

required for most subsidiaries, although they may consolidate affiliates that are principally engaged in a similar line of business and that are located in the same country. Newly established or acquired foreign subsidiaries are added to the reporting panel on a flow basis. The parent organization files the FR 2314a for their significant foreign subsidiaries (those with at least $2 billion in total assets or $5 billion in off-balance-sheet activity) quarterly and file the FR 2314a, b, or c annually for their other foreign subsidiaries as of December 31. Subsidiaries with total assets exceeding $250 million must be reported on the FR 2314a. Subsidiaries with total assets between $50 million and $250 million must be reported the FR 2314b. Subsidiaries with total assets less than $50 million must be reported on the FR 2314c. For nominee and inactive companies with total assets less than $1 million, the parent must provide only the name, location, and total assets of the company; the FR 2314c may be used for this purpose, or the information may be transmitted in letter format.

The FR 2314a collects information on assets and liabilities and includes several memoranda items on contingent liabilities and twelve supporting schedules. The supporting schedules provide detail on cash and balances due from depository institutions, securities, loans and lease financing receivables, other assets, claims on related organizations, deposits, other liabilities, liabilities to related organizations, changes in capital and reserve accounts, income and expenses, assets held in trading accounts, and past due and nonaccrual loans and leases. The FR 2314b collects somewhat less information on assets and liabilities, off-balance-sheet items, income and expenses, and securities. The FR 2314c is a brief, one-page report that collects information on total assets, equity capital, net income, and off-balance-sheet items.

Current actions: The Federal Reserve proposes to revise and retitle the FR 2314a as the Financial Statements of Foreign Subsidiaries of U.S. Banking Organizations (FR 2314).

The FR 2314c would be revised and retitled as the Abbreviated Financial Statements of Foreign Subsidiaries of U.S. Banking Organizations (FR 2314S). The FR 2314b the Report of Condition for Foreign Subsidiaries of U. S. Banking Organizations would be eliminated.

The Federal Reserve's proposal to streamline the existing nonbank subsidiary reporting framework for all non-functionally-regulated⁴ nonbank subsidiaries⁵ will also have an effect on existing FR 2314 reporters (not just those that are nonbanks). The revised framework would both provide essential information to supervise and regulate non-functionally-regulated subsidiaries and reduce the burden on the industry. The proposed framework affects foreign subsidiaries held by a U.S. bank holding company or U.S. bank (FR 2314 a, b, and c). Proposed revisions include:

- (1) Implementing a reporting form that is consistent with the proposed form for domestic nonbank subsidiary filers;
- (2) Reducing the burden by increasing or establishing filing thresholds that are consistent with those proposed for domestic nonbank subsidiary filers;
- (3) Establishing filing thresholds for reporters, consistent with risk-focused supervision, based on asset size and off-balance-sheet activity (absolute measures), plus operating revenues and equity capital (relative measures);
- (4) Allowing no consolidation among filers; and
- (5) Eliminating reporting for the smallest filers.

The FR 2314a would be retitled as the Financial Statements of Foreign Subsidiaries of U.S. Banking Organizations (FR 2314). This proposed form would collect financial information and would be filed by more significant subsidiaries quarterly or annually based on total assets and other reporting criteria. The Abbreviated Financial Statements of Foreign Subsidiaries of U.S. Banking Organizations (FR 2314S) report would comprise only four financial data items: net income, total assets, total equity capital, and total off-balance-sheet items. These are the same four financial data items currently collected as part of the current FR 2314c. This report would be filed by the top-tier BHC or parent organization of smaller subsidiaries.

The proposed reporting changes would introduce more uniformity to several aspects of reporting requirements for subsidiaries and reduce regulatory burden. The proposed implementation date for all of the FR 2314 changes is December 31, 2002.

⁵ The use of the term nonbank subsidiaries includes foreign bank subsidiaries of U.S. BHC's that file the FR 2314 report.

Also, functionally regulated subsidiaries and merchant banking investments would be exempt from reporting on the FR 2314 and FR 2314S. Provisions of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act direct that the Federal Reserve must first rely on reports and information provided by the primary functional regulators for functionally regulated subsidiaries.

In a change from current FR 2314 reporting, consolidation of reporters would not be permitted on the FR 2314 and the FR 2314S. In the past, the Federal Reserve has found that the consolidation rules contribute to inaccurate data collection and raise processing issues. However, since a majority of reporters in the current panel would be exempt from reporting altogether, the removal of the consolidation option should not pose a material burden on reporters.

Also, in accord with the accounting basis for all other regulatory reports filed with the Federal Reserve, the reporting basis for the FR 2314 would be revised to specifically instruct respondents to follow U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (GAAP).

The Federal Reserve proposes that data collected on the FR 2314 reports no longer be given confidential treatment and made available to the public. The Federal Reserve proposes this change in treatment for consistency with public disclosure requirements of other financial reports and believes that the concern of competitive disadvantage relative to their foreign corporate counterparts is no longer a prevalent issue. However, the Federal Reserve may grant confidential treatment for the reporting information, in whole or in part, on a case-by-case basis if justified by the respondent. The Federal Reserve requests specific comment on this proposed change.

Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality

Preliminary Measure Set for the National Healthcare Quality Report

Request for Comments

The Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) announces a request for public comment on the Preliminary Measure Set to be used in preparing the first National Healthcare Quality Report (NHQR). The NHQR is a congressionally mandated report (see 42 U.S.C. 299b-2(b)(2)) on national trends with respect to health care quality. The legislation mandated that the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) submit this report on an annual basis beginning in 2003. The Preliminary Measure Set for the NHQR was generated through a call for measures to Federal agencies and private organizations. AHRQ issued a call for measures to Federal agencies, through the Quality Interagency Coordination Task Force (QuIC), from October 2000-February 2001. The Institute of Medicine issued the call to private organizations from June-July 2000. An interagency Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) working group then reviewed and revised the candidate measures. AHRQ and the interagency working group are seeking comments on (1) the extent to which the proposed measures meet the criteria of importance, scientific soundness, and feasibility; (2) the balance, comprehensiveness, and robustness of the overall measure set; and (3) the appropriateness of the data sources.

Comments Deadline

Written comments will be accepted by September 18, 2002. For submission of written comments and additional information: Ed Kelley, Ph.D., Senior Service Fellow, National Healthcare Quality Report, Center for Quality Improvement and Patient Safety, Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, 6011 Executive Boulevard, Suite 200, Rockville, MD 20852, Fax: (301) 594-2155, E-mail: ekelley@ahrq.gov.
