

inventions, contemplated for the exclusive license, are directed towards the instruments used for the construction of tissue microarrays, and describe the design and the operations of these instruments. The method-of-use and the different applications of tissue microarrays for medical research and diagnostics are available for licensing by the NIH on a nonexclusive basis under a separate arrangement.

The prospective exclusive license will be royalty-bearing and will comply with the terms and conditions of 35 U.S.C. 209 and 37 CFR 404.7. The prospective exclusive license may be granted unless, within 60 days from the date of this published Notice, NIH receives written evidence and argument that established that the grant of the license would not be consistent with the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 209 and 37 CFR 404.7.

Properly filed competing applications for a license filed in response to this notice will be treated as objections to the contemplated license. Comments and objections submitted in response to this notice will not be made available for public inspection, and, to the extent permitted by law, will not be released under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552.

Dated: February 12, 2001.
