January 31, 2000.

On December 20, 1999, the Commission issued Order No. 2000<sup>1</sup> to advance the formation of Regional Transmission Organizations (RTOs).

Title: IAQ Practices in Large Buildings Survey (EPA ICR No. 1917.01).

Abstract: EPA is currently working with other Federal agencies and the public, as well as with other nations, to promote effective approaches for identifying and solving indoor air quality (IAQ) problems. As part of this effort, EPA has developed a guide which addresses indoor air quality in large office buildings entitled “Building Air Quality: A Guide for Building Owners and Facility Managers” (BAQ). This document provides an extensive discussion of a wide range of potential indoor air pollutants and suggests ways in which building owners and managers can improve the indoor air quality of their buildings. As a complement to the Guide, EPA has also developed a comprehensive BAQ Action Plan, which describes an eight-step process for improving a building's indoor air quality. The BAQ Action Plan can be used to determine the current condition of an office building's indoor air quality, as well as to successfully implement good IAQ management practices.

Using a seven-page survey, EPA proposes to collect data from building owners and managers. This survey will allow EPA to determine the extent to
