SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background and Objective

Section 371 of the Public Health Service (PHS) Act authorizes a program of grants and special projects for the purpose of increasing the number of organ donors.

The principal purpose of this grant program is to increase the availability of donor organs in this country. In past years, the program has attempted to further this objective primarily through support of public and professional education projects. This year, the grant program will focus on increasing the number of organ donors from non-donor hospitals that have characteristics similar to donor hospitals. Research conducted by Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, under contract to HRSA's Division of Organ Transplantation, indicates that approximately 850 hospitals with organ donor capability did not have a solid organ donor from their hospital in any of the years 1991, 1992, or 1993. A hospital was considered to have donor capability if it had a staff neurologist, an anesthesiologist, an operating room, and an intensive care unit. These services were considered essential for the identification and determination of brain death, and the maintenance and procurement of organs. An additional criterion was bed capacity of 50 beds or more.

In 1992, 29,499 patients were on the transplant waiting list. That same year,
