SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Abstract

The Economic Development Administration (EDA) helps our partners across the nation (states, regions, and communities) create wealth and minimize poverty by promoting a favorable business environment to attract private capital investment and jobs through world-class capacity building, planning, infrastructure, research grants, and strategic initiatives.

The Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy (CEDS) is needed by EDA to ensure that areas served by an EDA-supported planning organization have or are developing a continuous community-based planning process and have thoroughly thought out what type of economic development is needed in the area. The process addresses both the assets of the area in terms of natural resources, labor skills, educational and research facilities, transportation, infrastructure, financial resources, proximity to major economic hubs, or any other positive influences that can be identified, and also the liabilities of the area in terms of unemployment, underemployment, low incomes, threatened closure of industry or other employment centers, out-migration, denigration of natural resources or other negatives. The CEDS process is designed to bring about consensus on long-term goals and specific activities to reach those goals with the overall purpose of alleviating economic decline and in fact, developing an environment conducive to economic development.

II. Method of Collection

This information is required under the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965, as amended, including the comprehensive amendments by the Economic Development Administration Reform Act of 1998, Public Law 105-393, (PWEDA). The CEDS has been revised to include EDA's Investment Policy Guidelines which are intended to further define the criteria used to evaluate proposals for EDA funding which are provided at 13 CFR 304.2.
