Analysis of Proposed Consent Order To Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission has accepted an agreement, subject to final approval, to a proposed consent order from respondent Good News Products, Inc. ("Good News Products").

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for sixty (60) days for reception of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After sixty (60) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and the comments received and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement and take other appropriate action or make final the agreement's proposed order.

This matter concerns claims made by Good News Products in its advertising and promotional materials for eggs.

The Commission's complaint alleges that Good News Products engaged in unfair or deceptive practices in connection with the advertising of its eggs. According to the complaint, Good News Product falsely represented that its eggs are significantly lower in both saturated fat and total fat than ordinary eggs.

The complaint also alleges that Good News Products falsely represented that it had a reasonable basis for claims that the omega-3 fatty acids in Good News Eggs will have a positive effect on risk factors for heart disease, such as atherosclerosis, high blood cholesterol levels and high blood pressure, and on rheumatoid arthritis, and that they may decrease blood cholesterol.

Finally, the complaint alleges that Good News Products falsely represented that it had a reasonable basis for its claim that, because Good News Eggs are lower in saturated fat than ordinary eggs, they will increase blood cholesterol levels less than ordinary eggs.

The proposed consent order contains provisions designed to remedy the violations charged and to prevent the respondent from engaging in similar acts and practices in the future. Part I of the proposed order prohibits Good News Products from misrepresenting the absolute or comparative amount of total fat, saturated fat or any other nutrient or ingredient in eggs or any food containing egg yolk.

Part II of the proposed order prohibits respondent from making any claims about the health benefits, including the absolute or comparative effect on heart disease or heart disease risk factors, of eggs or foods containing egg yolk unless, prior to making such claim, Good News Products has competent and reliable scientific evidence to substantiate the claims.

Part III of the proposed order specifically allows respondent to make any representation permitted in labeling by the Food and Drug Administration for food under the Nutrition Labeling and Education Act of 1990.

Part IV of the proposed order requires Good News Products to maintain copies of all materials relied upon in making any representations covered by the order.

Part V of the proposed order requires respondent to distribute copies of the order to its licensees and to various officers, agents and representatives.

Part VI of the proposed order requires Good News Products to terminate its licensing agreement with any licensee that it has reason to know is engaged in practices that respondent is prohibited from engaging in under parts I and II of the order.

Part VII of the proposed order requires respondent to notify the Commission of any changes in corporate structure that might affect compliance with the order.

Part VIII of the proposed order requires respondent to file with the Commission one or more reports detailing compliance with the order.

The purpose of this analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed consent order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the agreement and proposed order or to modify in any way their terms.

Secretary.
