

3. Former Waste-To-Energy Facility, Columbus, Ohio: Dioxin and Cadmium Exposure Study—New—The Agency for Toxic Substances and Disease Registry is announcing the request for a three year OMB approval for a new information collection entitled: "Former Waste-To-Energy Facility, Columbus, Ohio: Dioxin and Cadmium Exposure Study." The purpose of this proposed study is to determine whether blood serum dioxin and urine cadmium levels of an adult population residing near the Waste-To-Energy Facility are elevated compared to an adult population not residing the Waste-To-Energy Facility. A scientifically valid exposure assessment is crucial in determining whether the health of exposed populations may have been adversely impacted.

The two study groups, target population and comparison population, will be selected using environmental data, census data, systematic sampling method, and eligibility criteria. The statistical analysis will include the comparison of serum dioxin and urine cadmium average concentration levels for target and comparison populations while adjusting for factors that affect the concentration levels. This study's average concentration will be compared to the levels of other similar health studies. Other than their time, there will be no cost to the respondents.

4. Risk And Protective Factors of Intimate Partner Violence Survey—New—The purpose of the project is to identify early warning signs and protective factors in intimate violence prevention by conducting a random-digit-dial national survey. Findings from a preliminary focus group study reveal that: (1) There may exist a pattern of early warning signs that women can use to avoid intimate partner violence, (2) certain individual and societal characteristics (which we call risk and protective factors), such as family history of abuse or the support of friends or institutions, may increase or reduce the risk of violence in women's lives, (3) these risk and protective factors may influence women's ability to detect early warning signs for physical violence perpetrated by an intimate partner, and (4) there may be differences between African-American women and Caucasian women regarding helping relationships and services utilized by abused women.

The survey will include a stratification methodology to include six specific categories of women across the United States who are over 18 years of age. The six categories of women are African-American and Caucasian women who: (1) have never been in a violent relationship, (2) are currently in a violent relationship, and (3) have previously been in a violent relationship, but have been living free of violence for at least one year. The survey will gather data from approximately 1,800 women using an interview protocol which was developed and pilot tested in conjunction with the focus group study and has been defined by experts and CDC program staff. The total cost to respondents is $1,979.84, which is based on a median wage of women over 16 in the United States (includes non-working and part-time employed women) of $3.99 per hour [source: Bureau of Labor Statistics, 1997]
