Comments are invited on: (a) whether the proposed collection of information is necessary for the proper performance of the functions of the agency, including whether the information shall have practical utility; (b) the accuracy of the agency's estimate of the burden of the proposed collection of information; (c) ways to enhance the quality, utility, and clarity of the information to be collected; and (d) ways to minimize the burden of the collection of information on respondents, including through the use of automated collection techniques or other forms of information technology.

Proposed Project

Consortia Development for Health Professions Training in Community-Based Settings—New—Consortia which include academic institutions and community-based providers have been proposed as one mechanism for improving collaboration between health professions schools and communities, enabling them to provide relevant educational experiences and facilitating meeting education and workforce goals. The consortia should be based on a formal association of academic health professions training schools or programs and community-based providers (e.g., community/migrant health centers, managed care organizations) involved, at least, in part, in the entry-level education and/or continuing education of health professionals. The purposes of this project are (1) to prepare an inventory of consortia for health professions education, (2) to examine the characteristics of successful consortia, and (3) to examine the role that consortia play in assisting health professions schools or programs to prepare health care providers for the evolving health care system.

An initial survey will be conducted by mail of consortia identified through informal conversations with key academic representatives, community-based providers, and other knowledgeable individuals, and a literature review. The initial survey will be used to gather information that generally describes the consortia, including their goals and accomplishments. Consortia respondents will also be asked to identify additional consortia that should receive the initial survey. From the information gathered in the initial survey, 20 consortia will be selected for additional study as models of successful consortia, based on criteria established by an advisory workgroup.

The second survey will consist of phone interviews with up to 20 of the consortia identified as successful models from the initial survey. These data will describe the characteristics of successful consortia in more detail (leadership, organizational models, missions and goals, financing arrangements, facilitating factors, and barriers). Data will also be collected to determine the role that consortia play in assisting health professional schools to prepare health care providers for the evolving health care system. The burden estimates are as follows:
