BILLING CODE 4163-18-P

Food and Drug Administration

[Docket No. 95F-0255]

GE Silicones; Filing of Food Additive Petition; Amendment

AGENCY: Food and Drug Administration, HHS.

ACTION: Notice.

SUMMARY: The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is amending the filing notice for a food additive petition filed by GE Silicones to indicate that the petitioner also proposed that the food additive regulations be amended to provide for the safe use of diallyl maleate as an optional polymerization inhibitor and dimethyl(methyl hydrogen) polysiloxane as a cross-linking agent for vinyl-containing siloxanes used in coatings on paper and paperboard that contact food. The agency is also clarifying that the petitioner proposed to expand the safe use of vinyl-containing siloxanes in coatings that contact additional food types and under additional conditions of use. The previous filing notice stated that the petition proposed that the food additive regulations be amended to list 1-ethynyl-1-cyclohexanol as an optional inhibitor for vinyl-containing siloxanes and to increase to 200 parts per million (ppm) the level of platinum used in the manufacture of the additive.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Hortense S. Macon, Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition (HFS-216), Food and Drug Administration, 200 C St. SW., Washington, DC 20204, 202-418-3086.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: In a notice published in the Federal Register of September 25, 1995 (60 FR 49414), FDA announced that a food additive petition

(FAP 5B4475) had been filed by GE Silicones, c/o 700 13th St. NW., Washington, DC 20005, proposing to amend the food additive regulations in § 176.170 Components of paper and paperboard in contact with aqueous and fatty foods (21 CFR 176.170) to provide for the safe use of vinyl-containing siloxanes as a component of coatings for paper and paperboard in contact with food, to provide for the safe use of 1-ethynyl-1-cyclohexanol as an optional inhibitor (more accurately termed a polymerization inhibitor) for the additive, and to increase the level of platinum catalyst used in the manufacture of the additive to 200 ppm.

Upon further review of the petition, the agency notes that the petitioner also requested the use of diallyl maleate as an optional polymerization inhibitor and dimethyl(methyl hydrogen) polysiloxane as a cross-linking agent in the manufacture of vinyl-containing siloxanes. In addition, the agency would like to clarify that the petitioner proposed to expand the safe use of coatings with vinyl-containing siloxanes for contact with additional food types and under additional conditions of use. Therefore, FDA is amending the filing notice of September 25, 1995, to state that the petitioner requested that the food additive regulations be amended: (1) To provide for the safe use of diallyl maleate and 1-ethynyl-1-cyclohexanol as optional polymerization inhibitors and dimethyl(methyl hydrogen) polysiloxane as a cross-linking agent in the manufacture of vinyl-containing siloxanes that are used in coatings for paper and paperboard that contact food; (2) to increase the level of the platinum catalyst used in the manufacture of vinyl-containing siloxanes to 200 ppm; and (3) to expand the safe use of coatings with vinyl-containing siloxanes for contact with additional food types and under additional conditions of use.

Dated: August 5, 1996.

Alan M. Rullis,

Director, Office of Premarket Approval, Center for Food Safety and Applied Nutrition.
