

remaining parts (fuel injectors, camshafts, blower and turbocharger) could be purchased or supplied separately as long as such parts were Engelhard specified OEM components or their equivalent.

Under supply option 2, Engelhard would supply all components in the kit as described in the notification of intent to certify.

Under supply option 3, Engelhard would supply the coated engine components, the catalytic converter muffler, and the new engine components (cylinder kits, blower bypass valve, air inlet hose, and gaskets). The remanufactured components (fuel injectors, camshafts, blower assembly and turbocharger) would be required to be remanufactured by Engelhard Certified Remanufacturers. Such "certified remanufacturers" would consist of transits or other third parties designated by Engelhard as capable of remanufacturing these components within the tolerances prescribed by Engelhard with proper quality control. Engelhard proposed to provide training to those interested in becoming a certified Engelhard remanufacturer.

EPA expects to evaluate each of these supply options and their impact on life cycle costs. Also, EPA will evaluate whether any of these options will compromise the ability of the Engelhard kit to achieve 0.1 g/bhp-hr PM standard in the field.

If EPA approves the request for certification of this equipment, urban bus operators who choose to comply with compliance Option 1 of this regulation will be required to use this equipment or other equipment certified to the 0.1 g/bhp-hr standard beginning six months after certification approval, when applicable engines are rebuilt or replaced.

If EPA approves Engelhard's certification request, urban bus operators who chose to comply under compliance Option 2 of this regulation may also use the Engelhard equipment. If certification is approved by EPA, the emission levels of the Engelhard rebuild kit will be used to modify the Option 2 post-rebuild levels in July 1996.

The date of this notice initiates a 45 day period during which EPA will accept written comments relevant to whether or not the equipment described in this application should be certified. Interested parties are encouraged to review this application, and provide comments related to whether or not the equipment described in it should be certified pursuant to the urban bus retrofit/rebuild program. Comments should be provided in writing to the address listed under the Addresses section of this notice.

The Agency will review this notification of intent to certify, along with comments received from the interested parties, and attempt to resolve or clarify issues as necessary. During the review process, EPA may add additional documents to the docket as a result of the review process. These documents will also be available for public review and comment within the 45 day period.
