

Sevier, and Mississippi Counties were donated to the University Museum by unknown persons.

The 37 sites from which the cultural items were recovered are associated with the Fourche Maline culture (500 BC—800 AD) and the Caddoan Culture (800—1600 AD) based on material culture and site organization. Based on tools, ceramics, and manner of interments, these sites show continuity of occupations through these periods. Accession information indicates all 981 cultural items were recovered from burial contexts. Archeological, ethnohistoric, and historical document evidence indicates Caddoan affiliation through tools, ceramics, manner of interments, and recorded language terms and cultural characteristics (1542—1543 AD) are correlated to the sites included in the above counties.

Officials of the University of Arkansas have determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(3)(B), these 981 cultural items are reasonably believed to have been placed with or near individual human remains at the time of death or later as part of the death rite or ceremony and are believed, by a preponderance of the evidence, to have been removed from a specific burial site of an Native American individual. Officials of the University of Arkansas have also determined that, pursuant to 25 U.S.C. 3001(2), there is a relationship of shared group identity which can be reasonably traced between these items and the Caddo Tribe of Oklahoma.

This notice has been sent to officials of the Caddo Tribe of Oklahoma. Representatives of any other Indian tribe that believes itself to be culturally affiliated with these objects should contact Michael P. Hoffman, Curator of Anthropology, University Museum, University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, AR 72701, telephone (501) 575-3855 before January 21, 1998. Repatriation of these objects to the Caddo Tribe of Oklahoma may begin after that date if no additional claimants come forward.

Dated: December 15, 1997.
