

the initial scoping process (40 CFR 1501.7), which will occur from October of 1996 to November of 1996. In addition, the public is encouraged to visit with Forest Service officials at any time during the analysis and prior to the decision.

The Forest Service will be seeking information, comments, and assistance from Federal, State, and local agencies and other individuals or organizations who may be interested in or affected by the proposed action. Because Panther Creek is an anadromous fishery and the project proposal includes the construction of three landings in the riparian habitat conservation area, consultation with the National Marine Fisheries Service has been initiated with regard to listed species. No public meetings are scheduled.

While public participation in this analysis is welcome at any time, comments received within the 30 days of the publication of this notice will be especially useful in the preparation of the draft EIS. The draft is expected to be filed with the EPA and available for public review in January, 1997. A 45-day comment period will follow publication of a Notice of Availability of the draft EIS in the Federal Register. The comments will be analyzed and considered in preparation of a final EIS, which will be accompanied by a Record of Decision. The final EIS is expected to be filed in June, 1997.

Comments from the public and other agencies will be used in preparation of the Draft EIS. The scoping process will be used to:

1. Identify potential issues.
2. Identify major issues to be analyzed in depth.
3. Eliminate minor issues or those which have been covered by a relevant previous environmental analysis, such as the Salmon Forest Plan EIS.
4. Identify alternatives to the proposed action.
5. Identify potential effects of the proposed action and alternatives (i.e., direct, indirect, and cumulative effects).
6. Determine potential cooperating agencies and task assignments.

The Forest Service believes it is important at this early stage to give reviewers notice of several court rulings related to public participation in the environmental review process. First, reviewers of draft EIS must structure their participation in the environmental review of the proposal so that it is meaningful and alerts an agency to the reviewer's position and contentions; "Vermont Yankee Nuclear Power Corp. v. NRDC," 435 U.S. 519, (1978). Also, environmental objections that could be raised at the draft EIS stage but that are not raised until after completion of the final EIS may be waived or dismissed by the courts; "City of Angoon v. Hodel," 803 F.2d 1016, 1022 (9th Cir, 1986) and "Wisconsin Heritages Inc. v. Harris," 490 F. Supp 1334, 1338 (E.D. Wis., 1980). Because of these court rulings, it is very important that those interested in this proposed action participate by the close of the 45-day comment period so that substantive comments and objections are available to the Forest Service at a time when it can meaningfully consider them and respond to them in the final EIS.

To assist the Forest Service in identifying and considering issues on the proposed action, comments should be as specific as possible. Reviewers may wish to refer to the Council on Environmental Quality regulations for implementing the procedural provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act at 40 CFR 1503.3 in addressing these points.

I am the responsible official for this environmental impact statement. My address is Salmon and Challis National Forest, RR 2 Box 600, Salmon, Idaho 83467.
