

Colonial Pipeline. An authorized shipper on Colonial is allowed to break up a batch of 25,000 barrels, and allocate odd-lot batches to various consignees, who then specify a delivery point along the Colonial Pipeline. The beneficial owner, or consignee, can be changed on Colonial's records. Thus, an odd-lot delivery of gasoline can be shipped on the Colonial Pipeline, as long as the odd-lot seller finds a shipper in the cash market to add the seller's odd-lot batch to his existing shipment of at least 25,000 barrels on Colonial. The "consignee" relationship provides the mechanism to perform the odd-lot delivery directly into Colonial Pipeline * * *.

With respect to the Exchange proposal to change the delivery period so that all deliveries will occur in either the front-half or back-half of the third cycle of the Colonial Pipeline, the NYMEX stated that:

In the cash market, prices are negotiated for products delivered in each half-cycle increment on Colonial Pipeline, and prices typically vary between each half-cycle, depending on market conditions. Narrowing the delivery period to the third cycle of the month provides sufficient capacity on the Colonial Pipeline to accommodate NYMEX deliveries. In addition, narrowing the delivery period to the third cycle would provide greater certainty in terms of the timing for the pricing of the commodity. The most actively traded cash market instrument in the Gulf Coast is for delivery in the third cycle of Colonial Pipeline.

The Division requests comment on the proposed changes to the NYMEX gasoline futures contract. The Commission is specifically requesting comments on the effect of the proposed restrictions regarding deliveries involving less than 25 contracts. The Division also requests comment on the effect of the proposal to restrict deliveries to one Colonial Pipeline cycle per month on the economically deliverable supply of gasoline available for the contract.

Copies of the proposed amendments will be available for inspection at the Office of the Secretariat, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20581. Copies of the amended terms and conditions can be obtained through the Office of the Secretariat by mail at the above address or by telephone at (202) 254-6314.

The materials submitted by the Exchange in support of the proposed amendments may be available upon request pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and the Commission's regulations thereunder (17 CFR Part 145 (1987)). Requests for copies of such materials should be made to the FOI, Privacy and Sunshine Act Compliance Staff of the Office of the Secretariat at the Commission's headquarters in accordance with CFR 145.7 and 145.8.

Any person interested in submitting written data, views or arguments on the proposed amendment should send such comments to Jean A. Webb, Secretary, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, 2033 K Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20481 by the specified date.

Issued in Washington, D.C. on May 23, 1995.
