As required by the Regulatory Flexibility Act and as published in the Department of Transportation's (DOT) Semi-Annual Regulatory Agenda, we are analyzing our first group of regulations during fiscal year 1999 to identify rules which may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. At the end of this year of analysis, we will publish a list of those regulations that may have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities and seek public comment on how we can reduce the burden on small entities.

DATES: Comments must reach the Docket Management Facility on or before April 19, 1999.

ADDRESSES: You may mail comments to the Docket Management Facility, (USCG-1999-4975), U.S. Department of Transportation, room PL-401, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington DC 20590-0001, or deliver them to room PL-401, located on the Plaza Level of the Nassif Building at the same address between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays. Request for Comments

The Coast Guard encourages you to participate in our review of regulations by submitting written data, views, or arguments. If you submit comments, you should include your name and address, identify this notice (USCG-1999-4975) and the specific rule to which your comments apply, and give the reason for each comment. Please submit all comments and attachments in an unbound format, no larger than 8 1/2 by 11 inches, suitable for copying and electronic filing to the DOT Docket Management Facility at the address under ADDRESSES. If you want acknowledgment of receipt of your comments, you should enclose a stamped, self-addressed postcard or envelope.

The Coast Guard will consider all comments received during the comment period.

Although the Coast Guard has not scheduled a public meeting concerning this request for comments, you may request a public meeting by submitting a request to the address under ADDRESSES. The request should include the reasons why a meeting would be beneficial. If we determine that a public meeting should be held, we will hold the meeting at a time and place announced by a later notice in the Federal Register.

Background and Purpose

In 1980, Congress passed the Regulatory Flexibility Act (RFA), Public Law 96-354, requiring periodic review of those regulations that have a significant economic impact on a substantial number of small entities. The Department of Transportation (DOT) published its Semiannual Regulatory Agenda on November 9, 1998, listing in Appendix D (63 FR 62857) those regulations each modal agency will review under Section 610 of the RFA during the next 12 months to see if the agency can minimize their burden on small entities.

Appendix D also contains DOT's 10-year review plan for all of its existing regulations (63 FR 62030). We have divided all Coast Guard rules into 10 groups by Code of Federal Regulations (CFR) volumes (group). Each group will be reviewed once every 10 years, undergoing a two-stage process—an Analysis Year and a Section 610 Review Year. At the end of the Analysis year, we will publish a list of those regulations subject to review under Section 610 during the following year (the Section Review Year).

1. Analysis Year

During this year, we will conduct a preliminary assessment of the rules in Group 1 to determine whether they are subject to a Section 610 review the next year. All rules in the group will undergo analysis during this year. Those rules that are identified as having a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities will undergo a Section 610 review in the next year. We will publish a notice in the Federal Register announcing our Section 610 review and identifying the regulations under review.

2. Section 610 Review Year

At the end of the Analysis Year, we would publish the results of our preliminary assessment. For those rules with no significant impact on a substantial number of small entities, we would identify and briefly explain why each rule has such a finding. For those rules with a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities, we would indicate that a formal § 610 review would be conducted to determine whether we could lessen the impact. If no changes were warranted, we would provide a short explanation for the finding. If we intended to change a rule, we would provide an explanation for the proposed changes.

We are currently in the Analysis Year, conducting a preliminary assessment for Group 1: Volume 1 of Title 33 Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), parts 1 through 124. During this year we will analyze the economic impact of Group 1 to determine if any rules are subject to a Section 610 review in fiscal year 2000. We will publish our findings in a future notice in the Federal Register.

We are seeking public comment on whether any rules in these parts have a significant impact on a substantial number of small entities. "Small entities" include small businesses, not-for-profit organizations that are independently owned and operated and are not dominant in their fields, and governmental jurisdictions with populations of less than 50,000. If you think that your business or organization qualifies as a small entity and that any rules in these parts have a significant economic impact on your business or organization, please submit a comment to the Docket Management Facility at the address under ADDRESSES explaining why you think it qualifies and in what way and to what degree these rules economically affect you.

In accordance with section 213(a) of the Small Business Regulatory Enforcement Fairness Act of 1996 (Pub. L. 104-121), we want to assist small entities in understanding any rules in parts 1 through 124 so that they can better evaluate the effects on them and participate in this review process. If your small business or organization is affected by any of these rules and you have questions concerning its provisions or options for compliance, please contact Ms. Christena Green, Office of Regulations and Administrative Law (G-LRA), 202-267-0133.

The Small Business and Agriculture Regulatory Enforcement Ombudsman and 10 Regional Fairness Boards were established to receive comments from small businesses about Federal agency enforcement actions. The Ombudsman will annually evaluate the enforcement activities and rate each agency's responsiveness to small business. If you wish to comment on the enforcement actions of the Coast Guard, call 1-888-REG-FAIR (1-888-734-3247).
