of cases and the extreme variations in severity possible within the category.)

§ 2.21 Reports considered.

Decisions as to whether a parole shall be granted or denied shall be determined on the basis of the application, if any, submitted by the prisoner, together with the classification study and all reports assembled by all the services which shall have been active in the development of the case. These reports may include the reports by the prosecution officers, reports by or for the sentencing court, records from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, reports from the officials in each institution in which the applicant shall have been confined, all records of social agency contacts, and all correspondence and such other records as are necessary or appropriate for complete presentation of the case. Before making a decision as to whether a parole should be granted or denied in any particular case, the Board will consider all available relevant and pertinent information concerning the case. The Board encourages the submission of such information by interested persons.

§ 2.22 Communication with the Board.

Attorneys, relatives, or interested parties wishing a personal interview to discuss a specific case with a representative of the Board of Parole must submit a written request to the appropriate regional office setting for the nature of the information to be discussed. Such personal interview may be conducted by staff personnel in the regional offices. Personal interviews, however, shall not be held by an examiner or member of the Board, except under the Board's appeals procedures.

§ 2.23 Delegation to hearing examiners.

(a) There is hereby delegated to hearing examiners the authority to make tentative decisions relative to the granting or denial of parole, or reparole and revocation or reinstatement of parole or mandatory release and to fix conditions of parole.

(b) Hearing examiners shall function as two-man panels and the concurrence of both examiners shall be required for their decision. In the event of a split decision by the panel, the appropriate regional Administrative Hearing Examiner shall cast the deciding vote.

(c) When a hearing examiner panel proposes to make a decision which falls outside of explicit guidelines for parole decision-making promulgated by the Board, the case shall be reviewed by the appropriate regional Administrative Hearing Examiner. When an Administrative Hearing Examiner does not concur in a decision of an examiner panel to set a parole effective date or continuance outside the Board's guidelines he may with the concurrence of the Regional Director modify the date to the nearest limit of the guidelines.

(d) In the event the Administrative Hearing Examiner is serving as a member of a hearing examiner panel or is otherwise unavailable, cases requiring his action under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section will be referred to another hearing examiner.

(e) A tentative decision of a hearing examiner panel, subject to the provisions of § 2.23(c), shall become effective upon review and docketing at the Regional Office unless action is initiated by the Regional Director under § 2.24.

§ 2.24 Review of panel decision by the Regional Director and the National Directors.

A Regional Director may review the decision of any examiner panel and refer this decision, prior to written notification to the prisoner, with his recommendation and vote to the National Directors for reconsideration and any action deemed appropriate. Written notice of this reconsideration action shall be mailed or transmitted to the prisoner within fifteen working days of the date of the hearing. The Regional Director and each National Director shall have one vote and decisions shall be based upon the concurrence of two votes.

§ 2.25 Appeal of hearing panel decision.

(a) A prisoner may file with the responsible Regional Director a written appeal of a decision of a hearing examiner panel or a decision under § 2.24 to grant, deny or revoke parole or to revoke mandatory release. This appeal must be filed on a form provided for that purpose within thirty days from the date of entry of such decision. The appeal shall be considered by the Regional Director who may affirm the decision, order a new institutional hearing, order a regional appellate hearing, reverse the decision, or modify a continuance or the effective date of parole. Reversal of a decision or the modification of such a decision by more than one hundred eighty days, whether based upon the record or following a regional appellate hearing, shall require the concurrence of two out of three Regional Directors. Appellate decisions requiring a second or additional vote shall be referred to other Regional Directors on a rotating basis as established by the Chairman.

(b) Regional appellate hearings shall be held at the regional office before the Regional Director. Attorneys, relatives and other interested parties who wish to appear must submit a written request to the Regional Director stating their relationship to the prisoner and the general nature of the information they wish to present. The Regional Director shall determine if the requested appearances will be permitted. The prisoner shall not appear personally.

(c) If no appeal is filed within thirty days of entry of the original decision, this decision shall stand as the final decision of the Board.

(d) Appeals under this section may be based only upon the following grounds:

- (1) The reasons given for a denial or continuance do not support the decision; or
- (2) There was significant information in existence but not known at the time of the hearing.

§ 2.26 Appeal to National Appellate Board.

(a) A prisoner may file a written appeal of the Regional Director's decision under § 2.25 to the National Appellate Board on a form provided for that purpose within thirty days after the entry of the Regional Director's written decision. The National Appellate Board may, upon the concurrence of two members, affirm, modify, or reverse the decision, or order a rehearing at the institutional or regional level.

(b) The bases for such appeal shall be the same as for a regional appeal as set forth in § 2.25(d). However, any matter not raised on a regional level appeal may not be raised on appeal to the National Appellate Board.

(c) Decisions of the National Appellate Board shall be final.

§ 2.27 Appeal of original jurisdiction cases.

(a) Cases decided under the procedure specified in § 2.17 may be appealed within thirty days of the entry of the decision on a form provided for this purpose. Attorneys, relatives, and other interested parties who wish to submit written information in support of a prisoner's appeal should send such information to the National Appellate Board Executive, United States Board of Parole, 320 First Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20537. Appeals of original jurisdiction cases shall be reviewed by the entire Board at its next quarterly meeting. A quorum of five members shall be required and all decisions shall be by majority vote. The Chairman shall vote on the decision only in the absence of a member. This appellate decision shall be final.

(b) Attorneys, relatives, or other interested parties who wish to speak for or against parole at such consideration must submit a written request to the Chairman of the Board stating their relationship to the prisoner and the general nature of the material they wish to present. The Chairman shall determine if the requested appearances will be permitted.

(c) If no appeal is filed within thirty days of the entry of the decision under § 2.17, this decision shall stand as the final decision of the Board.

(d) The bases for this appeal shall be the same as for a regional appeal as set forth in § 2.25(d).

§ 2.28 Reopening of cases.

Notwithstanding the appeal procedure of § 2.25 and § 2.26, the appropriate Regional Director may on his own motion reopen a case at any time upon the receipt of new information of substantial significance and may then take any action authorized under the provisions and procedures of § 2.25. Original jurisdiction cases may be reopened upon the motion of the appropriate Regional Director under the procedures of § 2.17.

