Regulatory Review

AGENCY: Office of Thrift Supervision, Treasury.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS or Office) is today issuing a final rule eliminating duplicative, unduly burdensome, and unnecessary regulations. These amendments result from a review of OTS regulations pursuant to section 303(a) of the Community Development and Regulatory Improvement Act of 1994 (CDRIA) and the Regulatory Reinvention Initiative of the Vice President's National Performance Review.

EFFECTIVE DATE: December 27, 1995.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Francis E. Raue, Policy Analyst, Supervision Policy, (202) 906-5750; or Valerie J. Lithotomos, Counsel (Banking and Finance), Regulations and Legislation Division, Chief Counsel's Office, (202) 906-6439, Office of Thrift Supervision, 1700 G Street NW., Washington, D.C. 20552.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The OTS conducted a comprehensive review of its regulations in the spring of 1995 pursuant to section 303 of CDRIA and the Administration's Reinvention Initiative. Staff in both the Washington and Regional Offices reviewed the regulations and policy statements contained in Chapter V of Title 12 of the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) to: "streamline and modify those regulations and policies in order to improve efficiency, reduce unnecessary costs, * * * eliminate unwarranted constraints on credit availability [and] remove inconsistencies and outmoded and duplicative requirements."¹ The OTS sought industry input through town meetings and industry roundtable meetings held by the Acting Director and Regional Directors.

As a result of this effort, the OTS identified a number of ways in which its regulations could be improved and, on August 28, 1995, issued a notice of proposed rulemaking.² The preamble to the proposed rulemaking described a multi-step process that the agency intends to follow to implement the results of its regulatory review.

The first step in that process is to eliminate regulations that are clearly outdated, duplicative, or otherwise unnecessary. Today's final rule draws this first step to a close.

The second step is to conduct focused, intensive reviews of key areas of OTS's regulations in an effort to find additional ways to streamline and reduce burden. This effort is already underway. Over the next several months, OTS expects to issue proposals that will reduce the burden imposed by its regulations governing lending, subsidiaries, corporate governance, and preemption.

A third step in the review process is to determine whether the OTS's regulations should be reorganized to make them more user-friendly. In the August 28 preamble, the agency posed five questions regarding the overall structure and content of its regulations.³ The OTS appreciates the comments received in response to these questions and will take them into consideration in future rulemakings that specifically address the organizational issues raised by the comments.

II. Summary of Comments

The August 28, 1995, notice of proposed rulemaking targeted approximately eight percent of OTS's regulations for immediate repeal. The public comment period on the August 28 proposal closed on October 27, 1995. Two federal savings banks, one savings and loan holding company, and one national trade association submitted comments. In addition to its comment letter, the national trade association, America's Community Bankers (ACB), included the results of a survey which ACB sent to a number of OTS-supervised institutions.⁴

Generally all of the commenters supported the OTS initiative to streamline and eliminate unnecessary and burdensome rules in the proposal. They indicated that the deletions and modifications, with a few exceptions, would be helpful.

However, one commenter recommended that paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 545.15 not be deleted. Paragraph (a) provides generally that a Federal savings association shall require at least seven days advance notice of withdrawals from savings accounts that do not have fixed or minimum terms of at least seven days. The commenter asked that this paragraph be retained because it believes that the elimination of the seven-day withdrawal notice on savings accounts may conflict with ³The specific questions in the preamble were:

1. Should OTS consolidate common definitions of general applicability now in parts 541, 561, 563, and 583 in a new part 501?
2. Should OTS consolidate the remaining safety and soundness regulations in part 545 into part 563?
3. Should OTS delete regulations that only repeat statutory authority or list an implied power?
4. Should policy statements in parts 556 and 571 be deleted and either recast as regulations or placed as guidance in the appropriate regulatory handbook?
5. What is the best method of communicating different types of information, guidance, policies, restrictions, and requirements?

