

Although the NAAP lays out a vision and a framework for addressing the arthritis burden nationwide, it also details other strategic initiatives requiring a coordinated, responsible approach involving all levels of the public health structure (national, State, and local); public and private agencies involved in research activities addressing arthritis; health care systems and health care providers. The values of NAAP are to emphasize prevention at all levels (primary, secondary, and tertiary); to use and expand the science base; to seek social equity (e.g., addressing issues faced by the uninsured or under-insured, the poor, the disabled, and minority populations); and to build partnerships. Little is known about arthritis self-management knowledge, attitudes and behaviors among Hispanic populations—nor knowledge, attitudes and treatment strategies among the health care providers who treat arthritis in these populations. While a variety of arthritis self-management programs are available, few have had rigorous evaluation in minority populations.

The purpose of this arthritis education program is to investigate program delivery mechanisms to identify those that adequately engage minority populations. Specific activities to be implemented should target Hispanic populations and may include the development, dissemination or evaluation of existing or modified self management programs, programs to improve early diagnosis and treatment of arthritis, assessment of the use of complementary and alternative treatments for arthritis; the assessment of knowledge, attitudes and behaviors about arthritis; the assessment of knowledge, attitudes, and treatment behaviors among primary care providers providing care in these populations; and validation of commonly used survey tools (e.g., Behavioral Risk Factor Surveillance System (BRFSS) questions addressing arthritis).
