

controlled conditions in sufficient quantity to conduct the side-by-side testing of products. Applicants are encouraged to discuss with CBER what data are necessary to compare products, as such data may range from analytical testing to full clinical trial(s).

7. Review timeframes and submission times

There may be cases where applicants wish to submit an ELA for a pilot facility prior to submitting a companion PLA. A statement that the facility is ready for inspection at the time of submission should be included. FDA ordinarily intends to inspect at the time the facility is manufacturing the product for which licensure is sought. It is possible that, in some cases, inspection of the establishment could take place before the submission of the PLA. It is also possible for the ELA to be submitted after the PLA as discussed above.

CBER intends to review PLA's and ELA's submitted at different times under the normal timeframe targets of the managed review process (from the date of receipt at CBER, 12 months for standard and 6 months for priority applications; 6 months for supplements). CBER intends to issue the appropriate action letter (approved, approvable, or not approvable) to complete its action on any application.

Applicants should be aware that submitting the ELA and PLA at separate times will not necessarily reduce the approval time when compared to concurrent submission. Early submission of applications may, however, allow earlier feedback from CBER on deficiencies in an application that can be addressed by the applicant sooner than would otherwise be possible. In all cases described above, CBER intends to approve PLA's, ELA's, or supplements concurrently.

In cases of shared manufacturing arrangements (see 57 FR 55544 at 55545), the PLA's for the intermediate product(s) and end product should be submitted concurrently in order for a complete review of the product to occur, since determining the approvability of the end product will depend upon information in the intermediate product PLA's. The ELA's may be submitted at different times from the PLA's.

Applicants should consider carefully the consequences of the timing of any submission on the use of CBER resources. It is expected that applicants will use the flexible submission times in cases of need. Applicants should recognize that the filing of submissions which are premature or incomplete will result in unnecessary resource commitments by CBER and the applicant. It is therefore recommended that applicants do not submit an ELA before favorable preliminary data or information from clinical trials of the product is available. For products intended for use in serious and life-threatening diseases, applicants should consider submitting the ELA and PLA concurrently to prevent a situation from occurring where otherwise approvable product cannot be approved because the facility is not yet ready to be licensed.

If a scenario exists that is not covered in this guidance document, the applicant should seek guidance by contacting the appropriate applications division in the Offices of Therapeutics Research and Review, Blood Research and Review, or Vaccines Research and Review, or the Division of Establishment Licensing.

8. Availability of product at the time of licensure

If an applicant requests licensure for a pilot facility, this choice may affect the amount of product available at the time of approval. For important new products for use in treating serious and life-threatening illnesses, the ramifications of limited availability of the product at the time of approval should be assessed by the applicant.
