

thousand dollars more than the actual cost of repairs; that if the car was lost or stolen, Budget might seek reimbursement for an amount greater than the vehicle's fair market value; that the renter's own insurance company would likely not cover the added charge or above market value premium; and that the renter would have to pay the excess charge.

The complaint also alleges that Budget deceived consumers when it tried to collect for loss of turnback by misrepresenting that its rental contracts entitled it to make that collection.

The consent order contains provisions designed to remedy the violations charged and to prevent Budget from engaging in similar deceptive and unfair acts and practices in the future.

Part I of the order requires that Budget make clear disclosures to potential renters about liability for damage or loss in excess of the actual cost of repairs or fair market value. The disclosures must appear in promotional materials, on signs in Budget rental locations, and in any communications seeking these excess charges. The disclosure requirements only apply to Budget locations where Budget seeks these excess charges.

Part II of the order prohibits misrepresentations about the obligation of a renter to make any payment as a result of the loss of or damage to a rental vehicle or about its value after damage or loss.

Part III of the order makes clear that the order does not preempt any more restrictive provision of state or local law regarding collecting excess charges.

Part IV of the order requires Budget to pay $75,000 in consumer redress.

Part of the order requires Budget to distribute copies of the order to relevant officers and employees, and Part VI imposes various record keeping requirements.

Part VII of the order requires Budget to notify the Commission of any changes in corporate structure that might affect compliance with the order. Part VIII requires that Budget file with the Commission a compliance report detailing the manner in which it complied with the order.

Part IX of the order terminates the order twenty years from the date of its issuance, or twenty years from the date a complaint is filed in federal court alleging any violation of the order, whichever comes later.

The purpose of this analysis is to facilitate public comment on the proposed order. It is not intended to constitute an official interpretation of the agreement and proposed order, or to modify any of their terms.

Donald S. Clark,
Secretary.
