Government Information Locator Service (GILS)

AGENCY: U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

ACTION: Public notice announcement of second focus group meeting.

SUMMARY: All Federal agencies and departments must create locators (i.e., electronic card catalogues) for their publicly-available information, and must make these locators available in a standard format. The collection of all the Federal agencies' and departments' locators is termed the Government Information Locator Service (GILS), which is more fully described in the Office of Management and Budget Bulletin 95-01, "Establishment of Government Information Locator Service."

The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) is convening several focus group meetings to confirm and expand our understanding of our customers' needs for a locator to EPA information. The purpose of the meetings is to engage EPA's constituencies in dialogue about their specific requirements for EPA's GILS, so that EPA can better tailor its GILS to fit customer needs.

This second public focus group is designed to include any likely users of EPA's GILS, and any interested parties, except for EPA staff (EPA staff will attend separate sessions). Diverse interest groups and varied perspectives are welcome.

Results of the focus group meetings will be combined with results from internal EPA meetings, and will be used to help set the near- and long-term agenda for development, enhancement, and sustainability of GILS at EPA.

The meeting will take place on Tuesday, July 18, 1995, from 9:00 am to noon at Hall of the States, 444 North Capitol Street NW., Washington, DC. The meeting will be held in Room 333 and there is no cost to participate.

Notice of Intent to Form Dialogue Group on Identification of Lead-Based Paint Hazards

AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: EPA is planning to establish a Dialogue Group on the forthcoming rulemaking under section 403 of the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA). Section 403 directs the Agency to “. . . promulgate regulations which shall identify. . . lead-based paint hazards, lead contaminated dust and lead contaminated soil.” The purpose of the Dialogue Group is to provide a forum where interested parties can contribute information and give individual perspectives on specific policy questions related to this forthcoming rulemaking. Agency staff may also ask participants to give their individual reactions to specific proposals and questions.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: For information on substantive matters, contact: Jonathan Jacobson, Chemical Management Division (7404), Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M St., SW., Washington, DC 20460, Telephone: 202-260-3779, e-mail: jacobson.jonathan@epamail.epa.gov. For information on administrative matters, contact: Andrea Yang, Chemical Management Division (7404), Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M St., SW., Washington, DC 20460, Telephone: 202-260-4918, e-mail: yang.andrea@epa.mail.epa.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Section 403 of TSCA, 15 U.S.C. 2683, directs EPA to promulgate regulations that identify lead hazards in paint, household dust, and bare residential soil. Title IV of TSCA, titled “Lead Exposure Reduction,” which includes section 403, was added to TSCA by the Residential Lead-Based Paint Hazard Reduction Act of 1992. This latter Act is Title X of the “Housing and Community Development Act of 1992.” On occasion, therefore, TSCA section 403 may be referred to as a section of

Establishing the technical basis for this rulemaking has presented a significant challenge to the Agency, particularly in the area of assessing the impacts of defining various levels of lead in dust and soil as “hazardous.” While the Agency continued to work on these and related questions, the Agency issued interim guidance on July 14, 1994, to meet an immediate and growing need among Federal, state, and local officials, property owners, and other decision makers for advice on potential hazards from lead-based paint and lead-contaminated dust and soil.

EPA is beginning an examination of a broad range of policy and regulatory issues to help it develop the section 403 rule. Because the forthcoming regulation will have broad and significant impacts, the Agency believes it would be beneficial to involve interested parties in this stage of the regulatory development process. EPA, therefore, has decided to establish a dialogue process to obtain input from knowledgeable individuals who represent groups that would be affected by forthcoming regulation (e.g., lead-poisoning prevention advocates, housing providers, banking and insurance industries, the lead industry, and state and local governments). To ensure that EPA assembles a representative range of knowledgeable experts and that meetings are productive, the Agency is engaging professional contract support to facilitate the meetings.

The Dialogue Group will examine the following issues: standards for paint, dust, and soil; property owners response to standards; and implementation issues. Although there will be some discussion of the scientific and technical approach for standard setting, EPA would like the group to focus on policy questions (e.g. establishing a de minimis area of deteriorated lead-based paint).

The Agency will implement the convening process during July and August 1995 and expects that the first meeting of the group will take place during September or October 1995. EPA is currently planning to hold four monthly meetings, completing the dialogue in early 1996. All meetings will be held in Washington, DC and will be open to the public.

Dated: July 10, 1995.

William H. Sanders III,

Director, Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics.
