Analysis of Proposed Consent Order To Aid Public Comment

The Federal Trade Commission has accepted an agreement, subject to final approval, to a proposed consent order from Med Gen, Inc. and its president, Paul Kravitz ("proposed respondents"). Proposed respondents market "Snorenz," a dietary supplement consisting of oils and vitamins that is sprayed on the back of the throat of persons who snore.

The proposed consent order has been placed on the public record for thirty (30) days for reception of comments by interested persons. Comments received during this period will become part of the public record. After thirty (30) days, the Commission will again review the agreement and the comments received and will decide whether it should withdraw from the agreement and take other appropriate action or make final the agreement's proposed order.

The Commission's complaint charges that proposed respondents failed to have a reasonable basis for claims they made about the product's efficacy in (1) reducing or eliminating snoring or the sounds of snoring, (2) reducing or eliminating snoring or the sounds of snoring for six to eight hours, and (3) treating the symptoms of sleep apnea. The complaint also alleges that proposed respondents lacked a reasonable basis to substantiate representations that testimonials from consumers who used Snorenz represented the typical and ordinary experience of users of the product. Proposed respondent are also charged with making false claims that clinical proof establishes the efficacy of Snorenz. Further, the complaint alleges that the proposed respondents failed to disclose adequately that the product is not intended to treat sleep apnea; that sleep apnea is a potentially life-threatening disorder characterized by loud snoring, frequent interruptions of sleep, and daytime tiredness; and that persons experiencing those symptoms should seek medical attention. Finally, the complaint alleges that proposed respondents failed to disclose that a material connection existed between Med Gen, Inc. and a physician who appeared in the infomercials to endorse Snorenz. Such claims appeared in infomercials promoting Snorenz that proposed respondents produced, or caused to be produced for them,¹ on Med Gen, Inc.'s website, and/or on labeling for the product.

Part I of the consent order requires that proposed respondents possess competent and reliable scientific evidence to substantiate representations that Snorenz or any other food, drug, or dietary supplement reduces or eliminates snoring or the sounds of snoring; reduces or eliminates snoring or the sounds of snoring for any specified period of time through a single application; or eliminates, reduces or mitigates the symptoms of sleep apnea. Part II of the order requires that, for any product that has not been shown to be effective in the treatment of sleep apnea, proposed respondents must affirmatively disclose, whenever they represent that a product is effective in reducing or eliminating snoring or the sounds of snoring, a warning statement about sleep apnea and the need for physician consultation. Part III of the order requires proposed respondents to substantiate any representation about the benefits, performance, efficacy, or safety of Snorenz or any other food, drug, or dietary supplement. Part IV prohibits false claims about scientific support for any product, service, or program. Part V requires that, for any consumer endorsement or testimonial proposed respondents use to promote a
