Title: 1996 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife-Associated Recreation

OMB Approved Number: New collection

Abstract: The Bureau of the Census is conducting the 1996 National Survey of Fishing, Hunting, and Wildlife Associated Recreation for the Fish and Wildlife Service. The Service has sponsored national surveys of fishing and hunting at 5-year intervals since 1965 at the request of the States through the International Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies. The 1996 national survey will be a comprehensive data base of fish and wildlife-related recreation activities and expenditures that are needed for identifying and developing management priorities at both national and state levels. This survey is the only comprehensive national data base of uses and users of fish and wildlife resources. It will provide national and state level statistics that are not available from other sources. The survey data are needed to help the Service effectively administer the fish and wildlife restoration grant programs, and to help the states develop project proposals and conservation programs. It provides essential information on present recreation demands and a basis for projecting future demands. Data are needed to identify trends in fish and wildlife-related recreation. This information is used in formulating policies and developing programs.

Title: Information Surveys for the National Biological Information Infrastructure.

Abstract: The National Biological Service is developing a National Biological Information Infrastructure (NBII) which will provide increased electronic (Internet) access to data and information on biological resources that are available from many different sources around the U.S. NBS works with public agencies and private organizations that wish to make the biological data and information they maintain more accessible through the NBII by helping them prepare, describe, and electronically serve their data and information. NBS wishes to collect information, through a set of three related surveys, to better identify prospective sources of biological data and information that could be made electronically accessible to the public through the NBII. Information will be collected through surveys in the following three areas: identifying and describing State-level biological data and information bases, identifying and describing sources of taxonomic expertise, and identifying and describing research systematics collections.

Bureau form number: none.

Frequency: Three related surveys will each be completed one time. Resulting information will be made electronically accessible via the National Biological Information Infrastructure.
