Revision of Commercial Use License Program to Incidental Business Permit Program

AGENCY: National Park Service, Interior.
ACTION: Notice and public comment on change from Commercial Use License Program to Incidental Business Permit Program.

SUMMARY: The National Park Service has revised and updated the Commercial Use License Program that permits certain business operators to utilize National Park Service land. This program has been renamed "Incidental Business Permit Program" and is incorporated under the Special Use Permitting system. These operators are not concessioners and are not under the purview of Pub. L. 89-249. The new procedures will rescind Chapter 13 of NPS-48 ("The Concessions Guideline") and corresponding sections of NPS-53 ("Special Park Uses Guideline") effective as of the date of this publication.

The Commercial Use License Program in effect since 1981 has been used to license certain business operators utilizing areas of the National Park System. Established criteria insured that these operators did not fall under the purview of Pub. L. 89-249 and did not enjoy the privileges granted to concessioners authorized to operate on park land.

The National Park Service established a workgroup to study and evaluate the Commercial Use License program in the national parks. As a result of the findings of that workgroup, it was determined that following revisions were necessary to insure consistency in the program.

1. Incidental Business operations will be evaluated by specific criteria, and authorized under the proper authorizing document.

2. Incidental Business operators will be required as a condition of the permit to provide visitor and revenue information to the parks.

3. Provisions of the permit will insure better resource and visitor protection.

4. Parks will be permitted to utilize cost recovery procedures in monitoring and administering the program.

5. The program will be evaluated annually by a peer board of critique to provide consistency in the program and insure that the program remains functional.

The procedures will function as an internal staff manual and notice of this revision is not required to be published in the Federal Register nor is public comment on it required to be sought. However, to assure that the view of all