⁴ACB is a trade association representing 2,000 savings associations and community financial institutions and related business firms. ACB's survey was sent to 94 OTS-supervised institutions; 43 institutions completed the survey. As reported by ACB, 86 percent of the respondents deem simplification of OTS rules to be worth the time and attention of the OTS and the industry.

²See 60 FR 44442 (August 28, 1995).

section 5(b)(1)(C) of the Home Owners' Loan Act (HOLA).⁵ We disagree. Section 5(b)(1)(C) of the HOLA provides that a "Federal savings association may require not less than 14 days notice * * * if the charter of the savings association or the regulations of the Director so provide." By its terms, this statutory provision applies only to withdrawal notice requirements that equal or exceed 14 days. The provision does not affect the ability of savings associations to impose notice requirements of shorter duration.

Moreover, the seven-day notice requirement that currently appears in OTS's regulations is unrelated to, and does not implement, section 5(b)(1)(C) of the HOLA. Section 545.15(a) was meant to mirror the requirements under the Federal Reserve Board's Regulation D for savings accounts.⁶ Regulation D defines a savings deposit for reserve purposes as a deposit or account where a depository institution may require at least seven days advance notice of withdrawal.⁷ The OTS is removing section 545.15(a) because it is duplicative of Regulation D. Savings associations will, of course, still be required to comply with Regulation D.

Because section 545.15(a) does not implement HOLA section 5(b)(1)(C), its removal will not adversely affect the ability of savings associations to impose notice requirements of 14 days or more. Associations that wish to do so may continue, as under current law, to include an authorizing provision in their charters and appropriate terms in their savings account contracts.

The same commenter requested that OTS retain paragraph (c) of section 545.15. That paragraph states that, when computing earnings due on deposit accounts at the end of a business period, a Federal savings association may elect to disregard amounts withdrawn from accounts in the last three days of any business period—thereby effectively paying depositors slightly more interest than they might be entitled to under the terms of their deposit contracts. The commenter stated that the three-day grace period should be retained because it may have operational significance for small institutions without adequate technology to make computations on all of their accounts on one day at the end of the period. Removal of paragraph (c) will not adversely affect the flexibility of savings associations in computing interest on their deposit accounts. Institutions that wish to compute interest without reference to withdrawals made during the last three days of a business period may continue to do so. A regulation is not needed to authorize this practice.

The same commenter asked that section 556.15 be retained because it delineates the specific services that may and may not be performed at drive-in and pedestrian facilities. Under § 545.92(g), Federal savings associations are authorized to establish such facilities without prior OTS approval, subject to certain restrictions. The services provided at such facilities are limited to those "ordinary functions" provided at teller windows at branch offices. Section 556.15 defines what constitutes services "ordinarily" provided at teller windows. This definition is outdated and unduly restrictive. Elimination of § 556.15 will allow more flexibility in defining the scope of services that can be offered from drive-in and pedestrian facilities.

One commenter stated that it would prefer that § 545.31(a) (Election regarding classification of loans or investments) not be removed unless it would be included in its entirety in the regulatory handbook. The OTS notes that the proposal did not suggest the deletion of that section and that it is not anticipated that OTS's regulatory review of its lending regulations will propose deleting that section.

One commenter requested that the OTS review the documentation and recordkeeping requirements in §§ 563.41 (Loans and other transactions with affiliates and subsidiaries) and 563.42 (Additional standards applicable to transactions with affiliates and subsidiaries) because they are too cumbersome. The commenter also requested that certain clarifications be made to these regulations. On the same subject, another commenter requested that the term "affiliated person" in the OTS's regulations be replaced by the term "insider" as defined in the regulations of the other Federal banking agencies. The OTS will address these comments in a subsequent notice of proposed rulemaking, during the phase of regulatory review dealing with OTS's regulations on subsidiaries and related entities.

Finally, one commenter suggested that the OTS consider reviewing its manufactured home financing regulation at section 545.45 so that savings associations may more fairly compete with other lenders in the market. The OTS will address this comment in the phase of regulatory review addressing the OTS's lending regulations.

