7 CFR Parts 56 and 70

[Docket No. PY-97-001]

Egg, Poultry, and Rabbit Grading Increase in Fees and Charges

AGENCY: Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS) is increasing the fees and charges for Federal voluntary egg, poultry, and rabbit grading. These fees and charges are increased to cover the increase in salaries of Federal employees, salary increases of State employees cooperatively utilized in administering the programs, and other increased Agency costs.

EFFECTIVE DATE: May 1, 1997.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Douglas C. Bailey, Chief, Standardization Branch, (202) 720-3506.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: This rule has been determined not-significant for purposes of Executive Order 12866 and has not been reviewed by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB).

This rule has been reviewed under Executive Order 12988, Civil Justice Reform. This action is not intended to have retroactive effect. This rule will not preempt any State or local laws, regulations, or policies, unless they present an irreconcilable conflict with this rule. There are no administrative procedures which must be exhausted prior to any judicial challenge to the provisions of this rule.

Pursuant to the requirements set forth in the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), the AMS has considered the economic impact of this action on small entities.

There are more than 400 users of the Poultry Division's grading services. Many of these users are small entities under the criteria established by the Small Business Administration (13 CFR 121.601). This rule raises the fees charged to all businesses for voluntary grading services for eggs, poultry, and rabbits. The AMS estimates that overall this rule will yield an additional $1.2 million during fiscal year (FY) 1998. Without the fee increase, anticipated revenue will not cover program costs and projected FY 98 revenues for grading services are $21.7 million with costs projected at $23.1 million. Trust fund balances would be below appropriate levels. With a fee increase, projected FY 98 revenues are $22.9 million with costs projected at $23.1 million. The hourly resident rate will increase by approximately 5.5 percent while the hourly nonresident rate for grading service will increase by approximately 15.8 percent. The costs to entities will be proportional to their use of service, so that costs are shared equitably by all users. Furthermore, entities are under no obligation to use these grading services.

The AMS has certified that this action will not have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities, as defined in the RFA (5 U.S.C. 601).

The information collection requirements that appear in the sections amended by this rule have been previously approved by OMB and assigned OMB Control Numbers under the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1980 as follows: § 56.52(a)(4)—No. 0581-0128; and § 70.77(a)(4)—No. 0581-0127.

Background

The Agricultural Marketing Act (AMA) of 1946 authorizes official grading and certification on a user-fee basis of eggs, poultry, and rabbits. The AMA provides that reasonable fees be collected from the user of the program services to cover, as nearly as practicable, the costs of services rendered. AMS regularly reviews these programs to determine if fees are adequate and if costs are reasonable. This rule will amend the schedule for fees and charges for grading services rendered to the egg, poultry, and rabbit industries to reflect the costs currently associated with the program.

In 1995 the egg products inspection program was transferred to the Food Safety and Inspection Service. In order to offset the loss of efficiencies and to avoid an increase in user fees for the remaining shell egg and poultry grading programs, AMS took several streamlining actions in supervisory and support activities. These actions included reducing the number of supervisory visits; consolidating and closing submanagement offices; consolidating the billing and support functions into two regional offices; realigning regional boundaries; and substantially reducing the Washington, DC headquarters staff. As a result, no fee increase was necessary due to the reorganization. However, increased salaries and other costs and a substantial shift from resident to nonresident grading services now require an increase in fees.

Employee salaries and benefits are major program costs that account for approximately 82 percent of the total operating budget. Materially affecting program costs were general and locality salary increases for Federal employees which, depending on locality, ranged from 3.09 to 6.25 percent in January 1995, 2.39 to 2.87 percent in January 1996, and 2.24 to 4.66 percent in January 1997. Also, from November 1994 through September 1997, salaries and fringe benefits of federally licensed State employees will have increased by about 7 percent. Further, since October 1993, standardization program costs must be recovered from grading program user fees. As a result, the hourly resident rate for grading services will increase by approximately 5.5 percent. The hourly resident rate covers graders' salaries, fringe benefits, and related costs.

Another factor affecting the current fee structure is the shift from resident to nonresident grading services. Historically, the majority of shell egg and poultry grading has been done on a resident basis according to the official U.S. quality grade standards. Today, however, a growing volume of shell eggs and poultry is being traded according to product-specific purchase specifications where USDA certification is required, and this work is done increasingly on a nonresident fee basis. This shift has increased the proportion of overhead costs necessary to administer the nonresident services. As a result, users of nonresident services are not supporting their share of the program's overhead costs under the present fee structure. For this reason, the hourly nonresident rate for grading service will increase by approximately 15.8 percent.

A recent review of the current fee schedule, effective since November 1, 1994, revealed that anticipated revenue will not adequately cover increasing program costs. Without a fee increase, projected FY 98 revenues for grading services are $21.7 million with costs projected at $23.1 million, and trust fund balances would be below appropriate levels. With a fee increase, projected FY 98 revenues are $22.9 million with costs projected at $23.1 million.

Comments

Based on an analysis of costs to provide these services, a proposed rule to increase the fees for these services was published in the Federal Register (62 FR 4662) on January 31, 1997. Comments on the proposed rule were solicited from interested parties until March 3, 1997.

During the 30-day comment period, the Agency received five comments in opposition to the proposal; three from egg producers, one from a national egg industry organization, and one from a poultry processor. They expressed a general concern about the cost of the grading program. Several commentors encouraged AMS to find and implement additional cost-saving measures in lieu of a fee increase. Although AMS has implemented significant cost-saving actions over the past several years as described above and remains committed to controlling program costs wherever possible, implementation of the proposed fee increases remains necessary to ensure the financial stability of the grading program.

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 553, it is found and determined that good cause exists for not postponing the effective date of the action until 30 days after publication in the Federal Register, because the proposed fees need to be implemented on an expedited basis in order to avoid financial losses in the grading program this fiscal year. Also, the effective date of the fee increase will be set to coincide with the next billing cycle beginning on May 1, 1997.
