RIN 1515-AB91

Prohibited/Restricted Merchandise; Enforcement of Foreign Assets Control Regulations

AGENCY: Customs Service, Treasury.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This document amends the Customs Regulations to more clearly provide that Customs enforces the laws and regulations of the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) of the Department of the Treasury regarding economic sanctions applicable to those countries that have been designated by the President as constituting a threat to the national security, foreign policy, or economy of the United States. Currently, the Customs Regulations refer to OFAC regulations only in the context of merchandise arriving by mail. This document clarifies that Customs enforces the laws and regulations administered by OFAC regardless of how subject merchandise, services, and technology arrive in or depart from the U.S.

EFFECTIVE DATE: May 17, 1996.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Background

As part of Customs continuing effort to ensure that its regulations are informative and up-to-date, Customs has determined that its regulations do not clearly set forth the fact that Customs enforces the laws and regulations administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) of the Department of the Treasury (31 CFR Chapter V). These laws include the Trading With the Enemy Act (50 U.S.C. App. 1-44), the National Emergencies Act (50 U.S.C. 1641 et seq.), the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1701-1706), and the International Security and Development Cooperation Act (22 U.S.C. 2349aa8-9); the regulations are found at Chapter V of Title 31 of the Code of Federal Regulations (Money and Finance) (31 CFR Chapter V). These laws and regulations impose prohibitions or restrictions on importations, exportations, and other transactions involving funds, merchandise, services, and technology with and of those countries that have been designated by the President, pursuant to applicable statutory provisions. Currently, the Customs Regulations refer to OFAC regulations only in part 145 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR Part 145), the provisions of which apply only to merchandise arriving by mail. This document clarifies that Customs enforces the laws and regulations administered by OFAC regardless of how the subject merchandise, services, and technology arrive in or depart from the U.S. by amending three sections in as many parts to provide further notice to the public of Customs enforcement obligations concerning the application of economic sanctions to designated countries.

In reviewing § 145.56 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 145.56), which concerns the applicability of OFAC controls on merchandise arriving by mail, Customs has determined that the listing of countries subject to controls administered by OFAC is not up-to-date. (The list of countries in the section has not been updated since the section was promulgated in 1973 and is outdated and inconsistent with OFAC regulations: two of the four countries currently listed are no longer subject to OFAC's controls (North Vietnam (now Vietnam) and Rhodesia (now Zimbabwe)) and other countries that have since been designated by the President as subject to sanctions have not been added to the list). Each time the President sanctions and lifts sanctions on designated countries, OFAC amends its regulations accordingly. Repeating the list of sanctioned countries in the Customs Regulations merely duplicates the efforts of OFAC and, if not done timely, could result in future inconsistencies between OFAC and Customs Regulations. Accordingly, Customs has determined that to avoid the possibility of future inconsistencies between OFAC and Customs Regulations in the listing of sanctioned countries, Customs will no longer set forth such a list in its regulations, but will simply refer readers to the OFAC regulations. Thus, in amending § 145.56, this document retains the procedural provisions, but removes the listing of countries subject to economic sanctions.

This document also clarifies the extent of Customs responsibility in enforcing OFAC controls by adding sections regarding OFAC controls in both Part 12, which concerns regulations of various Federal agencies which Customs enforces and special classes of merchandise, and in Part 161, which concerns general enforcement provisions. A new § 12.150 is added to Part 12, which cross-references OFAC regulations at 31 CFR Chapter V, explains how OFAC regulations work, and provides an address for further information from OFAC. Also, a specific authority citation is added to account for Customs import (19 U.S.C. 1595a(c)) and export (22 U.S.C. 401) seizure authority and to account for the terms and conditions for release (19 U.S.C. 1618). Section 161.2 is amended to list OFAC as an agency whose laws are enforced by Customs. Also, the parenthetical legal authority citations at the end of § 161.2 are amended to account for changes in the law since 1972, when the citations were first provided, and are placed under the general authority citation at the beginning of Part 161.

Inapplicability of Public Notice and Comment Requirements, Delayed Effective Date Requirements, the Regulatory Flexibility Act, and Executive Order 12866

Because this amendment merely provides further notice to the public that Customs enforces the laws and regulations administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control of the Department of the Treasury, pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553(b)(B), good cause exists for dispensing with notice and public procedure thereon as unnecessary. For the same reasons, good cause exists for dispensing with a delayed effective date under 5 U.S.C. 553(d)(1) and (d)(3). Since this document is not subject to the notice and public procedure requirements of 5 U.S.C. 553, it is not subject to provisions of the Regulatory Flexibility Act (5 U.S.C. 601 et seq.). This document does not meet the criteria for a "significant regulatory action" as specified in E.O. 12866.
