SUMMARY: The Coast Guard is requesting general information that will better allow us to implement Executive Order 13175, Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments. This Executive Order directs Federal agencies to consult with Indian and Alaska Native tribal governments in the development of regulations that have a substantial direct effect on one or more Indian or Alaska Native tribes, on the relationship between the Federal Government and those tribes, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities between the Federal Government and those tribes. The Coast Guard has queried its internal database and determined its regulations may impact a total of 13 tribal governments. These tribal governments own fishing vessels and passenger vessels. We suspect that there may be more tribal governments impacted by Coast Guard regulations than our database revealed. In order to better carry out our responsibilities under this Executive Order, we need your help in identifying tribes that may be affected by Coast Guard rulemakings, the officials of those tribes, and the procedures needed to ensure meaningful and timely input by tribal officials. Depending on the information received, we may modify our approach and/or policy used to carry out the intent of the Executive Order when we promulgate future rulemakings.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:Discussion

Executive Order 13175, Consultation and Coordination with Indian Tribal Governments, is intended (1) To establish regular and meaningful consultation and collaboration with tribal officials in the development of Federal regulations that have tribal implications, (2) to strengthen the United States government-to-government relationships with Indian and Alaska Native tribes, and (3) to reduce the imposition of unfunded mandates upon those tribes. A regulation has "tribal implications" if it has a substantial direct effect on one or more Indian or Alaska Native tribes, on the relationship between the Federal Government and those tribes, or on the distribution of power and responsibilities between the Federal Government and those tribes. In order to better carry out our responsibilities under this Executive Order, we need your help in identifying tribes that may be affected by Coast Guard rulemakings, the officials of those tribes, and the procedures needed to ensure meaningful and timely input by tribal officials. We invite comments on how Coast Guard rulemakings may impact tribes and tribal governments, even if those impacts may not constitute "tribal implications" under the Executive Order. For example, there may be tribal governments in Alaska that own petroleum facilities, which are impacted by Coast Guard regulations. Also, there may be more than the currently identified 13 tribal governments that own fishing vessels and passenger vessels. A copy of Executive Order 13175 is available in the docket on the Internet at <http://dms.dot.gov>.
