Type of Review: Revision

Title: Examination Customer Satisfaction Survey

Description: The purpose of this survey will be to provide the IRS with the following information concerning its two principal Examination Programs (office audit, and field audit):

- What is the present level of satisfaction among taxpayers with recent income tax examinations conducted by the IRS?
- What comments and suggestions do taxpayers with recent income tax examinations have that would enable the IRS to increase this level of satisfaction, and thereby improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the examination process?

- What recurrent operational and programmatic problems are evident? How can IRS correct these problems
- How do our customers' perceptions of the quality and efficiency of the examination process compare to our internal assessments of examination quality and productivity?

This survey will enable IRS to realize its ongoing objective of providing improved services to taxpayers, increase the operational efficiency of the Examination process, and strengthen its efforts in this vital area of voluntary tax compliance.
