DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

Site Services Division; Notice of Availability of a Cooperative Agreement Solicitation for the History of the Savannah River Site

AGENCY: U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), Savannah River (SR) Office.

ACTION: Notice of Availability of a Cooperative Agreement Solicitation.

SUMMARY: The U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) at SR is announcing the availability of a cooperative agreement solicitation for the history of the Savannah River Site (SRS). The SRS is approaching its fiftieth anniversary and is currently involved in closing old production facilities and related environmental restoration of these facilities. The solicitation was made available on February 28, 1997; applications are due March 28, 1997.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: As a matter of legacy and education, it is important that Savannah River capture the technical history of the old production facilities, related artifacts, and the technology developed at SRS from the inception of the site in the early 1950's to the present time.

The purpose of this solicitation is to establish a mechanism to research, develop and preserve the mission (nuclear materials production) history of SRS, and to provide a product tool to be used for continual education and public information purposes.

The participant will conduct a three-phased project to record and preserve the history of the SRS. Phase One will involve a survey of structures and artifacts of historic significance at SRS including photographs and documents, development of criteria for determining historic significance, and the recording of oral histories from scientists and engineers associated with the development of nuclear energy at SRS. Phase Two will require the gathering, archiving and storage of those items identified in the Phase One survey. Phase Three will consist of the preparation and submission of an electronic narrative of the site history and recommendations for archival and future use of the artifacts, documents, photographs and personal narratives.

All phases of this project must be carried out in concert and with the objective of compiling a site history that evaluates and determines the significance of SRS' role in the Cold War and provides recommendations for nomination of various site buildings and structures to the National Register of Historic Places including recommendations for meeting