§ 2.29 Withheld and forfeited good time.

(a) Section 4202 of title 18 of the United States Code permits Federal prisoners to be paroled if they have observed the rules of the institution in which they are confined and if they are otherwise eligible for parole. Any forfeiture of statutory good time shall be deemed to indicate that the prisoner has violated the rules of the institution to a serious degree, and a parole will not be granted in any such case in which such a forfeiture remains effective against the prisoner concerned. Any withholding of statutory good time shall be deemed to indicate that the prisoner has engaged in some less serious breach of the rules of the institution. Nevertheless, parole will not usually be granted unless and until such good time has been restored.

(b) Neither a forfeiture of good time nor a withholding of good time shall bar a prisoner from applying for and receiving a parole hearing.

(c) The above restrictions shall not apply, however, to the forfeiture or withholding of extra good time which is granted because of meritorious behavior. Parole may be ordered without regard to a prisoner's status insofar as extra good time is concerned, although the reasons for any forfeiture or withholding will be included among the other factors used in making the parole decision.

§ 2.30 Release on parole.

(a) A grant of parole shall not be deemed to be effective until a certificate of parole has been delivered to the prisoner.

(b) Parole release dates generally will not be set more than six months from the date of the parole hearing. Exceptions may be made in extraordinary situations or when necessary to permit an adequate period of residence in a Community Treatment Center. Such residence in a Community Treatment Center shall not generally exceed one hundred and twenty days. An effective date of parole shall not be set for a Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday.

(c) When an effective date of parole has been set by the Board, release on that date shall be conditioned upon continued good conduct by the prisoner and the completion of a satisfactory plan for parole supervision. The appropriate Regional Director may, on his own motion, reconsider any case prior to release and may reopen and advance or retard a parole date. A parole grant may be retarded for up to one hundred and twenty days without a hearing for development and approval of release plans.

§ 2.31 False or withheld information.

All paroles are ordered on the assumption that information from the prisoner has not been fraudulently given or withheld from the Board. If evidence comes to the attention of the Board that a prisoner willfully concealed or misrepresented information deemed significant, the Regional Director may schedule a hearing to determine whether parole should be revoked or rescinded. Such a hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the procedure set out in § 2.37 (b) (2).

§ 2.32 Committed fines.

In any case in which a prisoner shall have had a fine imposed upon him by the committing court for which he is to stand committed until it is paid or until he is otherwise discharged according to law, such prisoner shall not be released on parole or mandatory release until payment of the fine, or until the fine commitment order is discharged according to law as follows:

(a) An indigent prisoner may make application to a U.S. Magistrate in the District wherein he is incarcerated or to the chief executive officer of the institution setting forth, under institutional regulations, his inability to pay such fine; if the magistrate or chief executive officer shall find that the prisoner, having no assets exceeding $20 in value except such as are by law exempt from being taken on execution for debt, is unable to pay the fine, and if the prisoner takes a prescribed oath of indigency, he shall be discharged from the commitment obligation of the committed fine sentence.

(b) If the prisoner is found to possess assets in excess of the exemption in paragraph (a) of this section, nevertheless if the chief executive officer of the institution or U.S. Magistrate shall find that retention of all of such assets is reasonably necessary for his support or that of his family, upon taking of the prescribed oath concerning his assets the prisoner shall be discharged from the commitment obligation of the committed fine sentence. If the chief executive officer of the institution or U.S. Magistrate shall find that retention by the prisoner of any part of his assets is reasonably necessary for his support or that of his family, the prisoner upon taking of the prescribed oath concerning his assets, shall be discharged from the commitment obligation of the committed fine sentence upon payment on account on his fine of that portion of his assets in excess of the amount found to be reasonably necessary for his support or that of his family.

(c) Discharge from the commitment obligation of any committed fine sentence does not discharge the prisoner's obligation to pay the fine as a debt due the United States.

§ 2.33 Parole to detainers; statement of policy.

The policy of the Board with regard to parole to detainers is in general accord with the principles recommended by the Association of Administrators of the Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Parolees and Probationers:

(a) The status of detainers held against prisoners in Federal institutions will be investigated, so far as is reasonably possible, prior to parole hearings.

(b) In appropriate cases summary information regarding such prisoner will be provided to state or local authorities. The Board urges institution officials to provide such information.

(c) Where the detainer is not lifted, the Board may grant parole to such detainer if a prisoner is considered in other respects to be a good parole risk. Ordinarily, however, the Board will grant parole to such detainer only if the status of that detainer has been investigated.

(d) The Board will cooperate in working out arrangements for concurrent supervision with other jurisdictions where it is feasible and where release on parole appears to be justified.

(e) The presence of a detainer is not of itself a valid reason for the denial of parole. It is recognized that where the prisoner appears to be a good parole risk, there may be distinct advantage in granting parole despite a detainer.

§ 2.34 Parole to local or immigration detainees.

(a) When a state or local detainer is outstanding against a prisoner whom the Board wishes to parole, the Board may order either of the following:

(1) "Parole to the actual physical custody of the detaining authorities only." In this event, release is not to be effected except to the detainer. When such a detainer is withdrawn, the prisoner is not to be released unless and until the Board makes a new order of parole.

(2) "Parole to the actual physical custody of the detaining authorities or an approved plan." In this event, release is to be effected even though the detainer might be withdrawn, providing there is an acceptable plan for community supervision.

(b) When the Board wishes to parole a prisoner subject to a detainer filed by Federal immigration officials, the Board may order one of the following:

(1) "Parole for deportation only." In this event, release is not to be effected unless immigration officials make full arrangements for deportation immediately upon release.

(2) "Parole to the actual physical custody of the immigration authorities only." In this event, release is not to be effected unless immigration officials take the prisoner into custody—regardless of whether or not deportation follows.

