[Release No. 34-37411; File No. SR-PTC-96-01]

Self-Regulatory Organizations; Participants Trust Company; Order Approving a Proposed Rule Change Eliminating the Deduction of Reserve on Gain in the Calculation of Net Free Equity for Proprietary and Agency Accounts of a Receiving Participant in Certain Transactions

July 8, 1996.

On February 5, 1996, the Participants Trust Company ("PTC") filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("Commission") a proposed rule change

(File No. SR-PTC-96-01) pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 ("Act").¹ Notice of the proposal was published in the Federal Register on May 28, 1996.² No comment letters were received. For the reasons discussed below, the Commission is approving the proposed rule change.

I. Description

The rule change amends Article I, Rule 1 of PTC's rules to eliminate the deduction of reserve on gain ("ROG")³ in the calculation of net free equity ("NFE")⁴ for proprietary and agency accounts of a receiving participant in certain transactions. PTC will retain the deduction of ROG as it applies to the calculation of NFE for proprietary and agency accounts of a delivering participant.

NFE measures the value associated with the account of a participant that is available to support transaction processing to or from the participant's account. Under Article II, Rule 9, Section 2 and Article II, Rule 13, PTC will not process an account transfer of securities if as a result of such transfer the account of the delivering participant or receiving participant will have negative NFE.

In any account transfer versus payment from a proprietary or agency account in which the contract value of the securities exceeds the market value, the deliverer's ROG is the difference in those values. The deliverer's ROG is deducted in calculating the NFE of the account of the delivering participant to prevent the gain on the transaction from increasing the delivering participant's NFE (i.e., the amount available to the participant to support other activity in its account). The deduction of the deliverer's ROG creates an NFE

"reserve" to ensure that if necessary sufficient funds exist in the delivering participant's account to permit the debit of the contract value from the cash balance in the account in the event the transaction is reversed (i.e., "DK'ed") by the receiving participant because of error or other circumstances permitted under the guidelines for good delivery. The ROG deduction also prevents a delivering participant, which inputs the terms of the trade on PTC's system, from abusing the system by creating additional NFE through the delivery versus payment of securities at an artificially inflated value.

The receiver's ROG is the difference in value that results when the market value of securities received into a proprietary or agency account versus payment exceeds the contract value of the securities. (I.e., on the receive-side of a transaction, the amount of the potential NFE gain is the excess of market value of the securities over contract value). The rationale for deducting the receiver's ROG is different from that for deducting the deliverer's ROG. Unlike deliver-side ROG, receive-side ROG is not needed to ensure a receiving participant's ability to reverse a securities transaction because the receiving participant initiates the reversal and controls the availability of NFE in its account.

The deduction of ROG in the NFE calculation for an account of a receiving participant was incorporated into PTC's rules in 1989 pursuant to the order granting PTC's registration as a clearing agency. The rule's purpose was to assure sufficient NFE in an account to enable PTC to reverse securities deliveries to achieve settlement in the event of participant default.⁵ The provisions of PTC's rules providing the ability to reverse transactions has been deleted.⁶ Accordingly, deduction of ² Securities Exchange Act Release No. 37227 (May 20, 1996), 61 FR 26552.

⁴ Article II, Rule 9 of PTC's rules provides that NFE for any agency or proprietary account is the sum of (i) the applicable percentage, as defined in Article I, Rule 1 of PTC's rules, of the market value of securities in the account and the associated transfer account, (ii) the cash balance in the account, and (iii) the participant's supplemental processing collateral, as calculated pursuant to the formula set forth in Article I, Rule 1 of PTC's rules, to the extent not required to collateralize an account transfer in any other account, minus the amount, if any, of ROG with respect to the account.

⁶ For a more complete discussion of PTC's reasons for removing the reversal capability, refer to Securities Exchange Act Release No. 34701 (September 22, 1994), 59 FR 49730 [File No. SR-PTC-94-03] (order approving proposed rule change eliminating PTC procedures relating to deliverer's

ROG from the NFE on the receive-side is no longer required.

II. Discussion

Section 17A(b)(3)(F)⁷ of the act requires that the rules of a clearing agency be designed to assure the safeguarding of securities and funds which are in the custody or control of the clearing agency or for which it is responsible. The Commission believes that PTC's proposed rule change is consistent with PTC's obligation under the Section 17A of the Act. Elimination of the NFE deduction for receive-side ROG is consistent with the prior repeal of PTC's authority to reverse transactions. Because PTC no longer can reverse transactions and because the receive-side participant initiates any reversal due to erroneous delivery or other permitted circumstances and thus controls the availability of NFE in its account, the ROG deduction is no longer necessary. As a result, participants with receive-side ROG should benefit from the increased liquidity resulting from the release of NFE previously encumbered by PTC should not incur any additional risks by such release. Moreover, by maintaining the NFE ROG deduction for deliver-side participants, PTC should be able to continue to protect itself from the risks associated with permitted reversals initiated by receive-side participants by ensuring that sufficient NFE exists in delivering participants' accounts. The exclusion of deliver-side ROG from NFE also should continue to dissuade deliver-side participant from taking actions to artificially inflate their NFE.

III. Conclusion

On the basis of the foregoing, the Commission finds that the proposal is consistent with the requirements of the Act and in particular with the requirements of Section 17A of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Act, that the proposed rule change (File No. SR-PTC-96-01) be and hereby is approved.
