

A. Reserve Bank ACH Customers

1. Given the limitations on the types of entities that are eligible to receive Reserve Bank payment services, how should the ACH service be structured to address the differences in the way that the Reserve Banks' and PSOs' customer bases are defined?

2. Should the Reserve Banks continue to consider the ODFI and RDFI for ACH transactions they process to be their customers, and charge them accordingly, even though the institution sent the transactions through or received the transactions from a PSO? If not, why not?

B. Price Structure

1. Should the Reserve Banks charge lower fees for ACH transactions that are also processed by a PSO than they do for ACH transactions in which the Reserve Banks are the only ACH operator? If so, on what basis should the different fees be set? For example, should the Reserve Banks offer different ACH service levels for transactions also involving a PSO?

2. Should the Reserve Banks pay transaction fees to PSOs that send files to the Federal Reserve and transaction and file fees to PSOs that receive files from the Federal Reserve? What services do the PSOs provide to Reserve Banks that would justify the payment of fees to PSOs? Would market discipline constrain the fees charged by PSOs to Reserve Banks? If so, how?

3. Should the Reserve Banks continue to assess the ACH account servicing fee to customers that exclusively use PSOs to send transactions to and receive transactions from the Reserve Banks? If not, what would be the rationale for eliminating the fee for the PSOs' customers?

C. Deposit Deadlines and Processing Schedule

1. What are the benefits and drawbacks of the Reserve Banks establishing different deposit and delivery deadlines for PSOs and depository institutions?

D. Correspondent Banks and Third-party Processors

1. If the Reserve Banks were to modify their price structure or deadlines to treat transactions also processed by PSOs differently, should this treatment be limited to transactions processed by PSOs or expanded to other ACH transactions, such as those sent or received by correspondent banks or third-party processors? Why or why not? Do the arguments to modify Reserve Bank practices regarding PSOs also apply to other entities that act as sending and receiving points for multiple institutions? Why or why not?

2. How should the Reserve Banks determine the entities that qualify for treatment as PSOs if the Reserve Banks were to modify the terms of their ACH services to treat transactions involving PSOs (but not correspondent banks and third-party processors) differently?

E. Other Implications

1. What are the implications on competition, the efficiency of the ACH system, and overall ACH volume growth if the Reserve Banks were to modify their price structure or deadlines to treat transactions processed by PSOs differently than those received from or sent to other parties?

2. To the extent that you are suggesting modifications to the Reserve Banks' ACH service, please indicate whether and how those modifications are likely to affect competition in the provision of ACH services, the efficiency of the ACH system, and the growth of the ACH system.

By order of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, May 17, 1999.

Jennifer J. Johnson,

Secretary of the Board.
