INTERNATIONAL TRADE COMMISSION

[Investigation 332-359]

Chile: Probable Economic Effect on U.S. Imports, Industries, Consumers, and Exports of Accession to the North American Free Trade Agreement and Report on Services Trade

AGENCY: United States International Trade Commission.

ACTION: Institution of investigation and scheduling of public hearing.

EFFECTIVE DATE: April 6, 1995.

SUMMARY: Following receipt on March 8, 1995, of a request from the U.S. Trade Representative (USTR), the Commission instituted investigation No. 332-359, Chile: Probable Economic Effect on U.S. Imports, Industries, Consumers, and Exports of Accession to the North American Free Trade Agreement and Report on Services Trade, under section 332(g) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (19 U.S.C. 1332(g)) for the purpose of—

(a) Advising the President, with respect to each item in chapters 1 through 98 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTS), as to the probable economic effect of providing, under the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA), duty-free treatment for imports of products of Chile on industries in the United States producing like or directly competitive articles and on consumers;

(b) Advising the President, with respect to each product sector, of the probable economic effect on U.S. exports to Chile of the removal of Chilean import duties under the NAFTA; and

(c) Preparing a report on U.S. service transactions with Chile that would (1) provide an overview of the nature and extent of such transactions; (2) highlight key U.S. service industries that export services to Chile; (3) identify principal nontariff barriers that impede the participation of U.S. services providers in the Chilean market; and (4) assess the effects of such barriers on U.S. service providers.

As requested by the USTR, the advice will assume that U.S. nontariff measures that are incompatible with the NAFTA will not be applicable to such imports, and the Commission will note in its report any instance in which the continued application of a U.S. nontariff measure would result in different advice with respect to the effect of the removal of the duty.

Similarly at the request of the USTR, the advice with respect to the removal of Chilean duties on U.S. products will assume that any known Chilean nontariff measures incompatible with the rules of the NAFTA will not be applicable to U.S. products, and any instance where the continued application of such a Chilean nontariff measure would result in different advice will be noted by the Commission.

The Commission expects to submit its report by September 8, 1995.

Background

The request letter noted that at the conclusion of the Summit of the Americas meeting in Miami in December, President Clinton, the Prime Minister of Canada, and the Presidents of Mexico and Chile jointly announced their decision to begin the process by which Chile will accede to the NAFTA. The announcement also stated that the Ministers responsible for trade from the four countries would meet by May 31, 1995, and that accession negotiations would begin expeditiously thereafter. The USTR indicated in his request letter that the Commission's assistance is needed in the work of preparing for these negotiations.

The USTR requested that the Commission provide its advice with respect to the removal of U.S. tariffs as if this request had been made pursuant to section 131 of the Trade Act (the Trade Act). If trade agreement negotiating and legislative procedures