(3) "Parole to the actual physical custody of the immigration authorities or an approved plan." In this event, release is to be effected regardless of whether or not immigration officials take the prisoner into custody, providing there is an acceptable plan for community supervision.

(c) As used in this section "parole to a detainer" means release to the "physical custody" of the authorities who have lodged the detainer. Temporary detention in a jail in the county where the institution of confinement is located does not constitute release or parole. If the authorities who lodged the detainer do not take the prisoner into custody for any reason, he shall be returned to the institution to await further order from the Board.

§ 2.35 Mental competency proceedings.

(a) Whenever a prisoner or parolee is scheduled for a hearing in accordance with the provisions of this part and reasonable doubt exists as to his mental competency, i.e., his ability to understand the nature of and participate in scheduled proceedings, a preliminary hearing to determine his mental competency shall be conducted by a panel of hearing examiners or other official(s) (including a U.S. Probation Officer) designated by the Board of Parole.

(b) At the competency hearing, the hearing examiners or designated official(s) shall receive oral or written psychiatric testimony and other evidence that may be available. A preliminary determination of the prisoner's mental competency shall be made upon the testimony, evidence, and personal observations of the prisoner. If the examiner panel or designated official(s) determines that the prisoner is mentally competent, the previously scheduled hearing shall be held. If they determine that the prisoner is not mentally competent, the previously scheduled hearing shall be temporarily postponed.

(c) Whenever the hearing examiners or designated official(s) determine that a person is incompetent and postpone the previously scheduled hearing, they shall forward the record of the preliminary hearing with their findings to the Regional Director for review. If the Regional Director concurs with their findings, he shall order the temporarily postponed hearing to be postponed indefinitely until such time as it is determined that the prisoner or parolee has recovered sufficiently to understand the nature of and participate in the proceedings and, in the case of a parolee, may order such parolee committed to a Bureau of Prison's facility for further examination. In any such case, the Regional Director shall require a progress report at least every six months on the mental health of the prisoner. When the Regional Director determines that the prisoner has recovered sufficiently, he shall reschedule the hearing for the earliest possible date.

(d) If the Regional Director disagrees with the findings of the hearing examiners or designated official(s) as to the mental competency of the prisoner, he shall take such action as he deems appropriate.

§ 2.36 Release plans.

(a) A grant of parole is conditioned upon the approval of release plans by the Regional Director. In general, the following factors should be present before a prisoner is released after parole has been granted:

(1) The probation officer to whom the releasee is assigned may, in his discretion, require that there be available to the releasee an adviser who is a responsible, reputable, and law-abiding citizen living in or near the community in which the releasee will reside. The adviser should act as a source of advice for the releasee relative to community adjustment. The adviser may provide special services such as vocational placement, personal counsel, or referral to community agencies. The adviser is expected to report to the probation officer any law violation or serious misconduct on the part of the releasee. The adviser may be required by the probation officer to countersign the parolee's monthly supervision report to indicate actual contact with the parolee.

(2) There should be satisfactory evidence that the prospective parolee will be legitimately employed following his release; and

(3) There should be satisfactory assurance that necessary aftercare will be available to a parolee who is ill or who has some other problem which requires special care.

(b) Generally, parolees will be released only to the place of their legal residence unless the Board is satisfied that another place of residence will serve the public interest more effectively or will improve the probabilities of the applicant's readjustment.

§ 2.37 Rescission of parole.

(a) When an effective date of parole has been set by the Board, release on that date shall be conditioned upon continued good conduct by the prisoner. If a prisoner has been granted parole and has subsequently been charged with institutional misconduct sufficient to become a matter of record, the Regional Director shall be advised promptly of such misconduct. The prisoner shall not be released until the institution has been notified that no change has been made in the Board's order to parole.

(1) Upon receipt of information that a prisoner has violated the rules of the institution, the Regional Director may retard the parole grant for up to sixty days without a hearing or may retard the parole grant and schedule the case for a rescission hearing. If the prisoner was confined in a federal prison at the time of the order retarding parole, the rescission hearing shall be scheduled for the next docket of parole hearings at the institution. If the prisoner was residing in a federal community treatment center or a state or local halfway house, the rescission hearing shall be scheduled for the first docket of parole hearings after return to a federal institution. When the prisoner is given written notice of the Board action regarding parole, he shall be given notice of the charges of misconduct to be considered at the rescission hearing. The purpose of the rescission hearing shall be to determine whether rescission of the parole grant is warranted. At the rescission hearing the prisoner may be represented by a person of his choice and may present documentary evidence.

(2) An institution discipline committee hearing conducted by the institution resulting in a finding that the prisoner has violated the rules of his confinement, may be relied upon by the Board as conclusive evidence of institutional misconduct.

(3) If the parole grant is rescinded, the prisoner shall be furnished a written statement of the findings of misconduct and the evidence relied upon.

(b) (1) Upon receipt of new information adverse to the prisoner regarding matters other than institutional misconduct, the Board acting upon the procedures of § 2.17 may retard a previously granted parole and schedule the case for an institutional review hearing on the next docket of parole hearings or at the first docket of parole hearings following return to a federal institution.

(2) The prisoner shall be given notice of the nature of the new adverse information upon which the rescission consideration is to be based. The hearing shall be conducted in accordance with the procedures set out in §§ 2.12 and 2.13. The purpose of the hearing shall be to determine if the parole grant should be rescinded or if a new parole date should be established.

§ 2.38 Sponsorship of parolees; statement of policy.

It is the policy of the Youth Corrections Division to cooperate with groups desiring to serve as sponsors of parolees. In all cases, sponsors shall serve under the direction of and in cooperation with the probation officers to whom the parolees are assigned.

§ 2.39 Mandatory release in the absence of parole.

A prisoner shall be mandatorily released by operation of law at the end of the sentence imposed by the court less such good time deductions and extra good time deductions as he may have earned through his behavior and efforts at the institution of confinement. He shall be released as if on parole, under supervision until the expiration of the maximum term or terms for which he was sentenced less one hundred eighty days. Insofar as possible, release plans shall be completed before the release of any such prisoner.

§ 2.40 Same; youth offenders.

