SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: Title: Maximum Achievable Control Technology (MACT) Standards for Primary Aluminum Reduction Plants; 40 CFR part 63, subpart LL; EPA ICR No. 1767.03; OMB Control No. 2060-0360; expiration date was May 31, 2000. This is a reinstatement of a previously approved Information Collection Request.

Abstract: The MACT standards for this source category were proposed on September 26, 1996 and were promulgated on October 7, 1997. These standards apply to the owners or operators of new or existing potlines, paste production plants, or anode bake furnaces associated with primary aluminum production and located at a major source, and for each new pitch storage tank associated with a primary aluminum reduction plant.

In order to ensure compliance with the standards, adequate record-keeping and reporting is necessary. This information enables the Agency to identify the sources subject to the standard; ensure initial compliance with emission limits; and verify continuous compliance with the standard.

This rule requires written notification when: an area source increases its emissions such that it becomes a major source; the initial startup is before the effective date of the standard; the effective date of a new or reconstructed source is after the effective date of the standard, and for which an application for approval of construction or reconstruction is not required; there is an intent to construct a new major source or reconstruct a major source after the effective date of the standard, and for which an application for approval or construction or reconstruction is required; an initial performance test occurs; submitting an initial compliance status; an affected source intends to use a hydrogen fluoride (HF) continuous emission monitor; and submitting the compliance approach. In addition, sources are required to: submit results of performance tests; provide semiannual reports unless quarterly reports are