III. Description of Final Rule

¹ OTS's current organizational structure will be reflected in a notice to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER at a later date.

The preamble to the August 28 proposal contains a full section-by-section discussion of the reasons why these sections are being amended or removed. Today's final rule also adopts the proposed modifications to cross-references in other OTS regulations to conform to the changes being made today.

IV. Administrative Procedure Act

Section 553(d)⁸ of the APA permits the waiver of its 30-day delayed effective date requirement for good cause, or where a rule relieves a restriction. Also, Section 302 of the CDRIA⁹ requires that a federal banking agency regulation that imposes new requirements take effect on the first day of the quarter following publication of the final rule. That section provides, however, that an agency may determine that the rule should take effect earlier upon a finding of good cause.

The OTS believes that the final rule will relieve regulatory burden by eliminating obsolete, redundant and unnecessary requirements. The final rule eliminates inefficient and unduly costly regulatory requirements and better focuses thrifts on the substantive and relevant requirements. For these reasons, the OTS believes there is good cause pursuant to both the APA and CDRIA section 302 provisions to make the final rule effective immediately upon publication in the Federal Register.

V. Executive Order 12866

The Director of the OTS has determined that this final rule does not constitute a "significant regulatory action" for the purposes of Executive Order 12866.

VI. Regulatory Flexibility Act Analysis

Pursuant to section 605(b) of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, the OTS certifies that this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The final rule does not impose any additional burdens or requirements upon small entities and lowers several paperwork and other burdens on all savings associations.

VII. Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995

The OTS has determined that the requirements of this final rule will not result in expenditures by State, local, and tribal governments, or by the private sector, of more than $100 million in any one year. Accordingly, a budgetary impact statement is not required under section 202 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act of 1995.

ACTION: Final rule; request for comments.

SUMMARY: This amendment supersedes an existing airworthiness directive (AD), applicable to all Lockheed Model L-1011-385 series airplanes, that currently requires visual inspections to detect cracking of the fittings that attach the aft pressure bulkhead to the fuselage stringers. That AD also currently requires replacement of cracked fittings, and repair of adjacent structure if found to be cracked. This amendment requires new repetitive inspections to detect cracking of the fittings and of the splice tab of the aft pressure bulkhead, and corrective actions, if necessary. This amendment is prompted by the results of the visual inspections performed in accordance with the existing AD, which indicate that the visual inspection is inadequate to detect fatigue cracking. The actions specified in this AD are intended to prevent fatigue cracking of the aft pressure bulkhead, which could lead to failure of the end fittings and splice tabs, and subsequent rapid decompression of the airplane during flight.

DATES: Effective January 11, 1996.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On September 6, 1995, the FAA issued AD 95-18-52, amendment 39-9366 (60 FR 47465, September 13, 1995), which is applicable to all Lockheed Model L-1011-385 series airplanes. That AD requires repetitive detailed visual inspections to detect cracking of the fittings that attach the aft pressure bulkhead to the fuselage stringers at stringers 1 through 10 and at stringers 64 through 56, and various follow-on actions. That action was prompted by reports of cracks found in these fittings. The actions required by that AD are intended to prevent fatigue cracking that can lead to failure of the fittings that attach the aft pressure bulkhead to the fuselage stringer, and subsequent rapid decompression of the airplane during flight.

The FAA has reviewed the findings from the visual inspections performed in accordance with AD 95-18-52, and from eddy current inspections performed voluntarily by an operator. The eddy current inspections revealed findings of cracks in the end fittings; these same fittings had been inspected previously using the visual inspection technique required by the existing AD and this cracking was identified. In light of these findings, the FAA has determined that the currently required visual inspections are inadequate to detect all fatigue cracking. Such fatigue cracking, if not detected and corrected in a timely manner, could lead to failure of the fittings and splice tabs of the aft pressure bulkhead, and subsequently