A prisoner committed under the Youth Corrections Act must be initially released conditionally under supervision not later than two years before the expiration of the term imposed by the court.

§ 2.41 Reports to police departments of names of parolees; statement of policy.

Names of parolees under supervision will not routinely be furnished to a police department of a community, except as required by law. All such notifications are to be regarded as confidential.

§ 2.42 Community supervision by United States Probation Officers.

(a) Pursuant to section 3655 of title 18 of the United States Code, United States Probation Officers are required to provide such parole services as the Attorney General may request. The Attorney General has delegated his authority in this regard to the Board (28 CFR 0.126(b)). In conformity with the foregoing, probation officers function as parole officers and provide supervision to parolees and mandatory releasees under the Board's jurisdiction.

(b) A parolee or mandatory releasee may be transferred to a new district of supervision with the permission of the probation officers of both the transferring and receiving district, provided such transfer is not contrary to instructions from the Board.

§ 2.43 Duration of period of community supervision.

(a) Any prisoner, with the exception of those sentenced prior to June 29, 1932, who is released under the provisions of laws relating to parole, shall continue until the expiration of the maximum term or terms specified in his sentence without deductions of allowance for good time. Prisoners sentenced prior to June 29, 1932, shall receive reductions in their maximum term or terms of imprisonment for such good time allowances as may be authorized by law.

(b) The Regional Director may discharge from supervision prior to the normal expiration date as provided in § 2.46(b), but the sentence is not thus commuted and such a parolee may be reinstated to supervision or retaken on the basis of a violator warrant.

§ 2.44 Conditions of release.

The conditions of release are printed on the release certificate and are binding regardless of whether the releasee signs the certificate. The Board, or a member thereof, may add special conditions or modify the conditions of release at any time.

§ 2.45 Travel by parolees and mandatory releasees.

(a) The probation officer may approve travel outside the district without approval of the Regional Director in the following situations:

(1) Vacation trips not to exceed thirty days.

(2) Trips, not to exceed thirty days, to investigate reasonably certain employment possibilities.

(3) Recurring travel across a district boundary, not to exceed fifty miles outside the district, for purposes of employment, shopping, or recreation.

(b) Specific advance approval by the Regional Director is required for other travel, including travel outside the continental limits of the United States, employment more than fifty miles outside the district, and vacations exceeding thirty days. A special condition imposed by the Regional Director prohibiting certain travel shall supersede any general rules relating to travel as set forth above.

§ 2.46 Supervision reports, modification and discharge from supervision.

(a) All parolees and mandatory releasees shall make such reports to the United States Probation Officers to whom they have been assigned as may be required by the Board or Probation Officers. Probation Officers shall submit summary reviews of the progress of parolees and mandatory releasees according to Board policy. On the basis of summary reviews of the progress of parolees, the Regional Director may modify the reporting requirement of parolees or releasees.

(b) After the parolee or mandatory releasee has been under supervision for at least one year, the Regional Director may, in his discretion, permit the parolee to submit a written report to his probation officer on a less frequent basis than once a month. After a period of such reduced reporting the Regional Director may further order that the parolee be discharged from all supervision by the Probation Officer. In the latter instances, a parolee may be reinstated to supervision or a warrant may be issued for him as a violator at any time prior to the expiration of the sentence or sentences imposed by the court. Other modification in the reporting requirements may be made by the Regional Director at any time during the parolee's term.

§ 2.47 Modification and discharge from supervision; youth offenders.

A committed youth offender may remain under supervision until the expiration of his sentence or he may be released from supervision or unconditionally discharged at any time after one year of continuous supervision on parole.

§ 2.48 Setting aside conviction.

When an unconditional discharge has been granted to a youth offender prior to the expiration of his maximum term of sentence, his conviction shall be automatically set aside and the Regional Director shall issue to the youth offender a certificate to that effect.

§ 2.49 Revocation of parole or mandatory release.

(a) If a parolee or mandatory releasee violates any of the conditions of his release, and satisfactory evidence thereof is presented to the Board, or a member thereof, a warrant may be issued and the offender returned to an institution. Warrants shall be issued or withdrawn only by the Board, or a member thereof.

(b) A warrant for the apprehension of any parolee shall be issued only within the maximum term or terms for which the prisoner was sentenced.

(c) A warrant for the apprehension of any mandatory releasee shall be issued only within the maximum term or terms for which the prisoner was sentenced, less one hundred eighty days.

§ 2.50 Same; youth offenders.

In addition to issuance of a warrant on the basis of violation of any of the condition of release, the responsible Regional Director may, when he is of the opinion that such youth offender would benefit by further treatment direct his return to custody or issue a warrant for his apprehension and return to custody. Upon his return to custody, such youth offender shall be given a revocation hearing under the same provisions as adult offenders as specified in § 2.54 to § 2.56. Following the revocation hearing parole may be reinstated, revoked or the terms and conditions thereof may be modified.

§ 2.51 Unexpired term of imprisonment.

The time a prisoner was on parole or mandatory release is not credited to the service of his sentence if revocation occurs. When a warrant is issued the sentence ceases to run, but begins to run again when the releasee is taken into Federal custody by the execution of the Board's violation warrant. However, the sentences of prisoners committed under the Narcotic Addict Rehabilitation Act or the Youth Corrections Act run uninterruptedly from the date of conviction without regard to any revocation, except as provided in § 2.10(c). In no case may the commitment of a person under the Federal Juvenile Delinquency Act extend past his twenty-first birthday.

§ 2.52 Execution of warrant; notice of alleged violations.

(a) Any officer of any Federal correctional institution, or any Federal officer authorized to serve criminal process within the United States, to whom a warrant shall be delivered shall execute such warrant by taking such prisoner and returning him to the custody of the Attorney General. The warrant shall be considered delivered to a Federal officer when the warrant is signed and placed in the mail at the Board headquarters or regional office before the expiration of the maximum term of sentence.

(b) On arrest of the prisoner the officer executing the warrant shall deliver to him a copy of the Warrant Application listing the alleged violations of parole or mandatory release upon which the warrant was issued.

