[Investigation No. TA-201-64]

Fresh Winter Tomatoes

AGENCY: United States International Trade Commission.

ACTION: Institution and scheduling of an investigation under section 202 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. § 2252) (the Act).

SUMMARY: Following receipt of a petition filed on March 29, 1995, on behalf of the Florida Tomato Exchange, Orlando, FL, and the constituent members thereof, (petitioner) the United States International Trade Commission instituted investigation No. TA-201-64 under section 202(b) of the Trade Act of 1974 to determine whether fresh winter tomatoes, provided for in subheadings 0702.00.20 and 0702.00.60 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States, are being imported into the United States in such increased quantities as to be a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article.¹

Further, the petitioner, having indicated that the subject tomatoes are perishable agricultural products that have been the subject of Commission monitoring under section 332(g) of the

¹ For purposes of this investigation, "fresh winter tomatoes" is defined as fresh or chilled tomatoes (including but not limited to the varieties known scientifically as Lycopersicon esculentum and Lycopersicon pyriforme), excluding cherry tomatoes (Lycopersicon cerasiforme), if entered during the period from January 1 through April 30, inclusive, in any year.

Tariff Act of 1930 for more than 90 days, has requested, pursuant to section 202(d) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 2252(d)), that provisional relief be provided through April 30, 1995. Accordingly, as provided for in section 202(d)(1)(C), the Commission will determine, on the basis of available information, whether increased imports (either actual or relative to domestic production) of the above-described tomatoes are a substantial cause of serious injury, or the threat thereof, to the domestic industry producing an article like or directly competitive with the imported article, and whether either (1) the serious injury is likely to be difficult to repair by reason of perishability of the like or directly competitive agricultural product, or (2) the serious injury cannot be timely prevented through investigation under section 202(b) and action under section 203. If the Commission makes an affirmative preliminary determination under section 202(d)(1)(C), section 202(d)(1)(E) requires that it find the amount or extent of provisional relief that is necessary to prevent or remedy the serious injury.

For further information concerning the conduct of this investigation, hearing procedures, and rules of general application, consult the Commission's Rules of Practice and Procedure, part 201, subparts A through E (19 CFR part 201), and part 206, subparts A and B (19 CFR part 206).
