SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On March 23, 1995, EPA published the Final Water Quality Guidance for the Great Lakes System (Guidance) pursuant to section 118(c)(2) of the Clean Water Act, 33 U.S.C. 1268(c)(2). (March 23, 1995, 60 FR 15366). The Guidance, which was codified at 40 CFR part 132, requires the Great Lakes States to adopt and submit to EPA for approval water quality criteria, methodologies, policies and procedures that are consistent with the Guidance. 40 CFR 132.4 & 132.5. EPA is required to approve of the State's submission within 90 days or notify the State that EPA has determined that all or part of the submission is inconsistent with the Clean Water Act or the Guidance and identify any necessary changes to obtain EPA approval. If the State fails to make the necessary changes within 90 days, EPA must publish a notice in the Federal Register identifying the approved and disapproved elements of the submission and a final rule identifying the provisions of part 132 that shall apply for discharges within the State.

EPA has received the submission from Pennsylvania and has reviewed it for consistency with the Guidance in accordance with 40 CFR part 131 and 132.5. EPA has determined that certain parts of Pennsylvania's submittal are inconsistent with the requirements of the CWA or 40 CFR part 132 and will be subject to EPA disapproval if not corrected. On December 18, 1998, in a letter from EPA Region 3 to the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection, EPA described in detail those provisions determined to be inconsistent with the Guidance and subject to disapproval if not remedied by the State. The inconsistencies relate to the following components of the State's submission in conformance with section 118(c) of the CWA and 40 CFR Part 132: (1) Water quality criteria for Chromium III to protect aquatic life; (2) water quality criteria to protect human health from cyanide, 2,4-dinitrophenol, and mercury; (3) administrative and scientific requirements for site-specific modification to criteria based on ambient conditions; (4) Appendix A of the Guidance for developing Tier I aquatic life criteria; (5) Appendix B of the Guidance for development of bioaccumulation factors for non-bioaccumulative chemicals of concern; (6) Appendix C of the Guidance for development of Tier I human health criteria; (7) Procedure 3 of Appendix F of the Guidance for developing total maximum daily loads; (8) Procedure 5 for determining reasonable potential to exceed water quality standards; and (9) Procedure 6 for whole effluent toxicity. Today, EPA is soliciting public comment regarding provisions identified in the December 18, 1998, letter as being inconsistent with the CWA and the Guidance, and whether EPA should disapprove those provisions based on its findings pursuant to 40 CFR 123.62 and 132.5.

During the next 90 days, EPA intends to continue working with Pennsylvania to address the inconsistencies identified in the December 18, 1998 letter. If the State fails to remedy any of the inconsistencies identified in the letter, EPA will publish a notice in the Federal Register identifying the disapproved elements and the corresponding portions of part 132 that will apply to waters within the Great Lakes Basin in Pennsylvania. With the exception of the specific inconsistencies identified in the December 18, 1998 letter, EPA believes that the State's submission under part 132 is consistent with federal requirements, and intends to approve those aspects of the submittal when EPA takes final action on the submittal.