(c) If execution of the warrant is delayed pending disposition of local charges, for further investigation, or for some other purpose, the parolee or mandatory releasee is to be continued under supervision by the probation officer until the normal expiration of the sentence, or until the warrant is executed, whichever comes first. Monthly supervision reports are to be submitted, and the releasee must continue to abide by all the conditions of release.

§ 2.53 Warrant placed as a detainer and dispositional interview.

(a) In those instances where the prisoner is serving a new sentence in an institution, the warrant may be placed there as a detainer. Such prisoner shall be advised that he may communicate with the Board relative to disposition of the warrant, and may request that it be withdrawn or executed so his violator term will run concurrently with the new sentence. Should further information be deemed necessary, the Regional Director may designate a hearing examiner panel to conduct a dispositional interview at the institution where the prisoner is confined. At such dispositional interview the prisoner may be represented by counsel of his own choice and may call witnesses in his own behalf, provided he bears their expenses. He shall be given timely notice of the dispositional interview and its procedure.

(b) Following the dispositional review the Regional Director may:

(1) Let the detainer stand

(2) Withdraw the detainer and close the case if the expiration date has passed;

(3) Withdraw the detainer and reinstate to supervision; thus permitting the federal sentence time to run uninterrupted from the time of his original release on parole or mandatory release.

(4) Execute warrant, thus permitting the sentence to run from that point in time. If the warrant is executed, a previously conducted dispositional interview may be construed as a revocation hearing.

(c) In all cases, including those where a dispositional interview is not conducted, the Board shall conduct annual reviews relative to the disposition of the warrant. These decisions will be made by the Regional Director. The Board shall request periodic reports from institution officials for its consideration.

§ 2.54 Revocation by the Board, preliminary interview.

(a) A prisoner who is retaken on a warrant issued by a Board Member shall be given a preliminary interview by an official designated by the Regional Director to determine if there is probable cause to hold the prisoner for a revocation hearing and, if so, whether such revocation hearing should be conducted in the locality of the charged violation(s) or in a Federal institution. The official designated to conduct the preliminary interview may be a United States Probation Officer in the district where the prisoner is confined, provided he is not the officer who recommended that the warrant be issued.

(b) At the beginning of the preliminary interview, the hearing officer shall explain the Board's revocation procedure to the prisoner and shall advise the prisoner that he may have the preliminary interview postponed so that he may obtain representation by an attorney or may arrange for the attendance of witnesses. The prisoner shall also be advised that if he cannot afford to retain an attorney he may apply to a United States District Court for appointment of counsel to represent him at the preliminary interview and the revocation hearing. The prisoner may also request the presence of persons who have given information upon which revocation may be based. Such adverse witnesses shall be requested to attend the preliminary interview unless the prisoner admits a violation or has been convicted of a new offense committed while on supervision or unless the hearing officer finds good cause for their non-attendance. At the preliminary interview the hearing officer shall review the violation charges with the prisoner, receive the statements of witnesses and documentary evidence on behalf of the prisoner, and allow cross-examination of those adverse witnesses in attendance.

(c) At the conclusion of the preliminary interview, the hearing officer shall prepare and submit to the Regional Director a summary of the interview, which shall include recommended findings of whether there is probable cause to hold the prisoner for a revocation hearing. Upon receipt of the summary of the preliminary interview, the Regional Director shall either order the prisoner reinstated to supervision, order that a revocation hearing be conducted in the locality of the charged violation(s), or direct that the prisoner be transferred to a Federal institution for a revocation hearing.

(d) The prisoner shall be retained in local custody pending completion of the preliminary interview, submission of the summary of the hearing officer, and notification by the Regional Director relative to further action.

(e) A postponed preliminary interview may be conducted as a local revocation hearing, by an examiner panel or other hearing officer designated by the Regional Director provided that the prisoner has been advised that the postponed preliminary interview will constitute his final revocation hearing.

§ 2.55 Local revocation hearing.

(a) If the prisoner requests a local revocation hearing prior to his return to a Federal institution, he shall be given a revocation hearing reasonably near the place of an alleged violation if the following conditions are met:

(1) The local hearing would facilitate the production of witnesses or the retention of counsel;

(2) The prisoner has not been convicted of a crime committed while under supervision; and

(3) The prisoner denies that he has violated any condition of his release. Otherwise, he shall be given a revocation hearing after he is returned to a Federal institution. However, the Regional Director may, on his own motion, designate a case for a local revocation hearing.

(b) If there are two or more alleged violations, the hearing shall be conducted near the place of the violation chiefly relied upon as a basis for the issuance of the warrant, as determined by the Regional Director.

(c) Following the hearing the prisoner shall be retained in custody until final action is taken relative to revocation or reinstatement, or until other instructions are issued by the Regional Director.

§ 2.56 Revocation hearing procedure.

(a) A revocation hearing shall be conducted by a hearing examiner panel or, in a local revocation hearing only, by another official designated by the Regional Director. In the latter case, the decision relative to revocation shall be made by an examiner panel on the basis of the hearing summary pursuant to the provisions of § 2.23. A revocation decision may be appealed under the provisions of § 2.25, § 2.26, or § 2.27 as applicable.

(b) The purpose of the revocation hearing shall be to determine whether the prisoner has violated the conditions of his release and, if so, whether his parole or mandatory release should be revoked or reinstated.

(c) The alleged violator may present voluntary witnesses and documentary evidence in his behalf. However, the presiding hearing officer or examiner panel may limit or exclude any irrelevant or repetitious statement or documentary evidence.

(d) If the alleged violator has not been convicted of a new criminal offense while under supervision and does not admit violation of any of the conditions of his release, the Board shall, on the request of the alleged violator or on its own motion, request the attendance of persons who have given statements upon which revocations may be based. Those adverse witnesses who are present shall be made available for questioning and cross-examination in the presence of the alleged violator unless the presiding hearing officer or examiner panel finds good cause for their non-attendance.

