

label recommendations that the animals are to be of breeding age when treated.

(2) Labels for vaccines, bacterins, bacterial extracts, toxoids, and bacterin-toxoids which recommend product use in animals younger than 12 weeks of age in the case of canine and feline products (17 weeks in the case of canine parvovirus vaccine), or 3 months of age in the case of products for other mammalian species, must also recommend revaccination at intervals of 2–3 weeks through the applicable age (viz., 12 weeks, 17 weeks, or 3 months). In the case of avian products (except Marek's disease vaccines) recommended for use in birds under 2 weeks of age, revaccination at 3 weeks of age shall be recommended. If two doses of product are required for primary immunization, labels shall recommend that two doses be given after the applicable age (viz., 12 weeks, 17 weeks, 3 months, or 3 weeks). The revaccination recommendation is not required for labels for products intended for the prevention or alleviation of diseases that are considered afflictions of only very young animals, for products where maternal antibodies do not interfere with efficacy, or for products where traditional U.S. animal industry practice is clearly inconsistent with such a recommendation. Such products include, but are not limited to, those for rotaviral and coronaviral enteritis, mammalian colibacillosis, and atrophic rhinitis in swine.

I. Background

The Commission promulgated the Dog and Cat Food Guides on February 28, 1969, 34 FR 3619 (1969), under section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act ("FTC Act"), 15 U.S.C. 45.¹

The Guides cover food for dogs or cats, including dry, semimoist, frozen, canned, and other commercial foods manufactured or marketed for consumption by domesticated dogs or cats, as well as special candy for dogs and cats, but not animal medicines or remedies. The Guides apply to any person, firm, corporation, or organization engaged in the importation, manufacture, sale or distribution of dog or cat food. In summary, the Dog and Cat Food Guides advise against:

(1) Misrepresenting dog or cat food in any material respect; for example, misrepresenting the composition, form, suitability, quality, color, flavor of any dog or cat food; misrepresenting that any dog or cat food meets the dietary or nutritional needs of dogs and cats; or misrepresenting that any dog or cat food will provide medicinal or therapeutic benefits;

(2) Misrepresenting that any dog or cat food is fit for human consumption or has been made under the same sanitary conditions as food for humans;

(3) Misrepresenting the processing methods used in the manufacture or processing of any dog or cat food;

(4) Making false statements about the conduct of competitors or about the quality of competitors' products;

(5) misrepresenting the length of time a dog or cat food company has been in business, its rank in the industry, or that it owns laboratory or other testing facilities;

(6) using deceptive endorsements or testimonials, or deceptively claiming that any dog or cat food has received an award;

(7) offering for sale any dog or cat food when the offer is not a bona fide effort to sell the product so offered as advertised and at the advertised price;

¹ Section 5 of the FTC Act declares unfair methods of competition and unfair or deceptive acts or practices to be unlawful.
