Requests have already been made for producer records by State trusts which are preparing to make the multi-billion dollar "Phase II" distribution to farmers. Because these funds could provide much needed help to farmers, the Secretary intends to provide the records to the requesting organizations, consistent with the new law, except in the case of those parties who wish to opt out of the release. Those who do wish to opt out of the release should send notice in writing of that election to Charles Hatcher, FSA, Tobacco and Peanuts Division, STP 0514, 1400 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, DC 20250-0514. Such notice must be received by September 7, 1999.

As the release only affects farm records, warehouses and buyers of tobacco need not file any exemption elections. With respect to producers and other parties involved in the growing of tobacco, those producers should be advised that a request for an exemption from the disclosure could result in a delay in receiving a distribution from the State trust, or, depending on the eligibility criteria created by the State organizations, an inability to share in the distribution. It is therefore not expected that there will be many exemption requests filed. Accordingly, it appears that the record collections can be made at one location for re-routing to the national record center for processing.

Signed at Washington, DC, on August 18, 1999.

Keith Kelly, Administrator, Farm Service Agency.

Anhydrous Sodium Metasilicate from France: Preliminary Results of Antidumping Duty Administrative Review

SUMMARY: In response to a request from a domestic interested party, the Department of Commerce is conducting an administrative review of the antidumping duty order on anhydrous sodium metasilicate (ASM) from France for the period January 1, 1998, through December 31, 1998.

We have preliminarily determined a dumping margin in this review. If these preliminary results are adopted in the final results of this administrative review, we will instruct the Customs Service to assess antidumping duties on subject merchandise manufactured or otherwise available in the United States.

FACTS AVAILABLE:

Section 776(a)(2) of the Act provides that, if an interested party (i) withholds facts necessary to comply with a request for information, the Department shall, subject to subsections 782(c)(1) and (e) of the Act, (2) fails to provide such information in a timely manner, (3) significantly impedes a determination under the antidumping statute, or (4) provides such information but the information cannot be verified as provided in section 782(i) of the Act, then the Department shall, subject to section 782(d) of the Act, use facts otherwise available in determining dumping margins.

The Department sent Rhone-Poulenc a questionnaire on March 1, 1999, with a deadline of April 7, 1999, for providing information necessary to conduct a review of any shipments that may have made to the United States during the period of review. Rhone-Poulenc did not respond to our original questionnaire or to a follow-up letter that was sent to the company. Because Rhone-Poulenc has withheld information we requested and has, in fact, made no effort to participate in this proceeding, we must, pursuant to sections 776(a)(2)(A) and (D) of the Act, use facts otherwise available to determine its dumping margins.

Based on the lack of any response from Rhone-Poulenc, we find that the company has failed to cooperate by not acting to the best of its ability to comply with a request for information. Therefore, pursuant to section 776(b) of the Act, the Department may use an inference that is adverse to the interests of Rhone-Poulenc in selecting from among the facts otherwise available.

The section also provides that an adverse inference may include reliance on information derived from the petition, the final determination in the investigation segment of the proceeding, a previous review under section 751 of the Act or a determination under section 753 of the Act, or any other information placed on the record. In addition, the Statement of Administrative Action accompanying the Uruguay Round Agreement Act (URAA), H.R. Doc. 316, Vol. 1, 103d Cong. (1994) (SAA), establishes that the Department may employ an adverse inference "to ensure that the party does not obtain a more favorable result by failing to cooperate than if it had cooperated fully." SAA at 870. In employing adverse inferences, the Department is instructed to consider "the extent to which a party may benefit from its own lack of cooperation." Id. Because we find that Rhone-Poulenc failed to cooperate by not complying with our request for information and in order to ensure that it does not benefit from its lack of cooperation, the Department may employ an adverse inference in selecting from the facts available.

The Department's practice when selecting an adverse rate from among the possible sources of information has been to ensure that the margin is sufficiently adverse "as to effectuate the purpose of the facts available rule to induce respondents to provide the Department with complete and accurate information in a timely manner." See Static Random Access Memory Semiconductors From Taiwan: Final Determination of Sales at Less Than Fair Value, 63 FR 8909, 8932 (February 23, 1998). The Department will also consider the extent to which a party may benefit from its own lack of cooperation in selecting a rate.