(e) All evidence upon which the finding of violation may be based shall be disclosed to the alleged violator at the revocation hearing. The hearing officer or examiner panel may disclose documentary evidence by reading or summarizing the appropriate document for the alleged violator.

§ 2.57 Disclosure of records.

(a) Prior to any parole hearing conducted in his case pursuant to §§ 2.13, or 2.14, or at any time during his incarceration, a prisoner is entitled to review reports in his institution file containing factual material bearing on his offense behavior, personal history, and institutional progress, as provided in Bureau of Prisons Policy Statement No. 2211.8, dated June 12, 1975, provided that disclosure of such reports would not (1) threaten the life or physical safety of any person; (2) interfere with law enforcement proceedings; (3) disclose investigative techniques of a law enforcement agency; or (4) constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. The reports to be disclosed to the prisoner, subject to the above exceptions, include but are not limited to the following:

- (i) Sentence Computation Records;
- (ii) Classification material (including progress reports);
- (iii) Incident (disciplinary) reports;
- (iv) Medical reports;

(v) F.B.I. identification reports (rap sheets).

(b) All requests for disclosure of documents in the institution file shall be addressed to the Bureau of Prisons staff at least seven days prior to the time such documents are to be viewed. Copies of documents will be furnished under applicable Bureau of Prisons regulations.

(c) Sole authority to disclose a Presentence Investigation Report is retained by the prisoner's sentencing court. A request for disclosure of the Presentence Investigation Report must be addressed to the Court which originated the document.

(d) Copies of documents contained in Board of Parole Regional Office files shall be made available to prisoners, their authorized representatives, and other persons, upon written request in accordance with applicable law and Department of Justice Regulations at 28 C.F.R. Part 16, Subparts C and D. The Board reserves the right to invoke statutory exemptions to disclosure in appropriate cases.

§ 2.58 Special parole terms.

(a) The Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act, 21 U.S.C. §§ 801 to 966, provides that, on conviction of certain offenses, mandatory "special parole terms" must be imposed by the court as part of the sentence. This term is an additional period of supervision which follows the completion of the regular sentence, including completion of the supervision period of such regular sentence on parole or mandatory release.

(b) At the time of release under the regular sentence, whether under full term expiration or under a mandatory release certificate or a parole certificate, a separate Special Parole Term certificate will be issued to the prisoner by the Bureau of Prisons.

(c) Should a releasee be found to have violated conditions of release during supervision under his regular sentence, i.e., before commencement of the Special Parole Term, he will be returned as a violator of his basic supervision period under his regular sentence; the Special Parole Term will follow unaffected. Should a releasee violate conditions of release during the Special Parole Term, he will be subject to revocation with the complete Special Parole Term to serve (but none of the separate regular sentence), and subject to reparole or mandatory release under the Special Parole Term.

(d) If the prisoner is reparaoled under the revoked Special Parole Term a certificate of parole to Special Parole Term is issued by the Board. If the inmate is mandatorily released under the revoked "special parole term" a certificate of mandatory release to Special Parole Term will be issued by the Bureau of Prisons.

General Wage Determination Decisions

General Wage Determination Decisions of the Secretary of Labor specify, in accordance with applicable law and on the basis of information available to the Department of Labor from its study of local wage conditions and from other sources, the basic hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments which are determined to be prevailing for the described classes of laborers and mechanics employed in construction activity of the character and in the localities specified therein.

The determinations in these decisions of such prevailing rates and fringe benefits have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 FR 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24-70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determinations by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates, (37 FR 21138) and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 12-71 and 15-71 (36 FR 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in these decisions shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged on contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Good cause is hereby found for not utilizing notice and public procedure thereon prior to the issuance of these determinations as prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 and not providing for delay in effective date as prescribed in that section, because the necessity to issue construction industry wage determination frequently and in large volume causes procedures to be impractical and contrary to the public interest.

General Wage Determination Decisions are effective from their date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER without limitation as to time and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR, Parts 1 and 5. Accordingly, the applicable decision together with any modifications issued subsequent to its publication date shall be made a part of every contract for performance of the described work within the geographic area indicated as required by an applicable Federal prevailing wage law and 29 CFR, Part 5. The wage rates contained therein shall be the minimum paid under such contract by contractors and subcontractors on the work.

MODIFICATIONS AND SUPERSEDEAS DECISIONS TO GENERAL WAGE DETERMINATION DECISIONS

Modifications and Supersedeas Decisions to General Wage Determination Decisions are based upon information obtained concerning changes in prevailing hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments since the decisions were issued.

The determinations of prevailing rates and fringe benefits made in the Modifications and Supersedeas Decisions have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 FR 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24-70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determination by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates, (37 FR 21138) and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 13-71 and 15-71 (36 FR 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in foregoing General Wage Determination Decisions, as hereby modified, and/or superseded shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged in contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Modifications and Supersedeas Decisions are effective from their date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER without limitation as to time and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR, Parts 1 and 5.

Any person, organization, or governmental agency having an interest in the wages determined as prevailing is encouraged to submit wage rate information for consideration by the Department. Further information and self-explanatory forms for the purpose of submitting this data may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Office of Special Wage Standards, Division of Wage Determinations, Washington, D.C. 20210. The cause for not utilizing the rule-making procedures prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 has been set forth in the original General Wage Determination Decision.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1975

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

PRIVACY ACT OF 1974

Notice of Systems of Records

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

PRIVACY ACT OF 1974

Notices of Systems of Records

Notice is hereby given that the Department of the Interior proposes to adopt notices describing the systems of records subject to section 3 of the Privacy Act of 1974, 5 U.S.C. Section 552a, which it maintains. Although the Act requires publication for comment of only that portion of each notice which describes the "routine uses" of a system of records, the Department is publishing and invites comment upon all parts of each notice.

The proposed notices are the product of a several month effort by the Department to identify records which it maintains, which are subject to the Privacy Act. In making final decisions about the coverage of the Act, the Department was guided by the guidelines for Privacy Act implementation published by the Office of Management and Budget in the FEDERAL REGISTER for July 9, 1975 (40 FR 28949-28978).

