

is not possible to determine whether this decline is due to the fact that Algoma has ceased producing new steel rail or to the response of Sysco and other producers/exporters to the order. Therefore, the decline in imports in this case is not probative of the likelihood of continuation or recurrence of dumping.

As noted above, in conducting its sunset reviews, the Department considers the weighted-average dumping margins and volume of imports when determining whether revocation of an antidumping duty order would lead to the continuation or recurrence of dumping. Based on this analysis, the Department finds that the existence of dumping margins above de minimis is highly probative of the likelihood of continuation or recurrence of dumping. Therefore, given that dumping has continued over the life of the order, respondent parties waived participation in this review, and absent argument and evidence to the contrary, the Department determines that dumping is likely to continue or recur if the order were revoked.

Magnitude of the Margin

In the Sunset Policy Bulletin, the Department stated that it normally will provide to the Commission the margin that was determined in the final determination in the original investigation. Further, for companies not specifically investigated or for companies that did not begin shipping until after the order was issued, the Department normally will provide a margin based on the "all others" rate from the investigation. (See section II.B.1 of the Sunset Policy Bulletin.) Exceptions to this policy include the use of a more recently calculated margin, where appropriate, and consideration of duty absorption determinations. (See sections II.B.2 and 3 of the Sunset Policy Bulletin.)

In their substantive response, the domestic interested parties recommend that the Department adhere to its general practice of selecting dumping margins from the original investigation. Regarding companies not reviewed in the original investigation, the domestic interested parties suggest that the Department report to the Commission the all others rate published in the original investigation. Since the Algoma Steel Corporation, the company that received a company-specific rate in the original investigation, has, according to the domestic interested parties, ceased production of new steel rail, the domestic parties maintain that providing a rate for Algoma is not necessary. However, because at least one other producer/exporter remains, the domestic interested parties recommend that the Department provide to the Commission the all others rate determined in the original investigation.

The Department agrees with the domestic interested parties that the margins calculated in the original investigation are the only rates that reflect the behavior of exporters without the discipline of the order. Absent argument and evidence to the contrary, the Department finds the margins calculated in the original investigation are probative of the behavior of Canadian producers/exporters of new steel rail if the order were revoked. As such, the Department will report to the Commission the "all others" rates from the original investigation as contained in the Final Results of Review section of this notice.

Final Results of Review

As a result of this review, the Department finds that revocation of the antidumping duty order would likely lead to continuation or recurrence of dumping at the margin listed below:

Manufacturer/exporter	Margin (percent)
Algoma	38.79
All Others	38.79
