COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

Chicago Board of Trade: Proposed Amendment Pertaining to the Automatic Adjustment Procedure for Locational Price Differentials Applicable to Deliveries on the Soybean Meal Futures Contract

AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Notice of proposed contract market rule changes.

SUMMARY: The Chicago Board of Trade ("CBOT") has submitted a proposed amendment to its Regulation 1241.01 regarding the minimum weekly average number of shipping certificates during a crop year that must be outstanding to activate the automatic adjustment procedure for the locational price differentials of the soybean meal futures contract. In accordance with Section 5a(a)(12) of the Commodity Exchange Act and acting pursuant to the authority delegated by Commission Regulation 140.96, the Acting Director of the Division of Economic Analysis ("Division") of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission ("Commission") has determined, on behalf of the Commission, that the proposed amendment is of major economic significance. On behalf of the Commission, the Division is requesting public comment on the proposal.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before May 1, 1995.

ADDRESSES: Interested persons should submit their views and comments to Jean A. Webb, Secretary, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20581. Reference should be made to the proposed amendment to CBOT soybean meal futures contract's locational price differentials.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Frederick V. Linse, Division of Economic Analysis, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20581, telephone (202) 254-7303.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The existing terms of the soybean meal futures contract provide for delivery of shipping certificates which call for delivery of soybean meal at specified CBOT-approved (regular) plants located in six different geographical delivery areas (delivery territories). The contract currently sets forth specific fixed locational price differentials applicable to futures deliveries in each non-par delivery territory.¹

The contract's existing terms also provide for annual adjustments to the above-noted locational price differentials based on a specified formula. Under the formula, the cumulative weekly average of outstanding soybean meal shipping certificates in a given territory relative to the total crushing capacity of all regular plants in that delivery territory for a given crop year is compared to the corresponding relationship for the five remaining delivery territories combined for the same crop year.² For any non-par delivery territory, a derived ratio less than or equal to .5 (greater than or equal to 2.0) will result in an increase (decrease) in the price differential for that territory by 50 cents per ton for the next calendar year. For the par delivery territory (see footnote 1), a ratio less than or equal to .5 (equal to or greater than 2.0) will result in a 50-cent-per-ton increase (decrease) in the price differential for all other delivery territories for the next calendar year. Under the contract's current terms, the above-described automatic adjustments may be made only if the weekly average

¹ Currently, the par delivery area is the Central Territory (consists of the states of Illinois and Kentucky). The contract's locational price differentials for the other five delivery territories are: Northeast Territory (composed of the states of Indiana and Ohio)—$3.00 per ton premium; Mid South Territory (consists of the states of Tennessee, Arkansas and specified northern parts of Mississippi and Alabama)—$5.00 per ton premium; Missouri Territory (composed of the state of Missouri)—$1.00 per ton discount; Eastern Iowa Territory (consists approximately of the southeastern part of the state of Iowa)—$5.00 per ton discount; and Northern Territory (contains that part of the state of Iowa not included in the Eastern Iowa Territory)—$6.00 per ton discount.

² Under the contract's rules, all crop years end on August 31. All adjustments to territorial differentials based on a particular crop year become effective with respect to all contract months expiring in the next calendar year.