The format for the proposed notices is the format recommended by the Office of the Federal Register in the FEDERAL REGISTER for June 19, 1975 (40 FR 25988-25990).

The following remarks should clarify some of the principles which guided the Department in identifying records subject to the Act, in making decisions concerning the configuration of these records into systems of records, and in preparation of notices describing these systems.

The provisions of section 3 of the Privacy Act apply generally to all "records" which are maintained in a "system of records." The term "record" is defined by the Act to mean "any item, collection, or grouping of information about an individual that is maintained by an agency, including, but not limited to, his education, financial transactions, medical history, and criminal or employment history and that contains his name, or the identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual, such as a finger or voice print or a photograph." 5 U.S.C. Section 552a(a)(4). The term "individual," which is necessarily crucial in interpreting the term "record," is defined to mean "a citizen of the United States or an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence." 5 U.S.C. Section 552a(a)(1). The term "system of records" means "a group of any records under the control of any agency from which information is retrieved by the name of the individual or by some identifying number, symbol, or other identifying particular assigned to the individual." 5 U.S.C. Section 552a(a)(5).

In synthesizing these three definitions, the Department developed several principles which it applied in considering the application of the Act to records in its files.

First, the Department concluded that the Act did not reach records concerning individuals acting in an entrepreneurial or proprietary capacity, as opposed to records containing purely personal information about individuals. This conclusion is based, in part, on the plain words of the definition of "individual." Natural persons may be citizens; artificial persons cannot. Orient Ins. Co. v. Daggs, 172 U.S. 557 (1869). Fictional business entities thus cannot be citizens. Information on such an entity, even though the entity may be closely tied with a natural person, is not "information about an individual." The Department's conclusion is reinforced by the legislative history of the Act. As pointed out and discussed in more detail in the OMB guidelines, the Senate Report states that the definition of individual is intended to "distinguish between the rights which are given to the citizen as an individual under this Act and the rights of proprietorships, businesses and corporations which are not intended to be covered by this Act." S. Rept. 1183, 93d Cong., 2d Sess. 79 (1974).

Based on this conclusion, the Department has not included as systems collections of records appearing to pertain only to businesses (including sole proprietorships, partnerships, and corporations).

The Department recognizes, however, that in some instances records pertaining to very small business may have a dual character. Information concerning the finances of a sole proprietorship may, in some cases, also be personal financial information concerning the proprietor in his individual capacity. Because of this possibility, the Department has included as systems some collections of records which contain primarily entrepreneurial information, but which may contain some small amount of information which is personal in character. In most cases, the notices for these systems contain a statement under the heading "Category of Individual" explaining the basis on which they were included. It is the Department's understanding that the collections of records covered by these system notices are "systems" subject to the Act only to the extent that they contain personal information. The entrepreneurial component of the collections is not subject to the Act.

The Department intends to follow closely any litigation which should develop on this difficult point and, if necessary, will adjust its notices to accommodate the law which develops out of such litigation.

Second, the Department concluded that collections of records containing personal information about individuals were not "systems" if that information is not retrieved by individual name or identifier. This reading seems to be the only one which can be given to the definition of "system of records."

Despite this conclusion, the Department has been fairly liberal in deciding whether personal information "is" retrieved by individual name or identifier. Included among the Department's systems are several from which information can physically be retrieved by individual name, but for which there is no significant history of use of this capability. It was the Department's conclusion with respect to these systems that the potential for such retrieval ought to be viewed as bringing them within the Act because the information in the systems was information in which individuals may have some privacy interest.

With respect to personal information not retrieved by individual name and thus not subject to the Act, the Department of course, will, in the spirit of the Privacy Act, exercise appropriate caution in the handling and dissemination of records. In particular, invocation of the sixth exemption from the Freedom of Information Act's disclosure requirements will be seriously considered when such information is sought in a Freedom of Information request.

Third, the Department concluded that the Privacy Act does not reach records kept by employees which are not official records. It is the Department's view that personal records maintained by an employee are not under its control and, accordingly not "maintained by an agency" within the meaning of 5 U.S.C. section 552a(a)(4). In reaching this conclusion, the Department relied upon the analysis offered at page 28952 of the OMB guidelines.

The Department views this conclusion as excluding only a fairly narrow category of records from coverage by the Act, however. The type of records excluded are mainly personal telephone lists; birthday and similar lists developed by employees on their own time for purposes of exchanging greeting cards or gifts; and similar documents.

Fourth, the Department concluded that the Act does not apply to published works, including library books and standard research and reference authorities. The basis of this conclusion is the doctrine of statutory interpretation that legislation ought not to be interpreted so as to yield an absurd result. Even though a library book may contain personal information and may be retrievable by individual name through a card catalogue, application of the Privacy Act protections to that book would serve no sensible purpose. The publication of a book containing very sensitive personal information concerning a person may give rise to an action for damages, see, e.g., Garner v. Triangle Publications, 97 F. Supp. 546 (S.D.N.Y. 1951), but locking up the Government's copies of the book cannot reasonably be viewed as ameliorating the invasion of privacy which has occurred or protecting the individual from further invasions of privacy or adverse consequences stemming therefrom. Further, it would necessarily be beyond the capability of the Department to assure that the contents of the books in its many libraries are timely and accurate.

Fifth, the Department concluded that mailing lists containing solely lists of names and addresses are not "systems of records." The definition of "record," as quoted above, offers as examples of items of information within its scope information concerning "education, financial transactions, medical history, and criminal or employment history." Applying the principle of ejusdem generis, the Department is of the view that the words "item, collection or grouping of information" must be read as applying to things of the same general kind or class as those mentioned. The Department does not view an individual's address, without more, as being in the same class as the specifically enumerated items in the definition.

