

also sought public comment on those guideline revisions and will continue to consider comments on this issue.

4. Future actions. EPA intends to apply its revised approach to the term "ready to eat" in all future tolerance actions. When any action is taken based on EPA's revised approach, EPA will seek public comment on designations for specific commodities prior to making any final determinations.

VII. Are EPA's Policies Rules That Have Not Been Properly Promulgated?

NFPA contends in its petition that EPA's coordination and concentration policies are not in compliance with the Administrative Procedure Act (APA) because they have not been promulgated as a binding regulation through notice and comment procedures. As to the concentration policy, EPA has in this notice announced a revised concentration policy that EPA believes is fully consistent with the requirements of the APA. This revised policy is not intended to be of controlling effect either on EPA or regulated parties. Rather, it is intended as guidance for EPA in administering its authority under FFDCA. For example, EPA has explained in some detail in its revised concentration policy what types of data it intends to place primary reliance upon in determining whether section 409 FARs are needed. However, EPA has noted its willingness to consider other information and arguments. Thus, because the revised concentration policy is not intended as a binding regulation, it need not be promulgated through notice and comment rulemaking.
