

and made available, expected to occur in late spring 2002, the public will have additional opportunities to provide comments to the Service.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

By Federal law, all lands within the National Wildlife Refuge System are to be managed in accordance with an approved CCP (16 U.S.C. 668dd-668ee). A CCP describes the desired future conditions of the refuge and provides long-range guidance and management direction to accomplish the purposes of the refuge, contribute to the mission of the National Wildlife Refuge System, and meet other relevant mandates. Additional goals of the CCP process include: (1) Conducting refuge planning in accordance with an ecosystem approach; (2) providing a forum for the public to comment on the type, extent, and compatibility of wildlife-dependent and other uses within the refuge area; (3) ensuring public involvement in refuge management decisions by providing a process for effective coordination, interaction, and cooperation with affected parties; (4) utilizing the best available science and sound professional judgement; and (5) ensuring that the six priority uses (hunting, fishing, wildlife observation, wildlife photography, environmental education, and interpretation) receive priority consideration during CCP preparation. Some of the topics to be addressed in the CCP include: wildlife and habitat management, habitat restoration, public use, and operation of a solar salt production facility.

Review of the CCP and associated EIS will be conducted in accordance with the requirements of the National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act, as amended (16 U.S.C. 668dd-668ee), NEPA (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), Federal regulations for implementing NEPA (40 CFR parts 1500-1508), other appropriate Federal laws and regulations, and Service policies and procedures for compliance with those regulations.

Refuge Information

The South San Diego Bay Unit of the San Diego NWR is located at the southern end of San Diego Bay in the Cities of Chula Vista, National City, San Diego, Coronado, and Imperial Beach, California. This Refuge supports a variety of habitats including open water, mudflats, coastal saltmarsh, and uplands. These habitats provide important feeding, resting, and nesting areas for thousands of migrating shorebirds, colonial nesting seabirds, wintering sea ducks, and other migratory waterfowl. In addition, the Refuge supports three Federally endangered bird species (California Least Tern, California Brown Pelican, and Light-footed Clapper Rail), a Federally endangered plant species (salt marsh bird's beak), the Federally threatened Western Snowy Plover and Pacific Green Sea Turtle, and the Belding's Savannah Sparrow, a bird species listed as endangered by the State of California. Included within the Refuge boundary is a solar salt production operation that maintains about 1,050 acres of salt ponds. These ponds provide large amounts of food in the form of brine shrimp, brine flies, and other brine invertebrates, all of which are particularly important for shorebirds and seabirds.

The Sweetwater Marsh NWR is located in the southeast end of San Diego Bay in the Cities of Chula Vista and National City, California. This Refuge, which includes 316 acres of salt marsh and coastal uplands, provides habitat for two Federally endangered bird species (California Least Tern and Light-footed Clapper Rail), a Federally endangered plant species (salt marsh bird's beak), the Federally threatened Western Snowy Plover, and the State endangered Belding's Savannah Sparrow. Sweetwater Marsh functions as an essential link between the habitats in the region's Multiple Species Conservation Program wildlands, the South San Diego Bay Unit of the San Diego NWR, and the Tijuana Slough NWR in Imperial Beach, California.

Notice of Availability of the Headwaters Forest Reserve Draft Resource Management Plan/Environmental Impact Statement/Environmental Impact Report

AGENCY: Bureau of Land Management, Arcata Field Office, and the California Department of Fish and Game.

ACTION: Notice of availability of the Headwaters Forest Reserve Draft Resource Management Plan/Environmental Impact Statement/Environmental Impact Report.

SUMMARY: The Bureau of Land Management (BLM), and the California Department of Fish and Game (DFG), have prepared A Draft Resource Management Plan (RMP) and a Draft Environmental Impact Statement/Environmental Impact Report (DEIS/DEIR) for the Headwaters Forest Reserve located in Humboldt County, California. The Draft RMP and DEIS/DEIR comply with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA), California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), Federal Land Policy and Management Act (FLPMA), the act authorizing the acquisition of the Headwaters Forest Reserve (H.R. 2107), and BLM and DFG management policies. The Draft RMP and DEIS/DEIR were developed with broad public participation in a scoping process which included three public meetings held in Eureka, Sacramento, and San Francisco, California. The Draft RMP and DEIS/DEIR provide for a range of alternatives reflecting public input for management direction for the Headwaters Forest Reserve. Management is addressed on approximately 7,500 acres of public land with a state interest in the form of a conservation easement over the reserve held by the State of California and managed by the California Department of Fish and Game. Issues raised by the public and addressed in the Draft RMP and DEIS/DEIR include balancing preservation of old-growth forest ecosystems and threatened and endangered species with public recreation access, extent of trail access to or within old-growth groves, types of uses of a trail system, management of traffic impacts to local residents adjacent to the reserve, appropriate levels of watershed and forest restoration, and access of disabled and elderly to old-growth forest. H.R. 2107 provided specific planning direction to address scientific research on forests, fish, wildlife and other such activities that shall be fostered and permitted, providing recreation opportunities, access, construction of minimal necessary facilities so as to maintain the ecological integrity, other management needs, and annual budget. Special designations include Wilderness Study Area, Wild and Scenic River eligibility and suitability, Area of Critical Environmental Concern/Research Natural Area, and Ecological Reserve (State of California designation). The action alternatives were prepared in accordance with applicable planning procedures.

DATES: Public comments must be received on or before July 22, 2002. Three public meetings will be held to solicit input on the draft: Eureka, CA: May 7, 2002; San Francisco, CA, May 14, 2002; and Sacramento, CA, May 15, 2002.

Comments on the DEIS/DEIR

Public comments may be submitted during the public meetings or in writing to the addresses provided below. Written comments on the Headwaters Forest Reserve draft plan/DEIS/DEIR will be considered in preparing the final RMP and EIS/EIR. Comments on the contents of this document are being solicited, particularly comments that address one or more of the following: (1) New information that would affect the analysis; (2) possible improvements in the analysis; and (3) suggestions for improving or clarifying the proposed management direction. Specific comments are most useful. Please note that comments, including names and street addresses of respondents, are available for public review and/or release under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).
