II. Background

A. Purpose of the FIFRA SAP

The FIFRA SAP is an independent scientific peer review group that provides technical advice for EPA's consideration. Amendments to the FIFRA, enacted November 28, 1975, (7 U.S.C. 136w(d)), include a requirement under section 25(d) that notices of intent to cancel or reclassify pesticide regulations pursuant to section 6(b)(2), as well as proposed and final forms of rulemaking pursuant to section 25(a), be submitted to a SAP prior to being made public or issued to a registrant. In accordance with FIFRA section 25(d), the SAP is to have an opportunity to comment on the health and environmental impact of such actions. The Panel shall also make comments, evaluations, and recommendations for operating guidelines to improve the effectiveness and quality of analyses made by Agency scientists. Members are scientists who have sufficient professional qualifications, including training and experience, to be capable of providing expert comments as to the impact on health and the environment of regulatory actions under sections 6(b) and 25(a) of FIFRA. The Deputy Administrator appoints seven individuals to serve on the Panel for staggered terms of 4 years, based on recommendations from the National Institute of Health (NIH) and the National Science Foundation (NSF).

B. Purpose of the Meeting

The FIFRA SAP will meet to consider and review a proposed methodology for projecting domestic percent-crop-treated with pesticides for dietary risk assessment. The percentage of a given crop which is treated (or, more precisely, not treated) is a critical parameter in OPP's recently instituted, probabilistic human health exposure assessments because this factor determines the proportion of a crop which is assumed to have (or not have) residues. These residues, or expected residues, determine the dietary exposure to pesticides, which is a key component of dietary risk assessment.

EPA has historical data on domestic percent-crop-treated for a large number of crop/chemical combinations. This data can provide a basis for projecting future usage of pesticides (e.g., percent-crop-treated) for regulatory decisions based on dietary risk. Given EPA's mandate to assess pesticide food tolerances on a periodic basis, it is important for EPA to be able to project expected percent-crop-treated using these historical data. There are a number of statistical and/or mathematical methods for projecting future values from a historical record. EPA currently has methods for conducting these projections, but believes that EPA's refinements in these methods are warranted. Therefore, EPA has explored and developed methods that EPA believes, could serve the purpose for refining projected domestic percent-crop-treated, and is seeking SAP input on these method developments.

Previously, EPA has analyzed percent-crop-treated data using a distributed lag, whereby 1-year projections of percent-crop-treated were based on weighted historical data, with older data receiving lower weight and more recent data receiving higher weight. The confidence intervals associated with these projections are based on the variability of these historical data. While these methods have been shown to generate reasonable estimates, in cases where usage is trending upwards (or downwards), the uncertainty of the estimates can increase substantially. Therefore, EPA is seeking to develop a more robust method for projecting/estimating percent-crop-treated.

EPA is proposing to use exponential smoothing as the analytical tool for projecting percent-crop-treated to better reflect upward or downward trends in the data. The size of existing data sets (usually 10 or fewer observations) precludes some regression techniques, and exponential smoothing has been shown to be a robust method in settings where small data sets are common. EPA is also proposing a method for estimating prediction intervals that is consistent with exponential smoothing projections. As part of the development of these techniques, EPA has been working with and testing sets of historical data and plans to present comparisons of results in addition to the theoretical discussion.

C. FIFRA SAP Meeting Minutes

The FIFRA SAP will prepare meeting minutes summarizing its recommendations to the Agency in approximately 60 days. The report will be posted on the FIFRA SAP web site or may be obtained by contacting the Public Information and Records Integrity Branch at the address or telephone number listed in Unit I. of the SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION.

D. Request for Nominations to Serve on Food Quality Protection Act Science Review Board (SRB)

The Agency solicits nominations of scientists to serve on the SRB for this meeting. Any interested person or organization may nominate qualified individuals to serve on the SRB. No interested person shall be ineligible to serve on the SRB by reason of their membership on any other advisory committee to a Federal department or agency or their employment by a Federal department or agency (except EPA). Individuals should have expertise in one or more of the following areas: agricultural economics, pesticide use, pesticide exposure, and forecasting. In addition, nominees should be scientists who have sufficient professional qualifications, including training and experience, to be capable of providing expert comments as to the impact on health and the environment of regulatory actions under sections 6(b) and 25 (a) of FIFRA. Nominees should be identified by name, occupation, position, address, and telephone number. To be considered, all nominees should include a current resume providing the nominee's background, experience and qualifications.

The criteria for selecting scientists to serve on the SRB are that these persons be recognized experts in their fields; that they be as impartial and objective as possible; that they represent an array of backgrounds and perspectives (within their disciplines); and that they be available to participate fully in the review, which will be conducted over a relatively short time frame. Nominees will be asked to attend one public meeting and to participate in the discussion of key issues and assumptions at this meeting. Finally, they will be asked to review and to help finalize the products and outputs of the FIFRA SAP.

If a SRB nominee is considered to assist in a review by the SAP for a particular session, the SRB nominee is subject to the provisions of 5 CFR part 2634, Executive Branch Financial Disclosure, as supplemented by the EPA in 5 CFR part 6401. As such, the SRB nominee is required to submit a Confidential Financial Disclosure Report, which shall fully disclose, among other financial interests, the nominee's employment, stocks and bonds, and where applicable, sources of research support. EPA will evaluate the nominee's financial disclosure form prior to the nominee being appointed to a panel reviewing agency actions. This evaluation will identify conflicts that may arise between the member's financial interests and the agency actions under review. If the SRB nominee's financial disclosure form is approved by the EPA, the nominee will be assigned to a SAP session and be hired as a special government employee.

Nominations should be provided to the DFO listed under FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT by September 6, 2002. The Agency will not formally acknowledge or respond to nominations.
