DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

National Institute of Corrections

Solicitation for a Cooperative Agreement—"A Guide to Preparing for and Managing Prison Emergencies"

AGENCY: National Institute of Corrections, Department of Justice.

ACTION: Solicitation for a cooperative agreement.

SUMMARY: The Department of Justice (DOJ), National Institute of Corrections (NIC), announces the availability of funds in FY 2002 for a cooperative agreement to fund the project "A Guide to Preparing for and Managing Prison Emergencies". NIC will award a one year cooperative agreement to develop a document which will assist correctional agencies in assessing and managing prisons during emergencies, including prison disturbances, work actions and natural and environmental disasters.

A cooperative agreement is a form of assistance relationship where the National Institute of Corrections is substantially involved during the performance of the award. An award will be made to an organization that will produce a document that can be distributed to state correctional agencies to use in the assessment and management of emergencies that would include but not be limited to managing natural and environmental disasters, riots, work stoppages, and other disturbances that may impact on normal operation of an institution and possibly the correctional system.

Background

The National Institute of Corrections has offered special interest seminars, "Managing Prisons During Natural and Environmental Disasters" and "Emergency Preparedness Assessment" over the last several years. Many agencies have taken numerous ideas back to their home agencies to implement during these challenging situations. The manuals used in the seminars are available to the field; however, a compilation of the materials into one document would be of benefit to practitioners as a centralized resource for an internal assessment of these issues and discussion of strategies for effective management in these situations.

Numerous changes in the correctional environment, such as budget reductions, changes in the characteristics of the workforce and changes in the demographics and characteristics of the inmate population, have created an even more pronounced need for assessing the current policies and procedures that
