

advantage of the seven day notice period must file rate decreases in separate transmittals. Because of the short notice periods, the Commission adopted the requirement that carriers identify specifically transmittals filed pursuant to Section 204(a)(3), including whether the transmittals contain rate increases, rate decreases or both. The Commission requires that LECs display prominently in the upper right hand corner of the tariff transmittal letters a statement indicating that the tariff is being filed on a streamlined basis under section 204(a)(3) of the Act and whether the tariff filing contains proposed rate increase, decrease or both. Under existing Commission rules, LECs are required to submit revisions to their annual access tariffs on 90 days' notice to be effective on July 1. Because these revisions are eligible for streamlined treatment, we will require carriers subject to price cap regulation to file a TRP prior to the filing of the annual access tariff revisions absent any information on the carriers' proposed rates, and to make it available to the public. Early filing of the TRPs will facilitate review of the annual access filings within the streamlined notice periods by resolving most of the major issues currently raised with the annual access proceedings. The information collected under the program of electronic filing will facilitate access to tariff and associated documents by the public, specially by interested persons who do not have ready access to the Commission's public reference rooms, and state and federal regulators. All of the requirements would be used to ensure that LECs comply with their obligations under the Communications Act and that the Commission be able to ensure compliance within the streamlined timeframes established by the 1996 Act.

Public reporting burden for the collections of information is as noted above. Send comments regarding the burden estimate or any other aspect of the collections of information, including suggestions for reducing the burden to the Records Management Branch, Washington, DC 20554.

Federal Communications Commission.

William F. Caton,

Acting Secretary.
