Simonds Industries, Incorporated; Newcomerstown, OH; Notice of Revised Determination on Reconsideration

The Department, on its own motion, has reconsidered its negative determination in Former Employees of United States Steel Workers of America, Locals 2391 & 3225 v. Robert Reich, No. 94±02±00125, U.S. Court of International Trade. As a result of this reconsideration, the Department is now certifying the workers of Simonds Industries, Incorporated ("Simonds"), in Newcomerstown, Ohio, as eligible to apply for trade adjustment assistance under Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974.

The Department's December 3, 1993, negative determination for workers of the subject firm was issued on the basis that the survey of Simonds customers showed increased imports by respondents with reduced purchases from the subject firm were not important in relation to the sales decline during the periods under investigation. New investigation findings, however, show that Simonds' major declining customers in 1991 to 1992, and in the January±June 1992±1993 time periods increased their reliance on imports of industrial files. The declining customers' purchases of imported industrial files as a percent of the Simonds' sales decline was negligible from 1991 to 1992, but increased significantly in January±June 1993 compared to January±June 1992.

Other new findings in the investigation show that while the value of aggregate U.S. imports of files and rasps, including rotary type declined in 1992 compared to 1991 and in the twelve-month period ending June 1993 compared to the same time period in 1992, the quantity of imports increased.

Conclusion

After careful review of the additional facts obtained on reconsideration, it is concluded that increased imports of articles like or directly competitive with industrial files produced at Simonds Industries, Incorporated, Newcomerstown, Ohio contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers at subject firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Trade Act of 1974, I make the following revised determination:

"All workers of Simonds Industries, Incorporated, Newcomerstown, Ohio who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after September 8, 1992 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974."

Signed at Washington, DC, this 15th day of December 1995.
