[Program Announcement 02029]

Cooperative Agreement for the Support of a National Folic Acid Promotion Program Notice of Availability of Funds

A. Purpose

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) announces the availability of Fiscal Year (FY) 2002 funds for a cooperative agreement program for the support of a National Folic Acid Promotion Program. This program addresses the "Healthy People 2010" focus area of Maternal, Infant, and Child Health.

The purpose of this program is to support the development and implementation of a national program to promote the use of vitamin folic acid for the prevention of spina bifida and other neural tube defects. This program will improve the knowledge and awareness of health care providers, public and private health organizations, and women of reproductive age about reducing birth defects by promoting the use of folic acid.

B. Eligible Applicants

Applications may be submitted by public and private nonprofit organizations and by governments and their agencies; that is, universities, colleges, research institutions, hospitals, other public and private nonprofit organizations, State and local governments or their bona fide agents, and federally recognized Indian tribal governments, Indian tribes, or Indian tribal organizations.

To be eligible, applicants must demonstrate involvement in a national organization which is actively participating in the promotion of folic acid to prevent birth defects. This should be demonstrated in the form of a letter from the identified National Organization's/Council's Executive Officer and should be placed immediately following the face page of the application.

Applications that do not include the above information will be determined as non-responsive and returned without review.

C. Availability of Funds

Approximately $200,000 will be available to fund one award. It is expected that this award will begin on or about June 1, 2002, and will be made for a 12-month budget period within a project period of up to five years. The funding estimate may change.

Continuation awards within an approved project period will be made on the basis of satisfactory progress as evidenced by required reports and the availability of funds.

D. Program Requirements

To achieve the purpose of this program, the recipient will be responsible for the activities under 1. (Recipient Activities) and CDC will be responsible for activities listed under 2. (CDC Activities).

1. Recipient Activities

a. Provide at least one full-time manager and other staff support needed to carry out a national agenda.

b. Develop a national program to reach women of reproductive age and healthcare providers who serve them.

c. Provide a mechanism which allows the public to access the latest developments in research and practice related to the use of folic acid to prevent birth defects.

d. Provide a customized service whereby state and local programs, agencies, and professionals may receive packets, newsletters, bibliographies, policy papers, and fact sheets.

e. Convene meetings of council partners to share information about materials, strategies, and model programs to promote the use of folic acid to prevent birth defects.

f. Participate in national, state, or local meetings and conferences on behalf of the council.

g. Establish and implement methods for evaluating the impact of the programs and activities to increase consumption of folic acid.

2. CDC Activities

a. Provide scientific collaboration for appropriate aspects of the activities, including new scientific data on benefits of folic acid, information on rates of neural tube birth defects, and prevention strategies.

b. Assist in development and review of relevant information made available to federal, state, and local health agencies, health care providers, and volunteer organizations.

c. In conjunction with the recipient, evaluate the impact of the programs and activities to increase consumption of folic acid.

d. Participate in all meetings convened by the recipient.

E. Application Content

Use the information in the Program Requirements, Other Requirements, and Evaluation Criteria sections to develop the application content. Applications will be evaluated on the criteria listed, so it is important to follow them in laying out the program plan. The application should be no more than 20 double-spaced pages, printed on one side, with one-inch margins, and 12 point font, not including attachments.

1. Organization Profile

a. Provide a narrative, including background information and information on the applicant organization, evidence of relevant experience in coordinating activities among constituents, and a clear understanding of the purpose of the project.

b. Include details of past experiences working with the target populations.
