Taking and Importing of Marine Mammals; Yellowfin Tuna Imports

AGENCY: National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS), National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Commerce.

ACTION: Notification of affirmative finding.

SUMMARY: NMFS announces that the Government of Spain has submitted documentation establishing that it continues to be in compliance with the requirements of the yellowfin tuna importation regulations for nations that have acted to ban purse seine sets on marine mammals in the eastern tropical Pacific Ocean (ETP). The Assistant Administrator for Fisheries (Assistant Administrator) has made an affirmative finding that will allow yellowfin tuna and tuna products harvested by vessels of Spain to be imported into the United States through December 31, 1999.

DATES: The affirmative finding for Spain is effective January 1, 1999, and remains in effect through December 31, 1999, unless revoked.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Cathy Eisele (phone 301-713-2322; fax 301-713-4060); or Allison Routt (phone 562-980-4019; fax 562-980-4027).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: NMFS regulations provide for the Assistant Administrator to make an affirmative finding for any nation that prohibits its vessels from intentionally setting purse seine nets on marine mammals (50 CFR 216.24(e)(5)). With an affirmative finding, yellowfin tuna and products derived from yellowfin tuna harvested in the ETP by that nation's purse seine vessels may be imported into the United States. The Assistant Administrator made such a finding at the end of 1997 for Spain.

On October 23 and December 3, 1998, the Government of Spain submitted reports on the activities of its purse seine vessels in the ETP during 1998. The reports indicate that one vessel intentionally set on marine mammals during the course of fishing for yellowfin tuna. As a result, Spain automatically entered into a 180-day probationary status, beginning on June 7, 1998, as required under 50 CFR 216.24(e)(5)(xi). No additional marine mammal sets were made during the 180-day probationary period, which ended on December 3, 1998. This information has been verified by observer reports from the Inter-American Tropical Tuna Commission. On December 24, 1998, after consultation with the Department of State, the Assistant Administrator determined that the Republic of Spain had submitted acceptable documentary evidence that its regulatory program continues to comply with the yellowfin tuna import regulations. As a result of this affirmative finding, yellowfin tuna and products derived from yellowfin tuna harvested in the ETP by Spanish-flag purse seine vessels may be imported into the United States through December 31, 1999.

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

Proposed Amendments to Chicago Board of Trade Soybean Oil Futures Contract Regarding Locational Price Differentials, Maximum Limit on the Delivery Capacity That May Be Registered, and Allocation of Responsibility for Payment of Switching and/or Freight Costs AGENCY: Commodity Futures Trading Commission.

ACTION: Notice of availability of proposed amendments.

SUMMARY: The Chicago Board of Trade (CBT or Exchange) has proposed amendments to its soybean oil futures contract. The proposed amendments were submitted under the Commission's 45-day Fast Track procedures which provide that, absent any contrary action by the Commission, the proposed amendments may be deemed approved 45 days after the Commission's receipt of the proposals. The Acting Director of the Division of Economic Analysis (Division) of the Commission, acting pursuant to the authority delegated by Commission Regulation 140.96, has determined that publication of the proposals for comment is in the public interest, will assist the Commission in considering the views of interested persons, and is consistent with the purpose of the Commodity Exchange Act.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before February 10, 1999.

ADDRESSES: Interested persons should submit their views and comments to Jean A. Webb, Secretary, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, Three Lafayette Centre, 1155 21st Street, NW, Washington, DC 20581. In addition, comments may be sent by facsimile transmission to facsimile number (202) 418-5521, or by electronic mail to secretary@cftc.gov. Reference should be made to the proposed amendments to the CBT soybean oil futures contract.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Please contact John Bird of the Division of Economic Analysis, Commodity Futures Trading Commission, Three Lafayette Centre, 1155 21st Street NW, Washington, DC 20581, telephone (202) 418-5274. Facsimile number: (202) 418-5527. Electronic mail: jbird@cftc.gov.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: The existing terms of the soybean oil futures contract provide for the delivery of warehouse receipts representing 60,000 pounds of crude soybean oil in store at CBT-approved (regular) delivery facilities. Regular delivery facilities must be located within a prescribed area consisting of all, or portions of, nine mid-western states of the U.S. The futures contract currently provides for delivery at par at regular delivery facilities located within the Illinois Territory (which consists of that portion of the state of Illinois located north of latitude 38°00'N.) and at specified locational price differentials at regular delivery facilities located within four other specified delivery territories within the contract's delivery area. The contract's current terms also provide for the adjustment of the locational price differentials annually for each of the four-non par territories. The annual adjustments are based on the ratio of the average number of outstanding registered warehouse receipts to the soybean crushing capacity for all facilities in the particular territory relative to the ratio of the number of outstanding registered warehouse receipts to soybean crushing capacity for all facilities in the other four delivery territories combined. The contract currently provides that the locational price differential for a given territory may be adjusted by a maximum of 10 cents per hundredweight per year.

The futures contract's existing terms require that the CBT approve the storage capacity eligible for delivery at each individual regular delivery facility. Currently, regular delivery facility operators may deliver soybean oil warehouse receipts equivalent to the maximum CBT-approved storage capacity for each of their individual warehouses. Upon surrender of a warehouse receipt, the delivery receiver may direct that the delivery soybean oil be loaded into railcars or trucks. The receiver is obligated to arrange for, and to pay all costs of, transportation of soybean oil from the delivery facility.

The primary proposed amendments will make the following changes: (1) The maximum yearly adjustment to the price differential applicable to delivery territories (other than the Illinois par territory) will be increased to 20 cents per hundredweight; (2) the futures delivery capacity (the maximum number of warehouse receipts that any delivery facility may have outstanding at any time) of each regular delivery facility will be limited to 30 times the facility's registered daily load-out rate and (3) operators of regular delivery facilities not located on Class I railroads will be required to pay switching and/or freight costs to the nearest Class I railroad interchange point, if requested in writing by the taker of delivery.

The CBT intends to implement the proposed amendments to newly listed contract months, commencing with the January 2000 contract month. The Exchange has listed for trading the January, July, October and December 2000 contract months with asterisks indicating that proposed amendments will be applied to these contract months, pending approval by the Commission.

In support of the proposed amendments, the CBT stated that:

The purpose of the proposed amendments is to improve the pricing accuracy and hedging effectiveness of the soybean oil futures contract. This will be achieved by increasing the amount by which territorial delivery differentials can change each year, improving access to delivery stocks for takers