The Department's conclusion on this point does not mean that mailing lists which it maintains are open to the world. Subsection (n) of 5 U.S.C. § 552a precludes the sale of mailing lists and the Department will observe this prohibition. Further, where mailing lists are requested under the Freedom of Information Act, it will be the policy of the Department to consider carefully the application of exemption (6) and to withhold such lists where, even though disclosure in and of itself may not constitute an invasion of privacy, the requester will use the list in such a way as to invade personal privacy by, for example, conducting a commercial solicitation. See, Wine Hobby USA, Inc. v. I.R.S., 502 F.2d 133 (3rd Cir. 1974).

Further, mailing lists integrated with information beyond name and address are covered in the Department's system notices.

Finally, the Department concluded that, in resolving close questions concerning the application of the Act to records, it should view the Act as applicable if there was a significant possibility that the records might be used to make determinations adverse to an individual. As a result of this decision, the Department included as systems several collections of records which it might not have otherwise included. For example, the Supervisor's Record of Employees System, Interior/Office of the Secretary—16 is defined to include a supervisor's personal notes concerning employee conduct. An argument could have been made for excluding such notes on the ground that they are not "official records," but was not because of the possibility that these records might be used in making adverse determinations about employees.

The Department has not generally prepared notices covering records which are or will be covered in general Government-wide notices issued by other agencies. The principal category of records excluded from the Department's notices by this decision is official personnel records. These records will be covered in a series of general notices issued by the Civil Service Commission, which is, in any event, the technical owner of official personnel records in the hands of the Department.

In configuring collections of records subject to the Act into systems for purposes of notice publication, the Department's policy was to aggregate similar records maintained in widely dispersed locations geographically into either bureau- or Department-wide systems. Three factors influenced this decision. First, the Department concluded that such aggregation would promote greater uniformity and central direction in the handling and maintenance of records within the system, hence reducing the possibility of abuses. Second, the Department concluded that keeping the number of system notices which it needed to publish at a minimum would permit individuals to more readily identify general groupings of records which might contain information pertaining to them. Finally, the Department concluded that preparing separate notices for each component of decentralized systems would involve an unjustifiable expenditure of the taxpayers' money. Rather than the approximately 200 notices which the Department is proposing, this approach would have compelled preparation and publication of 5000 or more notices.

In organizing the proposed notices for publication, the Department has grouped the notices by bureau. While the Department views itself, for Privacy Act purposes, as a single agency, it was felt that organization of notices by bureau would facilitate easy location of records by individuals seeking to determine if the Department maintains records pertaining to them. This will be particularly so because a large portion of the Department's notices relate to administrative management matters (payroll, property management, travel, and so forth) which would be of particular interest to employees in the various bureaus of the Department.

Office of the Secretary
Office of the Solicitor
Office of Hearings and Appeals (OHA)
Fish and Wildlife Service (FWS)
Geological Survey (GS)
Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA)
Bureau of Land Management (BLM)
Bureau of Mines (Mines)
Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration (MESA)
National Park Service (NPS)
Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR)
Bureau of Reclamation (Reclamation)
Alaska Power Administration
Nevada Power Administration (BPA)
Southeastern Power Administration
Southwestern Power Administration

It should be noted that under the category of Office of the Secretary, the Department has included not only notices covering records maintained exclusively within offices making up the Office of the Secretary, but several notices describing Department-wide systems of records.

Within the notice format, the Department has made one deviation which may not have been required by the Act or the format guidelines developed by the Office of the Federal Register. It has been persuasively argued that the "routine uses" for records subject to the Act can be distinguished from the primary or main use which is made of the records. The basis of this distinction is subsection 552a(a)(7), which defines "routine use" to mean use of a record "for a purpose which is compatible with the purpose for which it was collected." This definition suggests that use of a record for the purpose for which it was collected is not a routine use and, hence, that only corollary uses are "routine uses." While the Department views this distinction as a correct interpretation of the Act, it has nevertheless not applied the distinction in developing the "Routine Uses" section of its system notices. Rather, in preparing the "Routine Uses" section of notices, the Department has in most cases, included both the principal uses for which records in a system are used as well as corollary uses. Ordinarily, the principal uses are listed first, corollary uses are listed second.

The reason for this decision was to avoid confusion among readers of the Department's notices. The meaning of "routine uses" for purposes of the Act is obviously different from the colloquial meaning of the term and persons not versed in the details of the Privacy Act might well be misled by listing only corollary uses as "routine uses."

The impact of this decision is that many uses of records not involving their transfer outside of the Department of the Interior are listed as "routine uses," when, in a strict sense, they are not really "routine uses." For purposes of applying subsections (b) and (c) of 5 U.S.C. § 552a, which relate to conditions of disclosure and accounting for disclosures, the Department nevertheless will treat internal disclosures to officers or employees having a need for records in the performance of their duties as disclosures permitted by subsection (b)(1), rather than as disclosures under subsection (b)(3), which permits disclosures for "routine uses."

In developing the "Location" item of system notices, the Department determined that listing all locations of decentralized systems in each notice would lead to undue repetition, since a number of systems share common locations. Accordingly, the "Location" item on some notices lists only the categories of offices maintaining records within the system and not the address of each individual office. Final publication of the notices in September will be accompanied by publication of an Appendix listing all of the facilities of the Department and the addresses of these facilities. Persons interested in a particular system will be able to determine the addresses of the facilities at which it is located by cross-referencing the Appendix.

One final matter must be mentioned. The Department is continuing to review and evaluate its record and it is anticipated that an additional group of notices will be published prior to September 27, the effective date of the Act. If time permits, these notices will be published in their entirety as proposed notices. If not, only the "Routine Uses" sections will be published in proposed form. Whichever approach is utilized, the "routine uses" sections of these notices will not be finalized for 30 days after their initial publication, as is required by 5 U.S.C. § 552a(e)(11).

Comments on the proposed notices may be submitted to the Assistant Solicitor, General Legal Services, Office of the Solicitor, U.S. Department of the Interior, 18th and C Streets, Washington, D.C. 20240. All comments received on or before September 17, 1975, will be considered. Copies of the comments may be inspected in Room 6525 at the above address.

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by 5 U.S.C. 301 and 552a and 43 U.S.C. 1460, the system of records notices set out below are, accordingly, proposed.
