standards for underground coal mines and would have allowed the use of high-voltage longwall equipment in production areas; however, it did not specifically focus on the safety issues related to the use of high-voltage longwall equipment. The Agency published a new proposed rule on August 27, 1992 (57 FR 39036) relating specifically to the use of high-voltage longwall equipment in underground coal mines. This proposed rule would eliminate the need for operators to submit petitions for modification when they wish to use high-voltage longwall equipment. The comment period closed on November 13, 1992. Because it has been some time since the record closed, MSHA is reopening the record for comments.
