SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

An interim rule was published on December 20, 1996 (61 FR 67424). The interim rule revised the cost principle at FAR 31.205-22, Lobbying and political activity costs, to provide an additional exemption from the provisions which make lobbying costs unallowable. This exemption makes allowable the costs of any lobbying activities to influence local legislation in order to directly reduce contract cost, or to avoid material impairment of the contractor's authority to perform the contract. The interim rule is converted to a final rule without change.

Public comments were received from one source. The comments were considered in developing the final rule.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The Department of Defense, the General Services Administration, and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration certify that this final rule will not have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities within the meaning of the Regulatory Flexibility Act, 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq., because most contracts awarded to small entities use simplified acquisition procedures or are awarded on a competitive fixed-price basis, and do not require application of the cost principle contained in this rule.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act does not apply because the changes to the FAR do not impose recordkeeping or information collection requirements, or collections of information from offerors, contractors, or members of the public which require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.

[FAC 97-01; FAR Case 97-005; Item XVI]

RIN 9000-AH63

Federal Acquisition Regulation; Independent Government Estimates-Construction

AGENCIES: Department of Defense (DoD), General Services Administration (GSA), and National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Civilian Agency Acquisition Council and the Defense Acquisition Regulations Council have agreed on a final rule amending the Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) to increase the threshold for a mandatory independent Government estimate of construction costs and architect-engineer costs from $25,000 to $100,000. This regulatory action was not subject to Office of Management and Budget review under Executive Order 12866, dated September 30, 1993, and is not a major rule under 5 U.S.C. 804.

DATES: Effective October 21, 1997.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: The FAR Secretariat, Room 4035, GS Building, Washington, DC 20405 (202) 501-4755 for information pertaining to status or publication schedules. For clarification of content, contact Mr. Jack O'Neill, Procurement Analyst, at (202) 501-3856. Please cite FAC 97-01, FAR case 97-005.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

A. Background

This final rule amends FAR 36.203(a) and 36.605(a) to raise the threshold for a mandatory independent Government estimate of construction costs and architect-engineer costs from $25,000 to $100,000. The benefits of an independent Government estimate do not warrant the high cost of such effort to cover the small risk associated with modifications under $100,000. The change will reduce costs and streamline the acquisition procedures, permitting improved utilization of resources.

B. Regulatory Flexibility Act

The final rule does not constitute a significant FAR revision within the meaning of FAR 1.501 and Public Law 98-577, and publication for public comment is not required. However, comments from small entities concerning the affected FAR subpart will be considered in accordance with 5 U.S.C. 610. Such comments must be submitted separately and cite 5 U.S.C. 601, et seq. (FAC 97-01, FAR case 97-005), in correspondence.

C. Paperwork Reduction Act

The Paperwork Reduction Act does not apply because the changes to the FAR do not impose recordkeeping or information collection requirements, or collections of information from offerors, contractors, or members of the public which require the approval of the Office of Management and Budget under 44 U.S.C. 3501, et seq.
